

Campus Government Cuts Group, Budgets

By Roy Lathrop

At last Thursday's Student Government meeting, the main items of business centered around budget appropriations.

Many of the proposed budgets were cut or eliminated entirely. Following are the requests and subsequent appropriations: Verville Council requested $116.00, amended to decrease the sum to $75.00, motion defeated and no appropriation; IDC requested $756.45, amended for complete deletion of the $125.00 for printing IDC constitutions, motion passed with final appropriation of $631.00.

A motion was made to request that the Publications Board give The Technician $500.00 and that The Technician return to Student Government the $500.00 appropriated to them at the previous meeting, motion passed; motion made to appropriate $160.00 to the Graduate Student's Association, motion passed; motion made to appropriate $300.00 to the Drum and Bugle Corps for transportation to the Cherry Blossom Festival, motion passed.

A motion was made to appropriate $240.00 to Pershing Rifles for same purpose, motion defeated; — motion made and passed to reconsider the $300.00 to D&B, substitute motion made and passed to the effect that bus expenses for D&B and Pershing Rifles jointly not exceed $540.00.

Other business before the Student Government included the swearing in of new senators Newlin and Davis, replacing senators May and Leveque.

President Jim Hunt gave his report on the meeting of the Chancellor's Liason Committee. Student leaders are to meet with Deans and Department Heads to discuss the problem of cheating. Also, the possibility of pre-registration was discussed at the Liason meeting.

The new cafeteria, to be built not before 1960, will be between Tucker Dorm and the Print Shop. In addition, the college will propose to the Trustees a recommendation for increasing physical education fees by $8.00 per student in order to pay half the cost of the new gymnasium (more on the new cafeteria and gymnasium will appear in Thursday's issue of The Technician).

President Hunt appointed Gerald B. James of the School of Education to replace Dean Stewart on the Board of Review, and appointed Dave Bramlett to the Judicial Board to fill the spot created by a resignation. Hunt also appointed Chris Tabor and John Hopkins to serve as temporary appointment to the Judicial Board. All four nominations were accepted.

The meeting ended with Senator Fountain requesting suggestions for a speaker for the Student Government banquet.

Panel Discussion On NC Writing Will End Fine Arts Festival

North Carolina State College's first Fine Arts Festival will end day with a panel discussion on "North Carolina Writing To-College Union Building. The festival opened last Wednesday (February 26) with the formal opening of the "Good Design '58" show in the College Union Gallery. The display of North Carolina products will continue through March 31.

The Shaw University Players presented "Minor Miracle" in the CU Ballroom Friday. Actors were Melton Anderson, Joseph Jones, Jr., Donald Counts, and Ernest Davis. The "Minor Miracle" was presented as a contribution to the One-Act Play Festival. (Photo by Kjosnes)

On Friday, 10 North Carolina colleges were represented in a one-act play festival. The Raleigh Symphony Orchestra presented a concert yesterday (Sunday, March 2).

Planned for tonight (Monday, March 3) is a concert by the Westminster Choir at 8 p.m. in Memorial Auditorium.

On Tuesday a chamber music concert will be given in the College Union Ballroom at 4 p.m. and that night an address will be delivered by humorist Ogden Nash at 8 p.m. in the ballroom.

The modern dance group from Womans College will present a modern dance concert in the Ballroom on Wednesday at 4 p.m.

Climax for the eight days of festival activities will be the panel discussion that night.

The panel discussion will begin at 8 p.m. in the College Union.

Dr. Lodwick Hartley, head of the English Department at State College, will serve as moderator for the panel composed of Lucy Daniels of Raleigh, Francis Gary Patton of Durham, and Burke Davis of Greensboro, all noted North Carolina writers.

A coffee and autographing hour will follow the discussion. During the coffee hour the Watauga Book Store will have on sale books by North Carolina authors.

A dinner will be given at 6:30 p.m. for the writers attending the night's activities.

Ogden Nash Plans CU Lecture Tuesday

Ogden Nash, the well-known writer of light verse and television personality, will lecture in the Ballroom of the College Union Building Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Nash, whose light verse appears in national magazines, will recite a number of his popular verses and comment on the turn of events in his life that caused their creation.

For Saturday

IDC Plans Spring Dance

The IDC Spring Dance will be held Saturday, March 8, in the College Union Ballroom from 8 p.m. until midnight. The dance will be semi-formal.

The Collegians from East Carolina have been engaged to furnish the music.

Free bids are available for dormitory students, and they can be obtained from your dorm or floor manager.

Those who plan to attend the dance are reminded by IDC officials of the State College custom of not giving flowers for dances.

CCUN To Organize

A meeting will be held Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the College Union to organize a State College chapter of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations.

The purpose of the CCUN is to promote understanding of the United Nations through student panel discussions, debates and study groups.

All interested students and faculty members are invited.

Textile School Holds Successful Open House

Latest spring and summer fashions and the newest developments in the nation's big textile industry were shown in the annual "Open House" program of students in the School of Textiles at North Carolina State College last Saturday.

Sponsor of the "Open House" is the Tompkins Textile Council, headed by George Cochran of Maysville, Ky.

Student departmental chairmen are Don Carey of Warwick, R. I., Vance Fowler of Henderson, Harris Johnson of Ashboro, Bruce Hainley of Schuylkill Haven, Pa., Ken Presson of Wilmington, Charles Livengood of Linwood, Bruce Cox of Cordova, Ken Lynch of Raleigh, Martin Foil of Concord, and Bill Coggins of Thomasville.

Tours of the multi-million-dollar textile facilities at the college, an exhibition by leading textile manufacturers, and two fashion shows were among the highlights of the day-long program.

Fashion shows were presented by the Ivey-Taylor Company of Raleigh in the auditorium of the Nelson Textile Building Saturday at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. Models presented the newest summer and spring fashions.

Exhibits by the textile manufacturers included the latest synthetic, woolen, and cotton fabrics as well as the newest spinning techniques.

Among the manufacturers exhibiting materials were Cone Mills, Burlington Industries, J. P. Stevens Company, Fieldcrest Mills, Morgan-Jones, Celanese Corporation of America, Chemstrand Corporation, and Fair-Tex Mills.

Beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday, there were continuous tours of State College's world-famed School of Textiles, where visitors saw a wide range of research projects and the newest developments in the textile industry.

Pershing Rifles Perform At Premier Festivities

Company L-4 Pershing Rifles, N. C. State College, performed in the world premiere festivities of the movie film, "Lafayette Escadrille," last Friday.

The crack drill platoon was presented in Washington, N.C., site of the world premiere, by Dan Paul, Executive Secretary of the N. C. Chain Store council, who donated $200 to the drill team to cover expense of the day-long trip.

The world premiere of "Lafayette Escadrille" was given at "Little" Washington in honor of Jim Baughan, a former State College student and youngest of the famed fliers to give his life during the first World War. All proceeds of the day-long festivities went to the James Baughan memorial fund which is to build a recreation center in the "Original" Washington.

The Pershing Rifemen were featured on Friday in a front page picture and an article in the Washington Daily News.

One of the highlights of the day was that the N. C. State

Pershing Rifles were, for the third time this year, presented to the public on television.

The voice of command in both parade and an airport drill performance was that of Cadet Captain Sam T. Smathers, a junior from Canton, N. C.

Westminster Choir Appears Tonight

The internationally-famed Westminster Choir which will appear in a concert in Raleigh's Memorial Auditorium tonight (March 3) at 8 p.m., has three times performed as good-will ambassadors for the United States.

The Raleigh appearance of the organization is being sponsored by the Music Committee of the College Union as one of the events of the eight-day Fine Arts Festival currently underway at the college.

Directed by John Finley Williamson, the Choir in its 36-year history has toured the United States, Canada, Cuba, Europe, Asia, and the Orient.

Tonight's program will range from the choral classics of Palestrina, Byrd, Lotti and Bach to American folk songs, Negro spirituals, modern classics, and music by contemporary composers.

YDC To Show Film

A film showing the basic difference between the Democratic and Republican parties will be shown at the next meeting of the Young Democrat's Club. The meeting is to be held on Wednesday at 8:00 p.m. in Riddick Auditorium.

Paper Will Keep $500

Last Thursday night the Student Legislature passed a motion which asked The Technician to return the $500 appropriation which it received from Student Government two weeks ago for mailing papers to students living off-campus.

The legislators asked that The Technician instead get the money it needed to mail papers off-campus from the Publications Board reserve fund, which now has approximately $3,000.

Let us state at this point that the money is not going to be returned. The reasons are:

First, The Technician is, unavoidably, going to go into debt (about $600) this year because of the change-over to a twice-weekly paper. We expected this when the change was made last year; thus we feel that we can go to the Publications Board, with no compunction, and ask them to finance this debt from the reserve fund.

Second, we did not feel that we could ask the board to finance a loss over which we have control. When we saw we were going to run into the "red" as badly as $1,000 to $1,100 if we mailed, we decided immediately to discontinue mailing, and thus cut $550 from our anticipated losses.

Third and finally, the question was not where the money came from, it was a question of whether the Student Legislature thought it worth $500 of their money to mail The Technician off-campus.

Since we did not feel—nor do we now—that it is the purpose to the Publications Board reserve fund to finance anticipated and avoidable losses, and since we feel that the paper is an important contact with the school for off-campus students, we appealed to the Student Government, as that was the only place from which we felt justified in receiving additional funds.

(We will gladly discuss this matter further, publicly or privately, with anyone who still thinks the money to mail to off-campus students should not come from Student Government funds.)

S. G. Filing Is Poor

Student Government needs a new filing system. At the present time, all S.G. business is filed chronologically according to the minutes of each meeting. While it may be necessary to keep a record of the minutes, this is not enough for those needing information on past activities of Student Government on specific subjects.

We suggest that an additional filing system be set up whereby anyone wanting information about what Student Government has done in the past, on such subjects as athletic tickets, investigations, appropriations, etc., can look in the files and find this information quickly by looking under the appropriate heading. Now, anybody needing information must thumb through reams of minutes and committee reports to get it.

All persons who are either interested or directly involved in Student Government would find such a system of filing by subject headings quite valuable, especially those committees whose investigations cover a wide range of subjects.

Board, Trustees Pitted Against Each Other

North Carolina's press told the state last week of a growing breach between the University of North Carolina Board of Trustees and the State Board of Higher Education—and the reason is that old familiar problem of who should have the most power.

The cleavage came to fore when the Board of Higher Education—acting against the recommendations of the Board of Trustees—slashed from 500 to 300 the number of housing units to be built at State College with self-liquidating bonds that rentals will retire.

Now, it appears that a strong fight may develop in the next Legislature over which of the two bodies—the Board of Higher Education created by a 1955 legislative act, or the Board of Trustees, elected by the legislature—will have ultimate control over the Consolidated University.

It should be made clear here that when it was created, the Board of Higher Education was envisioned as a body to have broad authority over the "functions and activities" of the state's 12 institutions of higher learning—a rather broad delegation of authority over the trustees themselves.

However, the question arises as to whether that board appointed and not elected—should have veto power over the recommendations of the trustees who are elected members of the legislature.

If the Board of Higher Education is intent on performing the functions of the board of trustees, with the applause of Gov. Hodges then the former should replace the latter in the operation of our educational institutions. However, we don't believe the education board is equipped to serve in that capacity.

The very nature of the trustees and the fact that they are limited to the single Consolidated University—or, in other cases, to only a single state-supported institution would provide them with closer insight into the needs and problems of the institutions over which they have control.

It now becomes the duty of the legislature to define which of the two bodies—the Board of Higher Education or the Board of Trustees—will make the recommendations for development of our educational institutions.

Services May Drop ROTC Says LOOK

High military leaders are considering "drastically reducing or even eliminating" the ROTC program on the nation's college campuses, an article in the new issue of Look Magazine reported today.

Failure of ROTC to produce a sufficient number of high-caliber officers is causing the services to take "a nervous new look" at the entire ROTC system, the magazine said.

"The Army has assigned a civilian team to determine why the ROTC is not attracting higher quality students. The Navy is worried about its failure to get enough officers from its vaunted 'Holloway Plan,'" the article declared.

Air Force officers, according to Look, are considering replacing ROTC with a program that would give selected college graduates a four-month Officers Candidate School course followed by flying training.

Note: The Technician will have additional information on this in the future—including a further review of the articles and comments from ROTC officers at State as this information becomes available. (The plan is not effective yet... so don't stop going to drill.)

State Finishes Second With Win Over Deacs

in the conference. The 91 points scored by State marked a season high for the Pack. Previously, the Pack's high mark had been 86 points, which it hit in two different games against the South Carolina Gamecocks.

The Pack was never in any real trouble throughout the contest, and at halftime they held a 45-31 lead, mostly on the strength of a 51.4 shooting percentage from the floor.

Just after the halftime, Wake Forest threatened to make a contest out of it, and with 16:41 left in the game the Wolfpack held only a 47-40 lead.

Wolflets Rout Deacs

Led by fancy guard Mark Reiner, the State College Wolflets closed out their season play Saturday night with a decisive 66-52 victory over the Baby Deacons of Wake Forest.

The win was the seventh in eight Big Four games for the State crew, thus giving them the coveted Big Four Title. The Wolflets ended up their season record with 16-3.

Reiner pumped in 22 points as State led all the way. Larry Lakin sunk 15 points, while Stan Niewierowski scored 12. Bruce Hoadley, who has seen no ac-

Bell Case Being Studied By Com.

Rumors concerning the possible readmission of former guard Whitey Bell to college, thus paving the way for the leading Wolfpack scorer to play for State in the up-coming ACC tournament, have been circulating since last Thursday, but as yet there has been no official word from Chancellor Carey Bostian.

Bostian stated in a release Saturday that Bell's case was being studied by a faculty-student committee, but that it would be Tuesday before an official announcement could be made.

Fadgen Sets Record In Conference Swim

In the Atlantic Coast Conference swimming and diving championships held at Chapel Hill Saturday, the N. C. State swimmers walked away with top honors. The meet proved to be a field day for durable Dick Fadgen. The Woonsocket, R. I. senior had little trouble in capturing three championships to become a triple winner.

Fadgen won the 100-yard breaststroke, the 200-yard butterfly, and the 200-yard breaststroke. In winning the 200-yard breaststroke, Fadgen set a new conference record of 2:28.9, to beat his own record of 2:30.3 set earlier this season. The new

State Runners In Sixth Place After 7 Events

After seven events have been recorded in the 5th annual Atlantic Coast Conference indoor games, the N. C. State Wolfpack runners rest in sixth place. State, with a point average of only 3 points, holds the fifth position leading Wake Forest, who rests in the cellar spot.

In the lead at this writing, and expected to take the crown again this year, are the Maryland Terps. The Terps, defending champs, are followed by North Carolina, Duke, Clemson, and South Carolina, in that order.

In the Freshman Division, the Terps hold a favorable edge over Virginia. The State Frosh are resting in fourth place, followed by Carolina and Wake Forest. The other spot find Duke in third place.

The Technician Enters Guild Competition

The Technician has entered competition for the Southern District Council collegiate journalism award by the American Newspaper Guild.

Competing college newspapers are entering three issues of their newspaper which were published between May 1, 1957 and February 1, 1958.

Entries will be judged on the basis of editorial writing, make-up, headlines, news coverage, reporting, and overall significance of content.

The winner will be announced at the spring meeting of the SDC. The prize will consist of two plaques—one to become the permanent property of the winning publication and one to be rotated from winning paper to winning paper annually.

SUSPENSION STORY—Chuck Steger, M.E. '52, probing dynamic properties of new Air Spring developed by Von Polhemus (L.). A nationally recognized authority on suspension systems, Mr. Polhemus directs Structure and Suspension Development Group of GM's Engineering Staff, helps guide Chuck in his professional career.

Because engineering is a profession at GM
-we offer you a career- not a job

ONE REASON engineering standards at General Motors are so high is that GM recognizes engineering as a profession. And the men who engineer the many different products made by General Motors are respected for the profession they practice.

That is why, when you are invited to join General Motors as an engineer, you don't simply take a job—you start a career.

It is a career that is rewarding both professionally and financially—starting on your first day of association with General Motors at any one of its 35 divisions and 126 plants in 70 cities and 19 states.

During your early days at GM, for example, you work with a senior engineer who guides your career along professional lines.

You are also actively encouraged to pursue your education towards an advanced degree. For we at General Motors recognize that, in doing so, you will become more valuable to us and the engineering profession.

You are given the opportunity to obtain professional recognition through participation in engineering society forums, presentation of technical papers, winning of patents and other recognition of your accomplishments.

And you are also encouraged to take an active role in your community's affairs—because a truly professional man is a good citizen as well as a good engineer.

All this is for a reason—and a good one.

Many of the men who will fill the key positions at GM in the future are the young engineers joining GM today. This is not theory, it is fact. For 14 of our 33 Vice-Presidents are engineers, 23 of our 42 Division General Managers are engineers, too.

Today we are looking for young engineers—such as you—who may fill these positions tomorrow. The rewards—both professional and financial—are substantial. If you feel you have the ability, write us. It could be the most important letter of your life.

June graduates!

A General Motors Representative will be on hand to answer questions about job opportunities with GM.
