Saturday Night

Les Elgart Plays For Pledge Dance

State's seventeen social fraternities are anticipating one of the biggest weekends of the fall semester tomorrow night with several informal fraternity parties.

These parties, along with the afternoon concert and dance with Les Elgart's orchestra, will round out the weekend's activities.

A concert will be held in the Raleigh Amphitheater at 3:30 on Saturday afternoon featuring Elgart. The formal dance will follow that evening in the Reynolds Coliseum at 8:00.

The pledge formal, as the fall dances are known, is held each fall in honor of the new pledges who have recently joined the seventeen fraternities. 211 new members have pledged this year, and they have all received bids to attend the dance and the concert.

Guest bids are available in limited number to non-fraternity men. They may be purchased from the fraternities.

Figure

During the dance, the officers of IFC and their dates and the sponsors and their dates will form the traditional figure at intermission.

Social Committee of IFC. This year's theme is "Around the World in 80 Days."

Starlight Club Open Saturday Night

The Starlight Club will be open again this Saturday night from 8 to 12 p.m. in the College Union.

The college nightclub, offering music for dancing in a secluded atmosphere and light refreshments, is open to all students at a cover charge of 50 cents per couple. Reservations may be made at the Union Activities Office.

Attention Seniors

There will be a senior class meeting at 12:00 noon, Friday, Nov. 22, in the Coliseum. The main purpose of the meeting will be to consider the class's gift to the college. Other announcements concerning invitations for graduation and diplomas will be made at the meeting. All members of the class are urged to attend and to bring $1.00 for the class gift. (This will save having to contact every member of the class individually.)

Intermarriage Resolution

Gov. Hodges Levels Blast At Legislature's 'Immaturity'

By Roy Lathrop
Comment on actions taken by the N. C. State Student Legislature continued to pour in yesterday from television and newspapers.

The Raleigh Times in last night's issue headlined "QUESTIONS TO BE ASKED OF STUDENTS IN FUTURE — HODGES" and the Governor also appeared on television to express his "more than shock" reactions to the two controversial bills brought up by the Legislature.

Carolina's Daily Tar Heel, for the most part, defended the actions of the Assembly, saying "...state newspapers who completely misconstrued the State Student Legislature's actions definitely owe representatives a large economy-sized apology." and "the bill restoring individual civil liberties was admirable, but inopportune."

Hodges' Statement

Gov. Hodges yesterday stated at his press conference that the student assembly displayed "immaturity" and "irresponsibility," and "took advantage of the state's hospitality."

"All of us believe in freedom of speech," said Hodges, "but responsibility goes along with that freedom."

The governor said he gathered from student statements in the wake of the controversy there has been "some sort of misquotation or misrepresentation." But, he continued, that did not alter the questions that have been raised. "The basic question," he declared, "is who do they represent." He said officials of some 21 white and Negro colleges represented at the assembly "disclaim any sponsorship of the group. If it is a truly-elected body, that's one thing, but if it is a self-perpetuating group, it's another."

Tuesday night, George Cochran, President of the Student Legislature, presented an answer to the criticism regarding the two controversial bills presented at the Assembly, one on legalized prostitution (which was defeated by a large majority) and the other on interracial marriage (which was passed).

The State College delegation split its vote on the interracial marriage issue, and did not approve it unanimously as has been reported.

State College Statement

After the publicity yesterday on television and in the papers, Cochran has talked with members of the Legislature's delegations from all the schools participating for the purpose of drawing up a statement for the United Press which has picked up the story and will probably distribute it nationwide.

Members of the State Student Legislature have taken special issue with the Governor's statement that says, in effect, that all future business of the Legislature will be approved before it is publicly presented. Legislature representatives contend that any such measure would severely limit their freedom of expression and that the issue now has become "a matter of defending an extremely important principle."

The statement of the Legislature's leaders was due for release last night at midnight and was therefore not available for this issue, but in all probability will appear in the local Raleigh papers.

Interfraternity Council Restores Phi Epsilon Pi's Original Penalty

By Rob Farrell

The Interfraternity Council has again placed Phi Epsilon Pi Fraternity on 12 months' rushing probation. After re-studying the case, the council decided to restore the original penalty.

The PEP Fraternity was first placed on 12 months' probation at the October 2 meeting of the IFC. This penalty was imposed as a result of charges brought against the fraternity by the Investigations Committee.

These charges were: contacting freshmen after the first orientation meeting but before the first visitation period and having 10 to 15 men at their house for one to one and one-half hours for a party at which beer was served the freshmen.

Penalty Shortened

At the IFC meeting on October 16 this penalty was shortened to an eight-month period. This action was taken after the Investigations Committee recommended that the rushing probation last only through May. The motion which shortened the penalty was passed with 15 fraternities voting for it.

On October 30 the IFC passed a motion calling for reconsideration of the case. It was brought out at this meeting that a "rushing" probation which does not include the fall rushing period has little effect. The case was given to the Investigations Committee for further study and recommendations.

Penalty Restored

After the Investigations Committee's report at the IFC meeting yesterday, it was decided that the original 12-month penalty should be put back into effect. It was brought out that the PEP Fraternity had 38 active members. The decision to shorten the penalty had been based on the fact that Phi Epsilon Pi was a small fraternity and would receive severe hardships as a result of a year's probation.

The penalty will last until October 31, 1957. During this period Phi Epsilon Pi will not be allowed to rush or issue bids to freshmen.

Students Respond To Technician Poll

In the recent "Flu vs. Lessons" Poll sponsored by The Technician, over 97% of the students who responded held that during the past flu epidemic at State their professors continued to cover material and make assignments as if there were no flu problem at all.

Of the total of 539 responses to the poll, which appeared in the November 4 issue of the college paper, 525 students held to the above view. Only three students said that the work load had been lightened up considerably in their classes, and eleven said that tests, homework, etc., had been lightened up somewhat.

Faculty Directive

The poll was sponsored in an effort to ascertain the response to the faculty directive from the Dean of Faculty issued to all faculty members. The directive, in part, stated: "Under the circumstances, it would be only humane to slaken the tempo academically at this time..." (three weeks ago), and to be more liberal than usual in permitting the students to have time to make up their work.

Following are some quotes from some of the letters that were turned in to The Technician with the poll slips:

"These votes are not gripes, but rather truthful answers, eight votes from sophomores and one from a freshman. The freshman says the math department lightened up on them. I

$400 Award

Turbyfill Named Furniture Club Scholarship Winner

At the November meeting of the State College Furniture Club Tuesday night, Basil Waites Turbyfill of Hickory, a senior in the School of Engineering, was named winner of the 1957-58 Furniture Club of American Scholarship.

Presentation of the award was made by Gordon M. Robinson of Chicago, vice-president of the Furniture Club of America, who was the main speaker for the occasion.

The award winner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Clifton Turbyfill of Hickory.

Enrolled in the Furniture Manufacturing and Management curriculum, the engineering student has an excellent academic record, averaging a "B" plus, and has been active in extra-curricular activities since his freshman year.

Commenting on young Turbyfill's selection, Dr. J. Harold Lampe, dean of engineering, called the recipient "an outstanding and deserving student".

Honor Program

This year Turbyfill is participating in the School of Engineering's Honor Program, which allows superior seniors more freedom in planning their courses of study. Currently he is president of the student Furniture Club; president of the college class at Tabernacle Baptist Church; and committee chairman of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity plus editor of its publication.

Other organizations in which he is very active are the student chapter of the Forest Products Research Society; Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic society; and Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic society.

Summer Work

Aside from his academic achievements, the engineering student has worked during the summers operating machines in the furniture factory and doing industrial engineering tooling and layout work in furniture factories for a consulting engineering firm.

Each year the Furniture Club of America offers a $400 scholarship to a senior or advanced student in the State College furniture curriculum.

College Union Plans Hi-Fi Demonstration

A practical demonstration, "Here is Hi-Fi" will be given by Irving Stone, manager of the Ambassador Theater in Raleigh and considered one of the top audio experts in the State, Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the College Union Ballroom.

The program is designed to give beginners an introduction to the production of high fidelity sound and to increase the knowledge of those already familiar with the fundamental concepts of Hi-Fi. It will be followed by a coffee hour and a chance to find out more about the Hi-Fi Club.

New Placement Director Named

William Hughes Simpson of Raleigh has been named the new Placement Director for the School of Engineering at State College, Dr. J. Harold Lampe, dean of engineering, announced recently.

The new appointee replaces Mrs. W. Jake Wicker of Chapel Hill who resigned this fall after heading the Placement Office for five years.

Prior to this position, Simpson was assistant to the executive vice president of the North Carolina Dairy Products Association.

Wake Forest Graduate

Graduated from Wake Forest College in 1949 with a B. S. Degree in history-government, he was awarded his Master's Degree in education at Columbia University in 1951. Since that time, he has gained wide experience in the field of public relations and in youth work.

From 1949 until 1950, Simpson was intern in education at Myers Baptist Church in Charlotte, and then he served as director of the educational program at the First Baptist Church in Raleigh for the next five years.

Upon graduation from Needham B. Broughton High School in 1943, he entered the army and served overseas with the 45th Infantry Division until 1945.

Highly active in civic activities, Simpson is currently on the Board of Directors of the Raleigh Junior Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of the Board of Deacons of the First Baptist Church and of Kappa Alpha fraternity.

The new placement director is married to the former Edith Stephenson of Pendleton. They have two sons, Stephen, 5, and Mark, 2. The Simpsons reside at 1203 Duplin Road in Raleigh.

Critics of Legislature Answered On TV

On Tuesday night at 7:00 p.m., George Cochran, President of the North Carolina State Student Legislature, appeared on WRAL television to make a brief speech in reply to recent criticism of this year's Legislature's program.

The most outstanding criticism of the program came from U. S. Congressman Harold D. Cooley, the feature speaker at the Legislature, and the News and Observer.

Cochran's Speech

The text of Cochran's Tuesday night speech is as follows:

"It grieves me greatly to be placed in the position of having to defend the greatest student organization in North Carolina, that being the North Carolina State Student Legislature. For many years, the N. C. State Student Legislature has been held in high esteem by you, the people of North Carolina. Now, however, due to unfavorable publicity by the newspapers and wire services, public opinion has changed.

"I will try tonight to clarify in your minds the reasons leading up to this unfavorable publicity. The first part of my speech deals with the direct cause, that being the legislation passed. There were two bills out of twenty that were extensively described by the journalists, one dealing with intermarriage of the races, and the other with legalized prostitution. The latter was direct misinformation, for it was not passed by the Assembly. The bill dealing with intermarriage of the races was again misconstrued by the newspapers. I refer now to a clarifying resolution passed by the final session of the Assembly. 'Clarifying Resolution: Whereas the action taken by this assembly on a bill to repeal state laws prohibiting intermarriage of races has in our opinion been misconstrued by the press and to clear up any misunderstanding that may arise as to this action, we hereby adopt the following clarifying resolution:

Clarifying Resolution

"That the 21st State Student Legislature of North Carolina neither explicitly nor by implication gave its approval to interracial marriage. That in keeping with certain fundamental principles of our democracy we resolved only that the sacred right to marry whomever one chooses should not be restricted by law because of race, no more than because of creed or religion. That, in upholding this basic principle we stated our belief that all State laws prohibiting marriage, because of race, should be repealed. That we, the State Student Legislature of North Carolina, being duly convinced that this stand is morally right, do hereby reaffirm this principle."

"The second cause of undeserved criticism was provoked by the Honorable Harold D. Cooley. Prior to his speech on Saturday morning, Dr. Cooley inquired of me about the articles appearing in papers concerning those two bills. I informed him of the situation as completely as I could and he stated to me that he understood the matter. I refer now to an article by Mr. A. C. Snow of 'The Raleigh Times,' as follows:

"Their key speaker, Rep. Harold D. Cooley, said he was 'shocked by their action,' adding the students 'had shocked the sensibilities of our people.' Yet further along in the address he said the survival of the United States and democracy are 'dependent upon the men and women of America who can lift themselves above the bondages of petty politics and prejudices.'"

N &amp; O Editorial

"Lastly, I would like to refer to an editorial in 'The News and Observer' of Raleigh in which again the legislature is discussed. The crux of the editor's argument rests in his statement, and I quote: 'Actually, however, the assembled students' action served to emphasize the fact that they did not represent the students of North Carolina.' For clarification purposes, the assembly is made up of student government presidents, class presidents, members of the school legislatures and leaders in every phase of college life. I cannot think of better representatives of the students than their own chosen leaders.

"In closing, I would like to state that the legislation passed by the North Carolina Student Legislature is a condensed statement of the problems which face the future leaders of North Carolina, and of their preparation to deal with these problems. The student viewpoint may seem radical to a majority of people, but is a sincere opinion, eloquently spoken, grounds for condemnation?"

Dean Stewart Reports On Campus Progress

The progress made in many areas at State College in the past few years is easily overlooked in the rush of everyday activity.

In a recent address to a group of student leaders, Dean J. J. Stewart, Jr., Dean of Student Affairs at State, told of some of the progress which has been going on around us. Dean Stewart pointed out many items in his talk which new students at State may easily have just accepted, not realizing just how new they are.

Stewart's Talk
Following is the part of Dean Stewart's talk which deals with the recent progress at State:

Before we talk for a few minutes about various areas of leadership, I would like to review briefly some progress that has been made by your predecessors working with the college faculty and administration.

As a means of reviewing this progress, I cite the following illustrations. A few years ago State College had no College Union and very few social and cultural activities. Today you have an excellent Union program with a large number of activity opportunities for all students and a fine Union building.

Parking Areas
Not long ago there were no paved parking areas for any student-owned automobiles. Today there is a paved parking lot or areas for every dormitory and several available lots for off-campus students. Several years ago our Intramural sports program was very limited and had little equipment and no playing fields. Today equipment is available to any team and several very large playing fields are in excellent condition and ready for use.

The Y.M.C.A. has always been a wonderful organization at State College. Even in this area progress has been recently made. We now have a qualified competent Director of Religious activities who has an assistant, a campus chapel and a close-working arrangement with all Raleigh denominational and religious groups.

New Financial Aids
Several years ago, when a student came to us needing financial assistance in order to remain in school, we were at a loss as to the advice to give him and in most cases could offer little or no help. Today we have a Student Financial Aid Office with a program of scholarships, grants, loans and self-help jobs. This program has made wonderful progress and has enabled hundreds of students to continue their education, where otherwise it would have been impossible.

Counseling Center
During the past two years a College Counseling Center has been established with the objective of providing vocational and personal counseling for students asking admission to State College and for those students currently enrolled who feel the need of it.

A few years ago students frequently complained to us that they had no way of knowing what was going on around the colleges. Today a student bulletin is distributed once each week to every dormitory, fraternity, and throughout Vetville, and is placed in convenient locations for off-campus students. THE TECHNICIAN, our student newspaper, is issued twice a week and publishes its issues on week days, instead of weekends, so they will be more effective.

Several years ago all students taking Advanced ROTC were issued a uniform which they had to turn in at the end of their senior year. Many of these students then went on active duty with the Armed Forces and were required to purchase, at their own expense, a uniform necessary for this duty. Students now graduating in Advanced ROTC are given a uniform, valued at more than $100.00, which is tailor-made for them during their junior year and which they can keep for any use they need to make of it during their careers as Reserve of Regular Officers.

Three years ago the State College Band consisted of approximately 35 members—with instruments and uniforms badly worn and in need of repair. Today the State College Band is made up of more than 115 members who have new uniforms and many new instruments.

Housing
Proper housing for our students is one of our crucial problems. Here, also, progress has been and is being made. A new modern dormitory, of which every State College student will be proud, is presently being constructed at a cost of approximately two million dollars.

Application has been made to the Federal Government for a loan of three million dollars to build approximately 500 apartments for married students. An architect is now at work planning this project.

Fraternity Row
Much effort has been made to implement a fraternity housing area. In my opinion, after facing many serious obstacles we are on the verge of success with this undertaking.

Approximately five years ago our Chancellor instituted a program of regularly scheduled meetings with your Student Government President and other elected student leaders. This has been a most effective way to maintain liaison between the administration and our student body.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Intermarriage Resolution And Government Questions

At his press conference yesterday, Governor Hodges said that he had gathered that there has been "some sort of misquotation or misrepresentation" of the recent State Student Legislature. This statement expresses the opinions of a large number of people who know the full story on the matter.

The local papers and wire services have exaggerated the story to the point where it has been misunderstood and misconstrued by a great many people.

Yesterday, the Governor stepped into the controversy and said that "questions will be asked in the future." If he means by this that the representatives of future State Legislatures must be approved by either the administration or the President of the Student Government of the schools participating, no harm will result in such "questions."

If, however, the Executive Office is going to "question" the actual bills that are to be presented at future legislatures, such questions would be a great injustice. It would amount to governmental intervention and wholesale censorship. Such censorship would be hard to justify.

The Resolution In Question

The inter-marriage resolution which the Legislature passed does not advocate racial intermarriage. It advocates the repeal of all state laws prohibiting racial intermarriage. (The complete resolution is printed on page 5.)

The resolution is simply a statement of belief that all persons should be free to marry whomever they choose. In other words . . . to each his own.

We are strongly opposed to intermarriage between Negroes and whites. However, we do believe that legislation prohibiting such intermarriage is an abridgment of civil liberties. Free men should be able to make such a choice without governmental regulation.

Students of a democratic nation should be permitted to express their views without fear. Though the student legislators were not elected by their student bodies to represent them at the State Legislature, these men were representative of free, American students. And they had every right to express their opinions without governmental restraint or censorship.

Any attempt to censor responsible free expression, in the State Student Legislature or anywhere else, is certainly not in accord with our democratic principles and would be met with great criticism.

The Technician Flu Poll

The Technician was very gratified with the response to the recent student opinion poll on "Flu vs. Lessons." Although only 10% of the student body mailed in the poll, we feel that the poll gives a strong indication of student opinion on the subject.

An overwhelming 97.4% stated that their professors continued to cover material and make assignments as if there were flu problem at all.

There were some professors who lightened their work load during the epidemic. However, remembering what Dean Shirley said in his directive to the faculty—that "it would be only humane to slaken the tempo academically at this time"—we must conclude that, in this situation, the large majority of our faculty was quite inhumane.

The Technician wishes to thank the students who took part in the poll for their interest and support.

Letters To The Editor

Faculty Challenged On Flu Situation

To the Editor:

To express my opinion in brief, I would like to say that it is very unfortunate and regrettable that a majority of the State College faculty has shown very little consideration and respect for the student who has been stricken with the flu.

Speaking from experience, after seven days in the infirmary with temperatures over one hundred and four degrees, I regret to report that only two out of seven of my professors lightened up on the work load, tests, etc. Furthermore, these same two professors were the only ones that gave extended time for make-up work.

Excluding those few members of the faculty who have so thoughtfully slackened the academic tempo, I challenge the faculty to an honest opinion and self-appraisal concerning the flu situation and the resulting problems. However, I wish to express my sincere appreciation for those members of the faculty who have been humane enough to recognize the circumstances of the flu problem and have made compensating adjustments in the tempo and rigor of academic work. An example of such are the special coaching classes that have been set up by some departments, which is a very helpful and commendable act.

In concluding, may I ask why is it that many of the faculty members cannot be depended upon by either the student or the dean of the faculty for cooperation and consideration of the student and the existing flu situation?

Dennis R. York, Jr.

Letter to the Editor:

Due to the flu epidemic, I find that I am in danger of not being eligible to re-enter school next February.

My wife became ill with a severe case of the disease, and, not being able to afford a nurse to attend her, I had to cut several classes to care for her, myself. Now I find that I can't get these absences excused. Also, I do not know exactly how many of these cuts were turned in because upon inquiring at the office where the attendance records are kept, I learned that they "do not give out this kind of information."

I know that athletics are sponsored by the school and are of great value as recreation, but it seems to me that good health is just as important. If students can be excused to take that fraternity men are more successful in the "outside world" than non-fraternity men.

Re-Appportionment

State's fraternity men should think seriously about the proposal to set up the Student Legislature on a living area basis instead of by schools as is done now. This writer believes the idea is a good one and would be a big improvement over the present system. At least fraternity men would know who their representative is under the proposed system.

Along the Lighter Side

If you have been missing Max Shulman's column in this paper, you've been missing a good laugh every week. He's great!

This coming weekend, fraternity social life will hit a peak. The Pledge Dance cannot help but be one of the best in years with a great band like Les Elgart.

Many of State's "18" are also planning a number of other functions. On Friday night, the Sig Eps and the Sigma Chis are going in together for a party with a combo to furnish some good music. Also on Friday night, the Kappa Sigs are planning to have a party with a combo at the Mohawk Club. Saturday evening they plan to have a banquet in honor of their pledges before going to the dance.

More Parties

Friday night will also see the SAEs living it up with a "Yard-and-a-Half" party. Saturday night, they plan to have a combo after the dance.

Also on Friday night, the TKEs plan to have a combo to help get in the swing of things.

On Saturday night, the KAs and the PICAs plan to round off an evening of merry-making with a combo and a cabin party.

part in athletics, why can't other students be excused for such reasons as caring for their sick, especially when there is no one else to do the job?

Since I am criticizing the present system, I am enclosing my recommendation for a new system. A copy of this letter will be turned over to the committee which is studying the issue.

Elmer H. Davidson

Editor's Note: Although we are in sympathy with Mr. Davidson's comments, we must point out that the "office where the attendance records are kept" DOES give out information to students on how many cut they have incurred.

Letter to the Freshman Class

To the Freshman Class:

On behalf of the newly elected officers of the Freshman Class, I should like to thank you, the members of that class, for your cooperation during the entire election. Our deepest appreciation goes out to those who helped with our individual campaigns and to those who helped us greatly by their choice at the polls Tuesday.

The election is over; the offices have been filled, but we shall need the cooperation of each of you in order that we may have a successful year. We shall do our utmost to carry out programs that will unify our class, but the success of these endeavors will be in your hands, and we feel sure that we can count on you for your complete cooperation.

Speaking for myself, I shall always keep the interests and integrity of our class and school foremost in mind and shall endeavor to be worthy of the office you have placed upon me. If any question should arise in your mind concerning our class, feel free to stop by 312 Becton, and I shall be glad to talk it over with you.

Again on behalf of myself and the other officers for the 1957-58 school year, I thank you.

Lad Daniels,
President,
Freshman Class

Student Advocates Impounding Cars

Fines have not solved moving traffic violations, better results might be obtained by impounding the car for a few days instead. This might prove to be a deterrent big enough to stop some of our careless driving.

Unsigned Letter

A "Graduate Athletic Supporter" sent a letter to The Technician this week on the lack of cheering at football games. If he would drop by our offices and sign his letter, we would be glad to print it so the students could read it. We do not, however, print unsigned letters.

High School Editors

All former high school editors are asked to come to The Technician office, 138, 1911 Building, next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. if they are interested in working on The Technician.

Excuse System Poor . . . New Method Proposed

Suggested Method

1. Allow one unexcused absence for each semester hour in each course. Two hour course—two unexcused absences in that course. This would allow more than enough unexcused absences if excuses were given for all necessary absences.
2. Outline certain events that must be excused. Examples are: illness and, in case of married students, severe illness of spouse, authorized school projects (sports, educational trips, etc.).

3. Give the power to excuse entirely to the instructor of the class. The instructor will automatically excuse the absences that come under Section 2 and then use his own discretion on the remainder. There will be a certain amount of inconsistency in this method, but, since the grades of our courses are awarded by these instructors, will not the instructors be just as fair in giving excuses. Not only will this distribute the work load, but will promote better faculty-student relationships.

Reader Hits At Editorial Policy

To the Editor:

There has been a question in mind for some time which I would like to have you answer. Isn't a school newspaper such as The Technician supposed to be a sounding board for student opinion? If this is true I would like to see more of the student opinion here at State expressed in your editorials. The only time that it seems to leak into the paper is in the "Letters to the Editor".

The editorship of a student paper wields a great power—IF USED. The editorials of the past years have been of a crusading nature (figuratively) in the pursuance for correction of injustices or malfunction of the college pertaining to the student body.

I believe the editorials of this year's newspaper are lacking in contact with student opinion, and if not this, express a clear desire by the editorial staff not to give expression of these opinions for some unknown fear. Possibly I am wrong but from the comments on campus about the advertising and four or six page white bulletin newspaper it is hard to convince myself that I am.

Jerry Bell

Editor's Note: The ideas expressed here will be discussed by the Editor in our next issue.

4. Designate certain days for the instructor to turn in cuts. The instructor could make monthly reports of unexcused absences. These reports would be turned in to the attendance office on the fifteenth of the following month. This would give the students two full weeks to contact the instructor about having even the latest absence excused.

5. Make the records in the attendance office final. Any student who doesn't contact the instructor during a two week span shouldn't be excused. Exceptions to this could be referred to the proper committee.

The Resolution Behind The Uproar

A Resolution that all States' Laws and Constitutional Provisions in Prohibition of Intermarriage of the Races Should Be Repealed

Whereas, one of the bases of our Constitution is the right of the individual to freedom of choice where basic human rights are concerned, as guaranteed in the First Amendment to the Constitution; and

Whereas, it is an abridgement of the individual's rights in the pursuit of happiness to prohibit his marriage to the person of his choice; and

Whereas, twenty-four states now prohibit intermarriage, thereby limiting an individual's choice of state residence and his opportunity; and

Whereas, the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution states: "No State shall make any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of the citizens of the United States . . ."

Therefore be it resolved by the N. C. Student Legislative Assembly that:

ARTICLE I. All states having laws and constitutional provisions in prohibition of intermarriage between the races should repeal said laws.

ARTICLE II. No subsequent laws of this nature should be enacted.

The directory for this year includes local room and box numbers of students. Also included is a page listing campus organizations.

Copies of the directory are being delivered to residents of the dormitories, fraternity houses, and Vetville. Off campus students may pick up their copy at the main desk in the College Union.

The Directory was prepared by the College Union Committees under the direction of Bob Dawson.

Printing of the Directory was performed by the College Print Shop.

Time and Effort Produce Winning Float

Arnold Air Society Produces Top Float At Small Cost

By David Barnhardt

Winning parade floats do not just happen. A lot of work—and a little money—go into prize-winning floats. The Arnold Air Society float, which won a first place award in the Homecoming Parade at North Carolina State College last week, was no exception.

The members of the Society, a voluntary honorary group for Advanced Air Force ROTC students, spent a total of 1,050 hours planning and building their float.

7,200 napkins, 62 square feet of tin foil, 25 rolls of crepe paper, hundreds of tacks and nails, and enough chicken wire to stretch the length of a football field included among the materials necessary to build the prize winning float. The total cost of the float was only $47.04.

1,050 pledge-hours after the first plans had been formulated, there emerged a 40 foot scene depicting a deadly guided missile streaking toward a hapless William and Mary football player who was suspended from the goal post.

At the rear of the float were the seven "graves" of the teams encountered this season by the State football team. Markers on each "grave" told the scores of each game.

Had the parade been after the William and Mary—State game rather than before, the Arnold Air Society men might well have hastily modified their float to include an eighth "grave"—this one marking the death of the Wolfpack itself, which lost their first game of the season last Saturday by a single point.

Arnold Air Society has forty-nine active members this year and is advised by Captain Guy P. McSweeney of the AFROTC Detachment here at State. The twenty-eight new pledges were responsible for the actual building of the prize-winning float.

Textile Freshmen Informed Of Career Opportunities

Career opportunities offered by the textile industry were outlined here last week for the freshman class of the State College School of Textiles in a talk by Carl R. Harris of Durham, vice president of Erwin Mills Inc.

He touched briefly on the history and recent growth of the industry, and told the students that at present there are from seven to eight jobs available to every single textile school graduate with starting salaries ranging from $350 to $475 a month.

Campbell Praised

Dr. Malcolm Campbell, dean of the State College School of Textiles, was praised by Harris for guiding the school to the national and international reputation it now enjoys.

Liaison Meetings

Recently your colleagues at Chapel Hill made much over the fact that their student leaders were going to meet with the Chancellor of that institution. I want all of you to realize that this has been going on at State College since Chancellor Bostian became Head of our institution. I feel sure that it will be continued.

There are many other areas in which progress has been made at State College. Such as better organization within your Student Government, remarkable progress in your Honor System and the efficiency and organization of your Judicial Board; a better, more effective I.D.C. and I.F.C.; the financial situation for your AGROMECK—several years ago they were five to six thousand dollars in debt and today they are out of debt and have new equipment. I have mentioned these few because I think they are of particular interest to you.

The importance of the textile industry to the economy of both the State of North Carolina and to the United States was stressed by Harris. He pointed out that of the 476,100 factory employees in North Carolina, 228,000 were employed in the textile industry. The annual payroll of these state textile employees is approximately $675,000,000, he said.

Three Religious Lectures Given

"Current Theological Trends" was the general theme of a series of lectures on religion delivered at State College this week by Dr. A. Durwood Foster, associate professor of theology and philosophy in the Duke University Divinity School.

Sponsored by the college's Protestant Workers Council, the annual fall series of lectures was given at three luncheon meetings in the grill room of Leazer Dining Hall Tuesday through Thursday at 12 noon.

Topics

Topics for the three days were "Liberalism: the Wedding of Modernity and Tradition" on Tuesday; "Neo-Orthodoxy: Crisis of the Middle Way" on Wednesday; and "The New Liberalism; the Comeback of Construction" on Thursday.

An ordained Methodist minister, Dr. Foster is a native of Macon, Ga., and a graduate of Emory University and the Union Theological Seminary in New York City. He was a Fulbright scholar at the University of Heidelberg in Germany in 1953-54.

He was an instructor in the philosophy of religion and theology at Union Theological Seminary for two years prior to beginning his work at Duke University, where he has been associate professor of theology and religion since 1954.

Dr. Foster is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and a Fellow of both National Council on Religion in Higher Education and the Conference on Science, Philosophy and Religion.

Raleigh Ambassador To Speak At Union

Raleigh's community ambassador, Miss Becky Rivers, will speak next Tuesday at the College Union on "A Literary Trip to Finland." The program will begin at 8 p.m. and will be sponsored by the College Union Library Committee.

Miss Rivers lived in Finland for several months last year as part of an experiment in international living. Her topic of discussion has been chosen because of the rapid development of Finnish literature in the past few decades. The talk will be illustrated with slides.

Two Forestry Scholarships Awarded At Annual Rolleo

Forestry scholarships valued at $250 each have been awarded to Edward W. Barden of Amelia, Va., and John C. Sturgill of Norton, Va., students in the School of Forestry at State College.

The awards, sponsored by the Homelite Corporation and given on the basis of outstanding academic achievements and promise of professional leadership, were presented at the annual Rolleo of the college's School of Forestry at Hill Forest, near Durham.

The presentations were made by C. L. Rasberry, a representative of the Homelite Corporation, Gastonia.

Barden, a senior in the wood technology curriculum in the School of Forestry, is president of both the Forestry Club and the college chapter of Xi Sigma Pi, a national honorary forestry fraternity. He is also program chairman of the college chapter of the Forest Products Research Society and has maintained a "B" plus average in his college studies.

Sturgill, a junior in the forest management curriculum, is an officer of the Forestry Club and a member of Xi Sigma Pi. He also has a "B" plus academic average.

Both Veterans

Barden and Sturgill are both married and are veterans of military service.

Dean Richard J. Preston, Jr., of the State College School of Forestry, in announcing the names of the award winners, praised both Barden and Sturgill and said they have made "outstanding records in academic and extra-curricular activities."

The Homelite Corporation each year honors the top senior and top junior in the School of Forestry with the scholarships.

Veterans To Hear Campus Architect

Guest speaker for the Veteran's meeting on November 18 will be E. W. Waugh, a local architect who is in charge of the long range planning at State College.

Harris Johnson, President of the Veteran's Association, said that Mr. Waugh will present his master plan for the future growth of the physical plant of State College.

Mr. Waugh's speech, accompanied by colored slides showing the different stages of growth, has been well received by various other organizations on campus this fall. "The veterans, too, will now have an opportunity to learn of the plans for the future development of such items as married students' housing and fraternity row," said Johnson.

THE LITTLE SAVER

Among America's great savers, George T. Coffee is a legend. One day, George discovered that by going to sleep with his shoes on, he could save a full 60 seconds dressing in the morning. Multiplying this by 365 days—gave him over 6 hours saved per year. Then, multiplying this by 8 years—gave him 48 hours—or two full days saved! George was giddy. "Think of it," he mused. "Two full days saved to do anything . . . read, sleep or go to Europe!"

Another time, George passed a store that advertised "Save $50 When You Buy These $100 Suits!" George immediately saw the fantastic opportunity . . . realizing that he could save $100 by not buying any of these suits. Thereupon, he proceeded not to buy ten suits and rolled up a tidy $1,000 in a few seconds.

However, the best saving George ever did by far—was when he happened on the Van Heusen Vantage Shirt. Vantage is a shirt you don't have to iron . . . so you save on laundry bills. Wash it—hang it up to dry—that's all. "So what," you sneer, "aren't there other shirts that can do the same thing?" "Mebbe," we sneer, "but Vantage is a cotton shirt—with all of cotton's natural softness, porosity and comfort. And it only costs $5!"

Men—grab a pencil in your fist. Figure out your laundry bill for shirts for a year. Then figure out the price for seven Vantage shirts. You'll find that Vantage shirts actually pay for themselves in the laundry bills you save! See you at the bank.

P.S. You can also save yourself the trouble of searching for lost collar-stays. For Vantage shirts have Collarite sewn-in stays which can't get lost, keep the collar neat, always.

State Visits Virginia Tech

Notes From the Wolfpack

A friend of ours is going back to the hospital for observation. He wants to get another look at the nurse.

Dick Christy, State's version of the sputnik, has scored 16 touchdowns in his varsity career, leaving him only two short of Alex Webster's career record of 18.

The ACC's leading scorer with 54 points, Mr. Christy has netted over 100 yards rushing on six occasions, including his last two outings against Wake Forest and William and Mary. His best ground-gaining day was last year against Maryland when he raced for 152 yards on 14 carries.

Tackle Francis Palandrani is suffering from a pinched nerve in his shoulder, or as we call it, "ruptured cervical disc." Dick Hunter's explanation as to why he missed three extra point attempts in a row after kicking ten out of 11: "I usually wear a size 5½ shoe but changed to a 6 for the last two games. I think the new shoes had a filter tip."

Clemson, Duke Tilt Sparks ACC Action

STATE	W	L	T
Duke	4	0	1
Carolina	3	2	0
Clemson	3	2	0
Maryland	3	3	0
Virginia	1	2	0
South Carolina	0	4	0
Wake Forest	0	5	0

This week's ACC agenda spotlights the Clemson-Duke game which brings many questions to mind. First, will Frank Howard and Co. stick to his old power plays or call on Sophomore QB, Harvey White to direct a passing attack? White, who gained much recognition in the Clemson-Gamecock encounter, has tossed 5 TD passes for a 51.4 percentage.

Another family battle will see South Carolina and Virginia at Virginia. Coming out of hibernation from a free week-end, the Cavaliers will give the Gamecocks a rough time who were hit hard with injuries and sickness.

It is North Carolina remaining dormant this week to take on Duke next week while Maryland invades Miami, N. C. State seeks Va. Tech, and Wake Forest plays host to West Virginia.

Last week the ACC saw many surprises featuring an upset and a tie. However, the surprises held more gloom than glee with State bowing to William and Mary, Duke battling to its third straight tie with Navy, Wake Forest nipped by V.P.I., South Carolina blasted in its worst defeat by the Tar Heels under Tatum, and Maryland clobbered by Clemson for the first time in their history.

Though in the midst of defeat the sun was shining for Sunny Jim; and Frank Howard began spouting philosophy of joy. Adding to the brightness, it was band day at Kenan Stadium with the twin State teams, North and South Carolina, on the field being coached by two men who had previously worked together, at Maryland, Jim Tatum and Warren Giesse. The Gamecocks won 14-0 last year, but pride pressed and the Tar Heels romped to a 28-6 victory.

On last Saturday, the dream world that the Wolfpack supporters had been living in came to an end, but after a recapitulation of the facts of life, the moody atmosphere has all but left the West Raleigh campus, and most State followers are anticipating the game this Saturday with V.P.I.

The world not only tumbled for the backers, but the players themselves took the defeat the hardest. Nevertheless, the team was in high spirits and ready to work as practice proceeded.

As halfback Dick Hunter, captain of the Pack, said, "We'll just have to prove that you can't keep a good team down. We have lost none of our confidence. Instead, we'll have to block and tackle a little harder this week and work hard to prevent mistakes."

The series with the Gobblers is another of the old standards. The first game was played in 1900, and since that time, the two teams have met 33 times, with the Pack winning 12, while losing 19 and tying two.

Since Earle Edwards became head coach here, a Wolfpack squad has been unable to down the Gobblers. In 1954, it was 30-21, in '55, 34-26, and last year the final score was 35-6.

For that reason State will be up for this game. Even though a win this weekend would be a late birthday present for the Coach, it would take some of the sting from last week's game.

State and Virginia Tech have three mutual opponents thus far this season. State romped over Wake Forest while the Gobblers were able to garner only a 10-3 win over the Hapless Deacons.

William and Mary, another common foe, has taken a scalp from both teams. The W&M

Indians got by the Pack, 7-6, while V.P.I. was taken by a 13-7 score.

The only other mutual foe this season was Florida State, who lost to the Wolfpack, 7-0, while handing the Gobblers a 20-7 defeat.

The West Raleigh brigade enters the game with a 5-1-2 record for the season, while Virginia Tech has compiled a 4-4 mark thus far. Besides the win from Wake Forest, the Gobblers have gotten by Tulane, Villinova, and Richmond. They have lost to West Virginia and Virginia, other than the two losses to W&M and Florida State.

Expected standouts for the Gobblers are end Carroll Dale, tackle Jim Burks, guard Ben Schmidt, and halfbacks Ray England and Barry Frazee. In their only Southern Conference victory this season, Frazee made shambles of Richmond as he led V.P.I. to a 42-7 victory with a TD and five conversions.

The game will be played in Roanoke, Virginia, and will begin at 1:30 P.M.

Shown above is Tony Guerrieri in his most familiar position. So far this season Tony has punted ten times for 446 yards, which gives him an average of 44.6 yards per punt and the lead among Wolfpack kickers.

UNC Takes CC Meet; Pack Frosh Also Win

In the ninth annual North Carolina cross-country championship held here at State last Monday, Carolina won the varsity competition while the freshman winner was State.

Wayne Bishop of Carolina was first in the 45-man field. State's Billy Incoe was fifth, and sparked the effort that gave the Pack second place.

Three Wolfpack yearlings came in in the top five to give State the first position in the freshman division. Fred Wilson was second only to winner Jerry Nourse of Duke, while Art Reed captured third place, and John Davis, fifth.

The Wolfpack dropped to the 19th position in the AP poll as a result of their loss to William and Mary last Saturday. Mississippi, who beat Louisiana State, 14-12, moved into the top ten teams to replace State.
