Yale Professor Opens Apollo Spring Series

The Apollo Club's spring series of discussions, "Man and the Moral Problem", will begin Thursday, February 26, with a talk by Dr. James M. Gustafson, a Yale Divinity professor.

This series will continue for four weeks with nationally known lecturers speaking to the members of the Apollo Club at its Thursday night meetings. The speakers will talk on phases of the main topic with which they are most familiar.

Each speaker will also take part in a "bull session" at a fraternity house on each Thursday night, an informal coffee break with a faculty group on Friday morning, and luncheon with the student Y. M. C. A. Cabinet.

The aim of the Apollo Club is "to teach the thoughtful and provocative student in order to stimulate even more his influence in the dormitory and the classroom by having some of the best minds in the nation to speak on problems which persist in highly technical institutions."

Dr. Gustafson will speak on "Society and Changing Values". He served with the Army Engineers in Burma and India during World II, and then returned to Northwestern University to finish his college work with Phi Beta Kappa honors.

He received his Ph.D. at Yale in the field of Christian Ethics. He is an ordained Congregational minister and the author of several publications.

At the present time he holds the rank of Assistant Professor in Social Ethics at Yale University Divinity School.

Contracts Awarded For Construction of New Gymnasium

Contracts for the construction of the new ultra-modern gym have been awarded to five North Carolina companies.

Excavation for the building, which is to be located on the old soccer field, has already begun. The building is scheduled to be finished late in the fall of 1960.

The total cost will be paid by a direct appropriation from the state while the other half is to be paid by a forty-year loan from the state to the college.

The contracts awarded so far total $2,546,948.56. The additional $200,000 will be spent on equipment and accessories for the new gym.

Several companies bid on each phase of the construction and the lowest bidder received the contract for that phase. The companies that received the contracts and their bids are listed below: General Construction—Rea Construction Co., Charlotte ($845,300); Plumbing—Biemann and Rowell, Raleigh ($103,282); Heating and Ventilating—Biemann and Rowell ($315,874); Electrical—Howard-Greene Electrical Co., Raleigh; Swimming Pool Filters—Embree-Reed Co., Charlotte ($41,400); Architects Fee ($97,959.56).

Future Farmers of America Begin 'National FFA Week'

North Carolina's more than 23,000 Future Farmers of America will present scores of special events to focus public attention on the work of their organization during "National FFA Week" February 21-28.

In reporting plans for the seven-day observance here today, R. J. Peeler of Raleigh, State FFA executive secretary, said all of the 451 active Future Farmer Chapters in the State will celebrate the occasion with a wide variety of activities.

Theme of "National FFA Week" will be "Science in Agriculture—For A Bountiful Future."

Growing steadily in scope and significance, the FFA has a total membership of 377,922 members affiliated with 8,993 local chapters in 48 states, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico.

North Carolina's Future

In Student Activity Fee SG Recommends Boost

By George Hammett
At the Student Government meeting of February 19, President Jim Hunt made note of two resolutions, which have brought much controversy to

New Dorm Sponsors Huge Record Party

A record crowd of some 200 people was on hand for the WKNC Record Party which was held in the New Dorm snack bar this past Friday evening.

Much of the party's success was attributed to the many gifts and prizes which were donated by L. B. Ivey of the Student Supply Stores. The radio station would like to openly express its appreciation to the following people for their fine cooperation: N. B. Watts, Henry Bowers, Gene Butler, manager of the New Dorm; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Washburn, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Edwards, hosts and hostesses of the New Dorm; and Gene Scarboro, New Dorm social director.

All students who would like to see such a party held again in the New Dorm are invited to submit their requests via campus mail (no postage needed if mailed on campus) to Radio Station WKNC.

State students. The resolutions dealt with student fee allocation and selection of College Union Board of Director members. Hunt urged the adoption of both resolutions.

In the present resolution on student fee allocation, the students were required to pay $5.65 to the Agromeck, $15.00 to the College Union, $1.50 to Intramurals, $17.00 to Physical Education, $1.00 to Student Activities, $.65 to the Student Government, $1.15 to The Technician, $.25 to the Tower, $.65 to WKNC, $.15 to the Reserve Fund.

The only changes which were introduced into the present fee allocation resolution 10-5 were made in allocations to The Technician and an additional fee made to the Music Department. The Technician is to receive $1.75. The addition of the Music Department fee is $.75. The total student allocation fee as supported by resolution 10-5 is $44.35 per student in comparison to $43.00 presently paid.

The additional expense to the Music Department was explained by the committee as a boost to the "scope and quality" of State's present music program.

Resolution 10-3, pertaining to the College Union Board members, was brought before the student government to give a fairer representation in College Union functions. The essence of resolution 10-3 as stated in the amendment is: "That the Student Government Legislature wholeheartedly recommend to the College Union Board of Directors and the Chancellor of North Carolina State College that the composition of the College Union Board of Directors be so altered that a majority of its members will be student representatives who are elected by the direct vote of a substantial portion of the Student Body. This majority of student members should not include those students who are internally connected with the College Union.

Three other resolutions were introduced at the meeting. In Resolution 10-4, the Athletic Department will be required to purchase the use of pages for athletics in the Agromeck. The cost in the past to the Agromeck has been $800 for athletic representation in the Agromeck.

In Resolution 10-1, a request was made to the Entomology Department to use a different procedure in giving quizzes. ENT 301 and ENT 312 in the past have been giving similar quizzes from semester to semester. Resolution 10-1 offers a change in this "unjust" method of giving quizzes.

Resolution 10-2 recommends that a goal of $500.00 for the World University and a goal of $250.00 for United Fund be set and that the drive take place from March 9 to March 18.

President Jim Hunt further urged Senators to run for office in the coming elections. He presented an invitation to the Student Government to hear Senator Kefauver speak. He also pointed out that only 98 students dropped from school last semester.

Senators who were absent and without alternates were Jerry Cebe, Paul Moody, and John Sprinkle.

Student United Fund Set For March 9-18

The annual Student United Fund drive has been set as March 9th through 18th. In a resolution passed by the Student Government Legislature, the goal was set at $750.00. $500.00 is designated for a World University Service project for Greece.

The remaining $250.00 is earmarked for school lunches for underprivileged children.

The Greek project will furnish medication free of charge to needy students at both the University in Athens and Salonika, while the school lunches will be offered through the Raleigh United Fund.

By designating particular projects for funds raised on the campus, the committee hopes to follow through and be able to provide the students a report of how the money was used and what good it did.

In making the selection of the projects, the committee considered all projects financed through the Raleigh United Fund and World University Service.

While there were many worthwhile projects considered, the committee believed that these two projects best represented what the students would like to support. A student may designate his individual contribution to any other cause, however, if he so desires.

nate his individual contribution to any other cause, however, if he so desires.

The committee will need help in reaching all students during the Drive. Anyone interested in helping should contact The Technician office.

Fred Houtz, chairman of the United Fund here at State, said, in an interview with The Technician, "I would like to stress that this is the student drive. This is the only time during the year when the students are called on for contributions, and we hope that every student will participate and give. In this small way, students are helping students."

SAM Holds 4th Par. Weekend

Sigma Alpha Mu held its fourth annual Parent's Weekend this weekend.

Highlight of the weekend was a banquet at Scandia Village. The speaker was Abe Zeager of Red Park, N. J., national president of Sigma Alpha Mu.

Sig Schafer of Raleigh, the chapter's adviser for the past 25 years, and Mrs. Schafer, were honored.

These young lovelies above are last year's pictures. However, they are an example of what you may see this Wednesday night at the College Union "Photoscope," a C.U. feature for all those interested in taking pictures of pretty girls. Yes, on Wednesday night, February 25, anyone with a camera can have several models at his disposal, to pose as he pleases (within reason) under different lighting arrangements. All that will be provided are the girls and the lighting . . . you bring the camera and film . . . that's Wednesday night at 7:30 . . . everyone invited, even if just to watch the action.

Beware... Be Aware

Almost every day of the week, one can pick up a daily newspaper and read that someone somewhere has been picked up for some act of petty thievery... an act that was not worth the chance taken.

These petty thefts have existed for many years and are likely to exist for many more. In some places they have found a way to alleviate this situation. In the Middle East, when someone is caught for even the smallest of thefts, his right hand is chopped off at the wrist. For the second offense, the left hand is cut from the body. Needless to say, there are few people walking around in that section who have no hands.

No, we are not advocating a system of punishment that would require the severance of the hand whenever a petty theft is committed. Not that such a system wouldn't quickly cure anyone who was prone to pick up small items of little value, but such a return to savagery of this type would be condemned as sadism by most of our lawmakers, and rightly so.

But, if not this sort of punishment, what? Every one will agree that something must be done so that we can have a situation existing on campus that does not require a student standing guard over his personal properties all of the time.

There have been several reports in the recent past that such items as transistor radios and suede jackets have disappeared from students and faculty members at State. These items, although they do not represent a life savings, do represent a substantial part of a student's spending money or a faculty member's monthly salary. These are things which can not be bought and paid for without a bit of sweat.

The point is this: As long as such a situation as this exists here at State no one can be safe when he leaves his room to take a shower or lays down his books to shoot a game of pool. These petty thefts are not usually committed by members of the student body but instead by outsiders who come into a college community with the intent of getting something for nothing from the unwary college students.

This situation can be helped by us students, but only if we become conscious of the situation as it exists. We must be constantly aware of the people around us and pay attention when some one acts in a suspicious manner. Remember, people who commit these petty thefts are not "well". They are sick to think that they can gain any real benefits from such indulgences. Because of this they are bound to provoke suspicion in the minds of those students who are aware of the situation that is upon us. So... be aware!

Commentary

We understand that about a week ago, on a Saturday, State College was blessed with an afternoon basketball game, with Maryland, and it was televised, and therefore wasn't probably as financially successful as it might have been. A major concession.

But the most interesting (we've been advised to be "positive") observation is that the high school students were admitted free, while State students' dates cost a dollar per head. Last year, under similar circumstances, the dates were admitted free.

The financial sheet must be balanced... you understand.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

BY DICK BIBLER

Greeks On Campus

By Bill Marley

In response to the bad publicity gathered by fraternities during the recent "Help Week," the I.F.C., in cooperation with the school administration, is planning to take some action in the immediate future to alleviate the situation. It seems that, as I warned prior to "Help Week," some fraternities did not restrict hazing of their pledges to their houses.

This irresponsibility on the part of those few fraternities caused all the fraternities in the State system to be shown in an undesirable light to the people of Raleigh, the State faculty, and the other administrators of State.

Don't look now, boys, but hazing went out with the raccoon coat and Prohibition. If we fraternity men would only stop to analyze the purpose and meaning of our pledge training and "Help Week," we would realize that these are processes by which a man is completely familiarized with the fraternity, and that hazing shows only sheer physical domination of one person over another. It will be argued by some that hazing is the true test of a pledge's genuine desire to become a member. Perhaps some desire can be brought out in this manner, but an intelligent pledge training will not only bring out this desire, but also will do away with the sacrifice of the fraternity's meaning.

This Tuesday night a meeting will be held with leaders of the fraternities and the I.F.C. in attendance at which pledge training and the hazing problem will be discussed. A solution is not expected but a broader outlook will certainly educate leaders so that they may determine the appropriate steps which must be followed if they are to arrive at a solution. Dean Stewart, who we all know as a great supporter of fraternities, will speak on these problems.

As fraternity men we must realize that our leaders will need the 100% backing of their members to deal with this problem, for their decisions are only worth as much as the support they receive from their brothers.

Speaking of leaders, don't forget that I.F.C. nominations are in the near future.

Engineers!

No Tux, No Bux. Nothing Fancy,

Technicalities...

By Steve Daves

I was walking, with usual open-mouthed awe, down one of those wide, airy corridors in beautiful Riddick. To either side were offices and suites of offices with thick wall-to-wall carpeting and big mahogany desks and stuffed executive type chairs, which contained fat men and dedicated secretaries, who keep watch over the gauges and pressure valves of our wonderful machine which mass-produces engineers in the usual, efficient industrial manner.

These plushly-furnished offices and suites of offices are perfect, ideal, wonderful, (and other such garbage adjectives) places to have job interviews... that is, for the more important interviewers. And that day, as everybody knew, the biggest and most important employer of State College mechanics, technicians, and (few) engineers, was interviewing blushing graduates-to-be.

I couldn't see the man from Eastern Electric and Agricultural Innovations Corporation, but the sounds and smells that oozed forth from the keyhole and transom and crack under the door told me that he was a fat, bald, cigarish man, with flabby neck that folded over his collar, an ample nose enhanced by purple veins, and a Georgia Tech ring. Really the kind of guy you'd like to work for.

I could now hear quite clearly his pleasant, mellow, broken voice, and he addressed the blushing interviewee: "Now son, I can tell that you're just not the kind of boy that wants to be stuck back in a nasty old research lab for the rest of his life, nosiree! And boy, we want managers! Now. What courses in management have you taken? Screwdriver Identification? Nut and Bolt Design? Sheet Metal Destruction? Elliptic Spring Improvement? Pencil Design? Concrete Smoothing? Good. Damn good. All damn good courses. Now, I s'pose you haven't took any time wastin', useless electives... uh, liberal arts? No? Damn good. I see your record here says..." they went on and on and on.

I was shaken. Profoundly. Disillusioned. So I rushed up to my advisor's office to see if I could still drop and add courses. Drop Contemporary Lit and Advanced Composition and Leadership and Public Speaking. I realized suddenly that I just don't have enough courses like Sheet Metal Destruction and Nut and Bolt Design.

You see, I don't want to be stuck back in a nasty old research lab for the rest of my life, either...

Department of English
October, Any Year

Dear Coach Musselman:

Remembering our discussions of your football men who are having troubles in English, I have decided to ask you, in turn, for help.

We feel that Paul Spindles, one of our most promising scholars, has a chance for a Rhodes Scholarship, which would be a great thing for him and for our college. Paul has the academic record for this award, but we find that the aspirant is also required to have other excellencies, and ideally should have a good record in athletics. Paul is weak. He tries hard, but he has trouble in athletics.

We propose that you give some special consideration to Paul as a varsity player, putting him, if possible, in the backfield of the football team.

In this way, we can show a better college record on the Rhodes scholarships. We realize that Paul will be a problem on the field, but—as you have often said—cooperation between our department and yours is highly desirable and we do expect Paul to try hard, of course.

During intervals of study we shall coach him as much as we can.

His work in English club and the debate team will force him to miss many practices, but we intend to see that he carries an old football around to bounce (or whatever one does with a football) during intervals in his work.

We expect Paul to show entire good will in his work for you, and though he will not be able to begin football till late in the season, he will finish the season with good attendance.

Pack Wins Over Villanova 66-56

Pucillo, Richter Pace Win Over 'Cats
... E. Kentucky Invades Coliseum Sat.

By taking a 66-56 win from the Wildcats of Villanova Saturday night, the State College Wolfpack not only boosted their season record to 19 wins compared to 3 losses, but also evened up a series record with the only team in the nation that had previously held an edge over the State squad.

In the State-Villanova series, both teams have won 8 and lost 8... until Saturday night, it was an 8-7 record with the Wildcats holding the favorable edge.

With only one game remaining before the ACC Tourney playoffs, the Wolfpack holds a 19-3 overall record and a 12-2 ACC record. Coach Case's squad goes into its last regular season game this Saturday night in the Coliseum against Eastern Kentucky. Then it's the ACC Tournament, March 5, 6, and 7.

State's three losses have been suffered at the hands of the nation's top three teams. The Pack has been beaten by the number one, two and three teams in the nation (Carolina, Kansas State, and Carolina the second time.) The Pack has also beaten three of the top rated teams for a 3-3 mark against the nation's best.

In ACC statistics the Wolfpack is holding down the second best position in team defense, allowing its opponents an average of only 60.1 points a game. In offensive play the Pack is rated third best, averaging 67.7 points per game. Maryland leads the Pack in defense.

State Baseball Squad Prepares For '59 Season

Coach Vic Sorrell's 1959 North Carolina State baseball team will play a 22-game schedule including 14 Atlantic Coast Conference games.

The Wolfpack nine will open its season March 24 by meeting Dartmouth at home in the first of a three-game series. Connecticut is here March 27 and Ohio University March 28, ending the inter-sectional contests.

State begins conference play April 6 at South Carolina and will play each of the seven ACC schools on a home-and-home basis. Three games each with Duke, Wake Forest and North Carolina are on the schedule but only two games will count in the league standings.

Sorrell, beginning his 14th season as head coach of the Wolfpack, faces a major rebuilding job this year. Only four lettermen return from last year's team which won its first six games and swept the Dixie Classic Tournament at Winston-Salem.

State will play 12 of its 22 games at home this year, using the new diamond which is being built adjacent to the football practice field. In the event the new field is not ready for early season games, the Wolfpack will play at Devereaux Meadow.

Sorrell announced that all home games will begin at 3 o'clock on week days and 2:30 on Saturday.

Coach Jim Edwards' freshman team will play 12 games, including four with Duke, four with North Carolina and two each with Wake Forest and Campbell College.

Both the freshman and varsity schedules will be run in Thursday's edition of The Technician.

Top-Ranked Carolina Is Swamped By Unrated Maryland Terps, 69-51

The Terrapins of the University of Maryland romped all over the Tar Heels of Carolina Saturday night on the Terps home court. (It seems a shame that the Tar Heels were not defeated on their own campus.)

Carolina played a very slow game on the floor as well as in shooting. The Maryland team outplayed the Carolina boys throughout the contest to live up to the pre-season predictions.

Up until last night, the Terps had a 5-7 ACC record and had lost five of their last six games. Regardless of their recent defeats, those Maryland boys did a mighty fine job of knocking the Tar Heels out of that number 1 national rating.

The Terps' Jerry Bechtel played an unusually outstanding game, as he led the Maryland team in scoring by making 12 out of 14 free-throws and 8 field goals for a total of 28 points. Harvey Salz led the Tar Heels' scoring drive with a total of 14 points before he was thrown out of the game on a technical foul for arguing with the referee... Pity!!

Athlete of Week

Dan Englehardt... guard... 6-0... a junior, of Seymore, Ind. Dan has been an unsung hero in the Wolfpack's season thus far, but a key member of the nation's sixth rated team.

Englehardt is presently leading the Wolfpack squad in two departments... field goal shooting and free throw shooting. He is hitting 41.6% from the floor and his free throws are good for a 78.8% mark. Running the plays, along with flashy Lou Pucillo, Dan is a real hustler and has proven invaluable on many occasions this year.

Notices

The State College Faculty Ten-Pin League needs one more team to replace one which recently withdrew from the league. The bowlers meet each Thursday night at 9 p.m. for their competition. Any faculty member or graduate student interested in bowling with this league is encouraged to contact John Kenfield. (Call Extension 218 or 496.)... Hurry!

All candidates for the freshman and varsity golf teams are asked to report to the football office in Reynolds Coliseum, Wednesday night at 7:30. Golf Coach Al Michaels will welcome all prospects.

There will be a meeting of all candidates for the varsity and freshman tennis teams Tuesday night, at 7:30 p.m., in the Band Room of Frank Thompson Gymnasium, March 3. Coach John Kenfield requests that all students interested in trying out for the teams attend this meeting.

Notes From The Pack

Tommy Michaels, son of assistant football coach Al Michaels, is one of the top swimmers on this year's swimming team. A sophomore, Tommy is the Wolfpack's number one man in the backstroke.

For the first time this year, four State cagers are averaging in double figures. John Richter's 16.9 leads the parade, followed by Lou Pucillo at 14.4, Bob MacGillivray at 10.5, and George Stepanovich at 10.2.

Stepanovich, in a tight race for rebounding honors with Richter, trails the 6-foot-8 center by only 11 rebounds, following the Wednesday night game against Carolina.

Richter is averaging 14 rebounds per game while Stepanovich's average is 13.4.

Guard Dan Englehardt, an unsung but key member of the Wolfpack basketball team, is leading the squad in two departments... field goal shooting and free throw shooting.

The junior from Seymour, Ind., has hit 41.6% of his attempts from the floor and 78.8% of his tries from the free throw line.

State has played six teams this year which were ranked in the top ten, and has played the number one team twice (Cincinnati and Carolina). Losses were to the number one, two and three teams nationally.

THINKLISH

English: DRIVE-IN MOVIE ON A RAINY NIGHT

Thinklish translation: This drive-in's main feature: pictures matched to the weather. In January, it's Snow White; in July, Hot Spell. When it pours, of course, the program is all wet: Singing in the Rain, Hatful of Rain and Rain-tree County. On such nights, the only (Thinklish) word for this place is dampitheater! Better turn on your windshield wipers, light up a Lucky, and enjoy the honest taste of fine tobacco. Then It's Always Fair Weather!

MAKE $25

Start talking our language—we've got hundreds of checks just itching to go! We're paying $25 each for the Thinklish words judged best! Thinklish is easy: it's new words from two words—like those on this page. Send yours to Lucky Strike, Box 67A, Mt. Vernon, N. Y. Enclose your name, address, college and class.
