Policy Established For Goalpost 'Award'

Last Thursday, four State administration and student leaders journeyed to Chapel Hill for a luncheon meeting with officials of Carolina, with the purpose of the gathering being to formulate and clarify a policy for the students of both schools to carry out at the N. C. State-North Carolina football game this Saturday.

Attending the meeting from State were Dean Banks C. Talley, Jr., the coordinator of Student Activities, his assistant, Henry Bowers, Jimmy Hunt, the president of the Student Government, and the editor of The Technician, Roy Lathrop.

Because of the lack of order and general chaos following the State-Carolina game of recent years, these State men and their counterparts from Carolina met to set down a list of rules that any of the students could follow without, in the words of a Carolina man, "feeling that they had been taken advantage of."

Decided by the council was that the regular gridiron goalposts would be replaced, for this game, by a set of wooden posts, which will be separately decorated by the colors of the opposing teams. At the end of the game, the supporters of the winning team will be allowed to go onto the playing field, en masse, and tear down the losing team's goalposts, without any interference from the law enforcement officers.

While the supporters of the winning team are performing this old custom, the losing team's supporters will stay in the stands.

Before the start of the game, which will be played this Saturday in Kenan Stadium at Chapel Hill, the captain of each team will review the procedure so that all the supporters who have not been reached by some other medium will be familiar with it.

Because the State-Carolina game is an "away" game for the Wolfpack this year, all student tickets will cost $1.00. (A full explanation of the ticket situation is on page three.) This year the State students will occupy the East side of Kenan Stadium, the same side on which they sat last year.

In this Thursday's issue of The Technician, Editor Lathrop will present an editorial, fully explaining the reasons for the new policy and the degree of sportsmanship which will be expected of every student and supporter of each of the schools.

New Personnel Assigned To Air Force ROTC Unit

Two officers and two enlisted men have been assigned to duty with the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps Detachment at North Carolina State College, Col. Robert C. Paul, professor of air science, announced Friday.

The new personnel include Captains Kennell C. Lorch and Claude R. Rowell and T/Sgt. Robert L. Ostrand and S/Sgt. James D. Whetstone.

Captain Lorch was previously assigned as an aircraft commander and intelligence officer with the 11th Troop Carrier Squadron, 60th Troop Carrier Wing, Medium. He will be assigned as an Assistant Professor of Air Science.

Enrollment Falls Short Of Earlier Predictions

5,400 Register For Semester; Several Hundred More Expected

Enrollment for the fall semester has fallen below earlier predictions by several hundred students. It is estimated that only 5,400 students have registered for the new semester. Enrollment was expected to swell to a record-breaking 6,000 students.

Registration period does not end until Friday. During this period students may still register provided they pay a late registration fee of five dollars. Registration officials are expecting three or four hundred additional students to register before the Friday deadline.

According to the registration office approximately 6,200 students were eligible to register for the new semester. This number includes freshmen, upperclassmen, and other new students. No reason has been given for the unprecedented drop in enrollment. However, the registration office reports that it has had letters from many students who could not return to school because of financial reasons.

No final count on enrollment can be made until after Friday when registration figures can be completed. At present, registration appears to be about even or slightly lower than last year at this time. An accurate comparison of the two years cannot be made until registration records have been completed.

Freshman registration was held on Thursday with upperclassmen registering on Friday. This year for the first time several departments have used pre-registration. This appears to have eliminated some of the long lines during registration. As in the past, registration was carried out according to alphabetical groups.

It is reported that approximately 2300 student cars were registered on Thursday and Friday.

Alumni Association Launches Campaign

The State College Alumni Association today will launch a 45-day drive among its members throughout the world to increase contributions to the 1958 Alumni Fund.

Col. John R. Hood, Jr., U. S. Air Force, Washington, D. C., has been named national area chairman and will lead a group of volunteer workers in a campaign that will be extended to all the 49 states, the District of Columbia, U. S. possessions, and foreign countries where State alumni reside.

Hood is a native of Buies Creek and a 1941 chemical engineering graduate of State.

Assisting Colonel Hood in canvassing the alumni will be 19 area chairmen, various division leaders, captains, and other campaign workers.

The North Carolina area chairmen are:

J. S. Sugg, Rocky Mount; Paul M. Cox, New Bern; C. S. Mintz, Raleigh; Robert N. Wood, Raleigh; H. B. Dixon, Mebane; John C. Boney, Hamlet; R. R. Fountain, High Point; C. B. Eller, North Wilkesboro; James F. Pou, Charlotte; and Burwell Smith, Asheville.

Out-of-state area chairmen include L. E. Raper, Richmond, Va.; Frank J. Johnson, Atlanta, Ga.; E. E. Hood, Jr., Cincinnati, Ohio; Roy H. Park, Ithaca, N. Y.; Lt. Col. Marvin Clay, Silver Springs, Md.; Robert K. Seals, Columbia, S. C.; Key Scales, Weiersdale, Fla.; Wray Williams, Memphis, Tenn.; and H. W. Taylor, Raleigh.

The Alumni Fund was begun by the North Carolina State College Alumni Association several years ago to advance the long-range and continuing development of the college.

Contributions have been increasing in volume and number each year since the drive was started. The 1957 Alumni Fund amounted to a total of $37,083.23 from 2,801 alumni.

Coming Events

Copies of the booklet, "The Honor System at N. C. State," will be distributed to each dormitory room. Judicial Board members will accompany dormitory managers in distributing these booklets explaining them and answering any questions.

The Alpha Zeta Book Exchange will be open the entire week of September 15-19. It will operate each of these days from 12:00 Noon until 6:00 p.m.

The Young Democrats Club will meet Wednesday night at 8:00 Wednesdays at 8:00 p.m. in the College Union. The YDC meets every first and third Wednesday at 8:00 p.m. in the College Union.

'The Technician' Makes Big Changes

For 1958-59, THE TECHNICIAN announces many significant changes, both in physical renovation and in operational policies.

During the summer, the offices (located in rooms 137-140 in the 1911 Building) have been completely painted. On order are layout tables to help the staff members who design the paper; also on order are bulletin and blackboards on which to post assignments, important style rules, publication schedules, etc.

Other desks and secretarial chairs have been obtained from the state surplus warehouse, as well as several re-conditioned typewriters.

This year, the entire faculty at State College will receive THE TECHNICIAN through campus mail; a regular, weekly faculty column is also planned to give them a chance to express themselves through a campus-wide medium.

More features and columns will be emphasized this year. Also, a much greater use of photography will be noticed, with several full-page photo features appearing during the year.

A publications schedule will be sent to all major campus organizations; the schedule will show all publication dates of the paper, and give deadlines for submitting material. Roy Lathrop, editor, had this to say concerning the publication schedule: "We are putting out this schedule so that each organization can plan to have their important news submitted by the deadline . . . we urge each group to appoint or elect a reporter, for otherwise we cannot possibly promise that your news will appear in the paper."

Mail boxes have been placed on all office doors, and these can be used by those submitting copy when the staff is not in the offices.

At the end of the summer, it was discovered that the fee increase to cover operating costs of THE TECHNICIAN (recommended as 65 cents per student per year by the Student Government last spring) was not granted for the fall semester. Lathrop, commenting on the expected increase, said:

"We were greatly disappointed that our paper would not have available this additional, much-needed income . . . costs for printing and mailing have risen, and no newspaper can expect to expand or increase its service on inadequate budgets. We are hoping that the State and Consolidated University officials will understand our pressing need, and perhaps next semester grant us this truly realistic increase."

What A Sight

We are re-opening a subject which has been batted around for many years past . . . we are re-opening the subject because, after all these years, the situation of campus appearance is still being hampered by people who are either stubborn or stupid or both.

It is true that State has taken great strides in improving our campus. The Maintenance and Operations Department has worked diligently this past summer trying to straighten up the campus.

But what is the use of planting great expanses of grass only to surround them with ugly, grubby, hit-or-miss fences!? This is not a small, petty problem . . . thousands of students see this mess every day, and so do hundreds of important visitors and parents.

Last year, during Parents' Weekend, many of us were embarrassed to hear critical comments about the fences which wiggle all over the campus. The madmen who construct these fences aren't even consistent . . . falling back on the claim that "we've got to use whatever is on hand."

Well, that "whatever is on hand" evidently comes from the trash piles and our experimental farms. The fences (which are constructed to save the beautiful grass) are made up of a hodge-podge of railroad ties, chicken wire, rusty single-strand wire, broken boards smeared with brown paint, etc.

Granted, some way must be found to stop the thoughtless student from making new scars across the grass. But maybe these fences are constructed to show the students in Landscape Architecture how NOT to design their projects . . . or to show the Civil Engineers the worst possible materials . . . or to show the Agriculture students how NOT to put up a sturdy fence around grazing lands.

We are making two suggestions. First, perhaps better planning could be used in placing walkways, so that the students would not have to take the "long way around" to get someplace. For example it has been proved that diagonals are the shortest routes between two corners . . . an outstanding example which has violated this axiom can be seen in the quadrangle between the 1911 Building and the Cafeteria.

We hear that our sister institution, Women's College, has solved this problem partially . . . every where a new path starts developing across the grass, they use the simple expedient of putting a PAVED path there . . . you might call this "functional design." Personally, we'd rather have many, many walkways rather than ugly fences.

Our second suggestion came to mind after noticing how Duke 'College' protects their grassy areas. They also have barriers to keep the Duke gentlemen from trampling on Nature . . . but they consist of narrow, solid-iron posts about four feet high, with a chain draped between each post. The whole structure is painted green and presents a neat, orderly appearance . . . surely State's men could get the hint from this as well as Chicken wire!

If anyone in authority is interested, we are getting the cost of these iron posts and chains from Duke . . . perhaps the Senior Class can afford this as their gift if our college is too poor. —RL

Keeping Up-To-Date

By Chuck Lombard

How should we punish a State man who, being several sheets to the wind, lies down in Hillsboro Street to see if the traffic will stop?

On quick appraisal this seems a ridiculous question. The offense, if properly it can be called that, seems rather trivial. Yet our Judicial Board in the past saw fit to deem this very act an offense to the Campus Code. Such behavior was thought to constitute ungentlemanly conduct, a punishable crime.

"Was not our court rather despotic in punishing for such a simple prank", we might ask? Everyone knows that it was great stuff when in the 1920's some jokers in gay celebration got a cow up on the roof of Pullen Hall! Nobody really griped then.

The answer which we must find to our question will, I fear, be sad. We no longer live in the glorious days of bathtub gin, raccoon coats, and speak-easies. We don't swallow goldfish with cheap champagne either. And if we tried to set up a still in the chem lab on a Saturday afternoon, you know how far we'd get.

Yes, it is before us, the times have changed. Our population density has increased by leaps and bounds. Social, technological evolution has handed us a much more encompassing and inhibiting Law. Such is our position in society.

It is perhaps dissatisfying to us but surely self-evident that we must expect the same behavior of college men as we expect of society as a whole . . . and that colleges must have similar laws.

If a Raleigh citizen lies down in alcoholic bliss on the city street he would end up in city court for disorderly conduct, endangering life and property, and probably public drunkenness.

So we can see that our boy, in the light of the world, got off easy—actually getting only a reprimand, it being his first offense at the college.

Yes, it is sad. But we must admit our 'disadvantage' and protect what freedom we have left.

The way to do this is to examine our every action in the light of the existing law of our times and not of our fathers. That way, we can at least stay out of trouble and relish the measured joys to us remaining!

Letters to the Editor

Comments On Columnist & Fraternities

Dear Editor:

At first glance, I was particularly pleased with the first issue of THE TECHNICIAN, especially with the opportunity for our parents to be able to subscribe to our college newspaper and share with us the experiences and happenings at North Carolina State College.

Then I read "Way Out" with John Cocks. I only hope now that such "perverted literature" can be kept from the parents of students at State College, expressly the parents of our co-eds, even if it means sacrificing the entire TECHNICIAN.

Joe E. Dixon

Editor's Note:

It is with real interest that we read the letter above; it is with interest and pleasure that we answer it.

We do not apologize for John Cocks' column, "Way Out." On the contrary, it is our opinion that this piece of writing rises far above the trite expression of the college English theme which Mr. Dixon seems to prefer.

Not only has Mr. Cocks done a fine piece of satirical take-off on modern writers, he has at the same time managed to take an amusing swat at all the organizations which scream at freshmen to 'Join Now' . . . his malice was not directed either to the College Union or to our co-eds. We personally believe the College Union serves a very fine purpose on campus, offering many students valuable outside activity . . . and the co-eds also serve a very fine purpose, and we only wish there were more of them.

We do not believe that either the co-eds or the parents of State students will be shocked nearly so much as Old Woman Dixon. The parents, co-eds, and probably even Mr. Dixon have all been exposed voluntarily to much rougher language if they watch TV or attend movies or have ever read anything by that wicked man, Ernest Hemingway.

Take solace, Mr. Dixon, in realization that there are other prudes and out-to-lunch idealists in this society . . . perhaps you can get together with them and read nursery rhymes while the rest of us live in the 20th Century.

Dear Editor:

As President of the I. F. C., I would like to take this opportunity to welcome all of the new students to our campus. Since "Rush Week" is just around the corner, I believe that it would be beneficial to all of those concerned (this includes prospective rushees) if I gave a quick run-down on the rushing rules and the enforcement of them.

The first and newest rule is that of compulsory visitation of at least four houses before a man can be pledged. During the sign-up period, the rushees will be given date cards which will have to be signed by four fraternities' officers. When the rushee takes his acceptance or rejection of bids to 206 Holladay Hall, he will then turn in his date card with the four signatures on it. This rule was not made to complicate matters, but to offer the rushee opportunity to meet more people and learn more about all of the fraternities.

Since there will be no planned parties with combos and girls Wednesday and Thursday of "Rush Week", most of the fraternities will probably have "smokers." I believe that these two days are the most important days of "Rush Week." The rushees will be able to familiarize themselves more with the fraternities and their members as well as the members being able to look over the rushees.

Bids must be either accepted or rejected within a period from Thursday, October 2 until noon Saturday, October 4. During this week after "Rush Week" proper, the fraternity men will not be able to contact directly or indirectly any freshman. This will enable the freshman to make a more liberal decision (and believe me, the decision you make will be one of the most important steps in your college career).

The above rules are not the only rules we have for "Rush Week", but are probably the most important. I must emphasize the fact that IFC investigations committee, which is headed this year by our rush chairman, Elvey Thomas, will be investigating at all times to make sure that these rules are abided by in their entirety.

The world of the Greeks is a fascinating and enchanting world. I hope that all of you who are not involved in it will take the opportunity to look into its realms and seek out that which is to your liking.

I'll see you "Rush Week".

Larry Carter,
Pres. of I.F.C.

Procedure For Obtaining Football Tickets Outlined By Department

In the past there has been a great deal of confusion on the part of State College students, over the purchase of football tickets. It seems that the procedure is never clearly understood by the student body, especially the freshman class, as it is always a new encounter for them.

Last year there was the issue of date tickets, which caused many conflicting disappointments for student supporters. Recently, the Athletic Department released an outline for the procedure to be followed in purchasing tickets, and it is hoped that by printing this information, many students will benefit.

For the N. C. State versus Carolina game, September 20, at 2:00 p.m., a General Admission coupon may be secured at Window No. 2, Reservations, in front of the Coliseum, for $1.00, upon presentation of the student's Athletic Ticket. Issuing dates are from September 15 through September 19, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Date tickets will be priced at $4.50 each. It is very important to note that, "Date tickets may be used ONLY by someone of the opposite sex, within the same age bracket." This last article, quoted from the text of the release, is one which caused much of the confusion last year.

A student's coupon will be exchanged for a reserved seat stub at Kenan Stadium, Chapel Hill, at Gate No. 1 between 12:00 Noon and 2:00 p.m., September 20. Round-trip buses will leave at 12:00 Noon from the front of the Coliseum, Saturday, for any student who needs transportation. Bus tickets may be picked up at Room 100, in the Coliseum, on Wednesday, September 17, from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

A student must present his Athletic Ticket when picking up a ticket for home football games. Married students can purchase a season ticket for their wives from the Coliseum Box Office for $6.00.

Following is a brief outline with information on all home games.

Game	Date	Date Tickets	Issuing Dates
Maryland	Sept. 27	$4.00	Sept. 22 thru Sept. 26 (8:30 A.M.-4:30 P.M.)
V.P.I.	Nov. 1	1.00	Oct. 27 thru Oct. 31 (8:30 A.M.-4:30 P.M.)
Clemson	Nov. 15	4.00	Nov. 10 thru Nov. 14 (8:30 A.M.-4:30 P.M.)

Wolfpack Sports Open To Frosh

All State College Freshmen are cordially invited by the Athletic Department to participate in Wolfpack sports. It is the belief of State College officials that there are many potential athletes here at State, that are not presently on any team roster; The Athletic Department would like to encourage any interested student who feels he could possibly contribute to Wolfpack athletics to try out for the particular sport he is interested in.

Information pertaining to each of the fall sports is listed below:

Football: Report to Coach John Clements at Freshman Field (located behind the Coliseum) after 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Office telephone number TE 2-6934.

Cross Country: Report to Coach Mike Shea at the Track Field from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. Office telephone number TE 4-5211, extension 218.

Soccer: Report to Coach Bill Leonhardt at Gymnasium after 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. Practice starts Monday, September 15.

Wrestling: Report to Coach Al Crawford in the basement of the Coliseum starting October 6. Call TE 4-5211, extension 350 for further information.

Swimming: Report to Coach Willis Casey at the swimming pool in Frank Thompson Gym starting Monday, September 22, at 4:00 p.m. Office telephone number is TE 2-2407.

Orientation Week

REPRINTED FROM

Top Leaders Cited

In order for the new orientation week to be effective, it was necessary for about one hundred State upperclassmen to return to school early last week. These men, under the leadership of Student Orientation Chairman Gilbert Alligood, were instrumental in showing the new students "the college way of life."

The following is a list of the student group leaders:

- Ernest A. Anderson, Route 2, Wilmington; Peter R. Antoniewicz, Salisbury; Ernest S. Arthur, Greensboro; Charles D. Averette, Elizabethtown; Preston C. Baker, Drexel; Larry B. Baxter, Route 1, Cherryville; Robert L. Beadles, Route 3, Hayesville; Robert E. Beasley, Route 3, Hayesville; Jon M. Bell, Route 3, Hayesville; Richard F. Bethune, Winston-Salem; Donald B. Blacklock, Route 2, Angier; Gordon R. Bond, Bluefield, W. Va.; Nelson A. Bradley, Bluefield, W. Va.; Java O'Neil Cary, Route 5, Burlington; John P. Carlton, Pinetop; Jon C. Cates, Burlington; Robert M. Chiles, Sanford; Oren B. Cooke, Route 1, Maiden; Bobby F. Croom, Route 4, Zebulon; Finn B. Cullom, Wilson.
- John A. Edmondson, Gainesville, Ga.; Marvin McEl. Everett, Robersonville; Alan G. Feinster, Route 3, Taylorsville; Donald E. Fountain, Wilmington; John D. Fulton, Norton, Va.; Robert E. Theta Chi Gains Scholastic Award

Delta Rho chapter of the Theta Chi Fraternity at N. C. State recently received from the Grand Chapter two significant awards, given by the fraternity each year.

The Stanford Scholarship Award was won by Delta Rho for having a commendable scholastic average, based on Theta Chi chapters throughout the nation. For making exceptional progress during the school year 1957-58 the Sidney Lewis Award was awarded the Delta Rho chapter.

The trophies were awarded at the 102nd annual national convention held at Michigan State University.
