Election On November 12

Freshman Nomination Books Close Friday

It was announced at the Student Legislature last Thursday night that Freshman elections would be held this year on November 12.

All men who intend to run for any of the student offices must sign the nominations book before Friday at 5:00 P.M., November 1. The nominations book, which was opened today, is in the Office of Student Affairs in Holladay Hall and will be open for the remainder of this week.

In addition to setting the date for freshman elections, teacher evaluation and flu absences were discussed at the Student Legislature last Thursday.

A two-page sheet for teacher evaluation has been drawn up by the Promotions Committee. The data gained from the teacher evaluation will be presented to the teachers through the departmental heads. A thorough study and analysis of an evaluation program is presently being carried on between members of Student Government and different instructors.

Flu Absences
A resolution was introduced by the Rules Committee to send a student committee to discuss with the faculty the problem of students' getting behind in school work because of flu absences. Since the matter was to be discussed at the meeting of the Chancellor's Liaison Committee, the resolution was withdrawn.

The Welfare Committee reported that a study of the cut system had begun. A box has been placed in the College Union where complaints may be placed concerning the present system.

At the meeting a letter from Mr. Southerland, manager of the College Cafeteria, was read telling of the small number of students eating Sunday breakfast at the Cafeteria. A motion was made and passed stating that Mr. Southerland be authorized to take whatever action he deems proper, relative to the matter; the assumption is that Sunday breakfast will be discontinued.

A study is being made by the Investigations Committee to see what buildings on the campus need class bells. Bells are also being considered in or outside the dormitories.

Homecoming Queen Deadline Extended

It was announced last night that the deadline for entering contestants in the Homecoming Queen Contest has been extended through Friday, November 1. Blue Key President, Rudy Johnstone, said the extension was made in order to give sponsoring students and organizations a couple more days to secure photographs of the girl they wish to sponsor.

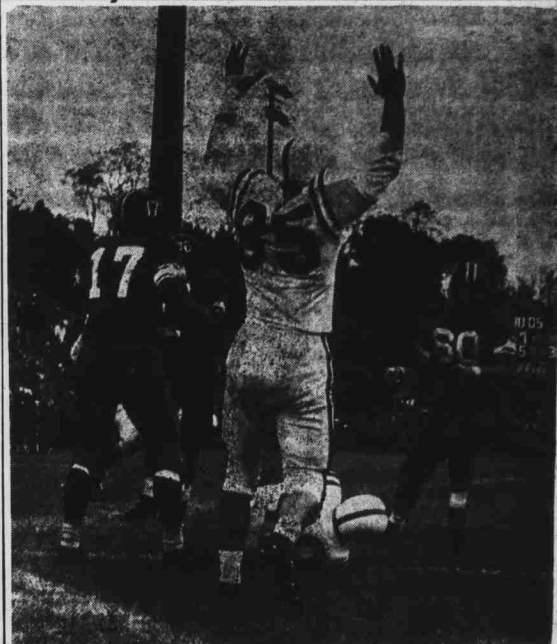

Announcement of the winner of the contest will be made during the Homecoming game with William and Mary on November 9.

Any student or campus organization may sponsor a candidate. To be eligible, a girl must be at least eighteen or a student at State.

A student wishing to sponsor a contestant should take an 8x10 photograph and one snapshot of the girl to the Office of Student Affairs before Friday. The name and address of both the contestant and the student sponsoring her should accompany the photographs.

The pictures of the contestants will be displayed in the College Union on November 2 and the finalists will be announced on November 7.

Christy Goes Over For State's 2nd TD

THE BIG ONE! The Wolfpack's big junior end Bob Pipe (85) knows exactly what has happened, as Halfback Dick Christy (40) falls across the Duke goal early in the third quarter. Dumb-founded Duke players watching the proceedings are All-American candidate, guard Roy Hord (60); quarterback, Bob Brodhead (17); and tackle, Tom Topping (75).

Governor Speaks At Lab Dedication

The new $300,000 Pulp and Paper Building at State College was formally dedicated Friday afternoon when Governor Luther H. Hodges paid tribute to "one of North Carolina's great citizens," Reuben B. Robertson of Canton, N. C.

Naming the building in honor of the pulp and paper industrialist and long-time advocate of forest conservation, Governor Hodges pointed out that Mr. Robertson was one of the first industry leaders to recognize that an expanding pulp and paper industry needs a perpetual and adequate supply of pulpwood. Governor Hodges declared that Mr. Robertson has given "continuing and active effort to arouse public interest in the need for forest protection and management."

Citing Mr. Robertson's interest in the pulp and paper program at State College, Governor Hodges said, "Mr. Robertson's dynamic aid in initiating and strengthening the program which is housed in this building we are dedicating today is typical of the energetic leadership he has always been willing to give to a cause which he deemed worthy."

Robertson Honored

Concluding, Governor Hodges stated that Mr. Robertson's "influence and leadership in industrial development, in sound forest practices, and in forward looking industrial and public relations have made North Carolina a more progressive State and a better place in which to live. For these great contributions, and more specifically for the vital part Mr. Robertson has played in building this important new program in the School of Forestry, the unanimous action of the Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina in naming this building the Reuben B. Robertson Laboratory of Pulp and Paper Technology is a fitting honor and a lasting tribute to one of North Carolina's great citizens."

State College Chancellor Dr. Carey H. Bostian presided at the dedicatory rites held on the college campus. Reuben B. Robertson, Jr., of Hamilton, Ohio, president of the Champion Paper and Fibre Company and son of Robertson, responded for the family. William M. Whyburn, vice president of graduate studies and research for the Consolidated University of North Carolina, responded for the college.

Following the dedication, guests, including directors of the Pulp and Paper Foundation, toured the laboratory building.

Infir. Admittances On Upswing; Basement of Berry Still In Use

Infirmary Admittances On Upswing; Basement of Berry Still In Use
Following a trend observed over recent week-ends, students admitted to the infirmary were night after a week-end lull in patients being admitted.

Between the hours of six and ten Sunday night fifteen students were admitted to the Infirmary, suffering either from colds or flu. At ten p.m. sixty students were housed in the Infirmary with additional patients placed in the basement of Berry Dormitory and at Mayview convalescent home.

Present plans of the Infirmary call for placing students in the Infirmary, basement of Berry, and at Mayview. There are no plans at present for placing patients on the first floor of Berry.

Last week students were moved from the basement and from the first floor of Berry so that their rooms could be used by the Infirmary. No plans have been announced for allowing residents of the first floor to return to their rooms.

Attention Seniors

There will be a lecture open to all seniors on Thursday, October 31, at 7:30 P.M. in the Textile Auditorium dealing with the methods used by various companies in interviewing and hiring students.

The subjects for the lecture and panel discussion will be as follows: "How To Apply For a Job", "What Job To Look For", and "What The College Recruiter Is Looking For".

Longs Honored

A reception was held yesterday afternoon by the Board of Directors of the State College YMCA honoring Mr. and Mrs. William G. Long. Mr. Long, who joined the college staff last July, is Associate Secretary of the YMCA here.

After receiving his B.A. and Master's Degrees at the University of West Virginia, Bill (as he is known to his friends) spent three years as an officer in the Army Signal Corps. After his service tour he attended Yale Divinity School, where he received his Bachelor of Divinity Degree last June.

He and his wife, Marge, are presently living on Nichols Drive in Cameron Village.

Textile Donation

Carter Fabrics Division of the J. P. Stevens Company has recently donated to the Department of Knitting Technology in the School of Textiles at State College a Premier Warp Knitting Machine for use in instruction and research.

Architect Outlines Future Buildings

By Rob Ferrell

Plans for the future of State College include the construction of a circular classroom building, an eleven story dormitory, a new cafeteria, and the moving of Riddick Stadium. The cost for these and many other improvements is expected to be approximately $45,000,000.

In a talk given at the Student Government Leaders Conference last Thursday, E. W. Waugh, a local architect who is in charge of long range planning at State College, outlined the steps in the planning program.

Waugh pointed out that the plans are based on a thorough study of population increases. The master plan is divided into three stages with the third stage looking as far as fifteen years into the future.

Classroom Building

The first stage, which is designed for an enrollment of 8,000 students, includes the construction of a new classroom building for the School of General Studies. This building will have two sections—one rectangular and the other circular—and will be constructed in an area behind the College Union. The circular part of the building will be divided into lecture rooms while class rooms will be in the adjacent section.

Waugh also pointed out that there will also be need for another dormitory in addition to the ones now under construction. Because of limited space, it is proposed that the new dorm be eleven stories tall with elevators.

This stage of the plan also calls for a new student supply store to be constructed behind the proposed classroom building.

The second stage of the plan proposes the construction of more new dormitories, classroom buildings, and possibly a new cafeteria. The site of the dorms will probably be in the area of the dormitory presently under construction. The new cafeteria would be centrally located but the exact location is still to be decided upon.

When the third stage is reached, it is hoped that the stadium can be moved to the fair grounds, thus leaving room for new engineering buildings.

It is also thought that by this stage a new College Union building will be needed. If this is true the present Union building will be used by the library.

With the completion of the third stage, the present physical plant will be approximately doubled.

South Africa To Be Subject of Talk

Dr. Edgar T. Thompson, professor of sociology at Duke University, will speak at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the College Union on the racial situation in South Africa.

Dr. Thompson was the first American Hugh le May Fellow at Rhodes University in the Union of South Africa, where he lived for eight months.

He was a member of the Conference on Race Relations in World Perspective at Honolulu in the summer of 1954 and a member of the Netherlands Government sponsored Conference on Human Relations at Berg en Dal, Holland, in September of 1956.

Two Mistakes

In the last edition of The Technician, we made two mistakes which should be corrected. Both concern the Alma Mater.

The first mistake was saying, "State College men will sing the Alma Mater this Saturday before the football game." It seems that we were too optimistic in making this statement. It should have read, "There will be a few State College men who will sing the Alma Mater this Saturday. . . ."

The second mistake, for which we sincerely apologize, was in printing the wrong words to the abridged version of the Alma Mater.

It seems that the Alma Mater was re-revised this summer to make the lines rhyme. We were unaware of the change and therefore printed the song as it was revised last spring.

The most recent revision, however, which was made by the Music Department, even further improves the Alma Mater.

We are printing the "re-revised, abridged version" here for those students who failed to take part in the singing of the Alma Mater last Saturday—maybe this week a few more voices will be heard.

The Alma Mater

Where the winds of Dixie softly blow o'er the fields of Caroline,
There stands ever cherished, N. C. State, as thy honored shrine.
So lift your voices! Loudly sing from hill to ocean side!
Our hearts ever hold you, N. C. State, in the folds of our love and pride.

Freshman Elections

The nominations book was thrown open today to all aspiring freshman politicians. The eighteen offices to be filled include the four class offices and the fourteen representatives to the Student Legislature.

All freshmen who believe they can fill one of the positions should get his name in the book in Holladay Hall.

Upperclassmen can help a great deal in this matter. Each upperclassman who knows of a freshman who is a potential leader should see to it that that man signs the nominations book.

None of the freshmen have seen an election at State. They know nothing of the excitement, the sometimes heated words, and the scores of posters which characterize the political campaigns at State.

Each upperclassman, and especially those who are dormitory or fraternity officers, should make it his responsibility to see to it that no freshman talents are wasted.

If you know a capable freshman, be sure his name is in the book by Friday. He will probably come back to you later and thank you for giving him that "extra little push" which made him sign up.

Letters To Editor

The Technician welcomes your Letters To The Editor. However, we remind all students that the letters must be signed. We also reserve the right to edit letters if there is limited space available.

We urge you to continue your letters, and help make The Technician even more of a student paper.

Letters To The Editor :

Fences Mar Beauty of Campus

Letter to the Editor:

Before transferring to State I asked around for opinions of North Carolina State College and more often than not the first reaction I got was, "Oh, you mean Cow College," and from an outsider's point of view I can readily see whence came the name. The first thing that strikes you about our fair campus is the presence of a maze of erratically sized and spaced—cattle fences? Just what are these barriers? They're too low to hold cows and too high to turn hogs.

I've also noticed the M.&O. has enhanced the looks of the College Union by building an eight foot obstacle right at the main entrance from Hillsboro Street. It seems to me an odious incongruity to hide a million and a half buck building behind an unpainted back-pasture type fence. Or perhaps the great white Fathers are striving to protect us tender young students from the inane and unspeakable wickedness of Hillsboro Street.

Seriously now, don't you think a few signs reading, "Please keep off the grass," and "Please use walkways," would serve the same purpose as those rickety, unpainted imitation corrals? I'm sure that most students

Courtesy And Policy . . .

To the Editor:

It was quite evident from last Thursday's issue of The Technician that the students felt they were getting a raw deal concerning tickets and date tickets to the State-Duke game.

Realizing we were not treated fairly, how many of us were gentlemen enough to also realize that the three ladies at the ticket windows were not making policy?

Again, how many of us stopped to consider the inconvenience to which these ladies put themselves so that we, the students, might start picking up tickets at least one hour earlier than the scheduled 8:30?

Fellow students, I say we owe those ladies a word of thanks for their extra effort and consideration.

Remember, courtesy is contagious.

Cecil Brooks.

Men in the know know true from false

College students usually settle down in their old neighborhoods after graduation.

TRUE FALSE

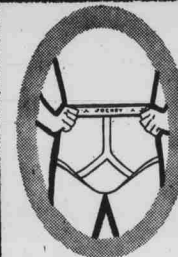

False. Statistically, there's only a 50-50 chance that you will return to your home area. If you left your home State to go to school, the odds are 2 out of 3 that you will settle down in a different State after you get your degree.

Students who engage in many campus activities tend to earn more money in later years.

TRUE FALSE

False. A recent survey of college grads showed that the BMOC's do not earn more than students who avoid campus activities. Thus, campus activities should be considered as their own broadening reward, not as stepping stones to wealth.

In perhaps the most thrilling game ever played in Riddick Stadium, the never-say-die Wolfpack of N. C. State fought a hard-charging Duke Blue Devil team to a 14-14 tie here last Saturday before a sellout crowd of 21,000 patrons, and thus the two undefeated ACC teams failed to enter the loss column.

It was a case of determination by every player on the State squad that kept the fourth-ranked Duke team from completely running the show. The Pack played at its best Saturday when its back was to the wall, a characteristic of this year's Big Red.

State, who won the toss for the sixth consecutive time, was perhaps too keyed-up at the start of the game, which accounts for the 14-0 lead Duke had early in the second quarter. But after the early game nervousness was over, State was alert until the final gun.

The first drive for State was ended by what could be termed the jitters. The Pack had taken the opening kickoff to their 33, and after getting one first down, could not get another as end Bob Pepe wasn't able to pull in a pass from QB Tom Katich.

After several punt exchanges Duke got the ball on their 38 and drove 62 yards for the score with about a minute left in the first period. QB Bob Brodhead went over from the one and HB Wray Carlton kicked the point to make it 7-0.

State took the kickoff, but after two pass interceptions by Duke, with a ball exchange in between, Duke's Brodhead, standing on the State 47, hit end Bill Thompson with a perfect pass on the 28. Thompson rushed all the way for the score, and Carlton again kicked the point, making it 14-0, with nine minutes left in the first half.

State's fired-up Wolfpack was not to be denied, though, and with a couple of minutes left in the half, the West Raleigh brigade took the ball on their own 48. Three running plays netted exactly nothing, and with a few seconds left, State called for time-out.

As play resumed, it was evident that State would try what it had tried in the same situation against F.S.U. earlier this season. This time it was Tom Katich who threw the pass, but it was the same Christy who pulled it in for the score. Hunter converted and the half ended, 14-7.

After the intermission Duke drove to the State 39, but the tough center for State, Jim Oddo, intercepted a Brodhead pass, and ran it to the Duke 17, before he was pulled down. After Christy carried to the 6, Hunter hit him on the goal for the TD. It was also Hunter who kicked the all-important extra point to tie it up, 14-14.

Duke came close one more time as they drove to within one foot of the Pack goal line, but State just wouldn't quit, and the Blue Devils failed to cash in.

The only sour note of the day was the penalties against State. Several important drives were nipped in their infancy by the officials calling "illegal procedure" on the Pack. No clarification or specification was given by then for this offense.

Next week the Wolfpack entertains the hapless Wake Forest Demon Deacons while the Blue Devils journey to Georgia Tech.

Around the ACC

Although there were four of eight teams in the ACC defeated, many surprises took hold bringing astounding feats of fine football.

The four great surprises were Duke-State (14-14 tie), Carolina-Wake Forest (14-7), Army-Virginia (20-12), and Clemson-South Carolina (13-0); while worn out Maryland went under with the fourth period capers of the Volunteers of Tennessee, (16-0).

It all started with Big Thursday and Frank Howard's sophomore quarterback, Harvey White, defying the Gamecock secondary, tossing to TD passes. Following suit up to Winston-Salem, it was the fired-up Deacs who gave an initial scare before half-time only to meet defeat by a Carolina kick-off TD at the start of the second half with neither team being able to make a further score.

AMBASSADOR
NO DOWN PAYMENT is now showing at the AMBASSADOR. The movie is loaded with stars such as Jeffrey Hunter, Barbara Rush, Sherree North, Cameron Mitchell, and Joanne Woodward to name a few. Thursday night at 10:30 you can see a special giant halloween show; there will be more details on this in Thursday's TECHNICIAN.

COLONY
THE DEVIL'S HAIRPIN can be seen at the COLONY now and, this drama about racing, stars Cornel Wilde and Jean Wallace, who actually are husband and wife off the screen. Wilde is best remembered for his brilliant performance in The Greatest Show on Earth, and his wife Jean is a newcomer to the screen.

STATE
At the STATE is GUNSIGHT BRIDGE with Joel McCrea, Mark Stevens, and Joan Weldon. Stevens is a graduate of the now defunct "Big Town" television show. The movie is rated as an average western with some fairly suspenseful scenes at the climax.

VARSITY
The VARSITY claims their current film SCANDEL IN SORRENTO has some of the most beautiful scenery in the world featured, and her name is Sophia Loren. The voluptuous Miss Loren (38"-24"-38") is starring with Vittorio DeSica in an exciting love story.

VILLAGE
UNTIL THEY SAIL, advertised as strong adult entertainment, starts its second week at the VILLAGE. Jean Simmons and Joan Fontaine are the main stars.

WAKE
Here, you can enjoy PEARL OF THE SOUTH PACIFIC with Virginia Mayo and Dennis Morgan. This is an interesting and different picture, which I would personally recommend. Also on the double bill is THREE COINS IN A FOUNTAIN with Clifton Webb and Dorothy McGuire.

Because the theaters have agencies which book their movies far in advance, there is no way of knowing when a schedule will be changed. Theatergoers, therefore, reserve the right to make last minute changes without advanced announcement.
