YMCA Sponsors 'Friendship Night'

The State College YMCA is sponsoring an International Friendship Night tomorrow night at 8 p.m. Speaking for the occasion will be Mrs. Francis T. Dawson of Elon College.

Mrs. Dawson will speak on the subject, "We Are All Neighbors." "Without doubt, it can be said that she is one of the most appropriate speakers on this subject—a lover of world peace, a devotee to international friendship and good will, and a well-known social worker," said

Agriculture Dept. Gives Choice of Study To Freshmen

Freshmen enrolling in the School of Agriculture this fall were able to enroll in either agricultural science, agricultural business, or agricultural technology.

More than 500 occupations in eight fields of Agriculture need college-trained men. They are:

Agricultural research needs about 1,000 new men each year in such areas as production, marketing, farm management, farm finance and appraisal, agricultural engineering equipment and utilities, processing, new uses and methods, new products, by-products, conservation, reclamation, and rural sociology.

Agricultural industry requires about 3,000 new men each year in industries such as grain and seed processing, meat and poultry packing, fertilizer and lime, pesticides and herbicides, feed manufacturing, dairy processing, fats and oils, textiles and fibers, buildings and utilities, and lumber and forest products.

Agricultural business needs about 3,000 men each year in the areas of banking and agricultural credit, insurance, farm management, cooperative management, land appraisal, grading, packing and labeling, marketing management, storage and warehousing, transportation, farm utilities, custom services, and various private businesses which serve agriculture.

Agricultural education needs about 3,000 new men each year in the fields of vocational agriculture, agricultural extension, college instruction, governmental agencies, farm organizations, industrial agencies, private business firms, and foreign technical aid.

Agricultural communications could employ about 500 new people each year in the areas of farm reporting, publications, magazines, photography, motion pictures, radio, recording, television, advertising, and exhibiting.

Agricultural Conservation needs about 1,000 new men each year for work in connection with the conservation of soils, water, range lands, forest, fish, wildlife, and parks.

Public and private agricultural services require 1,500 new men each year in such areas as inspection and regulation for food and feed, seed and fertilizer, agricultural chemicals; plant

R.O.T.C. Honors Top Army Men

Nine top-ranking cadets in the Army ROTC at State College have been designated "distinguished military students" in recognition of outstanding ROTC records.

This was announced by Col. L. W. Merriam, professor of military science and tactics at State College, who stated that all of the honor students are beginning their fourth year of ROTC training.

The honor cadets are: Frank M. Alley, Jr., King, N. C.; William R. Barnes, Angier; Charles W. Hammer, Siler City; Lawrence Harris, Jr., Wake Forest; William B. Kay, Jr., Red Springs; Thomas P. Lennon, Anderson, S. C.; John K. Maness, Biscoe; Jacob C. Quikel, Charlotte; and John L. West, Plantersville, S. C.

"These students," Colonel Merriam said, "have achieved this distinction by demonstrated leadership ability, a three-year record of high grades in military science, outstanding performance during summer camp, and having attained an academic standing in the upper half of their class."

Visiting Committee Holds Conferences

The Visiting Committee of the Board of Trustees of the Consolidated University of North Carolina held conferences with administrative officials, faculty members, and student leaders as the main point of their visit to State College last Friday and Saturday.

Starting off the visitation was a luncheon on Friday in the College Cafeteria. Joining the group at this luncheon were the president of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, William C. Friday; W. D. Carmichael, vice-president and finance officer of the Consolidated University; and Claude Teague, a member of the Consolidated University staff.

After the Luncheon, the Visiting Committee met with student leaders of various organizations on campus. The purpose of the afternoon meeting was to give those students an opportunity to tell the Committee what the past year had brought forth in their respective organizations; and also the purpose was to let the Committee ask any questions and air any opinions they might have had regarding a more successful way for the organizations to carry out their function.

Students giving written and oral reports to the Committee were: John Fulton, chairman of the Honor Code Board; Larry Carter, president of the I. F. C.; Ralph Boswell, chairman of the Student Government Traffic Committee; Leonard Dean, president of the I. D. C.; Fred Manley, president of the YMCA; Jim Hunt, president of the Student Government; and Jim Moore, Executive Editor of THE TECHNICIAN, for Roy Lathrop, Editor.

On Saturday morning, the Visiting Committee continued to hold conferences, after which there was a luncheon for them and all other members of the Board of Trustees.

The chairman of the Committee, William P. Saunders of Raleigh, said that the group would be here at State again on Tuesday, December 9. Hill Yarborough of Louisiana is chairman of sub-committee for State College.

Members of the Visiting Committee present were Mrs. Ed M. Anderson of West Jefferson; Mrs. Mebane H. Burgwyn, Jackson; Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, Greenville; J. W. York, Raleigh; Saunders and Yarborough.

Foundation Welcomes Fellowship Applicants

The Danforth Foundation, an educational foundation located in St. Louis, Missouri, invites applications for the eighth class (1959) of Danforth Graduate Fellows from college senior men and recent graduates who are preparing themselves for a career of college teaching, and are planning to enter graduate school in September, 1959, for their first year of graduate study. The Foundation welcomes applicants from the areas of Natural and Biological Sciences, Social Sciences, Humanities and all fields of specialization to be found in the undergraduate college.

Chancellor C. H. Bostian has named Dr. Kingston Johns as the Liaison Officer to nominate to the Danforth Foundation two or not to exceed three candidates for these 1959 fellowships. These appointments are fundamentally "a relationship of encouragement" throughout the years of graduate study, carrying a promise of financial aid within prescribed conditions as there may be need. The maximum annual grant for single Fellows is $1400 plus tuition and fees charged to all graduate students; for married Fellows, $1900 plus tuition and fees charged to all graduate students with an additional stipend of $350 for each child. Students with or without financial need are invited to apply.

A Danforth Fellow is allowed to carry other scholarship appointments, such as Rhodes, Fulbright, Woodrow Wilson, Marshall, etc., concurrently with his Danforth Fellowship, and applicants for these appointments are cordially invited to apply at the same time for a Danforth Fellowship. If a man received the Danforth Appointment, together with a Rhodes Scholarship, Fulbright Scholarship, or Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, he be

Variety of Programs

College Radio Expands Service

An expanded program of service to the students of State College has been undertaken by WKNC, the college student radio station.

Included in the changes for the new college year are an increase in broadcasting hours, new call letters for the station, new technical equipment, and programs designed to cover a variety of student interests.

In announcing the expanded broadcasting hours, Ed Finch of Bailey, station manager, said that the radio station will be broadcasting 10 hours per day, seven days per week. He reported that the new hours include early morning musical programs and a noon-time program, "High Noon," for entertainment during the college lunch hours.

Finch said that continuous broadcasting begins in the late afternoon and continues until the early morning.

Formerly known as WVWP, the student station has recently changed its call letters to WKNC to broaden its interest in campus affairs and to conform with Federal Communications Commission standards.

Business Manager John Sprinkle of Winston-Salem reported that the expansion in coverage includes the new 800-man dormitory at State College. The broadcast signal now is within reach of approximately 4,000 campus students.

Approximately $2,000 has been spent on new technical equipment in the past year for the station, including an Ampex 350 tape recorder.

WKNC, located in the 1911 Building, is completely staffed and operated by students of the college. Broadcasts are by carrier current through the college transmission lines on a frequency of 580 Kc. Facilities include three studios, four turntables, and a library of 8,000 records.

Two members of the WKNC staff are shown as they present a program of listenable music to the students of State. The announcer is Mike Graham, at the microphone, while Roy Griffin is working the controls.

The second annual Cadet Hop will be held in the College Union Ballroom at 8:00 p.m. on October 11. The Military Ball Association is sponsoring the hop for all Army and Air Force Cadets who are members of the Association. Dress will be semi-formal.

The Engineers' Council, at their first meeting of the year, unanimously elected the Ag Engineers' Club to Associate membership. Ronald Sneed, president of the Club, pointed out that his organization is in the process of trying to make the switch from Agriculture to Engineering official.

Ray Briggs, a senior in Electrical Engineering, has been appointed to the Chairmanship of the N. C. State Fair by Richard Redwine, president of The Engineers' Council.

All students interested in shooting with the Varsity Rifle Team this year are asked to meet at the Military Supply Room in the rear basement of Thompson Gymnasium at 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday, October 7.

The first meeting of the year of the AIE Auxillary will take place on Tuesday night, October 7, at 8 p.m. at the College Union in Room 256-258.

Mr. William Simpson, the Placement Director of the School of Engineering, will be the speaker. All wives of Industrial Engineering and Furniture students are urged to attend this first meeting.

The American Nuclear Society will hold an organizational meeting at 7:30 p.m. on October 7, in Room 242 of Riddick Hall. J. Frank Coneybear, president of Astra, Incorporated, a company of Consultant Nuclear Engineers, will speak. All students who are interested in the nuclear field are urged to attend this meeting and learn more about the ANS.

The Answer.... Money

We are not getting our money's worth. We are being taught, in some instances, by graduate students who perhaps know their subject but know absolutely nothing about putting it across to others.

In addition, many of these graduate students have neither the time nor the interest to teach . . . their primary purpose in being here is to get a higher degree, not to transmit knowledge and understanding to underclassmen.

There have been many instances when the graduate student-teacher has not even prepared a lesson before coming to class . . . he merely uses the book as an outline, or fills the time with working problems, or at times even assigns work and then leaves the room to do his own studying.

The situation is unfortunate and has serious repercussions . . . for the students resent being treated as if they are necessary 'bother' in the graduate's schedule. We learn very little from these inexperienced substitutes, we are forced to dig the subject material out of a text without help, and the quality of our learning experience suffers greatly.

We are sincerely glad that State College can boast of graduate work, and we are proud that State College is doing extensive, valuable research in many fields. But this is still primarily and essentially an undergraduate school, created and maintained by the State of North Carolina to educate large numbers of its citizens in the technical areas of education.

We may wonder why State's students must endure graduate teachers and suffer the consequences . . . the answer is simple, basic, and tiresome to the senses . . . the answer is inadequate salaries for the faculty of State College.

State simply cannot attract enough people to join our faculty when the pay is so disproportionate to the training required. Therefore, the college must fall back on graduate students who will work for very little . . . because they are worth very little.

Never can too much be said for the cause of increasing faculty salaries . . . millions of words, both written and spoken, must be poured into the ears of those who can right the wrong which now exists.

Students will benefit as much as the faculty from a pay increase . . . and we can only hope that several thousand North Carolina parent-voters will believe us. —RL

Where's My Paper!?

Patience is a virtue . . . we ask that all our off-campus readers be virtuous until we can get our permanent addressing plates set up. The process takes time, and we are doing the best we can.

Until you begin receiving THE TECHNICIAN in the mail, we will leave copies outside in the hall of the 1911 Bldg., rooms 137-140, where you can pick them up on Tuesday or Friday mornings. —RL WAY OUT...

with John Cocke

We were all over at the P.R. the other night drinking college beverages. The place was pretty crowded and everybody was talking at once, but I managed to catch the tail end of a conversation that was going on in the next booth. A well-dressed middle-aged man was talking to a younger fellow who was obviously his son. This was what I picked up:

Father: And you say no one really gets disturbed about, say, political events? Impending war?

Son: Well some of the boys talk about it, but nobody really worries.

Father: Son, we used to have riots for world peace! And when the depression came, I remember seeing articles in the paper (I was out of school by then) saying that Georgetown college students were storming the Capitol and picketing for relief.

Son: Oh that's silly!
Father: Silly? We didn't think so then, for it might have done some good by goading people into action.

Son: Maybe. But why not let the government take care of it all? Isn't that what it's for?

Father: Look, boy, WE are the government. If something's going on that we don't like, shouldn't we be the first to let our officials know about it?

Son: They can take care of it anyway. That's what they're for, so there's no use our worrying.

Father: That's the new Democratic theory, eh? . . . Let's get off this, though. What do you plan to do when you get out of school?

Son: Well, let's see. Get a good job with some industry, I guess, and then get married and raise some kids.

Father: Well go on.
Son: What do you mean? That's it right there.

Father: I mean how far do you want to go in this company? Or do you hope to break away eventually and start a business of your own?

Son: No, all I want is to be able to fit in somewhere and make a decent living. That's all I want.

Father: Don't you want to really DO anything? To make a name for yourself?

Son: Pop, that's too much of a risk. I'd much rather be integrated with a group, like, than run the chance of being left out in the cold.

Father: Well how about something creative on the side? Couldn't you try to write something, for example?

Son: What do you mean? About what?

Father: Society, for one thing. Don't you think it's pretty defective in spots? You could write a novel. . .

Son: Why, except for sin and stuff like that, I can't see that anything's wrong. Anyway, evil is the concern of the preachers.

At this point the bartender came over with our College Beverage, and I had to quit listening and start drinking. But between sips I kept thinking about how times had changed and how great it was that we had learned not to worry about anything.

Weak - Or Strong

by Chuck Lombard

Monday, in this column, I suggested a campus referendum. The vote was to be a test of our desire for personal responsibility. We were to vote Yes, I want no cow fences . . . Yes, I'll respect the campus, I'll stay on the sidewalks and off the grass. Or perhaps we were to vote No, I'd rather have wire and railroad ties to curb my irresponsible behavior.

Well, I think we State men would rather look on a clean, green, expanding campus rather than the broken vista of fenced-in pastures about which everyone now complains . . . the former is within our grasp, the latter within our possession. What will we do?

State men are fond of the old dodge "they (the other State men) won't do it." I think our question is not what the others will do, but, for each of us, what we will do ourselves.

This latter approach is instantly the one from which we must vote . . . and that is why we must vote!

Let each man vote on his own conscience; then we will see from the returns—and not just cynical opinion—what we are, as a whole.

A project as ambitious as "No Fences" on this campus requires a large majority support from the student body. However, in the referendum held for the acceptance of the present Student Government Constitution, only a very small fraction of the students voted at all.

To eliminate the fences, the majority required would have to be based on the number of students with voting privilege and not just on the number who vote. This means everyone should—must—vote. No vote at all would be a vote for fences.

But, of course, the Student Government is the body which must approve and sponsor a referendum on campus. We owe our college and ourselves a test of our maturity.

If we are weak, then let's face it. If we are strong, let's discover it and reap the benefits.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

On Friday, October 3, the film committee of the College Union is bringing to the students a foreign movie which we feel that only a column such as your can do justice to in a publicity way, and so we are asking your help.

The movie is "Ugetsu", starring Machiko Kyo, Masayuki Mori and Kinuyo Tanaka. Winner of the Grand Prize, Venice Film Festival. "Ugetsu" has also been highly praised by the reviews in this experience." Set in 16th century Japan, the film ranges from peasant life to love and war as two men search for wealth and glory.

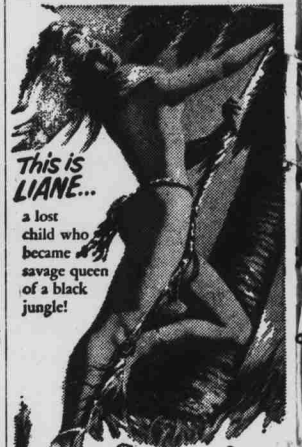

This is the second of the Friday night special film series, Panorama. Show time is 8 p.m. in the College Union Theater. A coffee hour will be held following the movie.

During the year, Panorama will bring the students a variety of movies and film programs. Specific dates are given on the college calendar and topics will be announced in the Technician and other publicity.

Sincerely,
Rex Campbell

Sunday Concert Planned

By Oscar Taylor

The Music Committee was omitted last week through error. The committee sponsors a variety of professional and local concerts. The Sunday afternoon concerts at 4:00 p.m. each week in the music lounge are conducted by the committee. The programs are very entertaining and include a wide selection of music. All students are invited to attend.

The Dance Committee sponsors State College's own night club again this year. The Starlight Club will be held in the union ballroom October 4 at 8:00 p.m. Music will be by the Red Shearon Quartet. There is no admission charge, but drinks and food will cost. Only couples will be admitted.

The Dance Committee sponsors social dance lessons which will be taught by Lahman Studios. There will be a series of 7 free lessons for the first semester. The first meeting will be in the union ballroom on October 2 at 7:00 p.m. Latin dances, slow dances, and bop will be taught. If you can not make the first meeting, please contact the dance committee before October 9 and you can still be in a group.

The Forum Committee will sponsor a lecture on Poland on October 7 at 8:00 p.m. by Dr. Bumgardner, a professor of State College. The Doctor, a graduate of State College in 1951, is a professor in poultry science and is currently doing research at State College. Dr. Bumgardner returned recently from a six week tour of Poland, where he participated in an dor. He spent three weeks with a Polish family and three weeks touring the country. All students are invited to the lecture on Communist Poland in the union ballroom.

The Film Committee for the Panorama program will sponsor the distinguished film "Ugetsu" in the union theater on October 3 at 8:00 p.m. This world-famous Japanese motion picture, winner of a Venice Film Festival Grand Prize, ranks as one of the finest ever produced. All students are cordially invited to attend. The weekend movie "Tanganyika" with Van Heflin, Ruth Roman, and Howard Duff shows in the theater on October 4 and 5.

The Photography Committee short course will be held at 7:00 p.m. on October 6 in the darkroom.

Suddenly, it's October again; October is always a very big month for television. I think it would be very interesting to look back on some previous Octobers as the big tv seasons began.

Where's Miss Brooks?

Six years ago tomorrow, way back on October 3, 1952, one of the biggest tv shows of all times hit the airwaves. "Our Miss Brooks"! This show was a smash overnight; critics applauded it, and it rapidly zoomed onto the top-ten list. During the program's remarkable history, it won almost every possible award and reward; and Eve Arden as beloved "Miss Brooks" romped away with a coveted Emmy for best female actress in a regular series.

Where is "Miss Brooks", today? An interesting question! A recent check shows that only one station in the entire state carries the program; and this is, of course, on a rerun basis. Now you're saying, "What does all this prove?" It proves to me that tv programs and tv tastes work in cycles. In 1952 and 1953, the word was comedy; Miss Arden's shows was one of the more lusterous attempts.

However by 1954, comedy was on the decline; and there were more drama programs than ever before. 1955 marched forward; and a small, insignificant, summer-replacement, "The $64,000 Question" set the pace for the on-coming season. Quiz Shows! (Boy, are they on the decline now!) After those came the music shows, but somewhere back there in the dark ages of 1955 a radio to tv transition occurred for a horse-opera named "Gunsmoke". Look at it now and its thousands of contemporaries.

What all this proves is that the shows that are now in the minority will soon be the big ones in a few seasons. Comedy is already back on the upbeat as are dramas. Before you know it, there may be only 60 or 70 westerns left to choose from. Gad! What a blow that would be for viewers!

One westerner, Dale Robertson of "Tales of Wells Fargo", is confident that westerns, like rock and roll, are here to stay. He boasts that his top-ten show will slaughter all opposition—the opposition this season being one of the better shows, "Father Knows Best". Robertson further boasts that he will soon outdraw Matt Dillon both gun-wise(?) and in rating points. As long as he feels so nasty about it, here's wishing him the worst of luck. One of the better westerns, "Cheyenne," will soon regain its original star, Clint Walker. The mammoth Mr. Walker battled for a better and bigger contract all summer and won.

Other Jazz

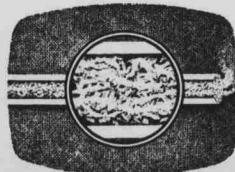

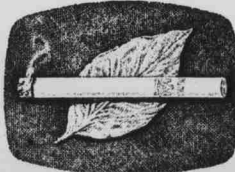

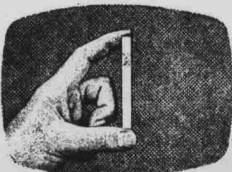

The Raleigh Little Theatre's first production will be "Inherit the Wind" which opens the 1958-59 season on October 21. WKNC 580 informs all students who are interested in joining the staff, either in announcing or engineering areas, to see Russ Ford for an audition. Nostalgic notes: Jayne Meadows who has been on "I've Got A Secret" since its inception many years ago may soon be leaving the show to do a Broadway play and later move to Hollywood with her husband, Steve Allen. Miss Meadows will (See ENTERTAINMENT, Page 6)

Dorm Dues Pay For IDC Activities

By Rob Farrell

"Where does my money go?" This is a question which frequently accompanies payment of fees.

When dormitory residents checked into their rooms this year they were asked to pay a $2 Inter-Dormitory Council fee. This fee has been approved by the Student Government and the college administration. It will be collected only once a year, and no additional assessments will be made during the year.

The purpose of the fee is to finance IDC and dormitory activities during the year. These activities include the IDC Ball, dormitory socials and picnics, homecoming floats, dormitory intramurals, and intramural awards.

In the past, the IDC was appropriated money from the Student Government Activities Fund. This year the Council will finance its activities from the fees collected from dormitory residents.

Over half of the amount collected will be used to finance the IDC Ball which will be held on November 15. The Tommy Dorsey Orchestra with Warren Covington has been engaged to play at the ball. The total cost of the dance will be approximately $3,300.

A large portion of the remaining revenue will be put aside for dormitory socials. These include parties, dances, and picnics held during the year by the individual dormitories.

The remaining revenue will be used to finance such things as homecoming floats, Agromeck pictures, intramurals, TV repairs, office supplies, and posters.

At present, the IDC budget for the year is in the process of being drawn up. Except for a $700 balance from last year, this budget will be based entirely on the revenue received from IDC fees.

Watts Announces Verville Election

Mr. N. B. Watts, Director of Student Housing, announced that last year's mayor of Verville failed to conduct an election last spring, so Verville is without any elected officers at this time. He further stated that a community the size of Verville benefits greatly when organized and directed by interested leaders.

An election is planned in the very near future to elect a Mayor, a Secretary-Treasurer, a Publicity Director, an Athletic Director, a Fire Marshal-Sheriff, and one Alderman for each of the seven wards.

Any student or student's wife living in Verville is eligible to run. Desiring candidates may register as a candidate in the Verville office on or before noon Wednesday, September 24th.

Film Committee Sponsors Movie

The Film Committee, as part of its Panorama series, sponsors the distinguished Japanese film "Ugetsu" which will be shown at the C.U. theater on Friday, October 3, at 8:00 p.m. All students are cordially invited to see this world-famous picture, one of the finest ever produced.

The story takes place in sixteenth-century Japan. Two peasant neighbors in a small village see an opportunity to fulfill their desires in the confusion of fighting by feudal armies. Each goes to the city; the potter hopes to become rich, while the farmer craves military glory. They seem to attain their ambitions, but then tragedy shocks each back into reality; the farmer finds that his beloved is the ghost of a girl who died many years ago, while the potter finds that his wife has become a geisha.

Wolfpack To Invade Virginia Cavaliers

Coach Earle Edwards and his defending ACC champions, the State College Wolfpack, will be out for an important victory over the Cavaliers of Virginia Saturday, October 4, when the two ACC foes meet in Charlottesville. Both teams are sporting a record of one win and one loss at the present time.

The Wolfpack, stunned after last week's humiliating loss to the Maryland Terrapins, will be out to claim its second win. The defending ACC champs need a win over the Cavaliers to stay in the running.

Coach Dick Voris and his Cavalier squad have compiled a record similar to that of the Wolfpack. In their first outing they lost to Clemson by the narrow margin of 20-15. Last week it was a different story, as they won over the Duke Blue Devils, 15-12. As is the case with the Wolfpack, the Cavaliers need this win over the State squad badly.

Coach Dick Voris of the Cavaliers, working with an all-new staff this year, thinks his squad is fixed fairly well in the backfield, but is presented with problems in his line. In last week's tilt with the Blue Devils, the Cavalier's passing attack completely surprised the Duke squad. Behind the tossing arm of quarterback Reece Whitley, the Cavaliers handed the Blue Devil team its second straight loss of the season.

Homecoming To Be Next Home Game

The State College Wolfpack takes to the road for four straight week ends before returning home November 1, for Homecoming. The Wolfpack will meet Virginia Tech in a non-conference game for the Homecoming tilt.

Beginning Saturday, October 4, the State squad will start its four week tour. First the Wolfpack will meet the Cavaliers of Virginia at Charlottesville, and then they travel to Winston-Salem October 11, to meet the Deacons of Wake Forest.

On the following week end Coach Edwards and his squad will journey to Williamsburg to battle with the Indians of William and Mary. On October 25 the Wolfpack will be in Durham for the Blue Devil game.

Again, as the Wolfpack prepares for their road trip, the question arises, "Is the Wolfpack a road team?" State's last three losses have been in their home stadium.

certainly be preparing for the invasion of Coach Voris, and anticipating his passing attack. After the Carolina game, when the Tarheel passing proved to be the major threat to the State squad, Coach Edwards and his team will be prepared for a repeat performance.

The Cavalier first team will include eight returning lettermen, while the entire three-deep squad includes thirteen lettermen. For the State College Wolfpack there will be only three returning lettermen, while the majority of the three-deep squad will be comprised of sophomores.

It is his sophomores that Coach Edwards relies on most highly. At the beginning of the season, Coach Edwards said, "Our success will depend upon the play of the newcomers." After two games, Coach Edwards has much to be enthusiastic about, as the Wolfpack rookies have come through with some of the most outstanding play of the two games.

State takes to the road for four straight week ends before returning home Nov. 1 for a non-conference game with Virginia Tech. Beginning Saturday, the Wolfpack meets Virginia at Charlottesville, Wake Forest at Winston-Salem, William and Mary at Williamsburg, and Duke at Durham.

State's freshman football team opens a five-game season Friday night (Oct. 3) at Clemson, S. C., against the Tiger yearlings. Coach Johnny Clements is directing the team this year for the first time.

Other games, all at home, are: Oct. 10, South Carolina; Oct. 24, Duke; Oct. 31, Wake Forest; and Nov. 8, North Carolina.

Coach Earle Edwards had nothing but praise for Claude Gibson, the sophomore halfback who fumbled two punts last week against Maryland.

"When Claude came off the field, tears were streaming down his face," Edwards said. "I knew how badly he felt and that he had tried hard. Gibson is going to be a great football player. He's the best punt receiver on the team and Saturday was just one of those days. It's like a major league outfielder dropping two fly balls in one game . . . it rarely happens. Gibson might go the rest of his career and never drop another punt."

Only one Virginia boy will be on the Wolfpack's traveling squad Saturday when the Wolfpack opposes Virginia at Charlottesville. He is Ron Savage, a senior from Chincoteague. Savage, second unit center, has played brilliantly in State's two games to date.

Jim D'Antonio, the sophomore halfback who broke his ankle against Maryland and is out for the season, carried the ball nine times in two games and had a 4.1 rushing average. He gained 37 yards.

'WINSTON TASTES GOOD LIKE A CIGARETTE SHOULD!

This column is hilariously funny... the editor said so (actually, he said it "damn well better be!")

Joke: "Mommy, what's a vampire?"

"Hush, child, and drink your soup before it clots."

Another: "But mommy, why is daddy so cold?"

"Shut up and dig!"

D. L., a rather shapely coed from Cuba, admits that during the summer at home the Castro rebels elected her "Miss National Uprising." Cuba is plastered with pictures of her, rifle in hand, captioned, "I dreamed I captured Havana in my Maiden Form Bra." And she could do it, too.

Here's one you can read to the kids:

I.E.: "How do witch doctors tell time?"

E.E.: "How?"

I.E.: "With their witch watches."

Did you hear about the rich Texan who gave his son a chemistry set... The DuPont Company!

To all you cool cat freshmen who I hear complaining about nothing to do in Raleigh: Have you tried that live jazz right across Hillsboro at The Profile on Tuesday and Thursday evenings? It's not Brubeck, but it sure ain't Hank Snow either. Besides, the beverages they serve are magnificent!

Boquets

To Theta Tau for the paved walk in front of 1911 Bldg. It was their idea and they followed it up beautifully. But it does seem a damn shame that students should have to pave the walks... what's M&O for, anyway?

"Mommy, when can I have a bra? After all, I'm already fourteen years old."

"Shut up, Ralph."

UNC: "What, in your opinion, are the two best things in life?"

NCS: "A martini before and a cigarette after!"

Moment of Seriousness

Some of our foreign instructors do a magnificent job (i.e., Dr. Freyre of Physics and Alvarez of I.E.); but it is my considered opinion that most of them create for the student at least a one-letter grade handicap due to language difficulty. So please, powers that be... either teach us more Chinese or teach them more English.

Sign in pilot's briefing room at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base: "Be careful. A mid-air collision could spoil your entire day."

What with the girls in sack dresses and the boys in short pants, about the only thing we can be sure of is Westinghouse.

But be of good cheer, gentlemen... The fashion editors say skirts will be shorter this year, which is certainly good news for short men.

Students Produce 'Imposter' by Dick

The WKNC drama workshop will present its first play of the year at 9:00 on Thursday, October 2. The play will be a radio adaptation of Phillip K. Dick's short story, "Imposter."

The Drama Workshop, entering its second year, is the producer of WKNC's bi-weekly program "Exploring the Unknown." The cast and production staff of the Drama Workshop is made up entirely of students who have Mr. Max Halperen of the English Department as an advisor.

The plays are written by students who have an interest in creative writing and generally run from fifteen minutes to one-half hour. The acting staff is, likewise, composed of students who have a flair for dramatics. New members are trained for the positions by the old members of the staff.

Other plays planned for this school year are "The Last Trump" by Isaac Asimov, "The Star" and "The Nine Billion Names of God" by Arthur Clarke, "Usher II" and "Of Season" by Ray Bradbury.

Review

"The Ricky Nelson Show"—a bull this Monday night as the new "Desilu Playhouse" actually titled offers an interesting study in situation comedies. The show is actually a series of running gags (but then aren't all comedies?) Here, however, a story is woven around a set of gags rather than gags being worked into a story.

Lucky Strike presents

—the funniest, easiest way yet to make money!

PUT IN A GOOD WORD AND MAKE $25!

Speak English all your life and what does it get you? Nothing! But start speaking Thinklish and you may make $25! Just put two words together to form a new (and much funnier) one. Example: precision flight of bumblebees: Swarmation. (Note: the two original words form the new one: swarm + formation.) We'll pay $25 each for the hundreds and hundreds of new Thinklish words judged best—and we'll feature many of them in our college ads. Send your Thinklish words (with English translations) to Lucky Strike, Box 67A, Mt. Vernon, N. Y. Enclose name, address, college or university, and class. And while you're at it, light up a Lucky. Get the full, rich taste of fine tobacco, the honest taste of a Lucky Strike.
