Three Presidential Candidates Discuss Plans At Meeting

RALPH MARTHÉRIE

Covering Campus . . .

Medical Convention
Pre-medicine or pre-dentistry students interested in attending one-day convention at Bowman Gray Hospital, in Winston-Salem, on Saturday, April 6, please call or see Mrs. Wilson, Extension 456, Room 206 Holladay Hall. The program will include speeches by several outstanding doctors and a tour of Bowman Gray School of Medicine. Indicate your interest soon as possible so that the proper arrangements may be made.

Wildlife Club
The Wildlife Club will meet tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 in the College Union. All interested persons are invited to come and enjoy the program and refreshments.

Tuxedos
All Freshmen and Sophomores who rented tuxedos from Tuxedo Rental for the Freshman-Sophomore Dance may pick them up now at Hunneycutt's Clothing Store on Hillsboro Street.

Senior Invitations
Seniors who have not ordered invitations may do so tomorrow (Friday) from 1 to 6 p.m. in the College Union. The invitations have been changed and any interested students may come by to see them.

Fellowships
Fellowships for foreign study in Iran, Denmark, England and Italy (Labor Scholarships), Norway, Sweden and Cuba and for summer study in the United Kingdom. Application deadline: April 1. Also University of Virginia summer school, April 15. Further information may be obtained at 201 Holladay Hall.

Frosh and Sophs Dance Saturday Night In Coliseum

The Freshman - Sophomore Dance will be held this Saturday night from 8:00 till 12:00 p.m. at the Coliseum. A concert will be held from 3:00 till 5:00 on Saturday afternoon in the Raleigh Amphitheater. In case of rain the concert will be in the Raleigh Little Theater. The concert will be open to the public at $1.00 per couple.

The dance will be formal and will be televised over WUNC-TV from 9:00-10:00. This is the first dance at State ever to be televised. A number of interviews of couples on the floor will also be televised at this time.

Ralph Marterie and his 15-man orchestra will furnish the music for both the dance and concert. Bids must be picked up at the College Union before 9:00 tonight.

Approximately $400 has been spent on the decorations for the dance. Browder Decorations Company in Charlotte is doing the decorations in conjunction with the Freshman-Sophomore Dance Committee.

Mac Lupold, Chairman of the Dance Committee, says, "The dance will be the biggest dance on campus this year. The decorations will be quite elaborate and we have a top-notch, nationally known band—Ralph Marterie. The dance committee is sorry that the date of the dance falls on the same day as the Azalea Festival and that the three girls' schools in Raleigh are having spring vacation, but the date of the dance had to be set last spring before these complications were known about. The dance is for all freshmen and sophomores and it is hoped that the members of these classes will attend the dance in order to make it a big success."

Nominations Open Soon For Blue Key

Nominations for Blue Key's award to the outstanding senior for this year will open on Monday, April 1.

Nominations will be entered by the nominator in a book for the purpose in Dean of Student Activities Banks Talley's office. Each nomination must be accompanied by a letter stating the candidate's qualifications if it is to be considered by the selection committee of Blue Key.

Final selection will be made by the members of Blue Key. Charles Law, chairman of the committee in charge of making arrangements for the award, said Wednesday, "We wish to impress the students with the fact that this election is open to any student who is graduating in June. All duly submitted nominations will receive the full attention of the Fraternity. The final date for submitting nominations will be April 29, 1957."

State Represented At Wilmington's Azalea Festival

Participating in the Azalea Festival in Wilmington this weekend will be the College Band, the Pershing Rifles, and the Drum and Bugle Corps.

The College Band will march either first or second in the parade.

The Army ROTC Regiment of State College will be represented by two units well known throughout the State, the Pershing Rifles and the Drum and Bugle Corps. The Pershing Rifles are commanded by Cadet Major Richard C. White of Danville, Virginia, and the Drum and Bugle Corps by Cadet Ernest L. Ross of Cleveland, Tennessee. These units have marched in the colorful Azalea Festival parade each year for several years.

Corrections and Clarifications

Last week The Technician received a rather garbled account on the proposed plans for date tickets. At this time, it would like to clarify by saying all date tickets will cost one dollar, regardless of the event, under the proposed plan. All student tickets will require only the presentation of the new registration card. The only difference between the reserved and non-reserved games will be the necessity of picking up tickets prior to game time.

In an error Monday, it was stated that the tower and seal would not be included on the invitation at the print shop. In correction, the invitations WILL NOT be available at the Print Shop and WILL include the tower and seal on the front. See "Covering Campus" for details about ordering more invitations tomorrow.

Fred Houtz, Dan Yager and George Cochran, candidates for President of Student Government, spoke before a crowd of some thirty-five students at an open meeting in the College Union Ballroom Tuesday night. The meeting, co-sponsored by Thirty and Three and the C.U. Forum Committee, was also broadcast over the campus radio station, WVWP.

Murray Penny, chairman of the forum committee acted as master of ceremonies and introduced George Cochran as the first speaker.

Cochran's Program
Cochran re-emphasized points presented earlier in his platform, pledging that he would support no political spoils system, promising close contact with students concerning activities of Student Government, the faculty, trustees and administration, and a weekly report to the students in The Technician.

He also named areas in which he hopes to improve "campus welfare", listing fraternity, dorm and married housing, parking, walkways and general appearance, adequate cored facilities, date tickets, vehicle registration fee, use of veto to insure student welfare, initiation of faculty evaluation, establishment of minimum wage scale for student aid employment and support of a program for more departmental pre-registration.

Yager's Plans
Dan Yager followed Cochran, stating that he only wished to cover four or five basic points. He emphasized fraternity row as his first, pledging 100 percent support to the proposals, and went on to discuss the traffic problem. He commented that he did not like the $3 fee, but could see no possible practical way of eliminating it at this time. He asked that he be put on record as favoring hard work on the problem of student health facilities. He said that he thought the present staff was doing a fine job, but that they were badly understaffed and needed better facilities. He stated that he favored a re-appraisal of student fees and included on his platform a possible discount program with Raleigh merchants for the students at the College. He said that although only a small group of students might take advantage of this discount, they would be the members of the student body who most needed the help.

Houtz's Platform
Fred Houtz stated that he favored general improvement of student government on all points. He made several proposals toward attaining his goals.

Traffic rated first mention, when Houtz pointed out that if we do not improve coordination of student government bodies such as the Traffic Committee, student legislature and the office of the President, blunders such as those made concerning Verville parking early in the year and the five ticket limit proposed several weeks ago may be repeated all of which tended to lower the position of the student government in the eyes of the faculty and administration. Houtz said that he favored immediate paving of the Dunn Avenue area and plentiful parking facilities in the areas surrounding new buildings.

He suggested that present proposals for cheaper date tickets be pushed and that investigations be made concerning better

Yager Checks On Discount Program

Dan Yager, presidential candidate of the Student Body, released further information on his platform to the Technician tonight. In last week's issue of the Technician Dan discussed a student discount program. After checking with several merchants in the Raleigh area, he is still confident that a discount program can be placed in operation for State College students. While one of his opponents has stated that the discount program is not feasible and makes this statement after talking to only "two or three people", Dan does not feel that any program that will benefit the students should be abandoned with no more consideration than this.

Concerning the auto registration fee Dan once again stated that he does not believe now is the time to consider lowering the present fee. The administration estimates a student enrollment of approximately 10,000 students in the near future. With an inadequate parking situation now, and only two lots plus the strips by Owen and Tucker paved in three years, we must continue work with the parking area program. It is Dan's opinion that a reduction in the student traffic fee and therefore a reduction in future paving of student parking areas will lead to a restriction of freshman and sophomore cars. Dan is very positive in feeling that a continuation of the present fee will lead to a solution of the student parking problem. This solution should guarantee the use of freshman and sophomore cars on the State College campus in the future.

Yager re-affirmed his pledge

Houtz Pushes Good Will Promotion

Presidential candidate Fred Houtz announced today his idea of promoting good will between State College students and the citizens of Raleigh. Houtz states:

"I believe one of the most serious problems our student government is faced with today is its public relations with the city of Raleigh. Recent events have created a good bit of misunderstanding by Raleigh citizens toward State College students.

"While there are activities on the campus that promote good will for State College students, such as I.F.C. Greek Week, there has been no concerted effort to promote understanding between Raleigh citizens and students.

"As a solution to better relations, I propose informal monthly meetings between the campus student leaders and the Raleigh city officials. The S.G. Promotions Committee would arrange these meetings, alternating the Raleigh officials with the campus leaders concerned. For example, we would have the Mayor, Chief of Police, Fire Chief and City Manager meet with the S. G. President, Presidents of the I.D.C. and I.F.C., and the Chief of City Traffic with our Traffic Committee.

"While Mayor Wheeler is out of town this week, his office believes this a fine idea. Raleigh Chief of Police Davis was pleased with this suggestion and pledged his support. T. C. Brown, Chairman of the Chancellor's Traffic Committee, agreed the college might have known something about the parking meters beside the campus on Hillsboro Street had personal relations with Captain

Cochran Urges Increasing Student Activity Interest

"I want the students to be citizens of this campus," said S. G. presidential candidate George C. Cochran in this week's interview. He continued, "Interest in the Student Government can be promoted by appointing dormitory officers to the committees appointed by the Legislature. This would bring a working knowledge of laws, resolutions, and recommendations affecting the campus to the majority of the student body. Having dormitory officers working with the Student Government would be like having a member from the home working with the government. The students would know about the various problems confronting Student Government and could tell their representatives their views. Also, I would like to see a weekly article in the Technician explaining what the Student Government has done or is going to do."

"One of my opponents has said that he would place men who had helped him campaign on various committees. I would like to say that I do not approve of the 'spoils system,' nor will I use it. I will place the most capable man on any committee that I appoint, even if that man had campaigned for someone else."

"I feel the recent articles in The Technician, and the talks in the College Union and to the agriculture and veterans organizations have placed my policies before the students, but I will be glad to discuss any particular item with any individual."

Proof Positive

Approximately 475 of this year's 800 plus Seniors turned out to sign up for the old large diploma at $1.00 extra each.

This ought to be proof positive to someone (and everyone) that the Seniors definitely do not like the redesigned small diploma.

We hope that this demonstration will not be forgotten by next year's senior class officers and the administration. It should silence all argument as to the feelings of the students.

Spring is Sprung

Though we may seem a bit premature in view of the weather for the past few days, we don't want to let the official advent of spring go unnoticed any longer.

We can't say how happy we are to see the cold, rain, sloop and slime of winter gone.

Already the trees are showing their buds and the flowering shrubs are turning pink and white. It won't be long until the dogwoods around the bell tower alter the area to a winter-like beauty with the pleasures of spring accompanying their snowfall of white petals.

Our counterpart at old Chapel College had an apt name for the season we are suffering through now . . . a borrowed name from politics.

"Mugwump" . . . the old fence-sitter . . . wump in winter; mug sticking into spring. Weather as changeable as your luck at poker . . . but we hope the end is in sight.

Can you imagine short-sleeved shirts again? . . . going to class without your raincoat? . . . dry walks and clean cars? . . .

Still, we hope we aren't being premature, but the nearness of April just can't keep us from being optimistic.

Like we said, we hope we aren't wrong.

The "Best" Textbooks

All of us have at one time or another been pretty well ripped at the policy of changing textbooks every year or so. At least half of the time, we cannot sell our books because they will no longer be used—a more "modern" and "corrected" edition is on the market that we must have to get anything out of the course. Well, a lot of times this situation is solely the fault of the publishing company—if they stop publishing a particular text, the only thing to do is change. But there's another side to the business of choosing texts that none of us like at all.

Many of our instructors and professors here at State have written, or have had a part in writing, a text covering the particular field he knows most about. Naturally, if they can sell this text it will add a little more change to their admittedly thin wallets. That is all well and good—if they, the professors, are firmly convinced that their textbook is the best that can be bought! It is not so very rare to find that a text is being used that is selected not wholly on its merits as an effective tool for student learning (as it should be), but is at times selected on the basis of who wrote it. So we are told to buy a book that may be more difficult to understand than others, or may not cover the material fully—because somebody here at State wrote it or perhaps one of their friends. Especially in some of the smaller courses can this situation be clearly seen; we are sometimes told to buy books that we very rarely use and for which we could easily find substitutes in a library when needed.

Often these texts of questionable value are put out in loose-back form—a lot of them look like pamphlets or booklets and are just about as durable. And some are just plainly and poorly turned out on a mimeograph and put in a binder.

All we ask is that we get texts that are first-class and have been written by people who really know their business. At times we have to dig a lot of a course out of the book—please, don't make us wade through a lot of poorly written and poorly presented material in order to get down to brass tacks.

The Wolf

On behalf of my boys, I would like to dedicate this week's column to a certain "gentleman of the press," Charles Craven, who apparently has a continual axe to grind whenever and wherever State College is concerned. Actually, a newspaper column is a sacred part of the freedom of the press. It presents an opportunity for the individual to express his opinions about any situation that may arise. Hence, the column often presents a side of the news which escapes the general front-page coverage. Mr. Craven's column, however, seems to be devoted to the "sneer and smear" technique of journalism. It appears that he is incapable of writing anything legible unless it includes the sneering at a harmless and proud tradition, the glorification of his alma mater (Carolina), or the crucifixion of State College. Specifically, I am referring to his unnecessary slam at Robert E. Lee; his pat in the back for UNC's recent basketball victory; and his one-sided, narrow-minded comments about my home, State. Of course, there are many people who are intelligent enough to realize that a writer of this sort writes such stuff because he probably can't be creative and has to rely on antagonisms and can-you-top-this-crack columns for his bread and butter. But there are some who allow themselves to be influenced by his dribble. It's the latter group that I'm worried about.

Needless to say, the "riot" State was unfortunate. A lot of my boys got mad and said a lot of things they should have. The truth about the beginning of the fuss with the State College has never been told in any column or anywhere else and just because it won't be believed, I, too, will let you know enough alone. It will suffice to say that there was more to the riot than the general public heard about. Naturally, the riot gave Charlie just what he needed, and he proceeded to tell my boys in the mud with all had. Well, he made a few of the boys mad enough to write him a letter of protest. Then, he had to make a remark about sending the letters to the English department and getting the guy flunked, inferring that he couldn't write worth a damn. That strikes me as funny! Well, my own wolfie ears, I have heard three separate English professors state: (1) that Mr. Craven's column was childish; (2) that if this (CC's) column was the only thing the newspapers had to offer, journalism was dead; and (3) that the column was simply s---. Send those letters back, Charlie: I'd like to frame 'em. Obviously, the best thing we at State can do as far as this character's writing is concerned is ignore it. Such a small person could never grow enough to hurt State.

Next week: a picture for you fellows to drool over!

From the Files

Five years ago, March 28, 1952 The Publications Board has approved candidates to edit and manage campus publications and has given approval to issue The Technician twice a week next year.

Lt. Governor H. P. Taylor will head the seven-member committee to investigate the operation of student supply stores at W.C., Carolina and State.

The Platoff Don Cossack Chorus and Dancers, internationally famous for their stirring musical performances, will present a concert in the Coliseum on April 4.

State College's Wolfpack opened its baseball season at the home field by walloping ECU 12-2.

Fifteen years ago a chapter of Pi Tau Sigma national honorary mechanical engineering fraternity, will be installed at State College.

A light vote climaxed one of the most colorful campaigns held on the State College campus.

Dr. Frank Graham, President of the Consolidated University will address the State College students, in the stadium.

State opens a 13-game slate against Cornell on the Raleigh field.

The Technician's cartoonist Donald Denton, wanted to identify himself to the students as he runs for President of the Senior Class next year. Above is his unique identification . . . D' means Donald Denton.

Harris Running For S. G. Veep

Robert (Bob) Harris in announcing his candidacy for vice-president of the Student Government released the following statement:

It is my belief that the student holding the office of vice-president of the student government here at State, holds one of the most critical positions in the student government system. His work brings him into contact with virtually every phase of campus activity. He has the important job of presiding over all student legislation. This, however, is not the full extent of his

Westmoreland Is Secretary Candidate

It was announced this week that Dick Westmoreland is running for Secretary of the Student Government.

Dick is a Junior in Engineering Math. This year he has worked actively and held an office in the campus YMCA, Southern Engineer staff, and the Arnold Air Society.

Westmoreland reports, "I am running for a job that will take a lot of work and time if it is to be done right. I sincerely believe that I have the experience and the desire to serve, which a good secretary will need. Your support will be appreciated."

position. He must also be a coordinator.

"We have all seen the emphasis placed on committee work in campus affairs. Practically every major factor in campus life is under or has been under committee observation at one time or another. These committees, however, are effective only if they are coordinated and working together. I feel that it is the responsibility of the vice-president to lead the way in coordinating these committees.

"In placing myself as a candidate for vice-president of the student government, I am well aware of the responsibilities of the position. If I am elected, I will diligently work to fulfill the trust which you, as fellow students, will have placed in me. I will insure that all campus legislation will be carried on and coordinated in an efficient manner.

"If elected, I will work vigorously to do my best in helping to bring good legislation which will be of benefit to the student body. I will deeply appreciate any support which you will see fit to give me."

Harris is a rising Senior in Industrial Engineering. He is a member of AIEE, and Arnold Air Society.

Journey, Poole Running For Junior Class Posts

Doug Journey

Doug Journey, candidate for Junior Class Treasurer, yesterday released his platform. The main points of his platform are: Stricter enforcement of collection of class dues—a duty which has been poorly carried out during the past two years—he feels that if all Juniors would pay, the load on each man may be cut; closer unity between the junior student body and its officers; and informing Juniors of just how their money is being spent.

Journey, a rising junior in Aeronautical Engineering, is from Statesville, N. C. He is a member of Pi Kappa Phi Social Fraternity, where he has gained experience in handling monetary affairs as steward.

He has pledged that if and when elected he will carry out these points, and more, to the best of his ability. Journey emphasizes one point to the Juniors: "No matter who you vote for, vote."

Craven Poole

Craven Poole, a rising Junior in Civil Engineering, has announced his candidacy for Junior Class Vice President. Craven is from Fanner and is a member of Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity, announcing his candidacy Craven gave this statement:

"I feel it a privilege to enter the race for Junior Class vice president. The vice-president has only a few specific duties, so the platform is very limited.

"First, I would like to see the Junior Class work as a unit. I would like to see the school, the student, and the class officer work in unison. In doing this I will see that the Junior Class is better informed of its activities.

"Second, I am for devising a new system of collection of class dues. I feel that if the load shared by all, our due might cut.

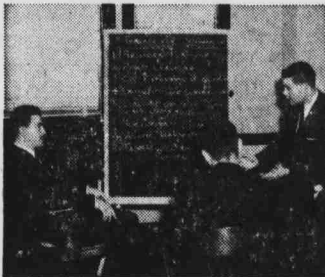

"Third and most important will strive to work with the other officers to make the Junior Class of 1958 the best."

You're Gene McGrew... high school footballer and class officer. You won a scholarship and went through Princeton in the top third of your class... managed varsity track... commanded an artillery battery in Korea... "When you put a lot of preparation into your career," Gene McGrew feels, "you should expect a lot of opportunity in return."

Meets IBM representative

Out of the Army in 1953, Gene met an IBM representative. It sounded like opportunity. A few interviews later, Gene was sure. Although sales was only one of the many jobs he felt he could handle, this kind of selling—(IBM machines are as much an idea as a product)—promised to occupy every talent he possessed. Besides, he's learned that "no other form of training produces so many top business managers."

Gene outlines programming test

Then began a 13 months' training program marked by merit salary increases. First—3 months' schooling and observing operations in Pittsburgh (Gene's hometown). Next—2 months' studying the applications of IBM's electronic data processing machines in business, science, government, and defense. Followed by 7 months' practical training in the field, with customer contact. Followed by IBM's famous course in selling methods. Finally, assignment to a sales territory near Pittsburgh, responsible for about 14 companies and their executives who used IBM equipment, and a dozen or so more who were logical prospects for it.

What's it like to be AN IBM SALESMAN?

Selling to management is perhaps the best training for management, and it's the reason Gene McGrew joined IBM. Today, he possesses a thorough practical Business Administration education, responsibility, an excellent income—all at age 27. Read about an unusual career.

Makes first sale

Gene's first sale, to a bank, required thorough study; consultations; a written recommendation. The climax came, Gene remembers, when he submitted his analysis to the vice president and received that gentleman's signature.

Discussing customer's installation

Gene's latest sale was to a large industrial corporation. He's now preparing this customer for the installation of an IBM electronic system designed to simplify financial procedure; inventory and other systems problems. At 27, Gene finds himself top man on an important account. He's educator, salesman, administrator.

How would Gene define selling?

"We feel the best way to sell is to be able to consult. The best way to consult is to know something of value your customer doesn't. IBM's 'something of value' is profit through automation."

Gene's thoughts on competition:

"The entire Office Machine Industry feels the lead pencil is the biggest competitor. You've no idea how many time-consuming clerical jobs can be mechanized, thus freeing people for important, creative jobs. IBM's success in the field is due to service, knowledge, 'know-how'."

Does Gene find his youth a handicap?

"It's what you know—not how old you are—that counts. I deal with executives twice my age on a basis of equality, because they respect my training and my business judgment."

Future wide open

"I'm getting married soon, and I was amazed to realize how much security IBM's growth (sales have doubled on the average every five years since 1930) and benefits represent. But I think my real security lies in the chance to use my own ability fully and freely. There are nearly 200 Branch Managerships, 15 District Managerships and executive positions in 5 other divisions ahead of me. IBM is introducing new machines, systems and concepts so fast that, every Monday, we have a 'new idea' meeting just to keep up."

IBM hopes this message will give you some idea of what it's like to be a salesman at IBM. There are equal opportunities for E.E.'s, I.E.'s, M.E.'s, physicists, mathematicians, and Liberal Arts majors in IBM's many divisions—Research, Product Development, Manufacturing En-

To the Editor:
As Mayor of Vetville and a member of the Student Housing Committee, I have had the opportunity to work with Fred Houtz, candidate for Student Government President. From this association, I would like to bring out a few points Houtz did not include in his platform. Fred, a single student, worked vigorously for married student housing as chairman of the Housing Committee. This indicated to me his sincerity and regard for student interests over his own.

His project required him to rally student support to contact legislators. This rally was successful enough to reach each legislator, throughout the state. Here Houtz indicated to me his ability to organize student efforts successfully.

I would also like to remark that Fred has a 3-point grade average, and needs only 26 hours to graduate. This will give him more time to work for student interests.

Finally, I believe these qualifications, as well as his progressive platform, makes Fred Houtz the student to represent the student body as President.

LOST— Three signs that when placed together read: "DAN'S THE MAN"
These signs were lost this previous week-end somewhere in the general vicinity of the reactor smokestack. These signs were of value to only three men. To Dan Yager these signs were worth more while on the smokestack.

There were a lot of people that spent several hours making these signs and then placed them on the reactor smokestack in good faith. Now that they are gone we can only assume that they were removed by the persons who stand to profit most by their removal.

It seems strange to me that when a person decides to run for an office as important as that of the President of the Student Government yet doesn't have enough faith in his own ability to win that he must stoop to such low ethics as to that of removing the opponents signs.

Maybe the opposing candidate didn't remove the signs themselves, but here again a deficiency is shown. This deficiency STATESman, is that of leadership. A candidate for any office is directly responsible for his actions and for the actions of the men supporting him.

STATESmen, I contend that we do not want a president of the Student Government who would stoop to such low ethics and has a deficiency in his leadership where by he cannot control his supporters.

Gardner, Stephenson Are Candidates For IFC Veep

Bob Gardner has announced his candidacy for the Office of Vice President of the Interfraternity Council.

Gardner sees the Vice President's job as consisting of two major functions. The first deals with the Vice President acting as the social chairman of the IFC, and in this capacity he deals with booking agents that handle the bands which play for the two IFC formals each year. In the past, these dealings have been handled through letters, telegrams and phone calls. Gardner has said that he believes the IFC has been getting a "Raw" deal from these agents on the prices because they are taking advantages of the methods of communications used in business dealings. Most or just about all of these agents are located in New York City, and Gardner lives in the suburbs of the city. Because of this he feels that he could have a direct contact with these agents, in trying to obtain a better price for these bands.

The second function involves the Vice President as Chairman of the Investigating Committee. The rules pertaining to these situations are in such a "Flexible" state, that many fraternities stand to get hurt by it. Gardner feels that defining these rules, not in the attempt to make them any stricter, but to give each fraternity man the same understanding of them, would benefit each and every fraternity on the campus.

Gardner has been with the IFC for the past two years on the Office Committee and is currently working under the Vice President of the IFC on the spring formal. Also he is working on the committee studying the revision of rushing policies at State. Since both these committees deal with the major functions of the Vice President, Gardner feels, if elected, he would be qualified to cope with some of the problems that might confront the Vice President.

Summing up, Gardner is saying that he would like the opportunity to try and get the IFC a better price for its bands, and also try to stop up the loopholes now existing in the Constitution regarding the Investigating Committee.

Stephenson

This week, Warren Stephenson announced to fraternity men at State College, his candidacy for the office of Vice-President of the Inter-Fraternity Council.

"Steve" mentioned the two main points of his platform in letters to all fraternity presidents and their chapters this week. In his letter, he stated: "My foremost aim is that the fraternity men here at State College get the bands they would most like to listen and dance to for the two IFC sponsored dances during the year. The men pay sufficient dues and therefore can expect the best and most popular bands to appear here to entertain them."

"Also as a secondary goal, I want to mention my drive for an attractive name and motif for our Spring Dance. This has long been needed here at school; I feel certain that a theme and a name for the dance will add greatly to the memories of the weekend."

Stephenson also expressed himself, "I hold a high interest in the type of work which the Vice-President performs. I would like the chance to handle such matters as arranging band contracts and investigating rushing procedures."

In a word to all, Stephenson assured them that if he were elected, he would be constantly open to suggestion and criticism from the fraternity men to whom he would feel very responsible.

Knox Is Sophomore President Nominee

Upon entering State College, I found a lack of interest among the students for their elected officers. I became interested in the various class offices, a field that I believed could stand some improvement, and ran for Vice President of the Freshman Class and I was fortunate enough to be elected to this position by the members of my class.

I have gained valuable experience while serving in this capacity and working on the various activities of the Freshman Class. Realizing that the coming year will provide many challenges to the leaders of the sophomore class, I have an earnest desire to serve you as resident.

By electing me as your President, you will have 100 per cent representation in campus affairs.

Tom Davis In Race For Junior Student Gov. Representative

Tom Davis, a sophomore in horticulture, has announced his candidacy for Student Government Representative from the Junior Class. He has been active in YDC, Horticulture and Ag Club.

Davis has told The Technician that, "If elected I shall endeavor to do my best in the Student Government for the benefit of the whole student body. My promise to the boys in Agriculture is that I shall do my best to make our Student Government number one in the nation and to help pass bills that would be beneficial to them."

Eddie Knox

I will work toward the betterment of our class in any affair that will keep us not only the largest class, but the most outstanding one ever at State College.

Your class officers, in the coming year, will be responsible for the effectiveness of the Freshman-Sophomore Dance. If elected to serve, I will select a day for the dance that is not conflicting with other activities. Also, I will have a class due receipt book showing who has paid their class dues. In addition, I promise that the dance will be well planned, giving you the best entertainment that is available.

Notes from the Wolfpack

Johany Johnson of Raleigh, an outstanding end on the freshman football team last year, was elected to Phi Eta Sigma national scholarship fraternity. An engineering student, Johnson had a 3.5 average his first semester to become eligible for the highest freshman honor at State College . . .

The State All-Stars will lose a valuable squad member to the opposition for tonight's game against Wake Forest in Gore Gymnasium.

John Maglio will don the gold and black Deacon colors and play for the Wake All-Stars. He will replace Jackie Murdock, who will by-pass the barnstorming tour in order to play baseball.

The State Stars won their 22nd straight game last Saturday night by stopping Wake Forest 88-87 in a thriller. Jack Williams scored 30 points to lead the Deacs while Vic Molodet had 24 for State.

The Harlem Globetrotters and the College All-Americans ring down the curtain on the 1957 season in Reynolds Coliseum Thursday, April 4. Making their eighth annual World Series tour, the "Trotters will oppose the cream of the collegiate cage crop.

Only four lettermen are included on State's current baseball roster. Outfielder Russ Casteen, second baseman Derris Bradshaw, third baseman Jim Creekmore and catcher Bob Kennel are the monogram winners.

Missing from this year's team will be first sacker Bill Peed, shortstop Dud Whitley, catcher Eddie West, outfielders Norman Norris and Sonny Santoli, and pitchers Lou Dickman and Tommy Hargrove.

Head football coach Earle Edwards had to turn down a trip to Germany this summer.

The Air Force invited the Wolfpack mentor to fly over in July and conduct grid clinics for servicemen in Germany, but Edwards' son, Jack, who is currently stationed in Germany with the Army, will be coming home about the same time and Edwards wants to spend some time with his family.

As a member of the Michigan State coaching staff in 1953, Edwards spent three weeks in Europe conducting football clinics.

Hunter To Captain '57 Grid Squad

Dick Hunter, a rising senior from Leechburg, Pa., has been elected captain of the North Carolina State football team for 1957.

One of the best all-around halfbacks ever to play for the Wolfpack, Hunter was a near unanimous choice in a vote of the squad members. He will be the team's first permanent captain in two years. Previously, the squad named a leader for each game.

The 5-foot-7, 157-pounder is no giant by football standards but is the most versatile member of the Wolfpack squad. Despite his small stature, he is a great college football player.

"The team couldn't have picked a better leader," Edwards declared. Dick does everything a good football player is supposed to do. He runs, passes, punts, kicks extra points, catches passes and returns punts and kickoffs.

"In addition," Edwards continued, "he is our best defensive back. I have never seen a better blocker or harder tackler for his size. He is like a package of dynamite . . . small but powerful."

Hunter, who is called "Spook" by his teammates, led the team last year in punting, intercepted passes, kickoff and punt returns and was the team's second leading rusher, compiling a 4.3 average on 86 carries.

Intramurals

Finals in both the fraternity and dormitory swimming meets are set for tonight in Frank Thompson Pool. Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Becton Dorm are defending champions, but it will require an all-out effort if these two swim powers are to repeat tonight.

Pack Opened Diamond Card Today Against Delaware

North Carolina State's baseball team kicked the lid off the 1957 season this afternoon by laying host to the University of Delaware in an inter-sectional contest.

Coach Vic Sorrell, beginning his eleventh year with the Wolfpack, sent to the mound either Jim Walch, a junior righthander from Claymont, Del., or Roger Hagwood, a righthander from Kingstree, S. C.

Only four lettermen from last year's team, which compiled a 14-5 record, are back and all four will be in the starting lineup against Delaware.

Forming the nucleus of the '57 team are Bob Kennel, a .415 hitter who was picked on the NCAA All-District team; centerfielder Russ Casteen, second baseman Derris Bradshaw and third baseman Jim Creekmore.

Missing from the roster are such stars as first baseman Bill Peed, shortstop Dud Whitley, outfielders Sonny Santoli and Norman Norris, catcher Eddie West, and pitchers Lou Dickman and Tommy Hargrove.

Eddie Wyant, a long-ball hitter from Charlottesville, Va., will open at first base for the Wolfpack and is expected to add power at the plate. He played sparingly last year behind Peed.

man team where he performed brilliantly last year. Both Hill and Hurst saw action last year but neither earned letters.

Bench strength will come from Pete Bazonis at first, Dick Hunter at second, Omega Abbott at shortstop, David Weeks at third, Ron Savage behind the plate, outfielders Bucky Waters and Jack Frazelle and pitchers Billy Franklin and John Scott.

Joe Jones, one of last season's top hurlers, is recovering from an operation and will not play this year.

The starting lineup:
Derris Bradshaw, 2b
Russ Casteen, CF
Eddie Wyant, 1b
Bob Kennel, C
Don Hafer, LF
Jim Hill, RF

Donahue Is IFC Secretary Nominee

Ernie Donahue, a rising junior at State, announced his candidacy today for secretary of the Interfraternity Council.

Donahue, a member of Sigma Nu Fraternity, outlined the following points in his program:

(1) The IFC's rushing program can be strengthened through the efforts of the secretary and the office committee by compiling names and addresses of interested freshmen and mailing them to the chapters before school starts. Can be used for summer rush programs.

(2) "Rush" is the backbone of the fraternities and as a member of the executive council, I will do everything possible to expand and strengthen the IFC's program.

(3) The duties of the secretary are pretty cut and dried, but the secretary can play a big role in many other functions of the IFC, which I intend to do.

Judicial Board Reprimands Two

On Thursday, March 21, two students were given a severe reprimand for shooting a firecracker in a dorm. The two students voluntarily turned themselves in to Mr. Watts after the incident.

Chairman of the Judicial Board, Boy Lyne, said, "This type of cooperation by students helps prove that the honor system at State College is progressing and is being accepted."

"All campus leaders that I discussed this plan with agreed these meetings would help solve our relations problem."

Houtz further states that: "If elected, I will make every effort to maintain good will between the citizens of Raleigh and State College students."

Two Plays To Be Given Tonight

The State College Drama Club, in cooperation with the Raleigh Little Theater Workshop, will present William Saroyan's Hello Out There and an original play by Dr. Harvey Bumgardner and Barbara White entitled The Tea Cup at the Little Theater tonight at 8 p.m. All students, faculty and staff are invited free of charge.

Both plays will be entered by State College in the Carolina Dramatic Association play festival at Chapel Hill in April. Hello Out There will compete for top honors in the production division of the festival, in which position State College copped a highest award last year. The Tea Cup, which in February won a CDA Author's Award and first

Thompson Outlines Campaign Program

(1) To continue to help make the Freshman-Sophomore Dance one of the most outstanding social events, at State College.

(2) To work with other campus organizations on the present traffic problem, in order that a solution may be reached that will end discussions on the possibility of prohibiting freshmen and sophomores from having cars on campus.

to work for a full-time physician in the college infirmary. Pointing to other schools, he quoted a recent report of the place in the Community Theater category, will be entered in the original play division and will be judged for the Betty Smith Award.

Hello Out There is directed by Harvey Bumgardner and the cast includes Bob Gray, George Thomason, Barbara White, Alice Young, Harry James and Tanya Quick. An original ballad, written especially for Hello Out There by George Hall of Raleigh, will be sung by Doug Franklin. The set was designed and executed by Jon Bell and Bob Gray.

The Tea Cup is directed by Norman Larson and the cast includes Ann Seltman, Carolyn Myers, Helen Crisp and Harvey Bumgardner. The set was designed by George Bireline, instructor in the School of Design.

Following the presentation of the two plays at the Little Theater Thursday night, the audience will be invited to remain and participate in a criticism period.

National Student Association that "sixty-four per cent of colleges with an enrollment of over two thousand have comprehensive medical coverage which usually includes a full-time doctor. The Dean of Student Affairs has done a tremendous amount of work in this area and should be commended for his efforts. These efforts must not stop until a full-time physician is obtained.

Both George Cochran and Fred Houtz have stated that they will have a "hands-off policy" towards one of the major student operations on campus. This area receives $75,000 to $80,000 of student fees. Yager says, "I will not pursue a 'hands-off policy' on any issue pertaining to student affairs. Certainly an area receiving this much financial support and affecting the student life at State College deserves the attention of Student Government and its President."

methods of distribution. Houtz also proposed a series of regular meetings with officials of Raleigh in order to maintain better public relations.

He stated that he favored a "live and let live" policy toward the College Union, stating that in the position of the President of Student Government on the Board of Directors, sufficient representation and control was available to Student Government. He proposed employment of a full-time doctor at the infirmary and suggested a free polio shot program for all students. He continued saying that he favored re-emphasis on the Campus and Honor codes and the function of the Judicial Board.

Question and Answer Period
Bob Lyne, Thirty and Three President, took charge of the program for the question and answer period which followed the speeches.

Cochran, when asked about the College Union, said that he was pursuing a "hands off" policy with the belief that the program was effective and that the present officers were doing a qualified job. When questioned about lowering the parking fee Cochran pointed to the increased enrollments predicted for the coming years and the falling off of available area for paving. He also called attention to the possible money coming from the General Assembly this year for paving.

Yager returned to his discussion of the Union when asked about it, stating that he did not favor such absolute control over C. U. elections candidates as the College Union had at this time.

He also stated that he wanted to see if better use could be made of the money the C. U. received from the student fees. Houtz was questioned further about his program for traffic and restated that he favored a strong executive policy toward it. He also stated that the discount plan had been discussed by others with the Raleigh Merchants Association earlier and found to be impractical due to their disfavor.
