Toastmaster's Club Formed on Campus

During the past school year a speech club has been formed on the State College campus.

The State Student Toastmasters Club was formed under the sponsorship of the North State Toastmasters Club of Raleigh, and the Forum Committee of the College Union with, as its purpose, the giving of each member an opportunity to deliver prepared speeches, give impromptu talks on any subject, and to give him the benefit of an evaluation of his speech or talk by letting him know how effective he was and what points he should try to correct in order to become a better speaker.

Some of the activities of the club include joint meeting with the North State Toastmasters Club and area conferences and contests. The Club Constitution and by-laws limit membership to twenty-five and at present there are twenty-two members. It is expected that another club will be started next fall.

N.C.S. Legislators Hold Banquet

By Waring Boys

The annual Student Government Banquet was held last Saturday night in the College Union Ballroom. Attending the banquet were administrative officials—including Chancellor Bostian—and the members of Student Government.

After the meal, John Lane, Vice-president of Student Government, welcomed and introduced the guests at the banquet. Following Lane, remarks were made by President Nolan and President-elect Houtz concerning the excellent work done by the Student Government in the past and proposed tasks of the future. Chancellor Bostian also made a few remarks before making his presentation of special awards.

After the installation of new officers by Jim Nolan came the highlight of the evening—the speaker, Henry Hall Wilson, who is a member of the North Carolina House of Representatives and the President of the Young Democrat's Club in this region. Rep. Wilson emphasized the extreme importance of everyone knowing and understanding government on national, state, or college levels. He also extended a cordial invitation for students to visit the State Legislature in the Capitol.

For Homecoming Game and All Basketball Games

Dollar Date Tickets Win Athletic Council Approval

By David Barnhardt

Students will be able to buy $1.00 date tickets next year for the Homecoming football game with William and Mary and for all basketball games—reserved and non-reserved seat games.

This announcement was made by the Athletic Council after its meeting last Saturday morning; the formal approval of President Friday, which Chancellor Bostian said he felt sure would be given the plan, is all that is needed to make the proposal a definite policy.

The Athletic Council also voted to allocate from the athletic budget $285 for the cheerleaders. This eliminates the cheerleaders' former problem of not having a definite sum of money which they could count on to finance trips with athletic teams and to cover their other incurred expenses.

I. D. Cards

A proposal was made that the Athletic Department set aside a sum of money equivalent to the amount they have been paying in the past for ticket books and that this money be used in financing the cost of identification cards.

The cards will not, however, be ready for the State-Carolina game, since the game is the day following registration. Dean Stewart and Roy Clogston will work out a system of proper identification so that students can be admitted to the game the next day. There is a 48-hour delay in having the cards made, which makes some system of identification necessary.

An Experiment

Concerning the $1.00 date tickets, it was brought out in the meeting that the low-priced date tickets is an experiment. Since William and Mary is not a member of the Atlantic Coast Conference, this experiment can be made because the monetary guarantee to William and Mary on the game is not as high as the guarantee which the ACC requires when two ACC members play each other.

It was brought out in the meeting that students who are interested in the Athletic Department budget can see a copy of it and ask any questions about it simply by contacting one of the student members of the Athletic Council.

Student members of the Council are: Jim Nolan, Fred Houtz, Bob Kennel, Jim Walsh, and Bob Ernulf.

S. G. Conference Discusses Paving

The Student Government Conference was held yesterday from 2:00-4:30 p.m. in the College Union. Present at the conference were Fred Houtz, Jim Nolan, several heads of campus committees, and many Student Government Senators.

Among the issues discussed were future plans for paving. Frank Pethal gave a review of the accomplishments of the Traffic Committee this year. He also reminded the conference that the present priorities for paving are as follows: 1. Dunn Avenue. 2. Complete paving behind Owen, Tucker, Alexander, and Turlington Dormitories. 3. Finish the lots in front of Owen, Tucker, Alexander, and Turlington Dormitories. 4. Widening of the area between Dan Allen Drive and the blockade behind Tucker Dormitory. Also discussed was the possibility of paving Doak Field.

The conference discussed the parking problems from the standpoint of enrollment increases in the years to come. It was decided that there would be no advantage in restricting freshman cars since the existing parking problems are north of the railroad tracks rather than in the area of the dormitories.

A discussion was also held on the U. S. National Student Association, which is a confederation of college student bodies represented through their student governments. The convention of the USNSA this year is to be held at the University of Michigan in August. (The group of five delegates from State College to the convention have been allotted $775.00 for expenses from Student Government.)

Also discussed were two of the major problems which will arise in the near future. These are the preparations for the visiting Board of Trustees and the working out of details for campus elections next Spring.

The members of the conference suggested that more publicity be given the actions of Student Government either in The Technician or a special newsletter.

Summer Completion Seen for Sidewalk

Theta Tau Engineering Fraternity wishes to announce to the organizations which purchased blocks in the proposed sidewalk behind the Senior Overlook and parallel to the 1911 Building, that the project will be completed this summer. Work has not been started due to one problem that was not counted on. This draw-back is an effective and economical way to produce the labeling plaques for the individual blocks. A way has been found, but time does not allow the completion of the walk before this summer.

Theta Tau hopes to make this and other beautification projects sustaining from year to year, so every effort has been made to find an impressive way to give the sponsoring organizations credit for their service that is economical enough to continue. This is why progress on the project has been slow up to this point. It is hoped that other areas of beautification can be investigated after this sidewalk is completed.

Salary Increases This Year?

"Good news was in store for members of the faculty as the Board of Trustees completed their 106th session with the announcement to 'remove ceilings on the college's present salary scale so that it can retain and have a fair chance of employing additional competent and fully qualified men to head all of our departments.' Not only will this benefit the faculty but also the students."

The above announcement appeared in the Catawba College school paper earlier this spring. It is reprinted here to show what one North Carolina college is doing about the salaries paid faculty members.

In his inaugural address, President William C. Friday had this to say about salaries for faculty members: "We must provide salaries commensurate with the quality and excellence of the work of our faculty members. We have traded too long on the loyalty and sense of public responsibility that is so characteristic of these men and women."

From a statement signed by President Friday, Vice-president Carmichael, and the Chancellors of all three branches of the Greater University we quote the following:

"In the period from May, 1955, to September, 1956, 162 of our faculty members and 37 professional staff people resigned (59 from the University at Chapel Hill, 66 from State College and 37 from the Woman's College) to accept higher-salaried positions at other educational institutions and in industry. These people were among our most competent teachers, research and professional staff members. North Carolina can ill-afford their loss, and we will lose many others unless we raise our salaries to more nearly equal competitive offers."

From September, 1956, to April, 1957, (after the above figures were compiled), State College has lost 24 more faculty members through resignations. Undoubtedly there are a great many more who are awaiting the outcome of the proposed increase in salaries before making any decision. . . .

Salary increases of faculty members from all sources have decreased steadily for the past ten years. Industry as well as other schools are increasing their offers to top teachers and research workers. The cost of living is at an all-time high. Certainly, the need for increasing faculty salaries is imperative.

The North Carolina State Legislature is currently considering a 10%-11% raise in salaries for faculty members. This is, in our opinion, the bare minimum. We cannot say too forcefully that there is a need for an even greater raise than this.

Many of the seniors graduating this spring have received job offers as high as $450-$500—that is $5400-$6000 per year. The majority of our faculty members do not receive such a salary. This condition must be changed unless we are satisfied with having a second-rate college—and we will have a second-rate college unless the situation is remedied soon.

"—So Prof. Snarf told him to get that paper in or he'd get no diploma."

North Carolina is seeking to convince big-business that our state is an ideal place in which to locate new plants. Governor Hodges is in New York even today talking with a large industrialist about such a move by his company.

Industry, in planning the site of a new factory, certainly takes into consideration many factors besides the present tax laws. The caliber of the graduates from a state's college must certainly be an important point to consider before any move is made. And the caliber of the graduates can be insured only by employing first-class faculty members.

For the sake of State College, the Greater University, and the State of North Carolina, the Legislature must grant money for increases of at least 10% to 15% in faculty salaries.

Government By Men

Government By Men?

Ed. Note: The following article appeared in The Daily Tar Heel before the North Carolina Legislature passed the bill barring the sale of "obscene literature" in this state.

"Congress shall make no law . . . abridging freedom of speech or of the press."—Article I of the Bill of Rights of the United States Constitution.

"Freedom of the press is one of the greatest bulwarks of liberty, and therefore ought never to be restrained, but every individual shall be held responsible for the abuse of the same."—Declaration of Rights of the State of North Carolina Constitution.

There has long been a problem as to where to draw the line between acceptable and non-acceptable literature on our nation's newsstands.

But the North Carolina House of Representatives is treading upon fundamental and constitutionally guaranteed rights when it passes—carte blanc—a bill barring the sale or exhibition of "obscene literature" in this state.

According to the bill's provisions, determination of the obscenity is up to the discretion of county judges.

We, like many other citizens, are dismayed at the trash-mongering vulgarity upon which many of the current magazines commercialize. The sex-emphasizing sensationalism of several of the "hush-hush" periodicals is absolutely despicable.

But any regulatory measure dealing with mass media, communications or general literature must be entirely specific with no loopholes into which petty prejudices may creep; and into which discriminatory actions may seep.

We have faith in the members of our state's judiciary. But this is a government of laws not of men.

Thus a particularly provincial-minded county judge might think Chaucer treaded on propriety a little when he allowed his miller free verbal rein. Another might be dismayed at Steinbeck's realistic language as he provided words for his transitory Ookies. Still another would indubitably be alarmed by Faulknerian dialogue or Hemingway's alcoholic retreatism.

In short, we simply don't trust the brand of provincialism which is consistently propounded by many of our state officials.

We wonder what the end result will be if a handful of officials are given authority to screen the state's literature.

Is there an omniscient group with mentality to determine just what the entire state should be subjected to, as far as general literature is concerned—an all-powerful, Godish group which should dictate before the state's citizenry could read?

Obviously there is not. The state Constitution emphasizes the necessity for responsibility for the abuse of the same. (freedom of the press.)

Thus especially nauseating scandal magazines and pornographic periodicals should be specifically banned from sales in the state. Or at least a definite and concrete set of standards should be promulgated from which judges could not deviate.

But to give a handful of judges blanket authority to determine what is fit for the state's minds is blatant mockery of freedom of expression and democratic action.

The General Assembly should either completely kill the liberty-restricting measure or specifically enumerate standards of acceptability for literature.

Constitutional guarantees may not be trod upon if our state and nation are to remain healthy and democratically free.

"Freedom of the press is one of the greatest bulwarks of liberty."

Many Problems Ahead

Talley Looks At the Future of State

Speaking at the Golden Chain Banquet last Friday night, Dean Banks C. Talley, Jr., gave the members of the school's senior leadership society a brief picture of the State College community of the future and some of the problems which will arise. He also went on to deal with problems on the national level.

Following is the portion from Dean Talley's talk which deals with State College.

"We live in a changing society, a community and nation that demands new answers to problems. Tonight I should like to pose a few questions for you on the community level (the college) and on the national level. We must wrestle together for solutions. Here are a few observations for your consideration.

"First on the college level we face an overwhelming enrollment—provided there is no war. In a recent survey it was estimated that we will have over 11,000 students in approximately nine years. Can you realize that is double our current position. Here are only some of the resulting problems.

"We have worked two years on a new dormitory for 800 men. It will not be finished until 1958. If we cannot speed up this rate it means we can only provide 2400 more spaces in nine years. Yet we would be adding 5,500 students. I give you this example to illustrate the crushing problems ahead.

"Student leadership must aid the college in the solutions of the future. We must have more faculty when it is increasingly more difficult to locate excellent people. We must have permanent improvements, classrooms, laboratories, dormitories, fraternity housing, married housing, and so forth.

"We must come to realize that neither staff nor student will be able to park at the front door. As unpleasant as it may be we must face the truth together.

"Academic standards are going to rise, admission tests are required for the first time this year. They most probably will continue to be stricter. Scheduling needs serious study. With our large enrollment, classes will have to be spread out more evenly. This means less MWF and more TTS.

"We must observe that there are over 50% of our students in Engineering with the enrollment of Agriculture and Textiles showing downward trends. How is this going to change the nature of our college?

"We will have enough students shortly to fill the Coliseum for games and half the Stadium. The problem won't be just date tickets. From a practical point of view, how do we finance big time athletics on student fees alone?

"In these times we cannot have the professional caliber, spectator-type of game without money. Students will not be able to have their cake and eat it too. It's going to mean something gives. We might as well face it. Is it possible to sell a reserved season ticket to those students who want it at public prices? Your thoughtful attention will be required.

"Orientation will be more difficult and needed even more. The Judicial Board may need expanding into two boards or more for surely it will be impossible for a 10-member board to sit for 11,000. Dormitories will be crowded as far into the future as we can see. This means noise, etc. What can it mean for intramural participation, social events, etc.?"

"The Technician may well become a daily because our communication problem will be terrific. Will we be able to double the size of the annual? A book can only be so thick to handle.

"The 'Y' Chapel only seats 175. A program must be designed to take the message to the student.

"The Union is running full now. We will need an expansion before long. Concerts, plays, and socials will have to be limited in attendance and run several nights.

"The Coliseum won't seem so big at dances in the future. Do we have the Engineers Dance in two shifts, or give each couple an hour on the floor at a time!

"Do we establish more fraternities? We only have 18 now. The University of Illinois has 58.

"The Mechanical or Civil Engineering societies may not be able to meet, as Pullen Hall seats only 1,000 and needs to come down. What will the societies do?

"It promises to be an exciting time ahead. With cooperation, patience, and understanding, we can attempt solutions together. It is not a time for the timid—leadership always demands the best. You will be criticized. You have to learn to take it, stand up, steady the insider and more. I am confident you will be ready. . . ."

Intramural Awards Night Tomorrow Night At 8:00

Notes from the Wolfpack:

Sign of things to come: This year's freshman baseball team and up its season with an 11-2 record to cop the Big Four championship.

With three good pitchers on the staff, Coach Vic Sorrell is anxiously awaiting next season when the trio will be eligible for city competition. The three are Danny Casteen of Wilmington, Ken Wright of Henderson and Wilson Carruthers of Greensboro. The Wolflets lost to Carolina in the first game of the season, then settled down to win seven in a row before bowing to Wake Forest for its only other loss of the year.

Vic Molodet is dickering with Goodyear Rubber in Akron, Ohio, and may join that company this summer. He would give Goodyear an additional "Big Four" look by playing on the same team with former Duke stars Ronnie Mayer and Junior Morgan.

Quotes from the Coach—'57 Football

"I think we will be improved from last year's team. We have letterman at each position on the tentative starting team and reserve strength this year will be the best in the four years we have been at State. A lot of our returnees saw action last year but didn't earn letters."

"Briefly, I think our running attack will be good with boys Christy and Hunter doing most of the work. Our passing will be better than average and our line will be bigger."

Speaking of Case, the veteran cage mentor will fly to Miami May 20 for a speech but he won't have time to acquire a suntan. He returns home the following day.

Freshman football teams from State and Carolina will meet next fall for the first time in several years. The game will be played in Raleigh. Also on the State schedule are Wake Forest, Duke, Virginia and Virginia Tech.

State's home basketball attendance for the year was 93,800 for 13 games, an average of 7,215 per game. Attendance at the Dixie Classic was 71,200 for three days. The ACC tourney drew 1,800.

Up and Over!!!! AAU Action Saturday at State College—

Sime Ties Worlds Record at 9.3 In AAU Meet Before 3,000 Fans

Over 3,000 track fans thrilled to the record-breaking exploits of some of the nation's finest track and field stars Saturday in the annual Carolina AAU Track and Field Championships here at State College.

The highlight of the all-day affair was Duke's Dave Sime, tying his own world's record in the 100-yard dash at 9.3. New records were set in the broad jump, shot put, javelin, 880-yard run and the mile relay to give the fans more than their money's worth.

Two of the nation's finest hurdlers, Lee Calhoun and Elias Gilbert, tied for the No. 1 spot in the 120 high hurdles event with a time of 14.0.

Winston-Salem Teachers College walked off with the team trophy, compiling 34½ points to runner-ups U.N.C. and North Carolina College, who both netted 25. Duke Athletic Association, defending champions, came in fourth with 21. State's entry, Wolfpack Club, totaled 9½ points.

The AAU event ended the track season for most colleges in this area.

Sigma Chi Fraternity and Owen 1 Dormitory captured the 1957 team intramural awards, according to an announcement made today by intramural director Art Hoch.

The team trophies will be presented tomorrow night at the annual intramural awards program scheduled for Frank Thompson Gym at 8:00 p.m.

Runner-up honors went to Sigma Phi Epsilon and Becton No. 1 respectfully.

The presentation of all-campus medals, championship awards, and several special awards will take place at Tuesday night's program.

The intramural department urges all interested students to attend the event, especially those who have been selected on an all-campus team during the year and those nominated for a special award.

Special awards will be given to the best athlete, best athletic director, person with most participation, and a sportsmanship trophy in both the fraternity and dormitory divisions.

The John F. Miller award will be presented to the individual who has contributed the most to intramurals in the past 4 years.

Other comments made at the meeting were as follows:

The Athletic Department will be "in the black" this July 1 for the first time in 10 years; there was a $24,890 deficit at the end of last year. . . .

Carolina, Duke, and Wake Forest have no special price for date tickets to athletic contests. . . .

Carolina students are admitted only to every other basketball game on their I.D. cards because of their small gymnasium.

The athletic fee paid by students ($15.00) has not been raised in over 20 years. . . .

the 1957-58 school year may file applications now for grants-in-aid and/or long-term loans. Grants usually do not exceed $200 per student per year; loans, $300. Grants are in the nature of scholarships and are not repaid; loans draw 3 per cent interest and borrower need not begin repayment until one year after leaving school. To be approved for a grant or a loan, a student must be making satisfactory academic progress. Application forms may be obtained at 206 Holladay Hall. Although there is not actual deadline applications, it is preferred they be filed before the end of the current semester.

Meeting Planned For Cheerleaders

Students interested in being a cheerleader next year are strongly urged to meet at the stadium at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Mac Lupold, next year's Head Cheerleader, states, "I would like to see anyone interested in becoming a cheerleader come to the meeting Wednesday night—especially those who were cheerleaders in high school.

"Next year," he continues, "we will have a budget with money allocated for trips, new uniforms, and other incidental expenses."

Experience Not Necessary

In conclusion Lupold stated "We want people who are interested in serving the school, in developing school spirit, and in working hard regardless of whether or not they have had any cheerleading experience or not."
