Litter-Bug

In conjunction with the Student Government's "Clean Campus" program, the Investigations Committee of the Student Government is sponsoring a "Don't Be A Litter-Bug!" campaign. In order to remind the students to keep our campus clean and respectable, a number of posters and stickers are being distributed over the campus.

Aiding in this campaign is the Alpha Phi Omega, the national service fraternity of North Carolina State.

Date Changed

Scabbard and Blade, a military honor society comprised of members of both the Army and Air Force ROTC Cadet Regiments, will sponsor an insurance education talk designed especially for the college senior on Thursday evening, October 25, not Oct. 11, as previously reported, 1956, at 7:15 p.m. in the College Union.

Co-eds

There will be a meeting of all co-eds Monday noon, 12:00, in the lounge on the second floor of the YMCA. Sandwiches and coffee will be served, compliments of the Danny Grad. Come out, co-eds, this is for you!

Republicans

Plans have been announced for organizing a Young Republican Club among the students of State College at a meeting to be held tonight at 8 in the College Union Building.

Ted Walker of Statesville, a student organizer of the club, said representatives of the Republican Party of North Carolina will attend the meeting. He said the organizers expect an attendance of between 30 and 45 persons.

AFROTC Schedules Qualifying Tests

The Air Force Officer Qualifying Test Battery for students presently enrolled in AS II and MS II and who expect to complete these courses this year will be given at N. C. State College on October 20, 1956.

The students who desire to compete for entry into AS III (Advanced AFROTC) are required to take the AFOQT Battery at the time and date designated.

Schedule

The battery will be administered between the hours of 0800 and 1530, including a lunch break and one short controlled period of relaxation. Cadets must be seated in the Textile Auditorium by 0745 hours. Any cadet arriving after this time will not be permitted to take the battery. Successful completion of this battery is an absolute pre-requisite to formal consideration for Advanced AFROTC.

November Third

Tickets Available Tuesday For Deacon Game

Tickets will be placed on sale at the Coliseum next Tuesday for the State-Wake Forest game and for the special student train which will carry State College students to Winston-Salem. In making the announcement Student Government President Jim Nolan stated that the three tickets, which will be for the game, train trip and picnic lunch, are scheduled to be ready Monday in order to be placed on sale the next day.

The round trip train ticket for the November third game will cost $5 while the game and the picnic tickets will sell at one dollar and seventy-five cents members who will select the Queen. Smathers and Gunn announced that a change in policy this year would allow nomination of any young woman above the age of eighteen, regardless of whether she is a State coed or not. Pictures are to be submitted to Smathers at the College Union main desk not later than Friday, November 2. It was suggested that one portrait and one snapshot be submitted. Any individual or group on campus may sponsor a candidate for queen.

An elimination will be held based on the pictures. Out of all pictures submitted, ten finalists will be chosen and their pictures printed in The Technician of November 8. From these ten, the Queen will be chosen after interview and judging by the Blue Key Committee on Saturday morning, November 10. She will be presented at the Homecoming Game halftime ceremonies following the appearance of all ten candidates in the parade Saturday prior to the game.

At State Convention

Nolan Elected YDC Treasurer

At the Young Democrats Convention, which was last Thursday through Sunday morning in Winston-Salem, Jim Nolan was elected treasurer of the YDC.

Other delegates from State included Bill Barnes, Ed Rose, and Bob Lane. After they nominated Nolan and had him elected, the State delegation was prepared for a floor fight for the position of treasurer, but the move failed to materialize.

A banquet was held Friday night at which Governor Hodges and Senators Scott and Erwin spoke. The meeting was highlighted by an address by Senator John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

The election of officers was held on Saturday afternoon. The presidential race was won by Steve Nimmo and Johnnie Ray Hendren of Wake Forest was elected treasurer.

Ed Rose, Chairman of the State delegation said that the meeting afforded "a wonderful opportunity to meet the political figures of North Carolina and to gain some insight into politics in action."

Bulletin

Dr. Carey H. Bostian, Chancellor of State College, called a meeting Wednesday morning with Jim Nolan, President of Student Government, and Terry Lathrop, Editor of The Technician, to discuss the recent revival of the student and date ticket problems brought on by the Fall football games.

With J. J. Stewart, Dean of Student Affairs, Nolan and Lathrop aired student feelings on the ticket situation.

Bostian explained the financial deficit of the Athletic Department and requested that the students be aware of the fact that this deficit must be erased. He also clarified his position on the book transfer arrangement last year, explaining that it was undertaken during the latter part of the season as an experiment, though the Athletic Department did not approve. He pointed out that the Finance Committee of the Athletic Department had studied the plan last year and agreed to the trial. He also made clear the fact that State had continued to support, even with the deficit, an athletic program as extensive as any of her "Big Four" neighbors.

The Chancellor promised that if the students would draw up a plan with suitable safeguards against scalping and other abuses, he would give them an opportunity to present it to the Finance Committee and would call a meeting of the Athletic Council to give their plan an opportunity for presentation.

Nolan stated during the meeting, that the Investigations Committee of Student Government was at work on a plan and would have it ready for presentation by the end of this week. Both he and Bostian expressed the hope that a satisfactory plan and policy could be agreed on by the Homecoming weekend, Nov. 10.

Duke Ambassadors To Play at IDC Ball

By Anwer Joseph
The Inter-Dormitory Council will travel to the campus of Duke University, where Johnny Long and Les Brown first organized their college bands, and bring back the Duke Ambassadors to provide the music for the IDC Ball a week from Saturday in the College Union Ballroom.

The bandsmen from the Duke campus are old friends to State College, and have played here for dances several times in the past few years.

In April 1955, the Ambassadors performed for United States servicemen in Iceland, as an outstanding collegiate organization selected by the Military

Students Benefit In Reserve Unit

Roy Lathrop

This is not a recruiting article—rather it is information that is believed to be very important to a big section of the State students, mainly the Freshmen and the Veterans.

With all of the recent changes in the Reserve Act, there has been a lot of confusion concerning the individual's position.

The Freshmen have a big opportunity to gain benefits from the reserves if they will consider these facts: (1) If you are planning to go into the advanced course of ROTC, you will automatically sign up for eight years of military obligation—most of it in the reserves. If you join a reserve unit now, you can continue your membership in this unit for the next two years until you are officially signed up for advanced ROTC. In this way, you will reduce your military obligation by two years—and while you are still in school; (2) You will be going to meetings once a week for two hours each night; you will be well paid for the time you spend, and that much time won't hurt anybody; (3) You will gain added experience, both in getting along with other men and learning things that will help you in ROTC; (4) You will build up a two-year longevity, which means that when you get your commission from ROTC at graduation, you will draw about $37.50 a month more than those who have not had this reserve training.

For the veterans, the reserve offers you the same rank and pay that you had upon discharge from active duty with plenty of chance for promotion. You will be in contact with a lot of State students and faculty that you otherwise might not meet, and you will make good contacts with leaders in Raleigh who can help you.

Glee Club Holding Rehearsals for November Concert

The State College Glee Club is rehearsing regularly in Pullen Hall at 12:00 noon each Monday and Wednesday in preparation for a public concert on November 4.

"This year the Glee Club has fifty-five regular members, but is in need of a few more first tenors and basses to balance up the middle voices," says Major C. D. Kutschinski, College Music Director. He urged that all students interested in trying out for the vacancies contact him at his office in the 1911 Building or by phone on Ext. 251 to arrange for an audition.

. . . Student Government Last Thursday

Another Try

The recent home game with Clemson has brought out an old friend of the students . . . the complaint about student tickets for athletic events on the campus.

Things looked pretty amicable last year when use of books by dates was permitted at the basketball games during the winter. The assumption was made that the policy would continue and would be in effect during football this year. But it didn't. Students this year find that in spite of the fact that they have paid for the books and have what amounts to reserved space in the student section for the games, they cannot legally let anyone else use their book if they cannot attend.

We think this situation is downright lousy. We understand that the two main worries of the Athletic Department are scalpers who amass a great number of books to sell to outsiders and students who give away or sell their books on their own.

There is one, simple solution to these problems. Identification cards. All State students have them. They are supposed to put their signatures on them and on their ticket books. They should be readily comparable to a ticket taker at the door. No time waster . . . no jam . . . no nothin' . . . just a quick glance. Not many students are going to sell that card for a few bucks. It is a means of identification for too many things to hawk for a couple of scoots to a scalper or a "buddy."

To answer another argument before it is presented, we would like to say that we realize the students get a reduced rate on the seats. So what? It's our team . . . why shouldn't we get in cheaper than other people? For that matter, why shouldn't we get in free?

We have one "guesstimate" we would like to add. There are 5500 plus students at State. But there probably weren't more than 3000 or 3500 seats reserved Saturday night. Why? Because all the students won't come to the game. And if we are not allowed to lend our books, no one will sit in our place if we don't attend personally. What happened to the other 2000 seats? They were sold for $3.50. One seat . . . two charges. That would seem a wee bit illegal, or at least one might say it was a shady profit.

By the way, were your seats behind the goal line like so many others? There is a reason for that too. Those seats don't sell too well on the market, so you give them to your captive audience. Pretty slick all around, we'd say.

The Bells of State College

By now everyone knows that bells at State College are not coordinated with any standard time in this country. About this we have nothing to say—we've given up on that subject. But we would like to say that no matter whether the bells are rung twenty or even thirty minutes after the hour everyone on the campus should be able to hear them when they do ring.

At Last

At last we have on our campus a brand new parking lot which has been built specifically and only for students who paid three dollars to have their cars registered.

Last Monday, without ceremony or fanfare, the lot was opened to the students. The lot lies adjacent to the A & P Food Store on the corner of Hillsboro and Brooks. It will be of great help to the mobilized students who have classes on the western end of the campus.

We are very glad to see this new parking lot, as are many others on this campus. Let us conclude by saying that we hope a precedent has been set and that all future expansion will include adequate parking facilities. J.D.B.

introduced a motion before the Student Government. This motion, in essence, asked that a bell be placed on the west end of our campus. The position of this bell was not stated specifically, but it was recommended that it be placed atop the Agricultural Engineering Building behind the Textile Building.

The aforementioned motion was passed by the Student Government and was accepted by the Administration. This was last March. So far, nothing else has been done—or if anything else has been done there is no evidence of it.

We hope that some further action will be taken on this matter in the very near future. The idea has been accepted . . . the need is still present . . . only the bell is missing. J.D.B.

Y's Words

For the last two weeks there has appeared in the Technician this article entitled "Y's Words", written in the hope that the student body may have a better understanding of what the "Y" is offering them. But as we try to enumerate our activities each week, we find it increasingly difficult to put on paper what we feel is the true significance of our program.

For instance, the freshmen discussion groups held each week in various locations about the campus are producing marked benefit for those participating in them. Some groups find that their interests lie in topics such as "How To Study Profitably," or "What's the Real Dope on Fraternities," and for these groups we have been fortunate in obtaining faculty personnel in the first case and I.F.C. officers for the latter topic. Other groups, however, have interests lying on the more intangible things in life such as our relationship with God or just what the churches are offering us in our search for our Master. These groups have been truly fruitful though we are at a loss to list certain specific benefits we might have received. We at the "Y" feel that if we can somehow instill a searching soul as well as a questioning mind in ourselves and those around us, perhaps as our minds mature with all the concepts thrown at us we shall find that our religious intellection has not been left far behind as is so often the case.

No, we cannot sit down and measure the results of our effort, mainly because we are not so concerned with the particular tangible success of our program. But already we are beginning to feel the terrific challenge that is ours, and yours to be sure, as we delve into the deeper regions of our personality, so often untouched in our modern college experience.

The Tower bells ring out and the flag with a Cross waves from The Chapel—both attractions are reminders that a twenty minute worship service is being held every Wednesday from 12:40 to 1:00 at the YMCA building. This means eating less or more rapidly, and double-quick time to reach a one o'clock class, but it is worth the extra effort.

Members of the Glee Club provide the music each week and student campus leaders assist in the services. A brief meditation is brought by one of the twelve denominational chaplains whose thoughts are now centered on The Ten Commandments.

Everything fashionable on campus this year is trim and natural, and that's true of our fine clothing by College Hall. All jackets and suits are in the natural Ivy look, 3-button model with narrow lapels & straight body lines. You'll find it very pleasant as well as rewarding to make your selection here.

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young mathematician helps pace engineering advances

Recently General Electric developed a compact, new motor for industrial use. But before the motor could be put into automatic production, one difficulty remained: to design a protective end shield that would confine any possible explosion to the motor itself.

The man who solved the tough mathematical problems involved is R. A. "Pete" Powell—a mathematical analyst whose job is to assist other engineers in math problems which arise in any number of different projects.

Powell's Work Is Varied and Important

Because he is not tied down to any one project, Powell seldom has two similar assignments. Taking established engineering and mathematical principles, some of them extremely complicated, Powell applies them to advanced engineering problems. In doing this, Pete is able to make such calculations as the distortion of a small part of a jet engine caused by vibrations, the deflection occurring in a turbine part when it runs at operational speeds, or the forces exerted upon a rotating shaft by lubricants.

27,000 College Graduates at General Electric

When "Pete" Powell came to General Electric in 1953, he already knew the kind of work he wanted to do. Like each of our 27,000 college-graduate employees, he is being given the chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: Whenever fresh young minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the Company, and the country.

Baby Pack-Cavalier Frosh Play Fri.

North Carolina State's freshman football team makes its third straight home appearance Friday night against the University of Virginia yearlings.

The kickoff is scheduled for 8 o'clock in Riddick Stadium. A small admission charge is made for the contest.

Coach Bill Smaltz' Baby Wolfpack has compiled a 1-1 record to date with a 14-13 win over Duke in the opener and a 33-0 loss to Clemson last Friday.

Virginia, coached by Harrison Nesbit, lost its only start of the season to a powerful Maryland squad, 25-13.

The State frosh have been paced by Pete Seese, a fast, hard-running halfback from Windber, Pa., and tackle John Lawrence, a 220-pounder from Bridgeville, Pa.

The Cavalier frosh rely upon the passing of quarterback Scott Ward and the running of halfback Carl Moser.

There was the captain, with two silver bars on his shoulders, a mahogany bar at his elbow, and a brass bar under his foot.

Wolfpack Schedule

Oct. 20 — Dayton at Dayton, Ohio.

Oct. 27 — *Duke at Durham, N. C.

Nov. 3—Wake Forest at Winston-Salem, N. C.

Wolfpack Seeking Second Win of 1956 Season As Florida State Invades Raleigh Saturday Nite

If Earle Edwards believes in jinxes, he should be getting "that feeling" about now.

For the past two years the Wolfpack coach has seen his North Carolina State teams drop games to Florida State, the underdog on both occasions. Saturday night he will be trying for the third time, only this time the teams will be ranked evenly.

Coach Tom Nugent's Seminoles will bring a 1-2 record into Riddick Stadium, the same as the Wolfpack's. Florida State blasted Ohio University in its opener, then lost to Georgia 3-0 and to Virginia Tech 20-7.

State defeated North Carolina 26-6 and lost to Virginia Tech 35-6 and to Clemson 13-7.

If a comparison of scores means anything, which it usually doesn't, the Seminoles should be favored by virtue of their showing against Virginia Tech, who humbled the Wolfpack two weeks ago.

Last week's losses were frustrating for both teams. State had a favored Clemson team 7-0 in the fourth quarter but made two costly mistakes which paved the way for the Tigers' 13-7 triumph. FSU had the Gobblers tied 7-7 before a second-half surge paid off in a two-touchdown win.

Saturday night's game will be the fifth between the schools since the series began in 1952. The Wolfpack won the first game 13-7 and dropped the next three. FSU won 28-13, 13-7 and 7-0, the last two games over Edwards-coached teams.

The game shapes up as a battle of unusual offenses. The Seminoles run from the T, winged T and I formations while State employs the multiple offense.

Florida State's top offensive threat is Quarterback Lee Corso, a converted halfback who runs and passes with equal skill. He directs a backfield made up of Bill Odom and Buck Metts at halfback and Joe Holt, a North Carolinian from Graham, at fullback.

The game will begin at 8 o'clock.

The contest brings together North Carolina State vs. Florida State in what shapes up as a ground battle. Both teams rank high in the national pass defense picture.

The Wolfpack, playing at home for the second straight week, is seventh in the nation in pass defense, yielding an average of 30.3 yards per game to three opponents. North Carolina State's foes have completed nine out of 22 passes for 91 yards, none for touchdowns.

The similarity of statistics is unusual. The Seminoles have allowed 30.7 yards per game through the air. Their three opponents have completed eight of 22 for 92 yards.

On the other hand, both teams like to rely upon its own passing game. Quarterback Lee Corso, a converted halfback, handles most of the aerial work for the Seminoles assisted by Len Swantic, whose touchdown pass beat the Wolfpack 7-0 last year.

Tom Katich and Bill Franklin, both quarterbacks, do most of the passing for State, but halfbacks Dick Christy and Dick Hunter also get into the act.

NOTICE

Student tickets for the Florida State game Saturday night will be reserved seats and can be picked up at the Coliseum box office prior to 4:30 Friday, October 12. Date tickets also can be picked up at the same time. Students are reminded to bring their Student Activities book with them.

Four Title Winning Teams in Classics

There will be four conference champions in this year's Dixie Classic Basketball Tournament.

North Carolina State, winner of the Atlantic Coast title; West Virginia, Southern Conference champion; Iowa, the Big Ten winner; and Utah, titleholder in the Skyline Conference, will be in the eighth annual holiday tournament.

State joins Duke, Wake Forest and North Carolina each year as host teams against four outstanding visiting clubs from all parts of the nation. The fourth visiting team is DePaul of Chicago, one of the top independent teams in the Midwest.

DePaul made the NCAA tournament this year and defeated powerful Kentucky in a regular season contest.

The tournament will be held Dec. 27-29 in Reynolds Coliseum on the State College campus. Last year the three-day event attracted 71,800 fans.

Clemson Nips Wolfpack 13-7

State College's varsity grid forces played outstanding ball for three quarters and then fell before a brilliant comeback, as Clemson College swept to a thrilling 13-7 win in Riddick Stadium last Saturday night.

Dick Hunter paced the only Pack score when he carried for 15 yards and then lateraled to Fullback Wally Prince who went over for the score with 10 seconds of the final period gone by on the clock.

However, Clemson stormed back taking the kick-off and marched 71-yards to the 3 where Joel Wells scampered over for the score. Bussey's kick was perfect and the score was netted at 7-7.

Minutes later, Clemson fell on a loose State fumble and they were off to the races again. The Tigers drove to the 10 where Charlie Bussey went over for the second and final TD. Bussey's extra-point-try was wide and the visitors commanded a 13-7 lead.

The Pack got one more drive underway, but it stalled on a fourth-down attempt, Clemson ran out the clock.

Edwards said he thought the team had played one of its finest games in three years—the Pack headed every department except the final score—the most important.

Varsity Cross Country Team Beats Wake Forest; Shea Sets Record

A Campus-to-Career Case History

"I'm learning more every day—and like it"

Roger Lindblom, B.S. in General Engineering, Iowa State College, '49, is today District Plant Superintendent for the 11,000 square miles of the Huron, South Dakota, district.

"The openings are there," says Roger, "and the telephone company trains you to fill them. I joined Northwestern Bell in 1950 and spent one year learning pole line and cable construction. This, plus short periods in other departments, gave me a good telephone background.

"My experience really grew when I became an installer-repairman, then a construction crew foreman, and, in 1952, Wire Chief at South Sioux City, Nebraska. There I was responsible for the 3500 dial phones that served the town.

In March of 1954 I went to Grand Island, Nebraska, to help supervise dial conversion projects in that district. Everything I'd learned to date came in handy on that job.

"A year later I went to Omaha on a staff assignment, and in March, 1956, I moved up to my present position.

"I head a group responsible for installing and maintaining Plant equipment in the Huron district. We supervise ordering and distributing supplies, and I'm responsible for personnel and employment. I work with other department heads in the administration of our district.

"Each assignment I've had has been broader than the last, and believe me, the more I learn, the better I like it."

Roger Lindblom is one of many young men who are finding rewarding careers in Bell Telephone Companies, Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. See your placement officer for more information on career opportunities in the Bell Telephone System.
