With Leaders' Meetings

Orientation Plans Begin

The Student Government Commission on Orientation has requested the attendance of all group leaders to take note of these meetings: Old Group Leaders meeting Tuesday, April 21, at 6:15 p.m. in the Leazer Cafeteria Grill, and New Group Leader meeting Wednesday, April 22, at 6:15 p.m. in the same place.

The S. G. Commission issued the following statement: "In order to receive final approval of your appointment, your attendance at the appropriate meeting described below is respectfully required. The one short meeting with us will be your only obligation this spring."

The group leader meeting will be a training period to brief the old and new group leaders on the set-up to be administered next fall. The group leader program was put into effect last year. This new program of orientation will give the incoming freshmen and new students individual attention, and it cuts out a lot of the lengthy mass meetings.

The meeting for the old group leaders will be called to order at 6:30 p.m. and adjourned by 7:30 p.m. The leaders are to go through the cafeteria line and take their tray to the meeting room.

Gilbert Alligood, Chairman of the SGCOO, will be presiding. Opening remarks will be presented by J. J. Stewart, Dean of Student Affairs. Orientation Week 1959 will be covered by Charles Russell, the Contribution of the Group Leader will be covered by Scoofer Jordan, and Outline of Awards will be covered by Jim Tom Spence.

The meeting for the new group leaders will follow the same pattern as the Old Group Leader meeting, but the meeting time will be extended until 9:00 p.m.

The reason for this extension is that the five major areas of Orientation can be explained. The five topics and speakers are: Academic by John Coker, Group Living by Leonard Dean, Co-curricular Activities by Eddie Knox, Religious by Fred Manley, and Social by Paul Essex.

-NOTICE-

Due to a disaster, the results of last Thursday's elections are not included in this issue of The Technician. The members of the Elections Committee are presently indisposed because of their trip to the Better Ballot Box Builders Convention in Miami, Florida. If they recuperate by Tuesday night (that is the deadline for the Thursday issue), the results will be published. If not, State students will enter next year blind!

Fraternities Observing Annual 'Greek Week'

The Interfraternity Council of N. C. State is sponsoring its annual "Greek Week", which began April 19th. The observance is designed to promote better understanding among the social fraternity groups and between the fraternities and the public. Highlights of the week long program include a canned food drive for Wake County's needy families, exchange suppers among the fraternities, and an awards banquet.

Climax of "Greek Week" will come Saturday when the IFC will hold its annual "Spring Greeks" formal dance with Joni James, and Stan Kenton and his orchestra.

homes will be made to collect the food for the county's underprivileged families.

On Friday night at the Banquet, the fraternity soliciting the most food will receive a special award.

Scholarships also will come in for its share of attention at the banquet. The Interfraternity Council Scholarship Trophy will be awarded to the fraternity whose members made the highest academic average during the past school year. The Sigma Pi scholarship trophy will go to the fraternity pledge class which made the top scholarship marks.

Keys will be presented to the Interfraternity Council officers, IFC Representatives, and fraternity presidents.

Committee Chairman for "Greek Week" are: Bill Sharpe, chairman of "Greek Week"; Jan Cates and Monty Hicks, Banquet chairmen; Dave Thomas and Tom Eck, Field Day chairmen; Wess Perry, Food Drive chairman. Other members are: John Newlin, H. C. Rose, Grady Ferrell, Sumter Brawley, and Jim Johnson.

To Gilmore

U.S. YDC Gives Award

Tom Gilmore, a member of the Young Democrats Club here at State College, recently won second place in a run-off for Top Young Democrat in America. Gilmore was selected from 60,000 other Young Democrats who were competing for the same honor, representing 20,000 Young Democrat Clubs with 500,000 members.

Tom received the award at a Miami Beach Hotel in Florida at the Young Democrats of America Awards Banquet, along with the other two top finalists. Gilmore's Chapter at State College also received high recognition, taking fourth place out of the 20,000 clubs.

CU Board To Plan Fall Pro., Budget

Tomorrow night, April 21, the new College Union Board of Directors will have their first and one of their most important meetings for this year.

This meeting will be held in Room 256-258 at 7:00 p.m. in the Union. It will concern the program and budget for next year.

Members of the Board feel that student opinion is of central significance in approving next year's programs. Consequently, they are asking that interested students attend this meeting.

This will be an excellent opportunity for students to observe those who will be responsible for next year's program, to influence the decisions of the Board, and to watch students and faculty attempt to work out a program that serves the campus.

United States Senator Moss and Democrat Party Chairman Paul Butler were the principal speakers.

The first place winner was a representative of the Pfeiffer College club at Misenheimer, N. C.

Former State Grad Named To College Alumni Position

Sherrill K. Brinkley of Route 5, Mocksville, has been appointed assistant director of alumni affairs at State College and has already assumed his duties.

This was reported Friday by Mose Kiser of Greensboro, president of the Alumni Association, and H. W. Taylor, director of alumni affairs.

A native of Davie County, Brinkley is a 1958 graduate of State College, where he majored in field crops. As a student, he was highly active in campus affairs.

He recently completed a six-month tour of duty as a second lieutenant in the U. S. Army infantry.

As a student at N. C. State, Brinkley was winner of a $700 Smith-Douglass Scholarship and a $300 grant-in-aid. He was a distinguished ROTC graduate and was leader of the "best-drilled" platoon in the Army ROTC Regiment.

He was treasurer and 1957 banquet chairman of Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity; activities chairman of the Interfraternity Council; secretary of the Agricultural Club; 1958 banquet chairman of the Board of Student Publications; president and treasurer of FarmHouse social fraternity; and a member of Blue Key, honorary leadership society.

SG To Hold Hearing On Student Stores' Profits Split

An open hearing to study the allocation of Student Supply Stores' profits will be held in the College Union on Thursday night, April 23, 1959, for all students.

Any members of the faculty or administration who wish to come are welcome. This open hearing will be conducted by the Investigation Committee of Student Government.

Each student is urged to attend this hearing and to express his opinion as to how much of the Student Supply Stores' profits should be allocated to Athletic Scholarships and how much to non-athletic scholarships.

Engr. Physics Senior Gets Hamilton Award

William Johnston Coker, III, of Asheville, engineering physics senior at State College, was awarded the Hamilton Award Friday afternoon during the formal opening of the 27th annual Engineers' Fair.

Announcement of the selection of Coker to receive the coveted award was made by Dr. R. G. Carson, director of instruction for the School of Engineering. Young Coker was presented with a Hamilton electric watch, representing the latest in watch engineering, and a letter of commendation.

The winner was chosen for the award for his combined proficiency in his major field of study with notable achievements in the social sciences and humanities.

The Hamilton Award was established at the college by the Hamilton Watch Company to encourage the development of a broader background and perspective among technically-trained students.

The top student in his department, Coker has an average of 3.90 out of a possible 4.0 and is a member of the engineering school's Honor Program. During his four years in college, he has been the recipient of the Lockheed Leadership Scholarship.

The outstanding engineering senior has indicated and demonstrated his interest in other fields of study besides engineering with a particular interest in creative writing. He is well-known for his articles published in The Technician, student newspaper.

Active in extra-curricular activities, he is a member of Tau Beta Pi, national scholastic society of which he is currently president; Sigma Pi Sigma, physics honor society; Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honor society; and Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honor society.

A member also of Sigma Chi social fraternity, he has served as representative on the Interfraternity Council.

He has been offered a Woodrow Wilson fellowship for the study of theoretical physics for the coming year.

Winning Friends

In a particularly well-planned fashion, our M & O department discovered and undertook several repairs to campus streets that just couldn't wait until after the weekend. The result was something close to chaos as hundreds of visitors thronged the campus to attend Parent's Weekend, the Engineer's Fair, Boy Scout convention, etc.

Our visitors were baffled, confused and angered by road blocks and smudge pots across their paths.

We are blessed with a maintenance department which couldn't care less what others think of their actions; no matter how poor their judgment and taste, it seems no one is around to disturb the high command of M & O.

We'll report Thursday on whether or not our lights have been turned out in The Technician offices. The big dogs of M & O behave like some big labor leaders who have been in the news recently . . . crude and arrogant. —RL

Extremes

We have heard that many visitors this past weekend asked about the "temporary" buildings on Western Boulevard, next to the Pulp and Paper laboratory building, housing equipment used by the School of Forestry.

They, and we, found it hard to believe that such eyesores and fire traps could last as long as they have . . . though we were assured last year that funds had been appropriated and that they would be taken down "soon."

Those of us who have watched the college grow for the past four years have been fascinated by the wild abandon of those who plan and construct our physical facilities. We now have almost every type of architecture flung upon the campus . . . from the unpainted cattle sheds on Western Boulevard to the glass block that is the School of Design.

The Long Range Plan came none too soon . . . we were afraid the next classroom building might be done in fetching Gothic. —RL

Now or Never

This week, the students of State College will have an unusual opportunity. Two open meetings will be held—the College Union Board of Directors will meet on Tuesday night, and the Student Government Investigations Committee will meet on Thursday night.

The purpose of the meeting of the Board of Directors will be two-fold: (1) to outline the program for next year, and (2) to apportion the budget for next year among the various committees.

The Student Government Investigations Committee will meet to discuss the present method of allocating the profits of the Student Supply Stores. They will listen to testimony by the students-at-large and faculty who will be asked to express their views on the amount of the Student Stores' profits that should go to athletics and the amount that should go to academic scholarships.

Both of these subjects have long been a reason for controversy among the various factions here. The time for the students to speak is now. Next fall will be much too late. —JM

Observe Greek Week

Greeks On Campus

By Bill Marley

Greek Week started Sunday with the Pi Kappa Phi Sing at the College Union ballroom at 3:00. The winner was Sigma Chi.

The entire schedule is as follows: Monday, exchange suppers, 5:30 p.m.; Tuesday, exchange suppers, canned food handbill instructions distributed; Wednesday, exchange suppers, collect canned food; Thursday, exchange suppers, collect canned food, Advisor and President Banquet at the C.U.; Friday, turn in canned food at Delta Sigma Phi house, Greek Week Banquet at the cafeteria, and Field Day from 3-5 p.m.; Saturday, concert at Kidd Brewer's at 2 p.m., and the grand finale featuring Joni James and Stan Kenton at the Coliseum, 8 p.m.

This year's Field Day ought to be a blast. We are going to get in on the latest college fad and feature a Renault "Cram." Two new Renaults have been donated by Harmon Motor Co. and the idea is to see which fraternity can get the most men in the passenger space only in 8 minutes. The other events will be a Gladiator ring, Wheelbarrow race, Sack race, Three-legged race, Egg toss, and Car Push. This Field Day is one of the best chances of the year for all frats to get together and absorb good fraternity spirit, so let's turn out according to our 900 man strength here at State.

A traveling trophy will be awarded to the first place team and permanent plaques will go to 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place teams.

Greek Week can be, and usually is, the biggest fraternity week of the year, and it should get firm support in all phases. It not only ends with a partying weekend but the food drive and exchange suppers can solidify inter-fraternity bonds and public-fraternity bonds. During this week we can show the people of Raleigh that fraternities play a role different from the average man's conception of fraternities.

The food drive is a perfect way to demonstrate our concern of the welfare of those less fortunate than us. So if quizzes don't get in my hair, I intend to work for the fraternity name here at State . . . how about you?

One parting note about drinking in the Coliseum. I know this is gross repetition but there will be an IFC investigations committee on the job and they intend to enforce the rule. The Administration will be represented there at the dance by faculty members and we always need their support. Quoting Bob Davis, newly-elected IFC President, "At this crucial period, with Fraternity Row seeming near, the fraternities on this campus stand on the threshold of a great new era with unlimited possibilities. Let's not jeopardize our position by lowering our standing in the eyes of the College."

Technicalities . . .

By Steve Daves

When "poop" is offered by people in responsible positions, when its use is so widely condoned, when its use seems to be "the thing to do," when it seems to be a violation of a weak honor code . . . it must be indeed difficult to refuse. Thus the weakness of a system.

And a minority can defame a majority. Or a majority can defame the minority. It is hard to be certain which. The ridiculous element is the indignance of the participants. The ridiculous element is the naive of the contributors. Perhaps it is a strange form of hypocrisy.

The situation exists. If no one really cares, nothing more need be said. If the situation is deplorable to someone, it should be corrected. Correction here perhaps lies not in further indictment of the guilty or defamation of groups for past offenses. Correction must be a result of examining the reasons for failure of the Honor Code. The Code hasn't failed because it lacks enforcement by its elected administrators. It has failed because of our own inherent apathy, the same apathy which in many areas of collegiate participation distinguishes our campus from other more ideal institutions. No one cares if Charlie Framis or Mike Kuskiowski cheat.

In a dormitory bull session, someone says "Damn those guys." A simple damnation is about all the concern "those guys" receive.

Justice is a more than usually intangible principle on our campus, and if we conform to the general tradition of the College, which is mostly an apathetic vacuum, justice will continue to elude us.

We hope that we have insulted and frightened offenders. By merit of response, our hope seems fulfilled. But accusation will alleviate the situation only temporarily. A universally strict adherence to the principle of honor in reporting violators, both faculty and student, is the only final cure.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

Spring is here and isn't it great and God how I hate the mud and the rain and the sun too because I have to study instead of going out to play but maybe I can get the poop and won't have to study if only I can get in with one of those fat big boys who have an "in" in several different ways.

But athletics are important on this campus and you'd better not forget it for a minute or else the big fat boys will get you and you will get phone calls that threaten your life and you may go down gloriously as a Noble Person but who wants to die for something as simple as Honor when he can die instead of glutting himself of the fruits of Vice and Sin and isn't the very thought of honor just ridiculous anyway when anybody and everybody knows that you have to hedge a little and lie a lot to get anywhere in this terrifying fast big wide world.

State College of Agriculture and Engineering is a place of wonder and joy and doubt and deadness and it is really out of it because most of the students will never know the meaning of other-than-animal excitement except maybe when they see an especially big tractor or a huge tensile tester or a nice bomber that can deliver death to about three millions at one time or a smoothly humming loom or a fat funny fantastic building by Frank Lloyd Wright who has just died and left the School of Design without a God but maybe the Dean of that famous school will soon replace him anyway.

Who here reads D. H. Lawrence for other than the sensuous excitement which comes from his preoccupation with the human body and its most glorious Function and who here will ever have the sensitivity to fathom the symbolism in Kafka's terrifying damnation of anything authoritarian because he hated his father and then there's Faulkner and that grubby place called The South where they pick cotton and whip slaves and drink tall cool drinks beside the white columns out front of the mansion and upstairs the old man sits in his filthy clothes and thinks of cheating on his production costs so he can get more money out of that new naive industry which has just torn itself into the red clay outside of the dirty depressing town which is either all mud or all dust and everything is an understatement of emotions that are all inwardly overstated.

But it's spring. Things are coming out. State is growing. The growth is liberally sprinkled with decay and wrong moves. Hope lies not in complacency but in huge changes. Changes that do not go through the red tape and petty politics of a stupid-about-education state legislature and a governor who talks out of both sides of his mouth and wants to end his term with a record of not-raising-taxes and let's bring industry to North Carolina where they can recruit graduates from other places where they know something beyond the grayness of a technical education . . .

Simonson Memorial Trophy Match To Be Held April 25

The George Kenneth Simonson Memorial Trophy Match will be fired on Saturday, 25 April 1959 at the indoor rifle range in Frank Thompson Gymnasium. This will be a triangular match between the Army ROTC, the Air Force ROTC, and the Varsity rifle teams. The competition will begin at nine o'clock Saturday morning.

George Kenneth Simonson was an outstanding marksman on the Army ROTC rifle team for three years as a student at State College. He died in a boating accident near Buggs Island, Virginia, during the spring of 1957.

In memoriam to her son, Mrs. R. A. Persell has donated the following awards to be presented to winners of the George Kenneth Simonson Match, an annual event at N. C. State College with rifle teams of the institution participating: Name of winning team will be engraved on a large trophy to be on display with other N. C. State Varsity trophies in the Coliseum; an ash tray with civilian rifle figure will be awarded to the high individual shooter while the high shooter of each remaining team will receive a Bronze Metal.

Simonson's mother and step-father, Colonel R. A. Persell of Falls Church, Virginia, will be present on Saturday to present the trophies and awards to the winning team and individual high shooters.

Pack Loses To Carolina 5-2 To Bring Season Record To 5-3

The Tarheels of Carolina handed the State College baseball team a 5-2 setback Saturday, to bring the Chapel Hill squad out of a three-game losing streak. Led by their big southpaw pitching ace, Ben Hammett, the Tarheels held the Pack to 5 hits while collecting ten of their own.

Carolina squad held a 5-0 shut-out, allowing the State team only two hits. When play was resumed after about 45 minutes, the Wolfpack staged a lively comeback that netted them two quick runs.

Carolina's scoring came in two innings before the rains, scoring three in the first and two in the fifth.

State pushed across their two tallies in the seventh.

For Carolina it was the second win in five ACC starts, while for the Wolfpack it was their second defeat compared to the same number of wins. Carolina now claims an 8-4 overall record while the Pack has a 5-3.

Carruthers, who suffered his first defeat after winning his first two starts, failed to retire one batter. Don Hafer started things rolling in the seventh inning when the State squad scored their only two. He scored minutes later off a single by Stacey Wells.

One of the country's most renowned reactor physicists, Milton C. Edlund, will deliver a public lecture Tuesday, April 21, at 7:30 p.m. in Room 11, Riddick. Edlund has taught at Oak Ridge National Laboratory and has served as a senior physicist and section chief there. He is co-author of one of the standard texts, The Elements of Nuclear Reactor Theory, and at present he is Chief of the Physics and Mathematics Analysis Department of the Atomic Energy Division of Babcock & Wilcox Company in Lynchburg, Va.

Any persons who desire to enter the Spring Photo Contest at the College Union must enter their pictures at the Main Desk by April 23. Entry rules are available at the CU Main Desk.

The Panorama program scheduled for April 24 at 8:00 p.m. in the College Union Theater, will present a vivid depiction of rocket development from ancient Chinese weapons to modern missiles, setting the stage for a provocative film prediction showing how man may conquer outer space.

There will be a Forestry meeting Tuesday, April 21. A movie on the Idaho Dam Project will be on the agenda.

The AIEE will meet at 7:00 p.m., Tuesday, April 28, in room 368 of the College Union. Dr. Kay L. Barkley of the Psychology Department will speak on the subject of psychology and industry. Refreshments will be served.

A watch was found in the 2300 block of Hillsboro on April 15. The owner should contact Frank Cross at 2232 Hillsboro or telephone TE 2-9415.

Judicial Board Convicts Ten

The Chairmen of the Student Government Judicial Department Campus Code Board and Honor Code Board announce that at the end of the first ten weeks of the spring semester, twelve cases were heard with the following results:

Ten students were found guilty, and two students were found not guilty of charges placed against them.

In all cases of conviction, a letter was sent to parents explaining the conduct of the convicted student and the action taken by the involved Board. A copy of the letter was placed in the student's permanent file.

Symphony to Give Concert Summer Work Offered to Col. Students

The North Carolina Symphony, now on its 14th annual tour, will play two concerts in Raleigh on Wednesday, April 22.

A free matinee for school children will be presented at 3:30 p.m. at Memorial Auditorium, and an evening concert for adults will be played at 8:30 p.m. at the Josephus Daniels Junior High School.

Julia Ann Hunt, seventeen-year-old pianist from Charlotte, will be the soloist at the children's concert. She attends Saint Mary's Junior College in Raleigh and is the pupil of Miss Mary Ruth Haig. She will play Rando from Mozart's Concerto in D minor.

In commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the death of the composer, the Symphony will open the evening concert with Handel's Overture to the Royal Fireworks. Following this selection, the Symphony will play Brahms' Symphony No. III, Opus 90.

After a brief intermission, guest soloist Evelyn McGarrity, soprano, will sing four numbers: Handel's O, Had I Jubal's Lyre, Mascagni's Voi lo Sapete, Schubert's An die Musik, and Verdi's O Don Fatale from Don Carlo. The Symphony will conclude the program with an original composition by Dr. Swalin: Maxaben, and Rimsky-Korsakov's Russian Easter Overture.

The concert will be open to all members of the North Carolina Symphony Society.

This summer there will be work available at the State Hospitals at Raleigh and Butner for college students who have completed two years of college work and who are at least 18 years old. The sponsor of this project is the University Religious Council at Duke and the Westminster Fellowship at Carolina. Project members will work as attendants at the hospitals, and they will be responsible for the care and protection of the patients. This includes simple nursing procedures, ward house-keeping duties and assistance and participation in patients' social and recreational activities. The attendants will work five and one-half days a week, and the salary is $204.00 per month. Housing will be available on the hospital grounds, and meals may be taken in the employees' dining room at the hospital.

For further detailed information, contact O. B. Woodriddle at the State College YMCA.

VIVE LE POPCORN!

The other day as I was walking down the street picking up tinfoil, (Marlboro, incidentally, has the best tinfoil, which is not surprising when you consider that they have the best cigarettes, which is not surprising when you consider that they take the best filters and put them together with the best tobaccos and rush them to your tobacco counter, fresh and firm and loaded with smoking pleasure). The other day, I say, as I was walking down the street picking up tinfoil, (I have, incidentally, the second largest ball of tinfoil in our family. My brother Eleanor's is bigger—more than four miles in diameter—but, of course, he is taller than I). The other day, as I was saying, while walking down the street picking up tinfoil, I passed a campus and right beside it, a movie theatre which specialized in showing foreign films. Most campuses have foreign movie theatres close by, because foreign movies are full of culture, art, and esoterica, and where is culture more rife, art more rampant, and esoterica more endemic than on a campus?

Nowhere; that's where.

I hope you have all been taking advantage of your local foreign film theatre. Here you will find no simple-minded Hollywood products, marked by treacly sentimentality and machine-made bravura. Here you will find life itself—in all its grimness, its poverty, its naked, raw passion!

Have you, for instance, seen the recent French import, Le Crayon de Mon Oncle ("The Kneecap"), a savage and uncompromising story of a man named Claude, whose consuming ambition is to get a job as a meter reader with the Paris water department? But he is unable, alas, to afford the flashlight one needs for this position. His wife, Bon-Bon, sells her hair to a wigmaker and buys him a flashlight. Then, alas, Claude discovers that one also requires a leatherette bow tie. This time his two young daughters, Caramel and Nougat, sell their hair to a wigmaker. So now Claude has his leatherette bow tie, but now, alas, his flashlight battery is burned out and the whole family, alas, is bald.

Or have you seen the latest Italian masterpiece, La Donna E Mobile (I Ache All Over), a heart-shattering tale of a boy and his dog? Malvolio, a Venetian lad of nine, loves his little dog with every fibre of his being. He has one great dream: to enter the dog in the annual Venetian dog show. But this, alas, requires an entrance fee, and Malvolio, alas, is penniless. However, he saves and scrimps and steals and finally gets enough together to enter the dog in the show. The dog, alas, comes in twenty-third. Malvolio sells him to a vivisectionist.

Or have you seen the new Japanese triumph, Kibutsi-San (The Radish), a pulse-stirring historical romance about Yamoto, a poor farmer, and his daughter Ethel who are accosted by a warlord one morning on their way to market? The warlord cuts Yamoto in half with his samurai sword and runs off with Ethel. When Yamoto recovers, he seeks out Ethel's fiancé, Red Buttons, and together they find the warlord and kill him. But, alas, the warlord was also a sorcerer and he whimsically turned Ethel into a whooping crane. Loyal Red Buttons takes Ethel home where he feeds her fish heads for twenty years and keeps hoping she'll turn back into a woman. She never does. Alas.
