Fulbright Grant Deadline Nears

Seniors and graduate students who are interested in doing graduate study abroad and who wish to apply for awards under the Fulbright and Buenos Aires Convention programs should proceed with applications immediately.

Completed applications must be filed at the office of the Fulbright Program Adviser, 201 Holladay Hall, by November 1, 1957, for scholarships which will be in force for the 1958-59 academic year. Students not enrolled in a college or university in the spring of 1957 and who are not currently enrolled are considered applicants-at-large and should file their applications with the Institute of International Education.

Awards under the Fulbright Act and Buenos Aires Convention are a part of the International Education Exchange Program of the Department of State. The objectives of this program are to promote better understanding of the United States abroad, and to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries.

About 1,000 such grants are available each year. In each of the last two years students from North Carolina State College have won Fulbright Awards.

The awards under the Fulbright Program cover transportation, expenses of a language refresher or orientation course, tuition, books and maintenance for one academic year. The maintenance allowance is based on living costs in the host country and is sufficient to meet normal living expenses of a single person. The Buenos Aires Convention Grants are somewhat less generous and require supplementation by the grantee.

To be eligible a student must be a citizen of the United States, have a college degree by the time the award is effective, be in good health, and have a knowledge of the language of the country for application sufficient to carry out the proposed study and to communicate effectively with the people of that country.

Further information and application materials are available at 201 Holladay Hall.

Saturday's Cadet Hop Planned For CU

The Military Ball Association is sponsoring the Cadet Hop this Saturday night at 8:00. The dance will be held at the College Union and will be semi-formal.

The article in The Technician last week incorrectly stated that the Military Ball Memberships are selling for $3.00. Memberships are, however, only $2.00; this admits any student and his date to both the Cadet Hop this Saturday and to the Military Ball, which will be held in the Coliseum next spring.

Signatures on memberships will be checked against your I.D. cards at the door.

Mates Have Been Active Since 1947

by: Betty Fields

During the Fall of 1947 the State College Woman's Club sponsored a new organization known as States' Mates for the purpose of offering recreation and fellowship to the many wives of State College students. There was also a desire to promote a closer relationship between faculty and students.

The new group operated primarily as a bridge club, with a membership of approximately eighty student wives; however, by the Fall of 1954 the membership had gradually declined until less than a dozen girls were considered active. In order to increase the membership and interest a majority of the wives, the club was revamped to include more varied activities. This reorganization paid off in handsome dividends, and during the academic year 1956-57 the club could boast a membership of over 190 active participants.

The monthly meetings held by States' Mates cover a wide variety of topics. The program for the coming year includes a fashion show, square dance, Christmas party and a variety show. All wives of State College students are invited to join the unlimited fellowship and learn that "Husband's study nights" can become a pleasure.

First meeting of the 1957-'58 college year will be held Monday at eight o'clock in the College Union Ballroom where the stu-

Sigma Tau Sigma Holds First Meet

Sigma Tau Sigma, textile honorary fraternity, held its first meeting of the semester last Tuesday night.

The agenda included a brief discussion of the activities which the fraternity will undertake this year, and a vote on prospective members of the fraternity. Initiation of new members will be held at a later date.

The purposes of Sigma Tau Sigma are to recognize and encourage scholarship in the Textile School, to give the top-ranking men in the different departments a chance to meet and talk to each other, and to give these men a chance to hear speakers from the textile industry.

Harold Wagner, President of Sigma Tau Sigma from Coolee, N. C., stated in a short address to both the old and the prospective members that "there has been found a definite correlation between the leaders in the textile industry and those students who had high scholastic averages in college."

Over Four Hundred Register For NCS's Thirty Night Classes

Registration for the fall semester of night classes at State College passed the 400 mark last week.

A total of 415 residents of Raleigh and vicinity enrolled in the group of 30 courses which are sponsored twice each year by the college's Extension Division.

Most Popular Courses

The most popular courses, based on enrollment, are personnel management, 35 students; art, 30; interior decoration, 29; and psychology 200, 27.

Only two of the scheduled courses had to be cancelled because of lack of students. Advanced accounting and conversational Spanish met for the first time Monday night, and a course on investing in stock will be added later this month.

Students' wives will be welcomed by Chancellor Carey H. Bostian and hear Dean of Student Affairs, J. J. Stewart, speak on the "Place Student Wives Have on Campus."

State Graduate

UNC Installing New Chancellor

William Brantly Aycock will be installed as Chancellor of the University of North Carolina in ceremonies to be held Saturday in Kenan Stadium at Chapel Hill.

The installation, which will begin at 10:30 a.m., will be held in combination with University Day celebrations. Various receptions, luncheons and exhibits on the University campus are scheduled in honor of the chancellor.

Three North Carolina television stations have indicated coverage of the proceedings.

Aycock was named to the top UNC post last February 25 by the trustees of the Consolidated University. He replaced former Chancellor Robert House, who retired in June.

State Graduate

Chancellor Aycock was graduated in 1936 from State College with a degree in Education. An outstanding student, Aycock was President of the Student Government his senior year. Among his other activities at State were: Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity, Kappa Phi Kappa, Blue Key, Golden Chain, Scabbard and Blade, Interfraternity Council, Publications Board, and the N. C. Federation of Students.

After receiving his master's degree from Carolina in 1937, Aycock taught in Greensboro for three years. Then he took a job with the National Youth Administration in Raleigh.

In 1942 Aycock was called into active duty with the Army as a first lieutenant. While in the Army, Aycock achieved an outstanding record, winning the Bronze Star Medal "for meritorious service", The Silver Star Medal for "gallantry in action" and the Legion of Merit for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services".

After the Army, Aycock returned to Chapel Hill where he entered Law School. He led his class and became Editor of the Law Review.

Remaining in the Law School as an assistant professor, Aycock later became Dean of the Law School. From this post he advanced to Chancellor of the University.

Starlight Club Will Re-Open Saturday

The Starlight Club will open again this year at the College Union Saturday at 8 p.m. All students are invited to come to the nightclub; reservations may be made at the Union Activities Office.

This year campus radio station WVWP will broadcast dance music from the club. At the club itself in addition to the music, there will be light refreshments in a secluded atmosphere.

The club will be open this year on Oct. 12, 19 and 26 and Nov. 16 and 23. There will be a cover charge of 50 cents per couple.

Two Days Remain To Rent Tuxedo At Reduced Price For IDC Ball

Two days remain for renting tuxedos for October 19's IDC Ball at a reduced rate.

Honeycutt Inc. will rent tuxedos for $7.00 on Friday and Saturday. Beginning Monday formal wear will rent for the regular price.

Charlie Barnett will bring to Raleigh a 15-piece band plus a vocalist. The dance will be held in the Coliseum beginning at eight and lasting until midnight.

WPTF radio announcer, Jimmy Capps will be on hand to introduce the officers and their sponsors.

The IDC Social Committee has asked that no flowers be given for the Ball. It is a State College tradition that flowers are not to be given for formal dances on the campus.

All dormitory students who have paid their dues can get a free bid for the IDC Ball from their dorm or floor manager. Dormitory managers also have tickets on sale for $2.50 for off-campus and Verville students.

Three Instructors Cast In RLT Play

Three faculty members are among the cast of "The Pajama Game," the first production of the season for the Raleigh Little Theater. They are Jack Porter of the English Department, who plays the role of the time study man, Hines; Hal Randolph of Electrical Engineering, who plays Max, the salesman; and Harvey Bumbardner of the Poultry Department, who is in the dancing group.

"The Pajama Game," a humorous and romantic musical comedy dealing with problems between labor and management, opens on October 22 for a run of one week. Student season tickets for all five RLT productions may be purchased at the College Union for $6, or single show tickets may be had for $1.50 each.

The Raleigh Little Theater is located three blocks north of Hillsboro on Pogue Street. Pogue Street intersects Hillsboro where the West Raleigh branch of the Wachovia Bank is situated.

Professor Joins Industrial Arts

Hal Massey has joined the staff of the Industrial Arts Department in the School of Education at State College as an assistant professor, Dean J. Bryant Kirkland of the college's School of Education and Dr. Ivan Hostetler, head of the Industrial Arts Department, have announced.

From Florida

Professor Massey comes to State College from the University of Florida. He has his B.S. and M.Ed. degrees from the University of Florida and has done work on his doctorate. He is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, Phi Kappa Phi and Phi Delta Kappa.

In addition to his teaching experience at the University of Florida, he taught in the Florida public schools. He was in the Armed Services for a period of three years, serving in the Corps of Army Engineers.

An Observation . . .

Football tickets, and the art of obtaining good ones, will be a topic of conversation with college men as long as the game is played.

Two football games in the past month, and particularly the tickets to these two games, led to the following observation.

The first game was the season's opener—the State-Carolina game; the second was last Saturday's Carolina-Navy game played at Chapel Hill.

Quite obviously, this writer is a student at one of the schools that met in the game mentioned first and is a student at neither of the schools which played the second game. So what, you may ask. So this . . . it makes a big difference. It pays NOT to be a student—if you want good seats.

Even though the first game was State's "home" game, it did not particularly bother me to see the down-markers stay on Carolina's side of the field both halves; nor did the fact that the candidates for Miss Consolidated University were introduced to the "visitors" and not to the people sitting on the "home" team side—State's side—seem too disturbing.

Even sitting approximately twenty yards behind the goal line was more or less taken for granted at the time. The memory of this minus 20 yard-line seat, however, returned abruptly last week as I sat watching the Carolina-Navy game on no less than the 45-yard line!

And how were 45 yard-line tickets obtained by one who is a student of neither school, you ask? From an alumni; how else?

As stated earlier, this is simply an observation. We are not, at this time, saying that this is unfair to the students; we are not saying that collegiate football is more interested in making money than in promoting good-will between the schools playing; and we are not asking that students be given preference to alumni. This is simply an observation. . . . —DB

All Letters to the Editor must be signed. Signatures will be withheld only for good reasons. No letters will be printed which are not signed. The Technician reserves the right to edit letters if made necessary by space limitations.

To the Editor,

As a reader of The Technician for the past four years, I would like to express my opinion about your October 3 article concerning probation to a campus fraternity. The space and position given this article outweighed the importance of the subject. I admit that the probation should have been given coverage, but I feel that other campus news, such as Rush Week itself, was of more importance to the entire student body. Your editorial also seemed to me unnecessary, since it was only a paraphrase of the front page story.

I hope that hereafter you and your staff will emphasize matters more beneficial to the campus as a whole.

Fred M. Rawicz

To the Editor,

I have just finished reading your article, "Why the Judicial Board Shields offenders" and I cannot help but feel that the Judicial Board is right in shielding the names of students who appear before them in any way.

Whether the name of the person is made known or not, he still receives his punishment. In most cases the student is suspended for one or two semesters, and in many cases these students return to State to continue their studies.

I am a Senior now and I see boys everyday who were suspended for various reasons who are back and are making fine students. Of course some of

Greeks On Campus

by Oscar Grant

Once again this week, my congratulations go out to the Wolfpack for a fine performance down at Clemson. It was great to see a large proportion of State's fraternity men down at the Coliseum Saturday night to welcome the team home.

While I believe enough has been said about the dirty rushing incident which the I.F.C. investigated recently, I believe one last word of praise is fitting for a job well done. The I.F.C. has proven to State's fraternity men that they will not tolerate any violation of rushing rules and that they don't mind stepping on a few toes to enforce these rules.

While this writer has nothing personal against the fraternity found guilty of dirty rushing, I can not help but give my fullest endorsement to the stiff penalty which was dealt out. State's fraternity men can rest assured that the men they have chosen to represent them on the Interfraternity Council are doing a good job.

Time Needed

During this week, which is generally referred to as Silent Week, most prospective freshmen fraternity members are receiving bids and deciding on the fraternity they wish to join. While this writer believes that rushees should have plenty of time to make this all-important decision, many "Greeks" have trouble finding a good reason for allowing a whole week for this purpose. At present, rushees have a period of 48 hours in which to either accept or reject the bids received. Yet, silent week lasts a whole week. It is certainly true that rushees need at least this 48 hours in which to make a decision, but what is the rest of the week for?

Why A Whole Week?

Silent week began at 12 o'clock Saturday night. Fraternities are required to have bids in the Dean's Office by Tuesday afternoon. This delay is certainly necessary to allow fraternities to decide on the men they wish to send bids to. Rushees began receiving bids through the mail on Wednesday.

It is reasonable to assume that all bids were received by rushees by Thursday morning at the latest, and in most cases by Wednesday afternoon. Rushees then have 48 hours to turn in bids to the Dean's Office. From this we can see that in some cases, rushees would not be required to turn in bids until sometime Saturday morning. Since Silent Week ends at 12 o'clock noon on Saturday, it is easy to see why it is necessary to extend this period over a whole week.

Next week this column will be devoted to an open letter to the leaders of State's 18 fraternities on a subject of importance to all of us.

Co-ed Dorms?!

There has been talk around State for quite some time about a dormitory for co-ed students. Such an idea sounded pretty good to us until yesterday.

Now a dorm for co-eds alone is "for the birds!" After reading the article printed below, we are all for the more modern trend to co-educational dormitories.

The following article is from The Oklahoma Daily:

"Now we've heard everything. According to The Michigan Daily, University of Michigan student newspaper, approval of plans for a co-educational dormitory seems a certainty. This concept of co-education is, we must admit, new to us and just a bit surprising, though not at all displeasing.

"Think of how handy it would be to just step across the hall (See COED DORMS, page 5)

Wolfpack Goes After FSU

After three successful weeks of bucking hard Conference competition, the Wolfpack will take a breather from ACC action this Saturday as it travels down to Florida State to take on the always-tough Seminoles.

Florida State has always caused some confusion when it comes time to meet the Pack. For the past four years, State's coaches have been trying to figure out a defense to stop the advances of the Seminoles' T, split T, and I formation. As yet, State hasn't, which the records clearly indicate.

In five games, State has taken one while F.S.U. has copped the rest. The points stand at 33-64, and to add to the humiliation, the Pack hasn't scored in the last two years.

This year Florida State

Freshman Play Host To Tarbabies, UNC

N. C. State's freshman football team will play host to the Tar Heel yearlings of Carolina this Saturday in their second game of the season.

Last week the Wolflets played a very tough V.P.I. team, but came victorious, 19-13. Last year Virginia Tech's team took one from State, 25-21.

This year's squad is one of the strongest fielded here at State in recent years. Coach Bill Smaltz, now in his fourth year as freshman head, said, before the season started, "We have some big linemen and fast backs, and the team has more depth than the previous three squads I have coached. I think we will have a good season."

Probable starters for Saturday's game with the Tarbabies are ends George Vollmer, Trenton, N. J., and Jim Tapp, Roxboro; tackles Tiny Reynolds, College Park, Md., and Bert Wilder, Greensboro; guards Joe Bushofsky, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Alex Gilleskie, Heidelberg, Pa.; and, at the center post, either Sam Raneri, Greensburg, Pa., or Collice Moore, Littleton.

Around the ACC

As the fourth weekend of football comes around, the ACC is taking on the look of a tough conference with three teams in the top twenty of both the AP and UP national polls.

The Duke Blue Devils, pre-season pick to make the Orange Bowl trip, will sharpen their teeth on Rice in Texas this Saturday. N. C. State, which is giving Duke a hard race for the ACC title, will travel to Tallahassee for a game with the Seminoles of F.S.U.

Carolina will attempt to continue its long-awaited winning habit as it goes to Miami on Friday night. All these teams will be trying to protect their national AP rating which places Duke, 5th, State, 13th, and Carolina, 18th.

On the Conference schedule this Saturday are Clemson vs. Virginia, in Charlottesville, and Wake Forest at Maryland. The other game finds South Carolina playing host to non-ACC foe, Furman.

hasn't been quite as successful as has the Wolfpack. In three games thus far, the Seminoles have compiled a 1-2 record. They got off on the right foot by downing Furman, 27-7, but on successive weekends after that, they fell before Boston College, 20-7, and Villanova, 21-7.

State, as the country knows, has a much better record. Under their belts they have wins over Carolina, Maryland, and Clemson.

State's Wolfpack will attempt this Saturday, to break the jinx which has hung over them for the past four years, namely, that of not beating the Seminoles. In addition to wanting to rid themselves of the plague, the Pack will be trying to protect its 13th position in the national AP rating.

Game time is 8:00 P.M. in Campbell Stadium in Tallahassee.

INTRAMURALS

while the Fraternity prelims will be held the following night, October 23. Both preliminaries will be on the Track Field.

Pairings For Dixie Classic Drawn; State To Entertain Northwestern

Pairings for the ninth annual Dixie Classic Basketball Tournament were drawn Tuesday at 11:00 a.m. in Athletic Director Roy Clogston's office in the Coliseum.

The first round games of the holiday tournament, which begins December 26, will find Duquesne battling Wake Forest, Northwestern against State, Seton Hall versus Duke, and St. Louis matching wits with Carolina.

The Tar Heels of Carolina are the defending champions. Last year Coach Frank McGuire's national champions beat the Demon Deacons, 63-55, for the title, ending a seven-year State monopoly.

The three-day tourney, one of the nation's top basketball events, drew 71,000 fans into the Coliseum last December for a new attendance record.

Scholarship Provides For British Study

U. S. college students can now apply for next year's Marshall Scholarship awards enabling them to study at a British University for two years. Applications must be in by October 31, 1957.

The Marshall Scholarship scheme was started in 1953 as a token of Britain's thanks for Marshall Aid.

Twelve scholarships are awarded every year. Any American student of either sex, married or single, may apply, but they must be under 28 on October 1, 1958 and have graduated from an American university.

Each award is worth £550 ($1,540) a year. Passage is paid to and from the United Kingdom. Married men get an extra allowance.

Successful candidates are chosen for their character as well as scholastic attainments.

Committees

Four Regional Committees—the Eastern, Southern, Middle Western and Pacific—consider the applications first and would-be winners should apply to the British Consul-General in one of the following cities:

- Chicago (Mid-Western Region)
- New York (Eastern Region)
- New Orleans (Southern Region)
- San Francisco (Pacific Region)

Each Regional Committee includes the Consul-General and four Americans distinguished in educational or public life. It selects six names from the applications and forwards them to the British Embassy in Washington.

At the Embassy the names are re-examined by a 7-member Advisory Council headed by the British Ambassador. Twelve names are selected—three from each Region—and sent to the United Kingdom for review and approval by a commission of leading British educators and businessmen set up to administer the Trust. Lord Coleraine is chairman of the commission.

Names of the winners are announced in Washington each April for the following October.

So far 48 Americans have benefited from the scheme.

All the Marshall scholars who took their final degree examinations this summer have been successful and some of them have done especially well.

"Says The Michigan Daily, 'The co-educational dormitory will offer a compliment to the modern concept of co-education. It figures. Mature growth, not only with women in the classroom, but with women in the residence, is perhaps the best selling point of the proposed dormitory.'"

IDC Sunday Planned

The second Sunday of each month has been designated as IDC go to Church Sunday. All students are asked to make a special effort to attend the Church of their choice.

October 12 is the first IDC Sunday. The IDC's aim is to increase Church attendance and to assist the Student Government to promote better relationships between the people of Raleigh and State College students.

Veteran's Corner

By BOB LANE

Coach Earle Edwards was the guest speaker at the first meeting of the Vet's Association last Monday night. A question and answer period followed.

Harris Johnson, President, extended an invitation to Coach Edwards and the Varsity Squad to be our guests of honor at the Harvest Dance on October 26 after the Duke Football Game. The Duke Ambassadors will furnish the music for this event which will be open to all students and their dates.

The following men were elected to club offices:

Ray Shaw, Assistant Secretary
Larry Bullock, Program Chairman

Nick Ray, Social Chairman
Al Battista, Sgt.-at-Arms

Bob Williams, Vice President, announced the beginning of a pinochle tournament next Tuesday night in the College Union. Two games will be played on every other Tuesday night with one game after each Vet's meeting. For further information contact Bob at TE 2-1696. Prizes will be given for the tournament winners.

Harris Johnson read a letter from Mr. K. D. Rabb, Director of Admissions, thanking the Vet's Association for their help on registration day. Neal Hart won the drawing for the door prize and refreshments were served the fifty members who attended the meeting.

The Veteran's Administration announced this week that the five millionth G.I. home loan was guaranteed during September. This program has been carried on for World War II and Korean Veterans and has been in effect for 13 years. Nearly 22 per cent of the loans have been paid off, with default on 34,000 loans, which is less than 7/10 of one per cent of the total. The average amount of all home loans is $8,400. World War II veterans have until July 25, 1958 to apply for V.A. guaranty of G.I. Loans, and Korean veterans have until February 1, 1965.

I would like to remind you that Friday, October 14, is the last day for dropping a course without an "F".

Three new scholarship winners have been announced in the last week by State College officials.

James Reid Misenheimer of Shelby, a senior in chemical engineering, is the 1957-58 recipient of the American Enka Corporation Scholarship valued at $600.

The Union Carbide and Chemicals Company $400 Scholarship in the School of Textiles has been won by Jimmy Langston Poteat of Route 1, Yanceyville, a senior in textiles. In addition, the company will present to the student's adviser $100 a year which will go to the Textile Foundation.

gineering, is the winner of a $1000 Burlington Industries Foundation Scholarship. Awarded on the basis of top-ranking academic achievements.
