TV Executive Speaks At Banquet

"The person who presents a new way to do an effective television newscast will make a major contribution to the television industry" said Durham TV executive Ernie Gruep at the annual Publications Banquet last Friday night.

Gruep's talk was one of the highlights of the banquet meeting of the State College Board of Student Publications. Approximately 150 persons were hand for the event.

George T. Lathrop of Asheville, editor of The Technician, received the board's Meritorious Service Award, an engraved cup. The runner-up was John Lomax of Guilford College, who conducted the "Daily Technician" program on Radio Station WRAL. The awards were presented by Prof. Lindsay Whichard of the English Department.

New Agromeck

Another of the highlights of the evening was the distribution of the Agromeck by Bill Gram and Rick Teague, editor and business manager, respectively, of the yearbook. They presented copies of the 1957 edition of the 368-page volume to those attending the banquet. Other students will receive their annuals next week. (A schedule will appear in The Technician Thursday of the times and places for picking up the yearbook.)

Jerry Rasor of Raleigh, manager of WVWP, was in charge of the banquet program. Door prizes were presented by Roger Hill, editor of the Agriculturist. Keys donating outstanding editorial and business staff service on seven student publications and WVWP, the student radio station, were awarded to students. The presentations were made by Banks C. Talley, coordinator of student activities, to the following:

The Agromeck—Donald Payne Memory, Wagram; and Charles Robert Patterson, Hickory.

Nuc. Reactor Resumes Operation

Following approval by the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, State College resumed the operation of its Nuclear Reactor last Thursday.

Dr. Arthur C. Menius, Jr., head of the college's Physics Department, and Dr. Raymond L. Murray, acting director of the reactor, said that the operation of the reactor was resumed without incident and outlined an expanded program of work for the institution's atomic facilities.

Dean Lampe said no funds from the Atomic Energy Commission were used in the present reactor but announced the receipt of $80,000 from the AEC for use in the design, and construction of a higher powered reactor—several times more powerful than the present facility. The larger reactor, he said, will be either the "water boiler" type or the solid fuel element type.

Lomax Named Outstanding Senior

Holiday Declared For Inauguration

State College students, employees, and faculty members alike will observe a holiday Wednesday when William C. Friday, a State College graduate, will be sworn in as Consolidated University president. The ceremonies will be held in the Coliseum beginning at 10:30 a.m.

The inauguration, according to the schedule, promises to be an impressive one. Participating in the program will be officials, both past and present, of the three Consolidated University units. Several ranking state officials will also take part.

Former Presidents

Former Consolidated University Presidents Frank Graham (1931-50) and Gordon Gray (1950-55) will be on hand to give short talks.

Graham is currently United Nations mediator. Gray was recently named by President Eisenhower as director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Gov. Luther Hodges will introduce the Consolidated University chancellors—Carey H. Boston, of State College; Robert B. House, of UNC; and William Whatley Pierson, of WC.

Chancellors-elect William B. Aycock and Gordon Blackwell of Woman's College will also be presented by Gov. Hodges.

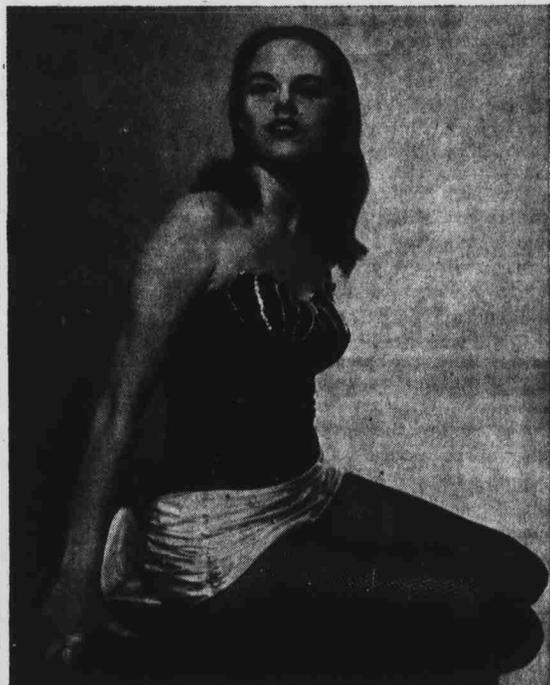

Introducing Friday will be W. M. Whyburn, vice president of graduate studies and research of the Consolidated University. North Carolina Supreme Court Chief Justice J. Wallace Winborne will administer the oath.

Friday will give his inaugural address following the oath.

Also featured in the program will be the combined glee clubs of UNC, State, and WC, who will sing the chorale Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee. The Consolidated University bands, after Friday's address, will play God of Our Fathers.

The invocation and benediction will be rendered by the Rev. W. W. Finlator, pastor of the Pullen Memorial Baptist Church.

Following the inauguration, there will be an informal reception for delegates and guests.

Pat Little As Cherie In "Bus Stop"

Two Night Stand For "Bus Stop"

Such characters as Cherie (Pat Little) of the Blue Dragon Night Club and Bo Decker (Sam Reick), straight off a Montana ranch, will come to life when the College Union Theater Committee presents "Bus Stop" on Tuesday and Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the C. U. Ballroom.

The William Inge play, which tries to solve the problem of "What is Love?", features a cast of students and student wives. This marks the second occasion that a full length play has been undertaken at State College, the first being "My Three Angels" which was presented last year.

The plot of "Bus Stop" is best expressed by Cherie, the little girl from the Ozarks who almost married a cousin when she was 14. "You hear all about love when you're a kid and just take it for granted that such a thing really exists. Maybe you have to find out for yourself it don't." And then the play sets out to prove that it does exist, for a Shakespeare - spouting English professor (Ben Kirkland right down to an uneducated counter girl (Ann Jones)).

Highlights of the theater-in-the-round production comes when Cherie does her famous top-of-the-table "Black Magic" number accompanied by Virgie (Will Block), who doesn't know how to play "opery" music, and his guitar.

Others in the cast include Frank Woody as the sheriff, Anne Patrick as the waitress and Bill Bass as the bus driver.

The production is free to all students and their dates.

Golden C. Tapping Planned for Friday

The top honorary society on Campus, Golden Chain, will tap the 12 outstanding rising Seniors into the society this Friday at noon. Several honorary members will also be tapped at this time also.

The tapping ceremony, with the present members in their traditional robes, will be held in the Quadrangle in front of the College Union. All ROTC units will attend the ceremony, which will begin at 12 noon.

Cafe Announces Wed. Hour Changes

The College Cafeteria will be open for the noon meal on Wednesday, May 8th from 11:00 to 12:00 ONLY. The Cafeteria will be closed at 12:00 in order to serve guests of the College attending the Inauguration Ceremonies for President Friday. This procedure is being followed in order to cooperate with the committee planning the Inaugural Ceremonies.

A Healthy Atmosphere

The Student Government voted unanimously against a resolution last week which had previously been accepted by the Faculty Senate.

The resolution which the legislative body voted against was the proposed new cut system. Under the new cut system, which the Faculty Senate passed about a month ago, a student would be required to get an excuse from a class from the professor whose class he wished to cut. That is, no longer would there be a central office from which excuses would be obtained. The cut system would be a direct student-professor relationship.

The theory of the new cut system, quite basically, is that the individual professors know best whether a student can afford to cut a class. Another factor may have been that State is getting too big for one person to have to grant excuses for the entire student body.

The Student Government has taken a stand just opposite to that of the Faculty Senate. This, we believe, shows the healthy atmosphere which prevails here at State. When the students dislike and disagree with the Faculty and can stand up as a body and say that they disagree without fear of reprisal, there exists a situation "pregnant with possibilities of progress."

As for the action the Student Government took on the measure, we are in agreement with it. A student-professor relationship is not the best solution to the problem—it is merely one solution.

There are other solutions which are worth further consideration. The student could be required to get an excuse from his advisor. This might kill two birds with one stone—the student would have a chance to see his advisor more than he now does—and maybe more than about half the students would know who their advisor is that way. . . .

Another solution, which is better yet, is to have each school grant excuses. This could be handled through the dean's office of each school. This would spread the work of writing excuses—which a single person must find extremely boring and laborious—over several people, none of whom would be over-burdened by the duty.

Certainly the problem needs further study. The system proposed by the Faculty Senate overlooks one further point. The student-professor relationship could become all too personal . . . with the student on the losing end.

West Campus Bell

After watching the idea of a bell on the west end of our campus grow from a column in The Technician, watching the idea go through the Student Government where it was passed, watching Dean Talley try for months to get a bell, and finally seeing a bell from Southern Railway arrive here . . . seeing the original resolution changed in the Student Government this year and then getting the Chancellor's approval, we have little more to say.

Frankly, we are fed up with this delay. This bell should be ringing now. If there is any reason for its not being installed, M & O should make the reason public. As far as we can see, somebody is not doing his job—or if he is, he surely is taking his time about it.

Over 6000 Students Expected Next Fall

At noon last Wednesday State College had received slightly over 50 per cent more applications from new students seeking to enter the college next September than it had on the same date last year.

Kenneth D. Raab, director of admissions and registration, said 1,910 new applications were received in his office up to noon yesterday as compared with 1,270 applications on May 1, 1957. This represents 640 more applications than had arrived at the same time last year.

Over 6000 Expected

The rising tide of applications from new students and a record-breaking number of upperclassmen returning to the campus next fall are expected to swell the college's total registration "well over 6,000 the largest number of students ever enrolled by State College," Raab said.

Commenting on the rapid growth in enrollment, J. J. Stewart, Jr., dean of student affairs, said next fall's student body is expected to place an even heavier strain upon State College's already-crammed housing facilities.

"We're in dire need of housing," Dean Stewart declared.

Several years ago, he said, the college established a four-point student housing priority plan including (1) housing for single men in dormitories; (2) apart-

Editorialettes

Ed. Note. When we have more to say than we have space to print it, we will in the future, use this column entitled "Editorialettes" to pass on to the students ideas and comments which should not be left unmentioned. Maybe you will find an idea here sometime which you can use to improve our college.

S. G. Dismisses Senator

Last week Student Government declared the seat of Janette Sitterson vacant; Sitterson was the freshman representative from the Engineering School. The action was taken because she attended meetings very seldom. We congratulate Student Government on this action—the Legislative body of our school is no place for indolence.

1957 Agromeck

The Technician applauds Bill Graham, Editor of the Agromeck, and his staff for the excellent job they did on the year-book this year. We received a copy at the Publications Banquet last week and think it is the best job that has been done in several years. The photography, especially, is very good. Again we say congratulations on a job well done.

YMCA Sex Lectures

Anyone who attended one of the lectures by Mrs. Nash last week will certainly agree that she was very good. We hope the YMCA will continue to sponsor such a program in the years ahead. The interest in the subject was proved quite definitely by the crowded conditions which existed each night.

Inauguration

On Wednesday we get a holiday from classes to see William C. Friday installed as President of the Greater University of North Carolina. The program will be very interesting and educational. We all should be on hand for the ceremony . . . they gave us a whole day . . . we should be able to give back an hour or so.

ments for married students; (3) fraternity housing; and (4) a dormitory for coeds and has been working toward these goals.

New Dormitories

Grading is now underway for a 400-room dormitory with accommodations for 800 students to be located adjacent to the State College Print Shop and the present Vetteville. Plans for this $2,000,000 project were drawn by Boney Brothers, an architectural firm of Wilmington. Construction contracts will be let soon.

Completion of this dormitory is not anticipated until September, 1958. The present enrollment will more than fill all of these rooms.

The college, Dean Stewart explained, is requesting the General Assembly to grant authority for the construction, at no cost to the state, of additional self-liquidating dormitories which are essential to the institutions further North.

A total of 2,019 students had to be assigned three to a room this year in rooms designed for only two students each. More than 1,800 had to rent living accommodations off campus.

Plans also have been tentatively formulated for a $3,000,000 apartment project for married students attending the college. The college is requesting authority from the General Assembly to borrow funds from the Federal Housing Authority to construct this project, which will include approximately 400 units.

Approximately one out of every four State College students, or a total of 1,433, is married.

Fraternity Row

The 17 fraternities at State College, which now are housing around 300 students in old residences considered as fire hazards by the Fire Department and located mostly in the vicinity of the college campus, are planning with the help of the college to build a housing center on Western Boulevard that will accommodate between 600 and 700 fraternity members.

Funds are not yet available for this project, which will be paid for by the fraternities, each of which will bear a proportionate share of the costs for construction and maintenance.

Letters To The Editor:

Letters to the Editor must be signed. If it is requested that the name be withheld for a good reason, the letter will be printed and the name withheld. Letters WILL NOT be printed unless they are signed.

To the Editor:

How about publishing the pertinent poop on the Carolina football game next Sept. Since its a "Home" game for State, will we use our athletic books for admission? What about date tickets? Where and when will they be available? Is there any way to find out which sections we will use and which gate we use entrance? If this information was already planned for a late issue, pardon the impertinence. W. E. Kiker

Editor's Note: Mr. Kiker, about all we have to say is that we wish we could find out. As so as the Coliseum releases the "poop," we certainly will forward it to you and the rest of the students immediately. We are hoping the information will be released before we all go home.

Questions students ask Du Pont

—and some of the answers in summary form

"Do you hire men who have definite military commitments?" asks Oran A. Ritter, Jr., of Louisiana State University.

Yes, because Du Pont has always been interested in men on a long-term basis. Du Pont has employed many graduates with military commitments even though they were due to report for duty a few weeks after joining the Company.

"Would a graduate degree help my chances for advancement at Du Pont?" asks John C. Nettleton, of Villanova University.

Many factors are involved, and an advanced degree would undoubtedly have a favorable effect in all technical work, but it would probably be of more direct benefit in research or development at Du Pont than in production, marketing or sales.

"Where would I work for Du Pont?" asks Gaylord E. Moss, of Tufts College.

Du Pont has more than 140 plants and research and development laboratories scattered through 26 states. If you have a definite preference, and Du Pont has an opening there for which you're qualified, your chances of getting it are good.

"How are chances for advancement in a large company like Du Pont?" asks Herschel H. Loomis, Jr., Cornell University.

Good! Du Pont is large, but it's made up of 11 independent departments — like smaller companies — under one management. And it's a basic policy to promote from within and on merit as Company growth creates openings.

We can give only brief answers to these questions in this space. But we'll be glad to answer them more fully, and to try to answer other questions you may have that bear more directly on your own future. Why not write us today?
