Head Cheerleader Judge Clement announced early this week that there will be a Pep Rally on the Track Field Friday night, November 9, at 7:00 p.m. Present plans include a bonfire and organized cheering by the College cheerleaders.

Clement extended an invitation to the Pep Rally to all Alumni back on the campus, saying, "We hope to see some of the 'Old Grads' out for the Rally and I'm looking forward to a big crowd of students. It should be our biggest and best Pep Rally of the year, and we should all be giving the team all the support we can."

"Rain might hit us this week, though we hope not, for the sake of the weekend. If it does, I'm afraid we'll have to cancel the rally. But we'll hope not."

S. G. Presented Election Report

By: Waring Boys

The Student Government held a regular bi-weekly meeting Thursday night at the College Union. Included on the agenda of the meeting were a view of progress on freshman elections, a study of State College diplomas, and a proposal financially aid the college and.

After the meeting was called to order by Vice-president John Lane and the minutes were read and approved, committee reports began with the Welfare Committee. Alvin Potts specified that the State College diploma is unsatisfactory and that a change desired by the students. It was therefore resolved and passed unanimously that the Student Government support a change in the make-up of the diploma. Roger Hill, Senior Class President, then gave a brief description of the diplomas that were given last year.

Election Report

The Elections Committee stated that there were fifty-seven candidates on the books for the November 18 freshman elections. It was urged by several Student Government members that the Student Government attend to the counting of the ballots. It was repeated that the elections will be held on the second Tuesday in November and that the polls will be open all day.

Band Appropriation

Joel Parker, Chairman of the Budget and Finance Committee, recommended that the Student Government allot the band $745.60. Senator Davis moved that the band also be given an additional $50 for the Agromeck picture, making the total allocation $795.50. This matter was tabled until the next meeting.

John Lane referred to the Investigation's Committee the problem that was brought up in the College Traffic Committee this week concerning having the lot east of the College Union reserved for College Union employees.

The Rules Committee reported on their meeting with Dean Talley on the Infirmary situation and the attempt to get another college doctor. The full report is available to students who are interested; it is in Dean Talley's office.

Week-end Events Include Football Game, Dances, Beauty Contest, Parade and Jazz Concert

By David Barnhardt

Tomorrow begins the biggest week-end of this semester for the majority of the students at State. A jazz concert, the Homecoming football game with South Carolina, a parade Saturday morning, and dances both Friday and Saturday nights are in store for the big week-end.

The Homecoming Parade will begin at 11:00 Saturday morning. It is being sponsored this year, as in the past, by the Order of the Thirty and Three. Thirty and Three is an honorary organization composed of the eleven outstanding sophomores at State.

Parade Route

More than fifty units have been entered in the Parade. The units will form at 10:00 Saturday morning at the Memorial Auditorium parking lot and the parade will begin from this point one hour later. The route of the parade is as follows: originating at Memorial Auditorium it will proceed down Fayetteville Street, circle Capital Square, and follow Hillsboro Street to the gateway entrance of State College.

Floats will be divided into three categories: fraternities, dormitories, and other campus organizations. Plaques donated by the Raleigh Merchants Bureau will be awarded the top three floats in each category. Floats will be judged on the basis of originality, presentation of theme, and general appearance. All will have themes pertaining to State College or to the football game.

Many Other Units

Along with the floats, there will be ROTC marching units; the Wolfpack band, bands from the surrounding communities, and the ten Homecoming Queen finalists, who will ride in convertibles. The bands will be the guests of the college for lunch after the parade and will also see the game that afternoon free.

30 and 3 Members

The eleven men who comprise the Order of Thirty and Three are, Dave Weinstein, Bob Lane, Bob Kennel, Dan Yager, Wiley Ritter, Bill Graham, Bob Tannen, Bob Lane, Jim Peden, B. H. Barnette, and Jim Davis. They are very pleased at the support given the parade this year by the campus organizations. They also have expressed their gratitude to the City of Raleigh; the City Council, the Police Department (See HOMECOMING, page 10)

Marching Band Plans Halftime Show

State College's Marching Band has surprises in store for Homecoming Weekend.

Robert A. Barnes, assistant Director of Music at State, announced Tuesday that the half-time show will incorporate an idea, combining the Marching Band, Pershing Rifles, Drum and Bugle Corps and Marching Airmen, never tried at State before.

"More than two hundred men will participate in the half-time show, forming the letters 'State College' on the field and covering it from one 15 yard line to the other. The Marching Band will form 'State', while the Pershing Rifles, Drum and Bugle Corps and Marching Airmen form 'College'. Following a show by the South Carolina Band, the State College units will march on the field while the candidates (See BAND, page 10)

Traditions

We have heard much comment and discussion, during our three and one-half years at State, concerning that old college by-word tradition.

The comment has usually been a lament over the lack of said quality, and has ended with a questioning note about whether State will ever have any as other colleges do.

We don't agree with those people who say that State has no tradition. Admittedly, we have no old wells, tree-shaded lover's lanes or storied halls. . . . State in many ways is too young to have these things. In still another way, State's mathematical, scientific, even technical atmosphere don't engender an air of sentimentality among her students. They are too interested in tomorrow's Physics quiz or similar practical points.

But State does have two important traditions that most people have overlooked.

The first is the tradition of good education. State has become known far and wide for the quality and ability of its graduates, and there will be few men who do not point with pride to the School where they obtained their education after they leave some future June.

The second is so obvious that it is rather like missing the forest for the trees. State's tremendous growth and change are as much a part of the complexion of the College as any building or walk. The continual freshness of ideas, the unceasing progress, the mud of construction, the unending problem of dormitory space and the shiny new automobiles all herald State's expansion and progress.

We will have many "old Grad's" on campus this weekend . . . many of them will find nostalgic memories among our oldest buildings. But we'll bet that the majority won't spend near as much time reminiscing about the old days as they will looking at State's nuclear reactor, talking about her plans for a new dorm or wandering through the halls of some of the fine new buildings and remarking . . . "it sure has changed since I left."

You're so right . . . and we're all mighty proud of the progress and growth. . . .

Freshman Elections

Next Tuesday, November 13, is election day on our campus. Though next Tuesday is not as important as was last Tuesday, when millions of Americans went to the polls and re-elected Eisenhower, our campus elections are, nevertheless, very important to us here at State.

Where There's A Will

At a meeting last week, the Board of Trustees reacted favorably to the suggestions concerning student housing. State leaders asked the Trustees to take the problem of married-student housing, dormitories, and the proposed fraternity row to the State Legislature for action; let's hope the Legislature sees the need for immediate action as clearly as the students and administration do here at State. If the enrollment takes another big jump next year, some of us may be operating from tents spread in neatly spaced rows across the baseball field . . . unless the State Legislature backs up the proposals we hope will be presented by the Board of Trustees. There is a will—let's hope that the Legislature will be the way.

The Duke and The Dance

Each big-name orchestra that comes to State seems to be better than the last—few will deny that Duke Ellington is surely near the top. At the concert especially, those who heard the Duke were amazed at the varied talent scattered throughout the whole orchestra — talent that ranged from a golden-toned trumpet and a drummer who was "with it" to a singer who had interpretative movements that made Elvis Presley look like a hayseed from Cripple Creek. And the Duke himself . . . we now know the full meaning of "cool."

Homecoming

We are sure glad to find out that there was finally a good bit of interest shown in the Homecoming Queen contest—it's going to be hard to choose a winner. And from the little information that has leaked out, it sounds like this year's floats are going to take a good bit of engineering ability to construct. Last year it rained early Satur-have expended a lot of time and effort on their campaigns. But they cannot mark your ballot for you. That is both your privilege and your duty.

The percentage of the freshman class that turns out to vote shows the entire campus just how much spirit and interest the freshmen have in their school. We hope that this year's freshman class, the largest in the history of the school, will also poll the largest percentage of votes in a freshman election.

The polls will be placed in several convenient places about the campus. Take time out next Tuesday to cast your ballot for the candidate who will best represent you. And tell your friends to vote, too.

day morning before Homecoming and ruined most of the floats . . . it might be a good idea to find some sort of shelter to protect the floats this year—there is too much work and money involved to let it go to waste.

Since we plan to upset South Carolina on Saturday, it ought to be a mighty fine weekend, right?

The students who reside in Emory University's fraternity row have been having a right tough time with their cars lately. Two weeks ago, one of the Sigma Chi's forgot to pull up his emergency brake and had to retrieve his Ford from the intramural athletic field a few hundred yards behind his fraternity house.

This week, one of the KA's added insult to injury when his car rolled into the front yard of the Sigma Pi house and swerved from its course toward the front porch just in time to strike the traditional bell in the yard. It seems that the offense of a non-Sigma Pi ringing this bell usually results in a head-shaving, but they decided to forego the ritual this time, apparently judging that the extensive damage to the car was enough punishment.

Seems like people with weak emergency brakes shouldn't park on hills.

Drum and Bugle Corps Began At State in '27

By Richard Jessup
 There was a crash of drums and blare of bugles as the sharp, white helmeted cadets of the N. C. State College Army ROTC Drum and Bugle Corps marched past. Standing by, Mr. H. C. Thomas, Military Property Custodian of the College, and a man of long experience in the ROTC here gazed after them with a nostalgic look in his eye.
 "You know," he said, "not many people remember how that all got started. It was in the spring of 1927 when the Kiwanis Club in town decided to break up their Drum and Bugle Corps. Lt. Chester H. Elmes, an officer in the Army ROTC Detachment here, obtained the few instruments that they had. That was just about a dozen snare drums, one bass drum and six long trumpets."
 At this point "Tom" paused to roll a cigarette—a specialty of his—before continuing.
 "We had no money to buy more instruments or to repair the ones we had; so Lt. Elmes decided to have the ROTC cadets put on some shows at the college basketball games to raise funds. These shows consisted of comedy skits, singing with guitar or banjo accompaniment, clog dancing, fancy drill, and boxing. In fact, boxing was such a hit, that it was made a minor sport with Lt. Elmes as the first coach. A small entrance fee was charged for these shows and sometimes as much as $100.00 was cleared at a game.

 With this money, more trumpets and better drums were bought—even some 'scotch' bass drums, although, it was a long time before anyone knew how to beat them 'scotch style'. Tabards for trumpets were obtained and white accessories were added for dress wear.
 A national champion drummer and a good trumpet instructor were borrowed from the Army at Fort Bragg. These two men began instruction with the old instruments and gave solo performances at some of the shows. From there on out, it was up to the cadets. It has come a long way since it started.
 That was how it all began, and everyone will now agree that the Drum and Bugle Corps has "come a long way" since 1927. It now consists of 50 members. Many improvements in instruments and equipment have been made. This year, through the help of Student Government, some new instruments have been added. The corps averages four trips each year away from Raleigh for appearance in such events as the Wilmington Azalea Festival and the Fairmont Festival.

Donald Schoonmaker is running this semester for the office of senator to the Student Government from the School of Education.

 Schoonmaker is a native of New York and is enrolled in the School of Education. He has said that "he has been connected with student government for as long as he can remember, holding offices of representative, as a sophomore, and president of the student body in high school."

He further states, "It seems to me that over the years the meaning of the vote has been erroneously distorted. Many believe the right to vote is a duty. It is, but first and foremost it is a privilege. Let us not abuse this democratic privilege, but rather, in the freshman election, exercise it as our forefathers intended it to be."

Becton No. 1—Welch-Gold-4th

Once again Becton proved to be the mighty . . . this time at the expense of Welch-Gold-4th, the score 44-0. A pass from Whitley to Eudy started the scoring spree. The next three TD's were accounted for on passes from Whitley to Weeks, Eudy and Haywood respectively. Then Whitley took to the ground and went the distance twice, once for 40 yards and then again for 35 yards. The last score came when Eudy returned a punt 50 yards.

Berry-Watsuga—Tucker No. 2

Berry-Watsuga moved into the win column this week by downing the boys from Tucker No. 2 by a score of 10 to 0.

The only touchdown of the game came when lineman Ballard intercepted a Tucker pass and raced 60 yards to pay dirt. The next four points came on safeties.

Syme No. 2—Alex. No. 1

A pass from Carl Henley to Bud Warren in the second period was enough to give Syme a 6-0 victory over Alexander No. 1. With the exception of this one play the game was a hard fought one.

Turlington No. 2—Owen No. 2

Turlington No. 2 had to call on the passing of Safriet to defeat a determined crew from Owen No. 2 19-6.

Safriet passed to Baggett for two TD's and to Speake for one. Owen's only score came on a run by Moxingo.

Freshman Grid Team Ends Season Friday Against VPI's Frosh There

North Carolina State's freshman football team travels to Blacksburg, Va., Friday afternoon with a chance to tie the best record ever made by a Wolfpack yearling team.

Coach Bill Smaltz's frosh are 3-1 for the season and the game with Virginia Tech is the last of the season. A victory would equal the 4-1 mark of the 1954 team which was sparked by Dick Christy and Dick Hunter.

The Wolfpack frosh opened their season with a 14-13 win over Duke, lost to Clemson 0-33, then came back strong with one-sided wins over Virginia, 34-13, and Wake Forest 19-0.

End Joe Mazutis of Washington, Pa., and Halfback Roy (Pete) Seese of Windber, Pa., have been the scoring leaders for the frosh with four and three touchdowns respectively. Fullback Randy Harrell of Raleigh, quarterback Gerry Mancini of McKees Rock, Pa., and halfback John Stanton of Carnegie, Pa., also have sparked the offensive attack.

John Lawrence, a 220-pound tackle from Heidelberg, Pa., has been the defensive leader and is called "the best line prospect I've seen" by Coach Earle Edwards.

Smaltz said he would start the following lineup for the Virginia Tech game.

Athlete of Week

DICK CHRISTY . . . A speedy 180 pound ball of fire captures the honors of being named this week's Athlete of the week. The last year's sophomore sensation of the Atlantic Coast Conference is well living up to the name he made for himself. In last week's game with Wake Forest he proved to be the man to be stopped as he worried the Deacons all game with his driving, slashing, running, and it was his great defensive play that stopped Wake Forest many times. He carried the pigskin 70 yards in 18 times for 3.8 yards per try . . . so hats off to Mr. Dick.

State's Wolfpack Entertains South Carolina's Strong Gamecocks Saturday in A Homecoming Battle

North Carolina State's football team is borrowing the slogan of the Salvation Army to describe its situation. . . "A man may be down but he's never out."

That's the way the Wolfpack feels about Saturday's Homecoming game with South Carolina. The State squad is down, as its disappointing 2-5 record indicates, but the Wolfpack isn't to be counted out.

"We are bound to break loose soon," Coach Earle Edwards said, "because we are not as bad as our record indicates. We have proved on at least two occasions that we can score."

Scoring against South Carolina may be difficult, however, the Gamecocks own the nation's ninth best total defensive mark. Coach Warren Giese's squad ranks fourth nationally in pass defense, allowing seven opponents an average of 45.6 yards per game through the air.

"Our passing has been our big weapon this year," Edwards explained, "but if South Carolina is that tough we might be forced to stick close to our running attack."

State has scored only nine touchdowns this year with five coming on passes and four via rushing. Quarterback Bill Franklin has thrown three of the pay-off pitches while Tom Katich has connected on two.

State's passing game suffered through its worst Saturday of the season last week against Wake Forest, gaining only 26 yards on two completions in 17 attempts.

On the other hand, the Wolfpack's running game looked good with Dick Christy, the leading ground gainer, picking up 70 yards. The Chester, Pa., junior now has 312 yards to his credit for a 4.2 average.

Dick Hunter's punting continues to improve and he now boasts a .393 average on 19 punts. He is second to Christy in rushing with 245 yards also for a 4.2 average.

It is hoped that tackle Dick DeAngelis, who missed the Wake Forest game, will be ready to play. He has a pinched nerve in his neck.

Kickoff for the homecoming affair is at 1:30 in Riddick Stadium. The Gamecocks, who are 5-2 for the season, lead the series with State 10-7 with two ties recorded. This will be the first meeting of the teams since 1935 when State won 14-0.

W-F Bumps Pack 13-0 For Fifth Loss

Might plus capitalizing on the breaks was the story that was written at Bowman Gray Stadium Saturday as Wake Forest defeated the Wolfpack of North Carolina State 13-0 before a crowd of 14,000.

Paul Amen's Deacons started the fireworks with the game just five minutes old when quarterback Charlie Carpenter connected with a 56 yard pass to end Ralph Brewster for the first touchdown.

The second and final TD came early in the second quarter when the Deacons' speedy half-back Dick Daniels raced around left end and galloped 32 yards to pay dirt.

Again it was Bill Barnes, Wake Forest man of might, that told the headlines even though he didn't score. He carried the pigskin 20 times for a total of 118 yards and moved his total yards rushing this year to 717, only 28 yards away from a new Atlantic Coast Conference rushing record.

The honors of second leading yard gainer went to little Dick Christy, who racked up 70 yards in 17 tries at the line.

State threatened twice to score . . . once they moved the ball to the five yard line of Wake Forest late in the second quarter and then again in the third period when they worked the ball to the Deacon's ten.

State's Sophomore End, Bob Pepe Has Outstanding Future at State

Bob Pepe, North Carolina State's starting right end, has been picked as the lad most likely to succeed in the football years ahead.

The Wolfpack coaching staff is not surprised at Pepe's fine performance to date. Since the day he enrolled at State College Coach Earle Edwards has told everyone that Pepe was destined for stardom.

"I usually don't make such predictions," the Wolfpack mentor would declare, "but we have a boy on our squad who I think will one day make All-America. That boy is Bob Pepe."

Edwards' opinion has not changed. Rather, after Saturday's game, he is more firmly convinced that Pepe will become a great football player.

Why is Edwards so sold on the rookie? "There are many reasons," he explains. "First, he has all the physical qualifications. Bob is 6-foot-2 and weighs 204. He's strong, rugged and likes to play football. Moreover, he has spirit, determination and confidence. He knows what he can do and he does it. I like that boy."

Edwards started Pepe after the UNC game despite the fact that it was the sophomore's 2nd varsity game. He took over the right end spot which was held all last year by John Lowe, a veteran flanker now in his fourth year with the Wolfpack.

Pepe, who is called "Thunderbird" by his teammates, responded in spectacular fashion.

He scored State's second touchdown against Carolina on a 21-yard pass from Bill Franklin, caught another aerial for 11 yards, and turned in a fine defensive game.

Pepe's (pronounced Peppy) athletic future hasn't always been so rosy. When he was two-years-old he was run over by an automobile and his legs were badly crushed. Doctors told his parents he might never walk again. The legs healed in time and Bob had a normal boyhood, but even today his legs show the scars of the accident.

Smaltz Praises Trio For Freshman Record

By Spec Hawkins

Bill Smaltz, North Carolina State College freshman football coach, rates his present team as the best all-around frosh team he has coached, and he attributes the success to an end, a tackle and a halfback.

Joe Mazutis is the end, John Lawrence the tackle and Roy (Pete) Seese the halfback. The threesome has sparked State to impressive wins over Duke, Virginia and Wake Forest for a 3-1 record. The loss to Clemson.

Smaltz, in his third year at State, predicts stardom for all three when they reach the varsity. "I don't think I've ever seen three better prospects," he said. "We are mighty happy that they plan to be around for the next three years."

Mazutis, a 6-foot-1, 185-pounder from Washington, Pa., heads the Pack's scoring parade with four touchdowns. A former All-State high school star, he has been rated by opposing coaches as one of the top freshman ends in the south.

Speed, an uncanny ability to get clear and a great pair of hands are Mazutis' top characteristics.

Lawrence is a rugged 220-pounder who stands 5-foot-10. In four games he has been the Baby Wolfpack's top defender and has drawn praise for his spectacular line play.

Coach Earle Edwards rates Lawrence as one of the best prospects he has ever seen. "He does everything well," the State coach declared. "John is big, strong and tough and has all the qualifications for a first-rate lineman. He's going to make us a great player."

Lawrence, from Heidelberg, Pa., was a prep star at Camden Military Academy before coming to State.

The running sensation on the team has been Seese, a fast-moving back who knows his way toward the goal. The team's leading ground gainer, Pete has accounted for three touchdowns, the longest on a 60-yard jaunt against Duke.

Young man on a mountain

If Don Gundersen isn't in his office, he's probably on a California mountaintop making tests and surveys prior to the raising of a radio relay tower.

That's part of Don's job as an engineer with Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. With other young engineers he makes field studies, then analyzes the data and decides where to locate equipment for mobile radio, radio relay and point-to-point radio links.

He has to answer a lot of questions, such as "How high must the towers be? How much will access roads cost? What will the control circuits cost? What are the chances of transmission interference?" And those are only a few.

"The answers have to be right, too," says Don. "The recommendations we make control hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of construction. There's no way in the world of 'burying' a mistake.

"But I like responsibility, and the chance to make real contributions. The telephone business is growing so fast, and technological improvements are coming along in such volume, that opportunities to get ahead are excellent. If the business looks remarkable today, think what it'll be like twenty years from now!"

Donald L. Gundersen graduated from the University of Washington in 1949 with a B.S. in Electrical Engineering. Other interesting career opportunities exist in all Bell Telephone Companies, Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Hafer-Maglio To Captain Varsity Cage Squad

Two sharp-shooting seniors have been named co-captains of the North Carolina State College basketball team.

Cliff Hafer, a forward from Middletown, Ohio, and John Maglio, a guard from Bryn Mawr, Pa., were elected co-captains by the squad Monday. Both players are leading candidates for all-star honors this year and playing recently for the Eastern All-Stars against the United States Olympic team.

Maglio, a six-footer, was the Wolfpack's third ranking scorer last year behind All-Americans Ronnie Shavlik and Vic Molodet. The fancy dan backcourt star scored 401 points in 28 games for a 14.9 average.

Maglio led the State team in field goal accuracy, hitting 45 per cent of his shots from the floor. He scored 212 points as a sophomore and picked up the nickname "The Clutch" because of his numerous last-second field goals which enabled the Wolfpack to win.

The 21-year-old guard has an excellent jump shot from back of the circle and mixes it with a driving lay up which is almost impossible to stop.

Hafer, a 6-foot-4 speedster, ranked fourth in the scoring, playing in only 19 of 28 games. He racked up 209 points for an 11-point average. His long shots from the corner were a favorite State weapon against zone defenses.

The 22-year-old Hafer, who leads State's famed fast-break attack, scored 104 points as a sophomore in 1955. Because of his speed, he is called "Greyhound" by his teammates.

Both players will form the nucleus of the 1956-57 team.

along with guard Whitey Bell who returned to school after a two-year hitch in the army.

The Wolfpack, defending Atlantic Coast Conference champions, opens its season Dec. 1 at home against Pittsburgh. Eight lettermen are listed on the 15-man squad including Hafer and Maglio.

Others returning are forwards Tom Hopper and Nick Pond, center Bob Seitz, and guards Bell, Buck Waters, and Marvin Kessler, who will be eligible in January.

Last year the Wolfpack compiled a 24-4 record and finished the season as the nation's second-ranked team in the Associated Press poll.

Guy Dodson Seeks Frosh Presidency

Guy Dodson, a native of New Bern, N. C., is actively seeking the office of president of the freshman class.

Dodson, who was one of the first to announce his candidacy, laid down a 3-point platform today:

- (1) To work with the Student Government Committee as much as possible, to revise and establish a better all around freshman orientation program.
- (2) To do everything possible in trying to establish a workable solution to the problem of date tickets and student athletic books.

JULIE ANDREWS says:

"Verily, a Professor 'Iggins among magazines!"

Julie Andrews, twenty-one-year-old British girl, plays Eliza Doolittle in the sensational Broadway success "My Fair Lady"—a musical adaptation of George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion."

Q. Miss Andrews, had you ever been away from your family before you arrived in this country two years ago?

A. Never, and I still become dreadfully homesick. But I do talk with them several times a week.

Q. By phone?

A. No—by phonograph. We talk into recording machines, and airmail the records. They are so clear I can even hear my brothers arguing in the background about whose turn is next. It is as if we were all in one room.

Q. You never exchange the usual kind of letter?

A. Very seldom, I'm afraid. But we post back and forth bits of particular interest—like newspaper reviews, and favorite articles from The Reader's Digest.

Q. Just the Digest?

A. Oh, no, there are others sometimes—but the Digest is our magazine. Mummy and Daddy have always read it, and I began when I was twelve, playing music halls. I had to miss school, and my teaching governess went through every issue with me on the run. It was part of my lessons.

Q. Do you still read it on the run?

A. Oh, yes—waiting for assignments, waiting for buses, even waiting for curtain cues. I hope I never have to be without it. When I wish to be amused, the Digest amuses me; and when I need to be scolded or instructed, I can always find an article that talks to me like—

Q. Like a Dutch uncle?

A. No, much more delightfully—more like Professor 'Iggins in "My Fair Lady" showing a new world to Eliza Doolittle.

In November Reader's Digest don't miss:

CONDENSATION FROM FORTHCOMING BOOK: "THE ONE THAT GOT AWAY." The all but incredible story of Nazi fighter pilot Franz von Werra—how he broke out of a British prison camp, audaciously attempted to steal a plane... and finally did escape.

Weaver Runs for Frosh President

Al Weaver announced his candidacy for Freshman Class President last week. Al is from Raleigh and is now enrolled in Chemical Engineering. In addition, holders of the M.D., D.D.S., or D.V.M. degree, who wish to obtain further training for a career in research, are eligible provided they can present an acceptable plan of study and research.

All applicants for graduate (predoctoral) awards will be required to take an examination designed to test scientific aptitude and achievement. This examination, administered by the Educational Testing Service, will be given on January 19, 1957 at designated centers throughout the United States and certain foreign countries. The evaluation of each candidate's application is made by the appropriate Academy-Research Council selection panels and boards. One of the best known writers in the field of science-fiction, Arthur C. Clarke, will present an illustrated lecture at the College Union on Tuesday, November 13, at 8 p.m. Under the sponsorship of the College on Forum and Library Committees, Clarke will attempt to separate fact from fantasy in science-fiction by describing in technical terms the problems still to be overcome before space flight becomes a reality. Still in his thirties, Clarke has already completed a body of works, both fiction and non-fiction, which clearly establishes him as a painstaking scientist and a superbly gifted writer of imaginative literature.

Using as a launching platform thorough grounding in astronomy, physics, mathematics and related sciences, the energetic Britisher rocketed across literary firmament in 1952 with his book on the coming age of interplanetary travel, "The Exploration of Space," a Book-the-Month Club best seller. The shower of books that have appeared from his prolific pen have been termed classics of temporary science-fiction. His prodigious literary output, fifteen books so far, have sold over a million copies in a dozen languages.

A Fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society, Clarke was also chairman of the British Interplanetary Society for five years. During World War II, he served with the RAF on radar operations.

This will be Strother and Diano's first appearances with the Little Theatre. Kahn has appeared in seven previous shows and Rawicz once during the summer season. Both Strother and Rawicz played in the College Union production of "My Three Angels" here last season.

I am willing to do everything in my power to achieve this goal. Everyone has his own pet gripes, and I am not an exception to this rule.
