Pack Looks for Number One Rating; SG Head Urges Good Sportsmanship

Hunt Stresses Need For Good Student Showing

Fellow Students:

On Wednesday night of this week, as we all know, our college will play host to the basketball team from Carolina. This game promises to be one of the highlights of a thus far tremendously successful season for the basketball team and the students at State College.

Our basketball team's record I need not review for you, with wins over terrific teams from Cincinnati and Michigan State highlighting it. When national polls rate us highly we are quite willing to trust their accuracy, and by this measure we should have the number 1 basketball team in the nation.

Your own record—the record of our student body—perhaps is not quite so prominent in your minds. But let's review it.

First of all there was a spontaneous demonstration of school spirit and concern for our football coach, Earle Edwards, and his never-say-die team of this year. The whole country has now heard of the gathering of hundreds of State students to present their football coach at the end of losing season (game-wise) with a dummy reading "Edwards is no dummy!"

This was a show of students appreciation and recognition of good sportsmanship and in turn an evidence of such, that has seldom been equalled by a student body in the country.

For a whole day on December 11th it snowed in Raleigh—to such a depth that traffic was barely moving. But in spite of the sub-freezing temperatures and the snow, many State College students spent long hours keeping cars moving on Hillsboro and surrounding streets by pushing them when they began sliding and lost traction. This was a commendable example of service to the citizens of Raleigh and all who were "given a push" were greatly impressed by the neighborly attitude of State College students—an excellent example of good sportsmanship.

Add to these two instances the enthusiastic but courteous behavior at football and basketball games this year of our student body and you begin to see our record—your record. I think it's a very good one of which we can be justly proud. Perhaps we aren't undefeated but we're nearly so. At this point we are probably near the top in the Atlantic Coast Conference in the race for the Good Sportsmanship Trophy.

Wednesday night the basketball team has a big game; the student body has perhaps an even bigger game. I believe the basketball team will win its game; the team and I will be mighty pleased if the student body also wins.

I suggest that we play primarily an offensive game—clapping and cheering for our own team rather than booing the Carolina team. On foul shots let's give the Carolina players a chance to shoot without being distracted—so there will be no excuse when they miss. Let's remember that in the 40 minute period of a basketball game, even our own team occasionally fouls; and reserving our disagreement for the really "bad calls" makes much more sense than consistently booing every call against us.

Yes, Wednesday night's game will be a big one. I believe we can take two wins. The basketball game I'm confident of. Let's don't make the team and ourselves ashamed of a student body loss.

S. G. Reports

Faculty Evaluation Begins

By Jim Moore

"Questionnaires for faculty evaluation will be passed out in the next few days," reported Tom Gilmore of the Promotions Committee at the meeting of the Student Government on January 8.

These evaluation forms will be passed out to each member of the faculty, who, in turn, will pass them out to students in each of his classes. After the students have had a chance to fill out these evaluation reports, they will pass them back in to the professor who will retain them for his own uses.

In the past, these evaluation reports have proved very advantageous to many of State's professors, showing them the areas of instruction where they have fallen down, as the students see it. But, what may possibly be tor, is the fact that these reports often show a professor (looking from the positive viewpoint), just what he has achieved in his aim to present the course material to the student in the most concise and clear way.

Also on the agenda of the meeting was the swearing in of a new senator from the School of Engineering, Charlie Shackelford, who was named when one of the elected senators resigned his post.

The only other major item of business to be brought up in the meeting was the report of the Investigations Committee by Senator Russell, who reported on two items which have been looked into by that Committee. First, Russell said that the matter of high prices in State's bookstore had been looked into "Personnel Relations in Industry" will be the theme of a talk to be given by a Western Electric Co. spokesman at the AIIE meeting to be held on Tuesday, January 13, 1959, at 7:00 p.m., in Room 322 Riddick Hall. All IE students are invited to attend and hear what should be an interesting talk. Plans for the Engineer's Fair will also be discussed.

Dr. Frank T. Eastwood, a well known Raleigh pediatrician, is going to be the speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Graduate Dames Club, Tuesday, January 13, at 8 p.m. in the College Union Building.

Dr. F. Burton Jones, noted topologist, will present "What is Topology" at the regular meeting of the Engineering Math Club on Tuesday, January 13 at 7:00 p.m. in Daniels 330. All students and faculty are cordially invited to attend. A brief but important business meeting will follow.

Seniors Graduating in January 1959 who will want to receive a 1959 AGROMECK must pay $2.83 at the Business Office and take their receipt for this amount to Mrs. Lucas in Room 313 of the 1911 Building between 9 and 12 a.m. Monday-Friday.

An ASCE meeting will be held Tuesday, January 13 in Mann Hall Auditorium at 7:00 p.m. Mr. George Berson of N. C. Products, Raleigh, N. C. will give a talk on prestressed concrete. There will also be a movie. Refreshments will be served.

The States Mates Club will meet in the College Union Building at 8:00 p.m. on Monday night, January 12, 1959. It will have as entertainment the N. C. State Glee Club. All N. C. State College wives are urged to attend.

Danforth Chapel will hold services on Wednesday of this week from 12:40 to 1:00 p.m. Reverend John Cobb from Holy Trinity Lutheran Church will be guest speaker. The music will

"No. 1" Hopes High As Vandy Drops Kentucky

Since 1946, the Wizard of West Raleigh, Everett N. Case, has had a taste of many victories; and now for the first time in his coaching career of the N. C. State Wolfpack, his team has high hopes for a National "first" rating. The Wolfpack, waiting impatiently in second place to move forward, was seated in this position by both the Associated Press and United Press Sports Writers.

State's hopes of attaining the glorious "first" position, rested on the fate of the Kentucky quintet and on the fate of their own fine play. Kentucky was defeated by Vanderbilt, an unranked team, 75 to 66. The Wolfpack's only defeat came from the Nationally ranked Kansas State, 58 to 55. Prior to the "rank race" between the first and second place teams, Kentucky University and N. C. State, State gained most of its National prestige by defeating Cincinnati and then Michigan State to win the Dixie Classic.

Assisting Everett Case in coaching the team to victory is Victor A. Bubas, assistant basketball coach, and Lee Terrill, freshman basketball coach. Bubas has been with the Pack for eight years and Terrill four years. Both coaches were former stars of the Wolfpack.

15th Last Day for Dorm Reservations

The priority period during which present occupants of the dormitories may reserve their same rooms will end on January 15th. All unreserved spaces will be available for reassignment to other students beginning January 19th. Students who do not reserve their rooms for the Spring Semester must vacate the room and return the keys to the Dormitory Rental Office by January 24th. Graduating seniors may occupy their rooms until January 26th.

Charge: Contempt

For those of you who have kept up with the present controversy at State Capitol, we have a special calendar on this page. For those who don't know, we advise you to read the Raleigh papers and see what the Governor thinks of public opinion... especially the opinions expressed in the Raleigh papers.

Briefly, the issue is this: The press, TV, and radio do not have adequate facilities at the Capitol for their reporting jobs; therefore, it has been recommended that an addition be made to the outside of the building, between the columns of the East Portico.

The Raleigh papers and our own School of Design have protested that the "chicken coop" addition may become more than a temporary structure, thereby ruining the looks of this fine old building and perhaps setting a precedent for further architectural irreverences.

The most interesting sidelight comes from Governor Hodges; he said, in effect, that he had not made up his mind about the advisability of the addition, but when he saw that the Raleigh papers were against it, he was all for it... inferring, of course, that he doesn't give much serious thought to press disagreement of his actions or policies.

We have a deep hope that the Raleigh papers will not drop the issue, because the proposed addition would be unfortunate in itself... but beyond that, someone has had the terrible audacity to hint that the Governor may be just a trifle arrogant.

Two Number One's

There is a whisper in the wind that Duke College may not be harboring the most perfect gentlemen in the Atlantic Coast Conference. The first indication came when they burned their coach in effigy because he didn't personally produce a winning team... the second came when one of the students at the Duke-State basketball game became so irritated with the winning Wolf-pack that he felt it his duty to foul Dan Englehardt in the closing second of the game.

Now that Duke is out of the running for the ACC sportsmanship award, we can hope our own behavior for the rest of the year will bring State even closer to the honor. Especially will we be on trial Wednesday night at the State-Carolina game... the intense rivalry tends to stir up more than ordinary emotions.

We make a plea to the whole student body to continue this year's fine record of sportsmanship Wednesday night (see Hunt's statement, lead story, page one). We'll be shooting for two goals: number one basketball team in the nation... and number one sportsmanship in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

New additions to fraternity leadership include Mark Rainey, newly-elected president of Lambda Chi Alpha, and Chuck Edwards, new Interfraternity Council representative from Alpha Gamma Rho.

Phil Gainer returned from a merry Christmas with a comprehensive list of available entertainers for the Spring I.F.C. Dance and Concert. Bands available for concert and dance: Richard Maltby, $2500; Stan Kenton, $3,000; Urby Green, $1500 for one, $1750 for both; Tony Pastor $1750; Neal Heaf-ty, $2500; Tommy Dorsey, $2500; Commanders, $1500 for one, $1750 for both; and Kai Winding, $1250 for one, $1500 for both.

Added attractions available are: The Kirby Stone Four, $1000; Something Smith and the Red Heads, $1000; Lambert Hendricks and Ross, $700; Vaughn Monroe, $1250; Sarah Vaughn, $1500; and Chris Connor, $1500. Phil also reported that the only available attraction for an afternoon concert was Joni James and the Buddy Morrow orchestra for $2500. So all you Freddy Frats look over this list and let's decide on a good band or combination and make the Spring Greeks the biggest ever.

There was a cold, light mist, and it mixed with blood on the shiny steel rails and ran down into the coarse gravel into the earth. The odor of burning human flesh mixed with the odor of spilled gasoline and nauseated one almost as much as the looters.

The ambulance hadn't arrived but the looters took pocket-books and luggage and tires. One man was removing watches and rings from the lifeless, bloody forms which covered the railroad.

The wail of an ambulance siren gathered increasing importance in distant sounds and joined the screaming of the woman and sobbing of the children. The looters left and the police and spectators arrived.

The spectators were as nauseating as the looters, but I was among their number. I had to witness death. Our cars blocked out the ambulance and added on extra murderous ten minutes to the mercy trip.

A study in human anatomy was scattered down the tracks for a half mile, and people looked and probed with their feet and commented about how awful it was. One man swore that he would "never indulge again" and another declared his need for a drink. The ambulances left and a dog found two more bodies further down the track. The child's body was severed at mid-torso and he should have been dead but his face reflected no pain and he whispered "... where's my mother ...?" A man said "My God" and another ambulance collected the bodies and sped off through the cold, misty fog.

The women and children of three families had been returning from a holiday trip to Florida in a new station wagon. They weren't guilty of drinking or reckless driving. They just didn't see the train and now they and their cars lay scattered along a half mile of railroad track.

These people weren't evil. The husband and father of three of the victims was a mechanic. He hadn't had much in life... now he had nothing.

A man said "That's the way it goes..." and a woman sobbed "Why did it have to happen... why?" These were inevitable remarks. The crowds slowly, reluctantly retreated to a nearby beer dispensary, leaving the scene to the coroners' staff and the reporters and the dawn.

This story has no moral. Neither does death.

Bob MacGillivray ... Gets The Score When It's Needed Most

By Bill Hensley

Every good basketball team has a "clutch" performer, a guy who gets a field goal when it's needed the most.

Lou Pucillo was the hero in North Carolina State's early-season squeakers over Maryland and Wake Forest, and Dan Englehardt turned the trick against Clemson.

But the hottest Wolfpack clutch performer in recent games has been forward Bob MacGillivray, a handsome 6-foot-4 blonde who has come through like money from home.

The sure-shooting Scot, who last year led all Wolfpack shooters with a 49 per cent accuracy mark, came into the limelight during the recent Dixie Classic and was State's second-leading tournament scorer behind Lou Pucillo.

In the Classic, Mac hit 20 points in a 67-61 overtime win over Louisville, 16 in the thrilling 69-60 triumph over top-ranked Cincinnati, and 12 in the championship tilt against Michigan State.

With a fired-up Virginia team fighting hard for an upset, it was MacGillivray's key baskets which enabled State to push its season record to 10-1 with a 73-68 victory. In that game, the Dorchester, Mass., senior buck-eted 14 points.

In 11 games, MacGillivray has accounted for 116 points, an average of 10.5 per contest. That places him third in the Wolfpack scoring column back of John Richter and Lou Pucillo.

MacGillivray has attempted 94 shots this season and hit on 43 for a 46 per cent accuracy mark.

Coach Everett Case has been high in his praise of his starting forward. "Bob seems to improve with each game," he said. "He has shown a tremendous amount of hustle."

Mac is a tough man to defend against. It's doubtful that any opponent can stop him on a one-on-one situation. He has a knack for getting the step on his defender and driving in for a lay-up. When he doesn't get the vital step, he pivots and lets fly a hook shot which usually finds its mark.

"Before the season began," Case commented, "I said we would have to get some outstanding play from our forwards if we expected to have a good team. MacGillivray is giving us that outstanding play."

Mac's next game is Wednesday night against Carolina in the Coliseum. "It should be a dilly," he says, "I just hope we can keep rolling."

Notes From The Pack

In 11 games, Lou Pucillo has made 72 field goals. Two of those buckets have been from a distance of 45-feet or more.

Against Kansas State, the little All-America candidate hit a one-hander from mid-court just as the buzzer sounded ending the first half.

Last Tuesday night against Virginia, Pucillo hit one from 55 feet, a two-hander which swished through the nets like a dunk shot. With two seconds showing on the clock, Pucillo stopped ten feet behind the mid-court line and let fly a spectacular shot which found its mark. It was one of the longest successful attempts ever made in Reynolds Coliseum.

LIFE Magazine is planning a picture layout on Lou Pucillo and John Richter. The magazine had three men covering the Dixie Classic and two men covering the Virginia game. The photographers spent the entire day making the rounds with the two Wolfpack stars.

John Richter would like to correct two mistakes which have been appearing in print recently.

"I'm not a straight-A student," he explained, "and I'm not majoring in Nuclear Engineering. I changed my major to Engineering Mathematics last year, and my overall average is a B. I have had several semesters in which I made all A's, however, and I guess that's where people got the idea that my three-year average was an A."

Now ... that straightens out things.

State does have one basketball player with an A average, however. It's Bruce Hoadley, the Raleigh sophomore. An Engineering Math major like Richter, Hoadley is knocking out A's consistently.

Wolfpack Tops Blue Devils, 67-60 ... Play Host To Tarheels Wednesday

Coach Case and his Wolfpack cagers ran their season record to 11 wins against one defeat Saturday night, as they scored a 67-60 win over the Blue Devils of Duke University.

Pre-game speculation that an impressive win over the Duke squad might throw the Wolfpack into the nation's No. 1 spot was somewhat dampened by the scrappy Blue Devil team. After the game, neither Coach Case nor Duke's Coach Bradley were quick to comment on the chances of such an event. The determined play of the Blue Devils took much away from the Wolfpack showing ... but State College fans are still hoping!

Led by All-American candidate John Richter, the Wolfpack took the lead in the ACC standings with a 5-0 record in conference play. Richter scored 26 points to be high man for the evening, a distinction he has held for most of the State games this season.

Leading most of the way, the Wolfpack cagers held a one point lead at half-time, 29-28. Pressed during the first half, the State squad came back in the second half to clinch the victory. The sophomore-laden Blue Devils put up a stiff battle as they fought right up to the finish in making it a close outcome.

And now comes the Big Game ... the State-Carolina contest. Nothing in basketball can compare with the battle between the Wolfpack and the Carolina Tarheels.

This age-old rivalry between the two "sister schools" is one that has no equal. Not only here, in the "basketball Capital of the South", but all over the nation fans will be awaiting the outcome of Wednesday's game.

Both teams are ranked among the nation's best, and the outcome of this one will mean much to both. For both teams, this one is a "must" ... for many reasons.

Not to even mention the bitter rivalry between the two schools, a lot depends on the outcome. In the latest poll, State was rated the No. 2 team in the nation, while Carolina was given No. 3 by one rating and No. 4 by the other. And now that Kentucky, then No. 1 in the nation, has been knocked from the unbeaten ranks, the State-Carolina tilt could well determine the nation's top team.

Undoubtedly everyone well remembers the hurrah caused by the State-Carolina football games, year after year. Well, football comes nowhere near topping basketball when it comes to school rivalry, coupled with thrills and plenty of excitement.

The State-Carolina game is the year's Big One ... a "must" for both teams. It is a spectacle, found nowhere but in the "basketball Capital of the South", and featuring two of the nation's best.

P.L. 550 VETERANS—The Monthly Certification of Training Forms are now available for all veterans. The VA Secretary will be in the lobby of the College Union beginning Monday, January 19, through Friday, January 23, from 1 P.M. to 4 P.M. You may fill out these forms at this time or in the Coliseum on January 30, Registration Day.

ATTN. ALL STUDENTS—Traffic violations fees must be paid prior to receiving Permit to Register for Spring Semester. Such fees are payable only at the Traffic Records Office, 107 Pullen Hall prior to going to the Business Office or the Coliseum. Students can avoid this delay and inconvenience by clearing with the Records Office prior to the end of the semester.

DORMITORY ROOMS FOR SPRING SEMESTER—The priority period during which present occupants of the dormitories may reserve their same rooms will end on January 16th. All unreserved spaces will be available for reassignment to other students beginning January 19th.

CAFE AND GOWNS FOR GRADUATION EXERCISES JANUARY 26, 1959—All candidates for undergraduate and graduate degrees at graduation exercises January 26, 1959, are advised to place their rental orders and measurements for caps and gowns at the WATAUGA BOOK SHOP at once if they have not already done so.

SENIORS GRADUATING IN JANUARY, 1959—Seniors who will receive a 1959 AGROMECK must pay $2.53 at the Business Office and take their receipts for this amount to Mrs. Lucas, 313 1911 Building, between 8 and 12 A.M. Monday-Friday.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL—Open League Basketball entries are still being accepted. The first 16 team leagues has been completed and entries will be open until the second 16 team league is completed. If you are going to enter a team, do it today by contacting the Intramural Office, Thompson Gymnasium.

PAYMENT OF SPRING TERM TUITION AND FEES—All students now enrolled will receive, prior to January 19, bills for Spring term tuition and fees. PAYMENTS SHOULD BE MAILED TO THE BUSINESS OFFICE NOT LATER THAN JANUARY 20. Students who fail to meet this schedule may be delayed and inconvenienced at registration time. For many years students at State College had to stand in long lines in order to pay their bills on registration day. The pre-paying system was established so that students could complete registration with the minimum of difficulty and delay. All students who make payments according to this schedule should be able to pick up Permits to Register and register as scheduled. Permits to Register will not be issued until payment has been made.

ATTN. ALL FRESHMEN—The college requires all male freshmen to live in the dormitories unless they are veterans, married students living with their wives, or living with parents or relatives. Each freshman qualifying under the above must make a written application to the Director of Student Housing for permission to live outside the dormitory. Several recent requests from freshmen indicate a need for an interpretation of what is meant by veterans and relatives. Veterans are defined as students enrolled under the G. I. Bill or Public Law 550 (Korean conflict). Relatives are defined as grandparents or married uncles, aunts, brothers, or sisters living in or near Raleigh in an established home. Living with unmarried relatives and other college students related to a freshman does not qualify one to live-off-campus under this policy.

and it was found that the prices that exist in bookstores on other campuses are at about the same level.

Russell also said that the Committee is continuing to study the possibilities of getting gas reductions here in Raleigh.

Senator Lovin, also of the Investigations Committee, concluded the meeting by reporting on the study that the Committee made concerning the reason that more of State's football games were not broadcast on Raleigh radio last fall. He stated that in all cases, it was a matter of lack of finances by the stations and not a lack of interest in State.

be presented by the Danforth Chapel Choir. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

All students must clear their accounts of all outstanding traffic violations prior to being clear to pick up their permits to register for the Spring Semester.

Note that a change has been made in the procedure. No current semester traffic violation fees appear on student bills from the Business Office.

Traffic violation fees are payable at 107 Pullen Hall, only.
