State Elects Knox As President; Design Students Win Top Prizes

State Men Sweep Ten Of Twenty Selections

Awards totaling $11,000 have been won by 10 students in the School of Design at State College in a national design competition, sponsored by the Edison Electric Institute.

A group of 50 colleges and universities competed for the awards in the competition, known officially as the "1959 Light for Living Medallion Home Competition."

A total of 20 students from five of the competing colleges shared the $18,000 in awards including the $11,000 won by 10 North Carolina State College Students.

Selection of the winners was announced last week by Dean Henry L. Kamphoefner of the State College School of Design and Hugh G. Heley, general sales manager of the Carolina Power and Light Company, local sponsor of the competition.

Dean Kamphoefner said the 10 award-winning State College students are in a class of 14 students who entered the competition from N. C. State. They are studying under Prof. George Matsumoto.

The competition was set up on a geographic basis, and State College students won all of the four top regional awards, except one (the Northeastern region of the United States).

State College students winning the three top regional awards, totaling $2,000 each, are:

P. Conner Lee of Hamilton, Martin County, whose design was for the Southeast region; James F. Klutz of Concord, for the Southwest region; and William C. McGee, Jr., of Concord, for the Northwest region.

Lee was graduated from the Oak City High School, Martin County. Klutz and McGee are both graduates of Concord High School.

The other top regional award for the Northeastern section was won by John G. Bulchen of Pennsylvania State University.

Awards of $400 each and honorable mention went to seven North Carolina State students. They are:

Donald R. Chandler of Durham, and Arthur J. Hammill of Gastonia, both of whom submitted designs for the Southeast region; W. Easley Hamner of Newport News, Va., and David John Hall of Syosset, N. Y., whose designs were for the Northeast region; Herman H. Babb of Murfreesboro, George B. Hobson, Jr., of Charlotte, and James M. Stevenson of Henderson.

The student winners at State College will receive a total of $8,800 in cash awards, and $2,200 in cash will be awarded to the School of Design.

Young Demos. To Hold Banquet In CU Ballroom

The State College Young Democratic Club will hold its Annual YDC Banquet on April 15, 1959, at 7 p.m. in the College Union Ballroom. The price of the tickets will be $1.65.

There will be a meeting of all Ward Healers Monday night at 7 p.m. in the Student Government Office to go to the dormitories to push the sale of the tickets.

The Ward Healers will receive certificates at the Banquet commending them for their loyal support to the Democratic Party. A trophy will be presented to the outstanding Ward Heeler for 1958-59.

Mr. Art Vann, State YDC President, will be the speaker for the evening. Entertainment will be provided by Dick Fadgen and Jim Williams, and Jake Vinson. The new officers will be installed at the Banquet. The new officers for the coming year will be the following: President—Phil Carlton, Vice President—Donald Blizzard, Recording Sec-

Hunt: Top Senior

of The Technician, and Larry Harris, president of the Golden Chain, were the other two finalists in the voting for the top award.

Chris Tabor, president of Blue Key, made the presentation to Hunt as several hundred juniors, seniors, and their dates looked on. The award came just before the presentation of the figure for the dance.

Hunt, who is in Agricultural Education, has had a varied career here at State College. Last year, as a junior, he served as president of the Student Government, a position which he has held for two years. In his junior year, he was also the editor of The Agriculturist.

In addition to these two important positions, Hunt is a member of many professional and honorary fraternities. He is a member of Alpha Zeta, honorary agriculture fraternity, Thirty and Three, Blue Key, Golden Chain, and Phi Kappa Phi.

The Outstanding Senior Award is chosen annually by the members of Blue Key. Nominations are made by faculty members, students, and members of the Blue Key. The Blue Key members then vote on the entire field and narrow the choice of selection down to three seniors. Again they vote, this time by secret ballot, and a winner is named. This winner is kept secret by the chairman of the Blue Key Awards Committee until the night of the dance.

Union To Sponsor Pan American Day

In celebration of Pan American Day at State College, the International Committee sponsors a Pan American Day Program in the College Union on Tuesday, April 14, 1959 at 8 p.m.

The speaker for the program will be Dr. Howard F. Cline, assistant professor of history at Northwestern University. Dr. Cline is the present director of the Hispanic Foundation of the Library of Congress. This foundation was established to provide a center for the pursuit of studies in Spanish, Portuguese, and Latin American culture.

Dr. Cline received the bachelor and master of arts and the doctor of philosophy degrees from Harvard University. He has traveled extensively in Mexico on fellowships and as a commissioned investigator for the Mexican Department of Indian Affairs. He has also conducted field and archival research in Mexico.

The author of many articles and reviews published in historical and anthropological journals, Dr. Cline now has two books in press. From 1945 through 1947 Dr. Cline was an Assistant Dean of Harvard College and Executive Secretary for the Harvard Committee on International and Regional Studies.

retary—Charles Russell, Corresponding Secretary—Nancy Kittrell, Treasurer—Roger Mazingo.

Invitations have been sent to several of the Girls' Colleges.

Cooke, Russell, Kittrell Cop Other SG Offices

State students have elected a slate of new officers to serve in major campus posts during the 1959-60 academic year.

Heading the list is Haden Edward (Eddie) Knox of Route 1, Davidson, a junior in agricultural education, who was elected president of the student body.

Knox, an honor student and currently serving as vice president of the student government, and the other new campus office holders were named to their positions in the annual student elections held at State College Wednesday.

Results of the election were announced Thursday by Clay Price of Taylorsville, student government elections chairman.

Knox, the newly-elected president, defeated Spencer N. Shaps of New York City, a sophomore in nuclear engineering. The vote was 1,470 to 312.

James Robert Cooke of Huntersville won the post of student body vice president in a race with Lowry A. Daniels of Driver, Va. Cooke polled 1,132 votes to 640 for Daniels.

Charles E. Russell of Jamesville defeated William N. Sessoms, Jr., of Colerain for student body secretary by a vote of 1,142 to 534.

The new treasurer of the student body is Benjamin Upchurch Kittrell of Kittrell, who won in a contest with Alan Altner of Jersey City, N. J., by a margin of 1,154 to 498.

Jim Moore of Rocky Mount and Penn Cassels of Charlotte were named editor and business manager, respectively, of The Technician, student newspaper. They were unopposed.

Also elected without opposition were Charles (Scoofer) Jordan of Laurinburg, editor of The Agromeck, college yearbook; Jerry Godfrey of Charlotte, business manager of The Agromeck; Kent E. Watson of Rodanthe, manager of the student radio station, WKNC; and Larry Stevens of Winston-Salem, business manager of WKNC.

Stan Timblin of Durham was named president of the College Union, defeating Nick Ardito of Panama, 908 to 770.

In the race for president of the Senior Class, Phil Carlton of Pinetops won over Alton J. Sheek of Mocksville by 443 to 100. Kenneth Culbreth of Woodruff, S. C., was named class secretary, winning over Chris Witzke of Wilson by 344 to 170. H. C. Rose of Raleigh was elected Senior Class treasurer, defeating Henry F. Brannon, Jr., of Raleigh, by a margin of 298 to 217.

Others elected to major posts in the election:

If the Shoe Fits . . .

We can find very few positive subjects on which to expound. We tried. Honestly. But the last few weeks have been outstanding in their wealth of negative happenings.

We have within our ranks (that's not a pun) an exceptionally large number of stingy, self-centered, childish, introverted, apathetic non-entities. We will prove that as a fact before this editorial is finished.

First, let's look at the voting in the last elections. State College students straggled and dragged out to the polls to turn in a whopping 33% vote. That leaves two-thirds of the student body who had absolutely no say as to who will run their affairs next year . . . and we venture to say that same two-thirds doesn't give a happy damn.

Carolina, our traditional Foe-In-Everything, turned out 3611 strong for a vote of over 50%. True, we get tired of Carolina's pointless attacks and sneers . . . but at least they are alive and care who their campus leaders will be.

Next, we'll turn our attention to student behavior, attitude, and dress. Some of us will remember that The Technician last spring suggested that the students wear a coat and/or tie to class every Friday to improve the looks and reputation of the campus . . . that suggestion was met with little support and loud cries of self-righteous pain.

The same suggestion might be made this year, but frankly we won't waste our time again. Let it be enough to say that the spring sloppiness of this campus can only reflect the generally juvenile make-up of the students. A student doesn't even have to wear a coat and tie to look respectable . . . but he can at least take off the Wranglers and mis-matched outfits that make us look like so many vagrant scarecrows. You don't have to be rich to look decent.

At the Junior-Senior Ring Dance Saturday night, the handleader caused great general embarrassment when he had to publicly call down a few people for throwing ice cubes at the orchestra. He suggested that they return to Junior High School and listen to rock and roll . . . that's enough said.

And then there's the Student United Fund drive, with a miserable 75% of the goal reached. All that was being asked per student was twenty-five cents . . . the price of a pack of cigarettes . . . a hot dog and coke . . . a milkshake . . . a cheap college beverage . . . and yet too much to give to help people infinitely poorer than we.

A lot of dormitory occupants and others who do not belong to social fraternities spend a considerable part of their regular griping time tearing down fraternities, for several reasons. At times, this newspaper has also criticized fraternities. However, there is a positive side to this editorial . . . and it involves fraternities. Members of social fraternities had a 55% turnout at election time . . . and it is our guess that they won about the same percentage of the offices. They also don't wear Wranglers and clashing colors (with a few notable exceptions). They also went over their United Fund goal by contributing 108% of requests. So criticize all you want, ye Independents . . . but not in the realm where you may have failed.

The only people who may take offense at our current negativism are those to whom it has direct application. Anyone for soul-searching?

—RL

"PHOTOGRAPHY MAGAZINES? SOME STUDENT IN HERE HAS THEM ALL CHECKED OUT."

Knox, President Elect, Makes Policy Statement

"I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation for the support and confidence that the student body has given me. Likewise, you have given me tremendous responsibility. I am willing to accept this responsibility in a very challenging manner to do you a reputable job as your president. "However, the success that Student Government may have requires a cooperative effort between the students, other campus organizations, and Student Government. Through such effort, I believe that suggestions, ideas, and criticism can be heard and used to improve campus policies, programs, and other areas that affect student interest. "Throughout the coming year, you will be called upon to participate in various activities. These activities will be as successful as the students make them, and I strongly urge your participation. "Again, may I emphasize that your suggestions and criticism will be greatly appreciated and respected. I shall look forward to serving you during the coming year." Eddie Knox, President-Elect Student Government

A college diploma is very valuable. Especially a diploma from N. C. State College. It is almost a prerequisite for any achievement in this life. Yes, sir, a college diploma is very valuable. Ask anybody. Ask Charlie Framis.

Charlie Framis is a quiet little man. He is a Marine veteran, married, with two young children. He lived in Verville; his wife worked; he got 130 dollars each month from Washington; he worked nights and weekends at a service station; he majored in M.E. (nothing glamorous like N.E., just M.E.). He studied hard, saved hard, worked hard. He was to graduate in January. He was to graduate with a little less than a 2.5 and begin work for a little more than 5,000 dollars a year. Enough to live on. Enough to stop denying his family a car, a television set. Enough to begin chipping away at the debt he had incurred during college. Just enough. But Charlie didn't graduate. He went into finals failing M.E. 507. He had to pass the course. He had to make a B on the exam to pass the course.

So he cheated. Nothing elaborate or premeditated. He just glanced at another fellow's paper, and his professor saw him cheat. In no time at all, the efficient Honor Board removed Charlie Framis from this campus forever. The Board burned four years of Charlie's life. Perhaps the Board burned more than that. But this is the price of dishonesty. Charlie Framis knows the value of a diploma.

So does Mike Kuskowski. Mike is from Pennsylvania. He is majoring in football. He spends most of his time in the television room at the New Dorm, or out on the field with all the boys, or in any of his P. E. classes. Or in Air Science class. Air Science is one of the few quasi-academic subjects Mike must take, but this is no problem. Mike has a B average in Air Science. Easily. It might be because of the "poop." The little square sheets of paper conveniently pocket-sized, with the answers A, B, C, or D, or T or F, neatly typed for each question. Very convenient. If one has a large hand and intestinal fortitude, this is all that is necessary. Or this can be transferred to several pencils.

Or sold to other eager miscreants. Very convenient. Much more convenient that "coaching sessions" just for athletes or tests with answered questions. It only takes Mike about ten minutes to complete a quiz. He doesn't even have to read a question. On the last test, Mike made 96. The class average was 79.

Mike enjoys this convenience in other subjects, too. As a matter of fact, he's thinking of changing to M.E. next semester. It's very nice for an athlete to have a B average in engineering. A real achievement. And Mike should have no trouble. No trouble at all.

A State College diploma is very valuable. Ask Mike Kuskowski. Then ask Mike the meaning of farce. I doubt if he will know, but that's not very important anyway.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Rising Juniors:

I would like to thank you for your support in the past election and ask for its continuance in the final election Thursday. I would sincerely like the chance to serve you as your class president.

I would like to see us get our class rings before Christmas next semester. I feel that this would make it easier for many to purchase their ring because of gifts from parents and kin. And besides, who wouldn't like to show off his new ring to old friends at Christmas?

If elected, I will try to achieve this and also try to sample student preference for a theme and orchestra for our Junior-Senior Dance next year.

As for my activities, I have been a member of the band for two years, member of Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity, and the Apollo Club. I am a member of Theta Chi Fraternity and am now serving as Pledge Marshal. I have held membership in the YMCA and served this year on the Y Cabinet.

Hoping that you will sincerely

ly consider me for your class president, I am . . . Paul Leggett

Rising Juniors:

As your elected vice-president, I would like to thank you for your overwhelming vote of confidence, and submit to you the candidate for president of your class who I think is the best qualified man for the job.

Paul Leggett, a sophomore in N.E. (with a 3.14 average), has shown himself able to manage the difficult and undefined job of class president. After talking with him concerning campus policies, class rings, and the Junior-Senior Dance, I know he will serve the best interests of our class and campus.

Bob Redmon, Vice President Elect Junior Class

Notes From the Pack

Coach Everett Case won the 1958-59 award as Raleigh's top salesman. The head basketball mentor was honored by the Raleigh Sales Executive's Club at its annual banquet and was cited for his "outstanding contributions to the city of Raleigh."

Mayor William Enloe said the Dixie Classic and Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournaments alone are worth approximately $1 million dollars a year to Raleigh merchants.

John Richter will accompany teammate Lou Pucillo to the Philippines this summer. The State stars will play for the Chelsea Tobacco team in the Manila summer league.

The Wolfpack twosome just returned from Cleveland, Ohio where they played for an all-star team which walloped the Denver-Chicago Truckets of the AAU league by 18 points.

Richter was the game's second leading scorer (behind Dick Barnett of Tennessee A and I) with 25 points. Pucillo had 17, Don Hennon 18 and John Green 10. Barnett had 29.

And what a list of honors Richter and Pucillo accumulated during the past season. They are:

Pucillo—Player of the Year in the ACC; outstanding East player in the East-West game at College Park, Md.; captain of the East team in the East-West game at Kansas City; All-America on teams selected by Look Magazine, Helms Foundation, Associated Press, United Press International, National Association of Basketball Coaches; All-Conference and All-Tournament for ACC and Dixie Classic.

Richter—Outstanding player in Dixie Classic Tournament; runner-up in Player of Year balloting in ACC; Outstanding player in North-South game in Raleigh; All-America on teams selected by NEA and National Association of Basketball Coaches; All-Conference and All-Tournament for Dixie Classic and ACC.

Basketball coaches Everett Case, Vic Bubas and Lee Terrill were given $500 savings bonds by alumni and friends at the annual basketball banquet held recently.

State Netters Prepare for Three Matches This Week

North Carolina State's tennis team will be the busiest athletic squad on the campus next week with three matches on the schedule.

Coach John Kenfield's netters, placed by southpaw Mickey Solomon, have Atlantic Coast Conference duels with Clemson and North Carolina and a non-conference battle with East Carolina.

Two track meets, two golf matches and one baseball game round out the week's spring sports card.

The tennis team plays host to Clemson Tuesday, goes to Chapel Hill Thursday and returns to the home courts Friday against East Carolina.

Coach Al Michaels' strong golf team entertains Clemson at the Carolina Country Club Tuesday before traveling to Chapel Hill Thursday for a match with North Carolina.

In track, a dual meet with East Carolina is set for 4 o'clock at the State College field Tuesday, and a triangular meet between State, South Carolina and Virginia will be held Saturday at Charlottesville, Va.

Coach Vic Sorrell's baseball team has only one game coming up. The Wolfpack takes on Carolina Saturday at Chapel Hill.

Intramural Rod and Gun Meet Proves Big Success

Some forty students participated in the third annual Intramural Rod and Gun Meet held here at N. C. State College. The Intramural Department, with the assistance of the Army, Air Force, USMC, and Paul Hoffman, was able to conduct the meet under ideal conditions at the Sir Walter Gun Club and the Rifle Range at Thompson Gym.

This N. C. State meet precedes the Big Four Rod and Gun Meet that is held annually and will be held at the Durham Wildlife Club, Tuesday, April 14, 1959. The N. C. State team will try to repeat itself as Big Four champions again this year. The Intramural 22 Caliber Rifle Meet held at Thompson Gym under the supervision of Paul Hoffman and members of the Army and Air Force ROTC units was won by Lloyd Caddell with a score of 175 points out of a possible 200. Closely followed by Lacey Langdon, John Waters, Randy Mahney, and Thomas Merrill, this team will be captained by Barry Piesner. They will represent N.C.S. at the Big Four Meet.

Lacey Langston, last year's Big Four champion in Skeet, walked away with the Intramural Skeet Championship here at NCS with a score of 24 broken birds out of a possible 25. Bobby Gray, Larry Moore, Vance Langston, and Glenn Perry are the other members of the team that will represent NCS in the meet.

Dan Troutman won top honors in the archery meet. Assisting him in the Big Four Meet will be John Parlier, Jack Thomas, Ken Trowbridge, Pete Seese, and D. C. Barnes. Last year NCS won the Archery Championship.

Final Elections See Wes McGee On Ballot

"This week shall culminate a most spirited and important period of our school year. As a candidate for the presidency of the Sophomore Class, I should, first, like to extend my most cordial thanks to those who have been factorial in my reaching the finals. I wish that I could have been fortunate enough to meet and talk to each student who has shown enthusiasm and interest on my behalf. However, since time has limited my chance to meet everyone personally, I should like to give each student a general picture of my past interests.

"Student government affairs have always been one of my primary interests throughout high school and my first year at State College. I ended my high school career as vice-president of my senior class. This year I have served my class as a senator from the School of Textiles, and I was also appointed to the Tompkins' Textile Council, which is the student governing body of the Textile School.

"As I have previously said I am deeply interested in student affairs at State College, and I can assure you that I shall work in earnest to perpetuate the ideals of student government whether or not I am elected to the office of President of the Sophomore Class. I shall appreciate your consideration at the polls on Thursday."

Elections

ior representative for the College Union board of directors and Women's Campus Code Board; Johnny Wilcox of Tampa, Fla., vice president of the Sophomore Class; Linda Wey of Boone, secretary of the Sophomore Class.

Alan L. Eckard of Hickory and Jim Floyd of Lexington, sophomore representative to the College Union board of directors; Tom Gilmore of Julian, permanent president of the Senior Class; Fred Manley of Reidsville, permanent secretary and treasurer of the Senior Class.

New officers of the YMCA are Ben Sugg of Kinston, president; Sandy Matthews of Raleigh, vice president; Robert Armstrong of Bladenboro, secretary; and Robert Cooke of Huntersville, treasurer.

Heading the Interfraternity Council next year will be Bob Davis of Salisbury, president; Gary Schultz of Dayton, Ohio, vice president; Bob Meadows of Durham, secretary; and Pete Moffitt of High Point, treasurer.

A run-off election will be held next Thursday to settle contests in which no candidate polled a majority.

The Veteran's Association will have a stag party Friday night, April 10, at 8:00 p.m., in the Union Hall at 108 Wilmington St. This will be the last one this year. Admission charge will be one trinket suitable for the Carnival Bazaar.

N. C. State Chapter of the Order of DeMolay will meet on Tuesday Night, April 14 at 7:00 p.m. in Room 104 Polk Hall. Election of officers will be held, and plans for next year will be discussed. All DeMolays on campus are invited to attend.

The Engineering Math Club presents a Barbecue Supper to be held on April 25, 1959 at 5:00 p.m. in Pullen Park. All faculty and students in the Department of Mathematics are welcome.

Baxter Issues Statement For Senior Veep Run-off

Thursday, April 16, will be the day for the final elections. Larry Baxter, a candidate for Senior Class Vice-President, has issued this statement to the rising seniors of State College.

"I am very grateful to you for your support in the primary, and again I am asking your support in the final elections. Since I will hold no other major office on campus next year, I feel that I will have plenty of time to do a good job as Vice-President of the Senior Class. As you know, time is important if any job is to be well done.

"In the past, efforts to get the diploma changed back to 'Old English' print have failed. After conferring with different members of our class, I find that there is still a lot of discontent. I believe that if the class officers work in cooperation with Student Government and the Administration there can be a system derived by which the individual student will be able to get a diploma with 'Old English' print if that is his desire. If elected, I will do everything in my power to give you this choice.

"A few of my activities on campus which I believe qualify me for this position are Student Government Treasurer, '58-'59, membership in Blue Key, Order of Thirty and Three, Kappa Phi Kappa, and Alpha Zeta. I will appreciate the support of each and every one of you this Thursday at the polls, and if elected I will do my very best to serve the interests of the entire class."

THE CARE AND FEEDING OF ROOM-MATES

Room-mates are not only heaps of fun, but they are also very educational, for the proper study of mankind is man, and there is no better way to learn the dreams and drives of another man than to share a room with him.

This being the case, it is wise not to keep the same room-mate too long, because the more room-mates you have, the more you will know about the dreams and drives of your fellow man. So try to change room-mates as often as you can. A recent study made by Sigafos of Princeton shows that the best interval for changing room-mates is every four hours.

How do you choose a room-mate? Most counselors agree that the most important thing to look for in room-mates is that they be people of regular habits. This, I say, is arrant nonsense. What if one of their regular habits happens to be beating a Chinese gong from midnight to dawn? Or growing cultures in your tooth glass? Or reciting the Articles of War?

Regular habits, my foot! The most important quality in a room-mate is that he should be exactly your size. Otherwise you will have to have his clothes altered to fit you, which can be a considerable nuisance. In fact, it is sometimes flatly impossible. I recollect one time I roomed with a man named Osage Tremblatt who was just under seven feet tall and weighed nearly four hundred pounds. There wasn't a blessed thing I could use in his entire wardrobe—until one night when I was invited to a masquerade party. I cut one leg off a pair of Tremblatt's trousers, jumped into it, sewed up both ends, and went to the party as a bolster. I took second prize. First prize went to a girl named Antenna Radnitz who poured molasses over her head and went as a candied apple.

But I digress. Let us turn back to the qualities that make desirable room-mates. Not the least of these is the cigarettes they smoke. When we bum cigarettes, do we want them to be shoddy and nondescript? Certainly not! We want them to be distinguished, gently reared, zesty and zingy. And what cigarette is distinguished, gently reared, zesty and zingy? Why, Philip Morris, of course! Any further questions?

To go on. In selecting a room-mate, find someone who will wear well, whom you'd like to keep as a permanent friend. Many of history's great friendships first started in college. Are you aware, for example, of the remarkable fact that Johnson and Boswell were room-mates at Oxford in 1712? What makes this fact so remarkable is that in 1712 Johnson was only three years old and Boswell had not yet been born. But, of course, children matured earlier in those days. Take Mozart, who wrote his first symphony at four. Or Titian, who painted his first masterpiece at five. Or Hanso Felbgung, who was in many ways the most remarkable of all; he was appointed chief of the Copenhagen police department at the age of six!

It must be admitted, however, that he did badly. Criminals roamed the city, robbing and looting at will. They knew little Hanso would never pursue them—he was not allowed to cross the street.

If you are allowed to cross the street, tie yourself to a tobaccoist and stock up on Philip Morris, outstanding among non-filter cigarettes, or Marlboro, the filter cigarette with better "makin's." Pick your pleasure.
