CU, Technician Fees To Be Studied; Hunt Encourages Student Interest

Hunt: 'Attend Hearing or Quit Gripping About $15'

"I think the one gripe I hear most consistently on this campus is concerned with the $43 per year we pay into student activities fees, and particularly concerning the $15 per year of this that goes to the College Union. Your gripes are probably partially justified and partly due to a lack of information as to where the money goes and how it is spent.

"We are at present attempting to correct this situation. Three weeks ago I appointed a special Student Government Committee to study activity fee allocations. It has two purposes: (1) to study and recommend to the Legislature needed fee allocation changes, and (2) to give you as students a chance to ask questions and give your opinions concerning how this money should be spent.

"Tuesday night at 7:00 at the College Union the $15 per year that you pay to the College Union will be considered. C. U. officials and staff will be present and a very detailed study of where this money goes and whether or not it is the most justifiable amount needed will be made.

"All students interested in this allocation and C. U. operations should be present and will be allowed to ask any questions and make all comments they consider pertinent to the study. If you don't know where your money is going and/or if you think you are paying too much into the C. U., come to this hearing. Ask your questions and expound your gripes.

"Hearings on other allocations will be held throughout this semester. You are invited and urged to attend all of them possible. The Technician will list the date and topic for each meeting.

"Most of you have complained about your student activity fees, especially the College Union $15. Student Government is now giving you an opportunity to do something about it.

"It is fair for you to kick if you are willing to do something constructive when you get the chance. Here is your chance!

"Either attend the hearing Tuesday night or quit gripping about your $15."

In Coliseum

Ice Show Begins Tuesday

A troupe of 125 of the world's top skating artists arrived today in preparation for Tuesday's opening of "Ice Capades of 1959" in the Coliseum at State College.

A special train bearing the skating stars and the Ice Capades stage equipment is scheduled to reach Raleigh's Seaboard Station Monday at 6:53 p.m. The big ice show is moving here from Springfield, Mass., where it just presented a successful run.

Seven performances of Ice Capades, the world's biggest ice show, will be presented beginning Tuesday, December 9, and continuing through Saturday, December 13.

Heading the list of stars will be Bobby Specht, 17-year veteran of Ice Capades; Cathy Machado, who last summer won the world Women's singles skating championship; and Ronnie Robertson, dubbed the "human blur," who last summer captured the world men's single championship.

Also cast in starring roles will be Helga, three-time German national champion; the "Old Smoothies," Orrin Markhus and Irma Thomas; Romayne and Steele; Jimmy Grogan; Freddie Trenkler; Eric Waite; and Sandy Culbertson, Chicago native who will play the role of Snow White in Ice Capades.

Representing an investment of approximately $1,000,000, Ice Capades is produced by John H. Harris, noted Hollywood and Pittsburgh theater executive.

The 2½-hour production will open its State College engagement with a full-length show Tuesday, December 9, at 8:30 p.m.

Evening performances will be staged Tuesday, December 9, through Saturday, December 13, at 8:30 each night. Matinees are scheduled for Friday, December 12, at 3:30 and Saturday, December 13, at 2:30 o'clock.

Elementary and high school children will be admitted at a price to the Friday matinee.

Seats are available in the Coliseum for approximately 70,000 people during the five-day stand of Ice Capades in Raleigh.

Fast-moving comedy, ballet, opera, and fantasy numbers constitute the nine major acts and productions in this year's Ice Capades show.

Big production numbers in Ice Capades are "Les Sylphides," "Salute to the Black Watch," "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," "Cavalcade of Hits" spotlighting the most popular musical selections of the last 50 years chosen by America's top disc jockeys; "Anchors Away," "Sampson and Delilah," Pagliacci, Faust, and La Boheme.

Top Skating Star In Coliseum Show

Bobby Specht, noted skating star, will be featured in several numbers when "Ice Capades of 1959" presents seven performances in the Reynolds Coliseum at State College December 9-13. Specht has been a hit in previous appearances at the

S. G. Investigations Open To All Students

Last Tuesday night, December 2, the Special Committee to investigate student activity fees held its first open hearing. In this initial hearing the budgets and finances of the Music Department, WKNC, and the Tower (the school publication) were brought before the investigating committee.

The purpose of this investigation is not to reduce or to raise the amount of money now being allocated; rather the purpose is to determine whether or not the money being allocated to the various organizations is sufficient or being used carelessly or unwisely.

Tomorrow night, Tuesday, December 9, at 7:00 p.m., the second open hearing will be held in Room 248 in the College Union. At this time the College Union will present the details of its financial summary. On Thursday night The Technician's financial structure will be reviewed. This year's C. U. budget is approximately one quarter million dollars, of which about one-third comes from student activity fees.

All students interested in where their money goes and how it is spent are urged to attend these hearings and ask any questions pertaining to the investigation.

Textile Chem. Head To Talk In Atlanta

The possibilities of applying nuclear techniques to textile industrial operations will be reviewed in a talk by a State College professor in Atlanta, Ga., Saturday.

The speaker will be Prof. Henry A. Rutherford, director of chemical research and head of the Department of Textile Chemistry in the School of Textiles.

He will address a meeting of the Southeastern Section of the American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists in the Atlanta Athletic Club.

State College currently is doing a wide range of research relating to the application of atomic energy to the textile industry.

Campus Crier

There will be a meeting of the American Society of Metals on Tuesday, December 9, at 7:30 p.m., in Room 103 of Page Hall. Agromeck pictures will be made at this meeting.

The N. C. State chapter of Demolay will hold its final meeting before Christmas on Tuesday, December 9, at 7 p.m., in 108 Polk Hall. The ceremony for associate members will be presented, and final plans for the Christmas Dance will be discussed. All Demolays on campus are invited to attend.

The Ag Club will meet Tuesday night, December 9, in the College Union Theater, at 7 p.m. It will be the Annual Family Night. The program will consist of the Rex Hospital Glee Club, a group of 60 girls, singing Christmas carols and some popular music.

There will be a service in the Danforth Chapel on Wednesday, December 10, from 12:40 until 1:00 p.m. The speaker will be Reverend Gaylord Noyce, the minister of the United Christian Church and chaplain to Congregational students. The music for the service will be provided by the Danforth Chapel Choir. This is the last service before the holidays and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

There will be a short meeting of the AIEE-IRE on Tuesday, 242 of Riddick Hall. Plans for the Engineers Fair will be discussed, and Agromeck pictures will be taken. All members are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

There will be a meeting of the ASCE on Tuesday, December 9, at 7 p.m. in the Mann Hall Auditorium. Dr. M. E. Uyanik will speak on geodesic structures.

All CE's and their guests are invited to attend. A special welcome is extended to any Architecture students who may be interested in this subject.

The Graduate Dames Club will hold its regular meeting on Tuesday, December 9, at 8 p.m. in the College Union. After the business meeting there will be a Christmas Party. Everyone attending is asked to bring a 25¢ gift.

Dr. John W. Shirley will speak in the College Union Ballroom on Wednesday, December 10, at 8 p.m. He will talk on his recent trip to the Soviet Union and the USSR educational system. His talk will include slides of the five-week trip, illustrating the most important aspects of his trip. The event is sponsored by the College Union Forum Committee.

Mr. L. H. Blackwell of the Balfour Company will be at the College Union from 9:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. on Tuesday, December 9, to take orders for class rings. This is the last day

SG Creates Group To Name Cheerers

A committee to select the State cheerleaders was created at the December 24 meeting of the Student Government.

The meeting was called to order by Vice President Eddie Knox.

Knox then appointed the freshman senators to posts on the various committees. The following senators were appointed: Investigations—Nurham Warwick, Linda Wey, Henry Lovin; Campus Welfare; Jerry Cebe, William Porter; Academic Affairs—James Morris, Robin Best; Budgetry and Finance—Jim Caldwell, Walter Duckworth; Rules—Ron Enders, Wesley McGee, Alvin Woods; Promotions—Jim Groce, Samuel Jenkins.

Next, Treasurer Larry Baxter announced that there is $208.55 in the Student Government fund and $282.72 in the Student Activity fund.

Senator Russell of the Investigations committee submitted resolution 7-1, which passed.

Resolution 7-1: Whereas, in the past there has been no definite or continuing policy for electing or selecting cheerleaders, therefore be it Resolved, that a committee of nine (9) appointed by the president of the N. C. State Student Body and approved by the Student Legislature, select the cheerleaders. This committee shall consist of the following:

- 1) 6 members from the campus-at-large.
- 2) 3 officials of the faculty or administration, of which one must be a member of the athletic department.

cheerleaders based on tryout performances and the selected cheerleaders shall select their head cheerleader. In addition to selecting the cheerleaders the committee shall have the following power:

- 1) to determine the number of cheerleaders.
- 2) attendance regulations.
- 3) recall of cheerleaders.

Mintz Elected Head of Group to Choose State Chancellor

The 15-man committee named to recommend a new chancellor for State held its first meeting at the college Friday morning and elected Rudolph I. Mintz of Wilmington as its chairman.

President William Friday of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, who appointed the committee to help him select a new head for State College, met with the committee.

All 15 members of the committee attended the session. Mintz, the chairman, is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Consolidated University, a former president of the State College General Alumni Association, and a Wilmington attorney.

The committee is composed of an equal number of alumni, trustees, and faculty members.

Mintz said the first committee session was devoted to setting up the committee organization and procedures.

A second meeting will be held about the middle of January,

Now's Your Chance...

At long last we are being given the opportunity to bring our complaints into the open, to express our opinion, to offer suggestions, and to ask questions.

Ever since the College Union moved into its new building students have mumbled and groaned about the fifteen dollar fee, saying, among other things, that they are not getting their money's worth. Probably the most controversial of Student Government's investigations will take place tomorrow night (Tuesday) as the Special Committee to investigate student activities fees looks into the huge C.U. budget.

Few of us ever realize the tremendous scope of our College Union's activities... or the corresponding cost of such a varied program. Some maintain that the College Union runs on a "luxury" budget, affording anything, while other student organizations are literally facing financial starvation. Others say that students should somehow be made to realize the opportunities for participation in the C.U.'s vast program which is one of the most extensive in American colleges.

There are many arguments both for and against the fee being as high as $15. However, we do not want here to pass any sort of judgment until you, the students concerned, have the opportunity to see for yourself just how the budget is structured... and then decide if the expenditures are justified.

The hearings tomorrow night are open to the entire student body, and they will be held on the third floor of the College Union building. President Hunt, in a page one statement this issue, strongly urges full student participation in these hearings, for only then will the "gripings" of past years reflect any true student concern. We want to add our full endorsement to the Student Government investigations.

The College Union has an annual budget of about $250,000... one quarter million dollars, of which about one-third comes from student-paid fees and the remainder from snack bar, games, and other programmed revenue. In Thursday's issue we plan to run this entire budget... but until then, take the opportunity to see for yourself Tuesday night.

... And Ours Too

This week The Technician fee will also be discussed in a S.G. hearing, open, like all the rest, to the student body. This hearing will be Thursday night.

We sincerely welcome the opportunity to air the newspaper's financial set-up. Already the S.G. has recommended an increase in the student fee to be paid to The Technician; this action was taken last year, but as yet has not been acted upon by the proper authorities.

Last year, our paper operated in the red, to the extent of about seven hundred dollars. At one point, we had to stop mailing issues to off-campus students... because our money simply ran out. S.G. helped us out by giving us an emergency appropriation of five hundred dollars.

Each of you are paying $1.15 to get a year's subscription to the newspaper... you were paying exactly the same thing several years ago when we had only one issue per week! Since then, costs have risen... for printing, for mailing, for supplies, for circulation, and in many other areas.

Drop by Thursday... we want to prove our need.

The new class attendance policy has been duly passed and in effect for weeks. It was initiated by the Student Government and endorsed by the Faculty Senate (or vice versa), and it received the Chancellor's stamp of approval. Further attack on the system would be senseless and futile. But considerable effort is to be expended before the system is workable and satisfactory; this is evident when one observes similar circumstances on other campuses.

Carolina, after heated debate much the same that has been widespread at State, adopted a system precisely the same as ours. It hasn't worked. Some professors immediately began abusing their new power, creating a situation that has been so vigorously decry on this page. In an interview with The Daily Tarheel, U.N.C. professor Dr. John C. Kuntsman said: "... if he (the student) has something more useful and productive to do than attend a lecture once in a while, I see no reason why he shouldn't absent himself." Unfortunately, few professors at either U.N.C. or State possess an attitude this liberal relative to class attendance, and their stringency is the undesirable factor of the new system.

Duke University has also been in similar turmoil. In an editorial in The Duke Chronicle, advocating retention of a system like our old one, and aptly titled "Maintain the Status Quo" it is well stated: "A University is an institution where students should learn to make value judgments, learn the art of self-discipline, and learn the worth of classroom lectures and discussions. If students attend class only because the rules force them to, they aren't learning to make judgments at all. They are only puppets... after two years we feel that the student is in a position to begin learning by himself and to prepare on his own for the unrestricted life after graduation."

But our system is in effect. It could be a good thing; it could provide the necessary parental control for freshmen during the transitional period between high school and college; it could provide the necessary freedom and personal responsibility for upperclassmen; it could be a decisive step toward unlimited cuts as at Harvard and Yale. The new system must be approached with a positive, liberal attitude by both faculty and students. Its success depends on the sense of responsibility of the students and the necessary tolerance of the faculty. And its success or failure will be significant.

The I.F.C. did not meet last week so there is no report from our "leaders" tonight. You all know this coming Friday night is the annual Christmas party time, so I need not expound on that subject. Seems like everybody wants to study for those few (6 or 7) quizzes we're getting crammed in here before the holidays.

While rummaging through some old paper I found something that interested me and would like to pass it on. The article was entitled "What the Nation's Leaders are Saying About Fraternities," and here are a few excerpts: "I liked fraternity life in college, and I still think it is a highly satisfactory institution. There is no better way of getting edges knocked off or of developing the male animal into a social human being."—former Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

"Nearly everything satisfactory and good that has come to me in my life has come to me because I joined a college fraternity... Most of my truly close friends came to me because of it. I believe the positive and obvious benefits of the fraternity system far outweigh its disadvantages."—the late George Macy, founder and head of the Limited Editions Club, the Heritage Book Club, and the George Macy Companies.

"Fraternities and the fraternity system are a distinctive and praiseworthy feature of American college life. Both as a fraternity man and as an educator, I firmly believe in the value of fraternities when they are properly managed and under good leadership."—Dr. Walter C. Langsam, president of the University of Cincinnati. It pleased me to see this, and I'm sure it pleases all fraternity men that these opinions are held by such prominent men.

The Damn Drunks

By Chuck Lombard

"We're all animals," mumbled the drunk profoundly in his beer. "But they don't understand the difference. They just don't understand, them and their damn morality." So he sat there and drank some more and pondered his fate. He wondered what kind of a world he was in, as drunks always will wonder. The poor damn drunks.

But as you sit there near him and listen to his at once pitiable and then comic reflections you're sort of glad for the damn drunks. Glad like you're glad there are drunks and that they're always profound, that is. Yes, it's a good thing we have the drunks.

Khrushchev wants to get rid of the drunks in Russia, you know. Drunks talk too much, always thinking are the drunks, always thinking.

Probably a lot of people think about things, things beside how they're going to make their damn bread, I mean. But most of them just don't make it, they can't get it out. Timid, I guess. You know how it is, society and all that bull. Like you're supposed to worship ignorance like all the rest of the ignorant do.

You can understand the point easily enough. Actually the only damn smart thing the dumb-coughs every thought of (maybe they didn't really think of it but it's just sort of natural like coming in out of the rain) was how to bully the smart guys in to playing dumb also. Very nice situation, everybody as dumb as everybody else—nobody getting ahead of anybody else, at least none of the smart ones getting ahead. Yes, very good for the dumb-coughs.

But these damn drunks I was telling you about are bad actors, the drunks are. All the time trying to think, the drunks. But that isn't the half of it. The damn drunks can't keep their stinking mouths shut either. All the time mumbling about morality and what a damn stupid world it is. And all full of stupid people too.

But that's the shame of it, I guess. I wonder if the drunks think about that too. How it's only when they're drunk that they dare to think, or at least to express themselves. Maybe that's why they drink, so they can dare to express themselves.

Pack Boosts Streak To Three Straight Wins

Terps Bow 55-53 In ACC Opener

The State College Wolfpack opened its 1958 Atlantic Coast Conference play by defeating the Maryland Terps, last year's Conference Champs, by a score of 55-53.

The win was the second of the season for the State squad in as many starts. Led by flashy Lou Pucillo, the Wolfpack broke a 53-53 tie with just 3 seconds remaining in the game to claim the conference win.

With three seconds remaining, Pucillo made good a 25-foot one-hander from the sideline. With that the game ended and the Wolfpack emerged the victor.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Lou Pucillo . . . 5-9, 157 pounds, a senior of Philadelphia, Pa. The Wolfpack's flashy little playmaker, an All-America candidate, has been outstanding in the three contests to date.

Pucillo, the shortest player ever to receive a scholarship under the Case regime, has become the most colorful and exciting player ever to don a Wolfpack uniform. (See story adjoining).

In goes the ball over outstretched fingers of Deacon guard Charles Forte (25). Making the shot is State's Bob MacGillivray, as Richter and Deacons Odom and Budd look on. MacGillivray scored 8 points in the 56-52 Wolfpack victory.

Deacs Fall 56-52 In Two Overtimes

The Wolfpack boosted its winning streak to three straight Saturday night as they edged the Demon Deacons of Wake Forest 56-52, in two overtimes.

A crowd of 13,000 eager fans saw the State squad claim its third win of the season, two of them conference victories. Scoring his only basket of the night, guard Dan Englehardt put the Wolfpack ahead with just 1:34 left in the second overtime. Seconds later, sophomore Mark Reiner put the finishing touches on with two free throws that put the score at 56-52, and there the game ended.

John Richter, the Wolfpack's big center collected 20 points for the night to top the scoring. In the three State games to date, Richter has claimed the high scoring honors (against Maryland he shared this distinction with guard Lou Pucillo).

The Wolfpack's next game will be with the Clemson Tigers December 9, in Clemson, S. C.

Wolfpack center John Richter (25) goes up to tap in two more points in Saturday's win over the Wake Forest Deacons, 56-52. Looking on are State's Mark Reiner (12), Bob MacGillivray (22), and Deacon Alley Hart (11).

Lou Pucillo . . . "He Can Beat You Without Scoring A Point."

By Bill Hensley

Bones McKinney, a man who appreciates talented basketball players, saw one of his favorite stars in action Saturday night. But the little man was wearing a State College uniform.

McKinney has been high in his praise of the Wolfpack's Lou Pucillo, a 5-foot-9 ball-handling, jump-shooting whiz.

"I have always said that Lou is one of the most clever players in the game today," McKinney reiterated. "He can beat you without scoring a point."

Pucillo scored only 13 points in State's 70-54 win over Penn State in the season's opener, but his needle-threading passing led to ten assists, an item which is often overlooked in this day of run and shoot basketball.

Coach Everett Case calls the terrific mighty mite "one of the greatest basketball players I've ever seen, much less coached." That in itself is a great tribute.

Pucillo is without question the most colorful and exciting player ever to don a Wolfpack uniform. The things he can do with a basketball must be described as incredible.

Case says when Pucillo is in the game it's like having a player-coach on the floor. "He has an uncanny knack for knowing what to do and when to do it," the veteran coach declares. "I wouldn't trade that little boy for any player in the country."

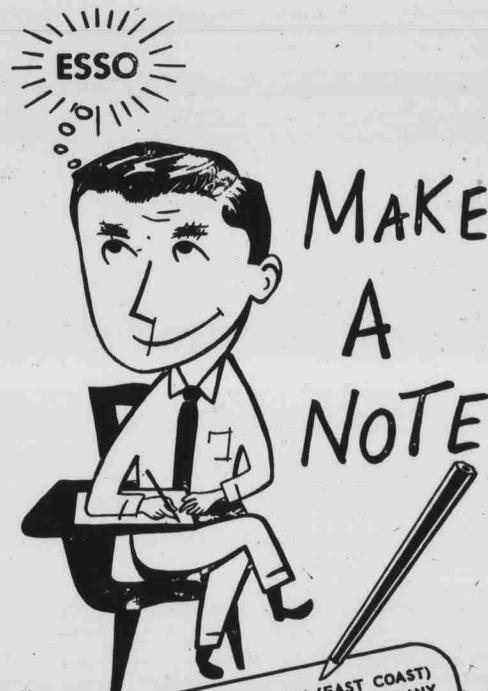

Like McKinney said, Pucillo is a valuable asset even if he does not score a point. His play-making is sensational, his passing and ball-handling fantastic and his shooting amazing. A one-man show, he already has earned a spot among State's all-time greats, and that includes a sparkling list of All-Americans.

-Football Highlights-

Guard Bill Rearick has been added to the South's grid roster for the Blue-Gray game in Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 27. He joins teammate Ken Trowbridge on the squad.

Other Wolfpack players who will make post-season appearances are Bob Pepe, East-West game and Senior Bowl game; and Joe Rodri, North-South game.

North Carolina State's football team will hold its annual banquet Monday night, Dec. 8, at the Carolina Country Club in Raleigh. Honored guests for the occasion will be the graduating seniors. Included in that group are Bob Pepe, Jim Crain, Finley Read, Larry Dixon, Bill Rearick, Joe Rodri, Frank Cackovic, Don Hafer, Jim Sherron, Ron Savage, Ernie Driscoll and Ken Trowbridge.

FIRE HAZARD—During the past few days the nation has heard a great deal about the tragic school fire in Chicago. This event has dramatized as nothing else would do what can happen if a school building catches fire. This fall there have been a number of small "prank type" fires set in our dormitories and in our trash disposal units. The city fire department has been called to the campus numerous times for these "so-called stunts", and as a result we may lose their services when we need them for a major emergency. There is always a danger that ANY fire can develop into a disaster. All students are urged to do everything possible to prevent fire. We are sure that the majority of State students will do all they can to stop those who endanger lives and property by setting fires in dormitories and trash piles. The College does not consider playing with fire a prank and must take action if anyone is caught setting a fire of any kind. We hope it will not be necessary to do so. Everyone is urged to cooperate and help prevent such thoughtless action which can lead to disaster.

STUDENTS FROM OTHER COUNTRIES—Each year a number of foreign students and some of them with families remain in dormitories or Raleigh residences during the Christmas holidays. A number of Raleigh families have already expressed a desire to entertain foreign students in their homes. These range all the way from an invitation for dinner with a family in Raleigh to a family who would like to have two foreign students to come and spend several days in their home near Raleigh. Dr. Roy N. Anderson, Foreign Student Adviser, needs to know which foreign students would be interested in receiving an invitation to an American home for a dinner or a party. Please call at Dr. Anderson's office, Room 238 in the 1911 Bldg., or telephone State College extension 478 to give him this information.

All activities announcements should be turned into the College Union Main Desk by 2:00 p.m. on Fridays, and must be written out and signed. The NEWSLETTER will be published for delivery on Monday of each week and delivered to the entire State College Campus. The Green Student Affairs Bulletin, published by the Dept. of Counseling, will henceforth carry official announcements for State College students other than announcements of activities, meetings, etc.

ATTN: PRESIDENTS OF CLUBS AND ORGANIZATIONS—This is to remind you that all social functions to which girls are invited must be registered with the Student Activities Office, 208 Holladay Hall (TE 4-5211, Ext. 215), by 5:00 p.m., of the Wednesday immediately preceding the event. This is done to conform to the regulations of the several girls' schools who require our approval of such events before their students can attend them. Give time, location and chaperons when registering an event.

CHAPEL SERVICES will be held in Danforth Chapel in the YMCA Bldg. on Wed., December 10, from 12:40 to 1:00 p.m.

PAYMENT OF SPRING TERM TUITION AND FEES—All students now enrolled will receive, prior to Jan. 10, bills for spring term tuition and fees. PAYMENT SHOULD BE MAILED TO THE BUSINESS OFFICE NOT LATER THAN JANUARY 20. STUDENTS WHO FAIL TO MEET THIS SCHEDULE MAY BE DELAYED AND INCONVENIENCED AT REGISTRATION TIME. For many years students at State College had to stand in long lines in order to pay their bills on registration day. The pre-paying system was established so that students could complete registration with the minimum of difficulty and delay. All Students who make payments according to this schedule should be able to pick up Permits to Register and register as scheduled. Permits to Register will not be issued until payment has been made.
