Houtz Reports On Coliseum Fees

Incoming President of Student Government Fred Houtz made 70 announcements this week concerning planks in his election platform.

Houtz stated that, as he had promised, the large fees for heavy work necessary once each season for the staging of events at the Coliseum will be apportioned to all groups renting the coliseum after that time who would have had to have the same work done. He cited as an example the removal of the floor and bleachers following basketball season. "The costs of this work," he explained, "will no longer be borne by the first group using the Coliseum after the season but will be apportioned to all groups throughout the spring." According to Houtz the pro-rating will be done by the campus Social Functions Committee.

CU Room Space

Friday is the last day for student organizations to arrange for office space in the CU organization office for the coming school year. Contracts should be picked up in the C.U. Activities Office as soon as possible and are to be returned to the house committee box by May 4. Office space will be assigned on a first come-first served basis.

Travel Poster Exhibit

One of the most colorful exhibits of the year is the Travel Poster Exhibit now on display in the C.U. Gallery, sponsored by the Gallery Committee.

These posters represent countries around the world painted in vivid colors advertising glamorous vacation spots and places of interest. The posters were obtained from various Embassies, Travel Agencies, and Consulates.

Air Force Inspection

Air Force ROTC cadets and members of the State College Band will be excused from conducting classes during the hours from 11 to 1 on Tuesday, May 4, for the AFROTC annual inspection.

Summer School

Students who are planning to attend summer school are asked to fill out a blank at a table in the hall near registration offices on ground floor, Holladay Hall.

Selective Service Test

Students who wish to take the Selective Service College Qualification Test at its next administration, May 16, must apply not later than midnight, Monday, May 6. Application forms may be secured from Wake County Selective Service Board, Odd Fellows Building, 15 W. Hargett Street.

Junior-Senior Bids

Final time for picking up Junior-Senior Dance bids is tonight (Thursday) from 7 to 9.

Foreign Students

Foreign students may make arrangements to use the 'Y' kitchen on Saturday noon, Saturday and Sunday evenings to cook their own favorite dishes. For further information call Mrs. Bishop at the YMCA.

Houtz added that the removal of the base fee had been completely cleared with the approval granted it by the Chancellor, Dr. Carey H. Bostian, recently. He said that one other cost had been added, the janitorial expense, but that otherwise the costs would remain the same. The janitorial fee will be one dollar per man per hour.

Houtz's other announcement concerned veteran's checks next fall. He revealed that he had arranged through Mr. Rabb's and other administrative offices for the veterans to receive their checks on or about October 20 instead of November 20.

Veterans will be required to come back on September 19, the day before registration in order to take advantage of the one month gain. They and all other students will be allowed to pick up their rosters and clear with the Business office that day. Veterans must clear with the Business office that day, September 19, and fill out proper government and VA application forms if they are to receive their checks in October. If they wait until September 20, the checks will not arrive until November 20.

Sigma Nu to Host White Rose Triad

State College's chapter of Sigma Nu Fraternity will be host to the annual White Rose Triad this week-end at the Ocean Forest Hotel in Myrtle Beach, S. C.

The triad is an annual event on the spring social calendar of the Sigma Nu Chapters in North Carolina—Gamma at Duke, Psi at Carolina, and Beta Tau at State.

The week-end activities begin on Friday night with a combo and beach party and continue through Sunday. The crowning of the "White Rose Queen" highlights the weekend on Saturday night during the formal dance on the hotel's Marine Patio.

Help Wanted

Students interested in working on the staff of next year's Technician are urged to take advantage of gaining experience by helping on the remaining five issues for this year. The Technician offices at 137-139, 1911 Building are open on Sunday and Wednesday nights from 8 until 12 to anyone willing to assist in putting out State College's student newspaper.

Inauguration Set For Coliseum

Final plans for the inauguration of William C. Friday as president of the Consolidated University of North Carolina to be held in the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum at State College next Wednesday, May 8, at 10:30 a.m. were announced here yesterday.

Announcement of the inaugural program details came from O. Max Gardner, Jr., of Shelby and W. D. Carmichael, Jr., of Chapel Hill, chairman and vice chairman of the Inauguration Committee, respectively, following a committee meeting at State College yesterday.

Governor Hodges, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Consolidated University, will preside.

All classes will be cancelled on Wednesday so students and faculty can attend the ceremonies.

Dr. William M. Whyburn, vice president of graduate studies and research of the Consolidated University, will present President Friday.

The oath of office will be administered to President Friday by Chief Justice J. Wallace Winborne of the State Supreme Court. He will formally be inducted into office by Governor Hodges.

Following his induction into office, the new president will deliver his inaugural address.

Dr. William M. Whyburn, vice president of graduate studies and research of the Consolidated University, will present President Friday.

Remarks

Remarks will be made by the two former presidents of the Consolidated University—Dr. Frank P. Graham, United Nations mediator, who headed UNC from 1931 until 1950; and Gordon Gray, director of the U. S. Office of Defense Mobilization, who served as president of the university from 1950 until 1955.

The invocation and benediction will be spoken by the Rev. W. W. Finlator, pastor of the Pullen Memorial Baptist Church of Raleigh. Norman Gordon of Chapel Hill, former star of the Metropolitan Opera, will lead the audience in singing the National Anthem.

Governor Hodges will introduce the chancellors of the Consolidated University—Chancellor Carey H. Bostian of North Carolina State College, Chancellor Robert B. House of the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, Acting Chancellor W. W. Pierson of the Woman's College in Greensboro, Chancellor-Elect William B. Aycock of the University in Chapel Hill, and Chancellor-Elect Gordon Blackwell of Woman's College.

Prior to the inaugural ceremonies, there will be an academic procession of delegates from other colleges and universities, delegates from learned societies and educational and professional organizations, and the faculties of the Consolidated University.

The annual Alumni Weekend will be observed at State College Friday and Saturday, May 3 and 4, when hundreds of former students are expected to return to the campus.

In reporting this H. W. (Pop) Taylor, director of alumni affairs at the college, said a varied program has been arranged for the entertainment and information of the returning alumni.

The program will get underway Friday, May 3, with registration in the College Union Building, beginning at 10 a.m. and continuing until 6 p.m.

Other features of the Friday program will include campus tours from 2 to 4 p.m., the annual alumni reception from 4 to 5:30 p.m., class reunion dinners at 6:30 p.m., and an informal "get-together" from 9 p.m. until midnight.

The agenda for Saturday, May 4, will be featured by campus tours, a hospitality hour in the new Alumni Building at 10 a.m., a dedicatory service for the Class of 1893 at 11 a.m., the annual alumni luncheon in the College Union Building at 1 p.m., and a baseball game between Wake Forest and North Carolina State College at 3 p.m.

Luncheon

The annual alumni luncheon, scheduled for the College Union Building Saturday at 1 p.m., will be highlighted by the presentation of three awards—"the Meritorius Service Award" to an alumnus, "the Award of Merit" to a non-alumnus, and the Alumni Athletic Trophy to the top-ranking college athlete.

T. B. Upchurch, Jr., of Raeford, president of the General Alumni Association, will preside over the luncheon session. A welcoming talk will be given by Dr. Carey H. Bostian, chancellor of State College, and brief remarks will be made by President William C. Friday of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, a member of the State College Class of 1941. The invocation will be spoken by Dean of Students E. L. Cloyd.

President Upchurch will give the annual presidential report.

Others taking part in the luncheon program will be L. T. Weeks of Raleigh, chairman of the Alumni Fund Committee, who will recognize guests; H. W. (Pop) Taylor, director of alumni affairs, who will present the alumni trophy; C. B. Eller of Wilkesboro, chairman of the board of directors of the Alumni Association, who will present the "Meritorius Service Award"; and L. L. Ray, direc-

Graduate Students To Have Picnic

The first function designed for graduate students under the sponsorship of the newly organized Graduate Student Association will be held Sunday, May 5, at Umstead State Park.

A picnic is planned for the graduate students and their families or dates. Site for the picnic will be the Sycamore Camp area. The event, which begins at 2 p.m. and ends at 10 p.m., will be highlighted by a southern-fried chicken supper.

To help defray the expenses, tickets will be sold for adults at 85¢ each and for children at 50¢. Tickets can be purchased from representatives to the Graduate Student Council.

The Constitution for the Graduate Student Association was approved on April 10 by a majority of the graduate students who voted. The Constitution, as approved, sets up a Council of representatives (one from each section having graduates students) and empowers this Council to represent the graduate student body.

College Union Jazz Concert

Members of "The Jazz Messengers", led by Art Blakey, presented a Modern Jazz concert in the College Union Tuesday night before an enthusiastic audience. They are a nationally recognized group with a recent release on Columbia records.

Mop-Up Fees

Student Government will probably begin consideration of the split to be made of Student Supply Store profits tonight at their regular meeting. More than likely the matter will be referred to a committee for a report at the next meeting.

It is interesting, however, to note the split made in previous years and the size of the profits. They have experienced a steady growth roughly proportional to the growth of the student body.

The money is split in changing proportions between academic and athletic scholarships at the discretion of student government. It represents a large amount of money for both purposes as the figures show.

	Athletic	%	Academic	%
1952-53	30,000	67	15,000	33
1953-54	25,000	56	20,000	44
1954-55	33,000	60	22,000	40
1955-56	43,000	60	28,600	40

As shown there was a drastic readjustment in the percentage in 1953-54. Since that time it has moderated somewhat, but fees for both have continued to climb . . . athletic fees have reached the point where they are almost 100% of the 1952-53 money.

This year the total figure will be still higher. Last year's 71,000 dollars will probably be cleared by several thousand dollars.

It will be interesting to see the new split. The amounts will be healthy in any event.

Criticism Vs: Mudslinging

Elections are dead and gone for another year. As was obvious to everyone, this year's campaigning was among the bitterest ever staged at State. Mudslinging ran rampant and hard feelings were the order of the day . . . neither of these things should have happened.

Many idealistic solutions are available to eliminate the problems. The "naughty-naughty", or "mommy will spank" solution is a good example . . . it is wishful thinking to believe that criticism of some sort is not natural to an election. No number of speeches or editorials is going to curb these natural tendencies.

Is this situation healthy? Is honest and justified criticism, discussion or difference of opinion all wrong? If the answer to both these questions is "No", then how is it to be controlled so that it will not get out of hand.

At Chapel College, Wake Forest and many other schools, campus political parties are not only recognized, but encouraged. A slate of officers is prepared by the party and their campaigns are conducted together under the auspices of the party or parties.

Debate is aired on various issues and candidates and their managers and supporters make public statements of, again, sane and justified criticism and discussion of the other's platform.

There are other ways of handling the situation. Common sense and prudence could be used in the system State now follows in its student politics to provide healthy exchange. It would not be necessary to call names or comment on an opponent's personal capabilities, but an open discussion of his platform, experience and promises would be more than informative.

The idea of student political parties has a number of problems. At Chapel Hill so much emphasis has been placed on the work of the party and the election of its members and its control of the legislature, that often the goals of the students have been neglected. Doubtless a lot has been left undone in the preoccupation with party politics. At State we have been fortunate in being able to concentrate nearly all effort on the business at hand. And State's Student Government has accomplished a lot in the past four or five years.

Perhaps student parties are not the answer, and perhaps the sensible criticism system isn't either. But we think there is a difference between mud-slinging and criticism. There is much to be gained from the latter. It should not be condemned because of its cousin.

To the Editor:
I would like to convey a brief message to your readers, especially those who know Rahmat Ali, a student at the School of Textiles in the Textile Chemistry curriculum.

As a good many of us know, Ali is now under treatment in the Wake County sanatorium. He has been there for over two months and is expected to stay there for another seven or eight months. In view of the fact that he has to spend a considerable time under treatment and in bed, it has been suggested that a fund be formed whereby a TV set can be purchased for him.

All those interested in participating, individuals or organizations, should please send their contributions to Rahmat Ali TV Fund, 11 1/2 Dixie Trail, Raleigh, or see me about it personally.

Please do so as early as possible. There is no minimum amount of money that is necessary for this collection, so all contributions will be welcomed and appreciated.

Notes From The Wolfpack

State Colleges football staff members are breathing easier these days with the recent news that star halfback Dick Christy has decided to return to State next fall in time for the grid season. Christy, who dropped out of school recently due to personal reasons, is rated one of the finest backs in the South and could come under consideration for All-American honors. Said Coach Earle Edwards: "Believe me, my nights are a lot less restless since last week."

Wolfpack baseball stars Don Hafer and Dick Hunter have a lot in common. Both are attending State on football scholarships, both are backs, both are from Pennsylvania, both are switch hitters and both are outfielders.

How would you like to see a football game each year between the seniors of State and Carolina versus the senior of Duke and Wake Forest?

Plans for such an attraction are being considered. The game would be held the second week in December, probably in Raleigh. In addition to the seniors, players who have finished their eligibility but are in school winding up work on their degrees would also play.

The Wolfpack is nominated for having the fastest baseball games in the Atlantic Coast Conference. In several of State's last four games, the times were 1:54, 2:12, 2:23 and 1:56.

John Scott, a sophomore righthander from Charlotte, made his first college mound performance a memorable one. Coming in to relieve Bill Franklin in the fifth inning against South Carolina, he gave up only one hit in 4 1/2 innings, struck out two and walked only one.

Tryouts Set—

State Host To Big Four Day - 14th

North Carolina State will be host to the annual "Big Four" intramural competition on Tuesday, May 14, according to Art Hock, intramural director. Teams from Carolina, State, Wake Forest and Duke will converge on the State campus for play in badminton, horseshoes, table tennis, volleyball, golf, handball, tennis, and softball.

The events are all run on a point-system with the school compiling the largest total points at the end of the day being awarded the team trophy. The intramural department has announced the following tryout schedules and any student interested in taking part urged to meet the schedule. "With the talent we have on our campus, there is little doubt in my mind that State cannot win this year's Big Four Day if the individuals who excel in these activities will come out and participate," said Mr. Hoch yesterday.

State Ties UNC In Rod & Gun Meet

State College and Carolina fought to a 2-2 deadlock yesterday in a Rod and Gun meet held at the Durham Wildlife Club under the sponsorship of the colleges' intramural departments.

State captured the bait casting event with 126 points, to Carolina's 108. Jerry Hagler was top individual scorer with 66 out of 75 points. The local lads also took the target shooting competition with a score of 544-531. State's Bob Wayick took honors with 189 points out of a possible 200.

Carolina won archery 708-676 and walked off with trap shooting event 66-58.

This was the first Rod and Gun meet held between the two schools in several years, and intramural officials hope to schedule several more in the years ahead.

Wolfpack Seeks to Improve Conference Record Against Wake Forest Saturday Afternoon at 3:00

Wake Forest's Deacons, who reached their peak in recent games, come to town Saturday afternoon for an Atlantic Coast Conference game with North Carolina State.

The game will begin at 3 o'clock on the State College diamond, located in back of Reynolds Coliseum.

The contest is the first chance the Deacs have had to avenge a 9-4 loss to the Wolfpack at Winston-Salem earlier in the year. Coach Gene Hooks' red-hot crew warmed up for the affair with smashing 15-0 and 7-0 wins over Maryland and Virginia. Both victories were one-hit pitching jobs by Ben Tench and Bill Lovingood.

Hooks is expected to start John Stokoe, one of the league's best pitchers, against the Pack. The crafty lefthander was the loser in the first meeting as State's Jim Walch threw a four-hitter at the Deacs.

Walch, who is 4-3 for the year, probably will oppose Stokoe on the mound.

First baseman Eddie Wyant, who went on a hitting spree against Virginia and Maryland, has taken over as State's top hitter with a .367 average. He banged out seven hits in ten tries in the Pack's two-game road trip.

Trailing Wyant are center-fielder Dick Hunter and catcher Bob Kennel, who are waging a torrid race for second place. The two are tied with .312 averages. Rightfielder Jimmy Hill, hitting .298, is fourth.

The Deacons' power attack is sparked by first baseman Jack Phillips, second baseman Al Baker, and outfielder Rex McMillan, a Raleigh boy who will be playing before the home folks. Another local boy on the Deacon squad is catcher Jackie Murdock, the Deacs' great basketball star.

In the ACC race, Wake Forest is 7-5 for the season while State is 6-5.

The last time for Juniors and Seniors to pick up bids will be tonight (Thursday) from 7 to 9. Bids cover both the Dance, which will be held in the Coliseum, and the concert, which is set for the Raleigh Amphitheater. Tickets for the concert may also be bought at the door for one dollar.

In accordance with past tradition State men attending the Dance are requested by the Junior Class Officers to give no flowers to their dates.

Band to Present Concert On Sunday

The State College Band will present an outdoor concert on the south terrace of the College Union Building Sunday at 4:30 o'clock.

Major Christian D. Kutschinski and Robert A. Barnes of the college's Music Department will conduct. The program will be open to the public free of charge.

The program will embrace a wide variety of band literature including the classical, romantic, and popular fields. Also included will be a special group of numbers by the brass ensemble.

Sponsoring the event will be the State College Union's music committee, headed by Harry England of Raleigh, and the college chapter of Mu Beta Psi, headed by Peter McElligott of Vestal, N. Y.

Golden Chain To Tap Twelve

Golden Chain, Senior Honorary Society, will tap twelve Rising Seniors into its membership Friday, May 10, at noon in ceremonies in the Quadrangle behind the College Union.

Final voting by the members of Golden Chain will select the twelve men judged to be the outstanding rising Seniors. Golden Chain is regarded as the highest honor an undergraduate at State can receive. The organization recognizes all facets of a student's ability and concentrates on his extra-curricular achievements as well as his scholastic standing.

Nominations for candidates have been open in the office of Dean Talley, Coordinator of Student Affairs in Holladay Hall. The entire faculty and student body was requested to make their nominations.

Play Introduces New Theater Type

The presentation of "Bus Stop" by the C.U. Theater Committee on May 7 and 8 in the College Union Ballroom will initiate a new arena stage built by the Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity and will introduce a new type of theater at State College—theater-in-the-round.

In the 8 p.m. production of "Bus Stop," the William Inge play made into a movie of the same name, the audience will surround the stage on three sides with the actors making entrances and exits within a hand's reach of them.

Presenting the play in the College Union Ballroom will have the advantage of an up-to-date light panel, complete with dimmer board. A general blackout will take place of a curtain, denoting scene and act breaks. During intermission the prop people will go about their business of prop changes in full view of the audience.

All students and faculty are asked to attend the tapping ceremony.

Theater-in-the-Round
Theater-in-the-round is a fast growing favorite with audiences all over the United States. Many of the off-Broadway playhouses in New York utilize this type of production as well as such groups as the Myrtle Beach Playhouse at Myrtle Beach, S. C., and the Raleigh Summer Theater at the local Little Theater. The intimacy of arena style productions is probably most responsible for its appeal.

The production of "Bus Stop" is free to all students.
