

Address By Governor To Open Engineer's Fair

Luther H. Hodges, Governor of North Carolina, will open the 1958 Engineers' Fair at State College on Friday, April 18, at 2:00 p.m. with an address in the Coliseum.

Governor Hodges, who during his term of office has been very active in urging industry to locate in North Carolina and has actively supported the state's "Research Triangle," will formally open the fair which has as its theme this year, "Engineering in North Carolina."

A wide variety of exhibits, the product of the efforts of students from State's eight engineering departments, will be presented to the public. These exhibits will represent a compact cross-section of the progressive engineering art in North Carolina.

A special feature of this year's Fair, in addition to the student exhibits, will be a demonstration by an Air Force F-100C aircraft unit. Technicians from Seymour Johnson Air Force Base will show such equipment as the drag chute assembly, the hydraulic flight control, and the cockpit-ejection system.

Carl Parker, chairman of the event, is expecting 30 to 40 exhibits from each engineering department. A color television and hi-fi exhibition will be presented by the Electrical Engineering Department.

The exhibits will remain open until 9:00 p.m. Friday, and from 9:00 a.m. through 5:00 p.m. Saturday.

Needs Support

New Orientation

Next year's entering freshmen will find a strikingly different system of orientation than did this year's entering class.

The heart of the new plan involves the set-up of a "small-group" plan to initiate the freshmen into college life, rather than the system of mass meetings held in the past. The Chancellor and the Student Government have approved the plan that was initiated by the College Orientation Committee and the Student Government Commission of Orientation.

The new idea comes from the thought that the new students should be broken down into groups of 20-25 with upperclass group-leaders. It was felt that this basic idea will promote a friendly atmosphere for the new students and that it will present a far better method to communicate with the new students on a multitude of subjects.

Appointment to the position of group-leader is open to any rising sophomore, junior, or senior who has at least a 2.0 grade point average.

Gilmore Is Running For Ag Senator

Tom Gilmore has announced his candidacy for re-election as Agriculture Senator from the Senior Class.

As a Senator this year, Gilmore was a member of the Academic Standing Committee and the Welfare Committee, which introduced a new cut system for students. He attended his duties faithfully, and was present at every Student Government meeting this year.

"If re-elected, I shall continue to endeavor to do my best in the Student Government for the benefit of the whole student body. I promise to the Agriculture students to do my best to make our Student Government even better, and to help pass bills that will benefit them," promised Gilmore.

"I urge each of you vote as you see fit on April 22 and 29," Gilmore added.

In order to be considered for appointment, interested students must submit application form SGCOO/58-2 and, after returning the application, be interviewed by the Commission. Forms are now available at the College Union Main Desk, the College YMCA, or 207 Holladay Hall; deadline for turn-in of applications is Monday, April 27, at the above places.

A number of awards and rewards are being planned for group-leaders. As yet they are still in the planning state, but it is expected that many of them will be implemented by this fall.

Waring Boys Seeks Post

Waring Boys has announced that he is a candidate for election as the Secretary of the Inter-Fraternity Council.

Boys is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity and is presently serving as Secretary of his chapter. He has been a Junior IFC representative and a member of the IFC Housing Committee for the past year. Boys is a member of the Order of 30 & 3 and the Tompkins Textile Council. He has been a Student Government Senator for the past two years.

"If elected," Boys promises, "I will endeavor to the best of my ability to carry out every duty connected with the office of IFC Secretary."

YDC Meeting

The Young Democrats Club will hold a special meeting Wednesday night in Williams Hall at 8:00 P.M.

All members have been urged to attend this important meeting, as plans for this coming weekend will be made. The State chapter of the YDC will be hosts this weekend for a state-wide college rally, and final arrangements for the program will be discussed.

Anyone interested in the Young Democrats Club is invited to attend in addition to the regular members.

SG Presidency Race To Be Between Hunt And Thomason

Two men are in the running this year for President of the Student Government. Jim Hunt, rising senior from Rock Ridge, N. C., present Student Government President, and George Thomason, a rising senior in the School of Education, have signed the nominations book for the top student position on the campus.

George Thomason
Thomason started at State in 1950. During his sophomore year, he was a member of the Order of Thirty and Three and was sophomore representative to Student Government from the School of Engineering. He also was a senator to the North Carolina Student Legislature.

Thomason left school in 1952 to join the Army. While in service he completed Leadership School, O.C.S. Airborne and Ranger schools. He was discharged from the 82nd Airborne Division in February, 1956.

On his return to State, he served as a member of the Board of Chairmen and Board of Directors of the College Union. As chairman of the Theater Committee, he directed the play "My Three Angels." He also covered some of the Student Government meetings for the Technician during the spring of 1957.

Thomason is running for President because "in the past candidates have been elected who often seemed to lose contact with the students." He feels that campus leaders, through the use of such media as the Green Bulletin and the Technician, should give the students an idea of what is happening at important meetings. "When a controversial bill is to be introduced in any meeting, the students should have some knowledge of the ideas contained therein, so representatives may get all the viewpoints of their constituents."

He also holds that "because of preconceived ideas and impressions, some past leaders have failed to give the students proper representation."

Jim Hunt
Dave Weinstein and E. J. Poindexter, campaign managers for Hunt, have stated, "Jim has done a very creditable job as President of Student Government during the past year. We are confident that with his experience and a chance to make plans over the summer that he will do an even more capable job in the year ahead." Hunt was elevated to the office of president at the beginning of the last fall semester when Fred Houtz, who was originally elected to the office, failed to return to school. Hunt had been elected Vice President.

Hunt released the following statement to The Technician early this week concerning his candidacy:

"In making the decision to run for a second term as President of the Student Government, I have been especially influenced by the need for experience in this position—a need which I have discovered time and again during the past year. It is really hard to overestimate the advantage that experience gives the man representing the students in dealing with the faculty, administration, trustees, and various other groups.

"Much work has been done this year by Student Government in the areas of traffic, registration, class attendance regulations, housing (especially married student housing), athletic policy, and other areas of concern (See HUNT, THOMASON, page 4)

WVWP Begins Morning Broadcasting Schedule

Ed Finch, program director of WVWP, announced this week that the student radio station will begin morning broadcasting on April 11. Finch said that the station will sign on at 6:45 and sign off at 10:00 A.M. The addition of these morning hours will not change in any way the station's evening broadcasting schedule. At present WVWP signs on at 5:57 P.M. and signs off at 1:00 A.M.

Ron Poinsette, who along with Ken Mitchell, will operate the radio station during morning broadcasting described this period as "... 4 hours of music to wake up by, with very little talk..." Of course, he explained the day's campus news will be outlined during the show and the news headlines and weather will be given every half hour.

It was pointed out that since WVWP is the last station in Raleigh to sign off, students with clock radios can now enjoy music until 1:00 and leave their radios set to WVWP to wake up the next morning. Poinsette said that he would appreciate knowing student reaction to the new show.

"Who's Who" Lists NCS Staff

The 1958-59 issue of "Who's Who in America" includes biographical sketches on 28 North Carolina State College administrative officials and faculty members.

A listing in "Who's Who" is regarded as a mark of high professional distinction.

State College's representatives, constituting a comparatively large segment of the big directory, include leading figures in several branches of science, technology, and the liberal arts—a factor indicating the diversity of the college's functions and academic prestige.

Those listed are:
Dr. Donald B. Anderson, dean of the Graduate School and director of the Division of Biological Sciences; Dr. Roy N. Anderson, head of the Department of Occupational Information and Guidance; Prof. L. O. Armstrong, professor of agricultural education; Dr. Casey H.

Bostian, Chancellor; Dr. B. B. Brandt, professor of zoology; Dr. Robert C. Bullock, professor of mathematics; Dr. Malcolm E. Campbell, dean of the School of Textiles.

Dr. John W. Cell, head of the Department of Mathematics; Dr. John M. Clarkson, professor of mathematics; Dr. D. W. Colvard, dean of the School of Agriculture; Prof. N. W. Conner, director of the Department of Engineering Research; Dr. Preston W. Edsall, head of the Department of History and Political Science; Dr. Ralph E. Fadum, head of the Civil Engineering Department; Prof. Virgil M. Faires, professor of mechanical engineering.

Dr. George A. Gillette, head of the Department of Social Studies; Dr. C. Horace Hamilton, head of the Department of Rural Sociology; Prof. Karl P. Hanson, head of the Mechanical Engineering Department; Dr. Ludwig C. Hartley, head of the English Department; Dr. Ivan Hostetler, head of the Industrial Arts Department; Henry L. Kamphoefner, dean of the School of Design.

Dr. J. Bryant Kirkland, dean of the School of Education; Dr. J. Harold Lampe, dean of the School of Engineering; Dr. R. O. Moen, professor of economics; Dr. John W. Shirley, dean of the faculty; Prof. C. B. Shulenberg, professor of economics; Dr. Clyde F. Smith, head of Entomology Faculty; Dr. G. Wallace Smith, head of the Department of Engineering Mechanics; and Dr. Rufus H. Snyder, professor of physics.

Leadership Society Taps New Members

Edward W. Nuckolls of Hendersonville, king of the Order of Saint Patrick, recently knighted six new members into the engineering leadership society.

The engineering seniors inducted into the society were: Kenneth Sloan, Harrisburg; Rex Phillips, Grifton; John Norville, Brevard; Charles T. Andrews, Greensboro; Bob Hutchins, Raleigh; and James Cashwell, Lumberton.

Membership in the Order of Saint Patrick is one of the most coveted honors an engineering student can attain.

Chem. Eng. Student Wins Writing Award

Richard N. Gurley of Newton, chemical engineering senior at State College, won first prize in the Student Papers Contest conducted during the Southern Regional Student Chapters Conference of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers held at Auburn, Ala., March 26-28.

His paper, entitled "Sievelate Phenomena," was selected out of a group of fifteen on the basis of creativity, imagination, and presentation.

Gurley received a cash award and a certificate of recognition.

"In the six years our students have entered contest papers, a chemical engineering student from North Carolina State College has won first prize at the regional conference," said Dr. E. M. Schoenborn, head of the Chemical Engineering Department.

"The School of Engineering is proud of this outstanding record," he added.

Gurley has made a high scholastic record at the engineering school and has a 3.65 average. He was awarded the Smith Douglass Scholarship for his junior and senior years.

Gurley is a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers; Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic society; Tau Beta Pi, national engineering honor society; and the Order of St. Patrick, engineering leadership society.

Orientation Plan Is A Major Step

Just before the spring holidays the Student Government announced that approval had been given by the college administration to a new orientation plan.

In making the announcement, the Student Government Commission on Orientation stated that the new plan will divide the Freshman Class into small groups of 20 to 25 men per group.

Each group will have a group leader who will be an upperclassman. His job will be to familiarize the freshmen in his particular group with such things as attendance and traffic regulations, student government and the honor system, extra-curricular activities, etc., and to answer any questions of the men in his group.

The small group plan of orientation has been used in the past by the YMCA in its Freshmen Retreat. It has never been tried on a campus-wide basis.

Though quite a departure from the orientation programs of the past, the new small-group orientation came as a pleasant surprise to many members of the student body.

There are distinct advantages to the new plan. Two points, in particular, stand out.

First, the small-group will provide a friendly and personal atmosphere for the new, and usually bewildered, freshman. It will give him the opportunity to ask individual questions of someone who he will look upon as a kind of "big brother."

Second, and probably even more important, the small-group plan would provide a larger number of campus leaders than in the past. This has been shown by the orientation in the Freshman Retreat of the YMCA. Not only are a number of the present campus leaders men who attended the YMCA Retreat in their freshman year, but also a high percentage of the men who have served as group leaders have become campus leaders.

There is a good possibility that many of the leaders of the campus-wide small-group orientation program will likewise develop into badly needed campus leaders.

Student Government is presently trying to recruit men to fill the position of small-group leader. (See letter from Jim Hunt on this page.) Approximately 100 of these leaders are needed. All campus organizations should cooperate in furnishing these leaders.

The Student Government Commission on Orientation deserves praise for the work they have done over the past several months in formulating the small-group orientation plan.

In an area as important as orientating high school students to a completely new way of life—an independent college life—the new plan for orientation next fall is most definitely a major step in the right direction.

Letters To The Editor

A & M Sets Record Student Help Is Asked - Hunt

To the Editor:
In looking through some old papers a few days ago, I came across this clipping dated September 7, 1903:

A & M Makes Record—The total enrollment of students at A & M College is 760. This includes 420 now present and 430 present at the Summer School in July. About 30 or 40 more are expected next week; and by June when the session closes, the grand total will probably amount up to 900. This is a great showing. The Cadet Battalion was formed yesterday, and reached from the main building (now Holladay Hall) almost to the Southern Railway track. The band consists of 27 musicians. Drilling will go vigorously forward until Fair Week when a big dress parade will be given in honor of the Confederate Veterans.

E. L. Cloyd

Note: The Fair Grounds at the time were located about where the West Raleigh Presbyterian Church now stands.

Would you like to make a contribution to State College of the future? Would you like to register early next fall, have a letter put in your permanent file recommending you for Student Government work, have publicity about you in your home town newspaper, attend the Student Government banquet next year, receive a certificate or key, and perhaps have your name engraved on a handsome plaque displayed in the College Union? All these things are possible if you sign up this week as a small-group leader for freshman orientation next fall.

As you have probably heard, next fall freshman orientation will be conducted in small groups with an outstanding student leading each group in their discussions. Rather than being lectured at for hours on end, the information which is imparted to new students will be done so in a small (20-25 men) informal group—with an outstanding student as the leader. This leader will tell the new freshmen the facts and at the same time give him the real "inside" on college life.

In such an atmosphere we feel that freshmen will ask questions, develop a feeling of knowing someone, and develop the school spirit that we often gripe is needed.

This new program can only be started, however, with the help of our 100 student leaders on this campus. We need you as a small group leader for next fall.

If you are a leader, it will necessitate your attending a training meeting or two this spring and your returning to school about a week early next fall to lead your group in their all-important orientation week.

If you will help us, we are sure we can provide housing for you during the orientation week, and we are hoping very much to also provide for meals.

We need the help of the student leaders on this campus for this project to be successful. If you volunteer you are such a leader.

Please get an application blank from the YMCA, C.U., or 207 Holladay Hall and help us. If you will be back to school early for any other reason, such as fixing up a fraternity house, opening a dormitory, or for a school activity, please also apply to also serve as an orientation small-group leader.

This is a chance in a lifetime for you to be a real pioneer in the most worthy student undertaking I have observed here at State.

Please help us.

Sincerely,
Jim Hunt

Student Government

Fraternity Line

Will Fraternity Row Ever Come To State?

by Oscar Grant

The date was October, 1954, and the fraternity men at North Carolina State were holding annual rush week. For once, none of the men participating in rush had trouble finding something to talk about to rushees. In fact, it seemed that almost all the talk at the various houses was centered about an exciting new subject: something called fraternity row.

It was no small wonder that fraternity row was the center of discussion since, even as enthusiastic greeks told of its coming, the wheels of action were beginning to turn in Holladay Hall to make the dream of a fraternity paradise a reality.

Yet, almost four years have passed and still not one brick has been laid, and architects' drawings have grown old and musty. What has happened to fraternity row? How can a project that is needed and wanted so badly be held up so long?

Could it be that our college administration has undermined the project? This writer does not believe so. In fact, no group of men could have worked harder to secure a fraternity row than has our own administration.

Could it be that the project has been held up by the failure of our own I.F.C. officers to push hard enough to get it? Again, this is hard to believe. Names like Andrew Hinton, Henry Pickett, Bill Greene, and present I.F.C. President, George Howard are synonymous with any progress which the project has made in the past four years.

Is it possible that a project that has been consistently approved by the Board of Trustees of the Greater University could get so tied up in administrative red tape that it could get held up so long? Again, this seems hard to believe.

It would seem then, that this project which has been sought not for four years, but ten or more, is being deliberately held up, and fraternity men are beginning to pin-point the source of the trouble.

When will a fraternity row come to State? This writer believes State will never have a fraternity row unless fraternity men begin to take an active interest in the project.

This coming weekend will be Parents Weekend at State, and a great number of our parents will come up to see the college. At the same time, they will most likely want to see their son's fraternity house. No doubt, many of them will be shocked to see how totally inadequate our fraternity houses are.

Here, each fraternity man should tell his parents of the plans for a fraternity row and how long the project has been held up. Perhaps many of them will want to write President Friday of the Greater University and find out for themselves why the project has been held up so long.

Three ACC Baseball Games Top Week's Sports Schedule

North Carolina State's undefeated baseball team has three Atlantic Coast Conference games scheduled for this week as the Wolfpack continues its bid for the conference title.

Coach Vic Sorrell's powerful Pack, 7-0 for the season, plays host to Clemson Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock, travels to Chapel Hill Thursday for a battle with the Tar Heels, and returns home Saturday against Duke.

The Clemson game is a make-up of the rained-out affair which was scheduled at Clemson last week. State will be meeting Clemson and Duke for the first time this year. The Pack owns a 4-0 victory over Carolina which came in the finals of the Dixie Classic Tournament.

Sorrell hasn't announced his pitchers for the three important league games but is expected to rely upon the "big three" of the mound staff—Danny Casteen, Joe Jones and Owen Wright. Harold Gilbert, the stubby relief ace, also is available.

Also on the spring sports card are a dual track meet against South Carolina and Virginia, set for Saturday afternoon on the State field, three golf matches and three tennis matches.

Coach Al Michaels' linksters will be at Maryland today and at Virginia Tuesday. The golf team returns home Friday against South Carolina.

The tennis team, playing all three matches at home, is host to Carolina today, East Carolina Thursday and South Carolina Saturday.

The State-Clemson baseball game might prove ACC diamond supremacy, since the two teams have been setting the pace thus far in the conference race. The Tigers, coached by ex-State star Bill Wilhelm, probably will call upon ace lefthander Harold Stowe for pitching chores.

The Wolfpack lineup will have Bob Kennel catching, Danny Casteen at first base, Derris Bradshaw at second, Scotty Hurst at shortstop and either Glenn Sparrow or Jim Story at third. The outfield has Don Hafer in left, Dick Hunter in center and Russ Casteen in right.

State Downs Deacons For 7th Straight Win

State's surprisingly mighty Wolfpack pushed its winning streak to seven games last Saturday as they came back from a 12-1 deficit to down the Wake Forest Demon Deacons, 14-13, in an eleven inning marathon at the State diamond.

The standouts for the West Raleigh crew were many, but much credit must go to little reliever Harold Gilbert, a Tarboro, N. C. ace, who came in as the fifth Pack hurler in the top of the sixth and allowed only three hits and one run for the remaining six innings, to receive credit for the victory.

The uphill struggle from the eleven run deficiency was long and hard for the Pack but when the bottom of the ninth was over, they had rallied enough to tie the Deacons, 13-13.

A scoreless one and one-half innings ensued but State had played with the Deacons long enough and things began to pop. Dick Hunter led off the inning with a single and advanced to third base, first on a wild pitch, and then on a pass ball. Russ Casteen walked and catcher Bob Kennel lifted a high foul down the third base line. Hunter tagged up, and scored the winning run as the Wake Forest third baseman's throw-in was high.

Hitting stars for State were plentiful in the Saturday slugfest but the one with the most impressive afternoon was left-fielder Don Hafer, who clouted a three run home in the sixth, to cut the Deacon margin to 12-8.

Also having a big day for the Pack were the Casteen brothers. Rightfielder Rock Casteen banged out a triple and a single to drive in two runs, while sophomore Danny, who started for the Pack but was knocked out of the box in the second, doubled and singled to drive in one run.

Hunter, besides his single which led off the eleventh, also slammed a triple and batted in two runs. Kennel collected a two-bagger and a single and drove in two runs.

Notes From The Pack

George Pickett, head basketball coach at Newberry College and South Carolina's "Coach of the Year," will be an instructor at Coach Everett Case's basketball school in June.

Pickett is a former Wolfpack cager and will assist Case, Vic Bubas and Lee Terrill with the two-session clinic for boys.

Centerfielder Dick Hunter is hitting the ball at a .500 clip after seven games. The speedy outfielder has collected 13 hits in 26 times at bat. He also has stolen four bases. He was an All-Conference choice last year.

The State-South Carolina football game, originally scheduled for Raleigh on Nov. 22, has been changed to Columbia, S.C., on the same date. The move was made to avoid conflict with the Duke-Carolina game.

Former cager Whitey Bell was named Most Valuable Player in the YMCA basketball tournament in Binghamton, N. Y. Bell went up during the Easter vacation along with Don Gallagher, a native of Binghamton. He averaged 21.2 points in seven games.

Gallagher was picked on the All-Tournament team and had a 23-point average.

Freshman basketball coach Lee Terrill, just back from a recruiting trip, says he has landed one of New York City's top high school stars.

The prize catch is Anton Muehlbauer of Lincoln High School. A 6-foot-2, 180-pound guard, he was picked on first-team All City by the New York World Telegram and Sun, and on the first team PSAL selected in a poll of high school coaches conducted by the New York Journal American.

Wolfpack Track Squad Drops Meet To Clemson

In their first meet since the Florida Relays on March 29, the Wolfpack Track team came in third behind Clemson and Davidson Saturday, in a triangular outing held at Davidson.

The Pack took three of the fifteen first places, but did not have much to back it up.

In the mile run, Red Man Joe Creazzo topped the field as he ran it in 4:28.7.

Dick Matthews, who finished second in the 440-yard run, brought home first place honors for State in the 220-yard dash, as he finished in 23.1 seconds, just 1.6 seconds off the State record.

On Latin America

In observance of Pan-American Week, the International Committee of the College Union is sponsoring a conference by Doctor Enrique J. Ros tonight at 8:00 p.m. in the College Union Theatre.

Dr. Ros, the Argentinian delegate to the Organization of American States, is a career diplomat. He will talk on the history of Pan American ideals and the handling of present situations in Latin America.

A coffee hour and a question-and-answer period will follow the lecture, which is open to the public.

Young Democrats To Hold Rally

North Carolina's Young Democrats are to hold a rally and workshop April 18 and 19 in Raleigh according to an announcement by Bob Futrelle, president of the North Carolina State College club and college vice-president of North Carolina YDC. Representatives of YDC organizations from colleges and universities throughout North Carolina will attend.

The workshop will begin at 2:00 P.M. Friday with registration of the visiting delegations at the State College Union. The schedule of events for Friday includes a reception at the cern to students.

"I have been assured by the Chancellor that work will begin the latter part of April to pave all of the permanent sidewalks on campus. Thus this year should mark the end of tracking through the mud.

"Registration was much improved this past semester due to the lanes for the alphabetical groups set up by Student Government. We have done some experimenting with pre-registration, and this will be employed as much as possible where it is in the best interest of the students.

"Freshmen and sophomores still have the right to have cars on our campus, a situation unheard of at many schools. We are daily enjoying the use of the many parking lots which have been paved through the work of Student Government. As always, we are still looking for more and better places for students to park.

"A more satisfactory insurance plan has been in use this year (especially for the families of married students). The addition of another part-time doctor has improved the infirmary situation considerably. Polio shots have been available for students this year at a cost of only $1.00. Asiatic Flu vaccinations were made available free of charge to all students desiring them. "Steps have been taken to improve the cafeteria during the past year. Student Government is still considering the problem, realizing we have a long way to go yet.

"Date tickets for $1.00 to the Homecoming football game and all basketball games were available for students this year. This is a much better deal than the students got at many other schools; however, we are still studying the matter in an attempt to get a better plan for the students."

Hunt will release a detailed report of his platform and plans for next year in Thursday's Technician.
