State's Band Presents Homecoming Weekend Offers Halftime Highlights Program of Gala Festivities

In the mist of all the Homecoming excitement, the North Carolina State Band will be on hand to add color and entertainment. State's band, boasting the largest in North Carolina of 150 strong, will lead the parade, stepping off from the Memorial Auditorium at 10:15. State's Band under the supervision of Director Robert A. Barnes will also lead the way for pre-game and halftime ceremonies at the Wolfpack-Cowboy clash.

During the pre-game feature, bands from the following high schools in North Carolina will participate with the 150-piece Band. They are as follows: Marion, Henderson, Sanford, Clinton, Raleigh, Millbrook, Knightdale, and High Point.

Prior to the kick-off this afternoon these bands will be massed on the gridiron for a combined performance of the National Anthem conducted by Robert A. Barnes. This is a colorful spectacle with each Band's colors represented by the individual uniforms on the field.

To open the Homecoming events at half-time the State Band will enter the field from the end zone and move down the field playing Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever."

The State Band will continue with the half-time show titled "MEET THE BAND."

The first formation will introduce the trombone section with a gigantic trombone formed on the field. Thirty members of the trombone section will be down front to perform Henry Fillmore's grand old LASSUS TROMBONE.

In the second formation we find the entire percussion section to the front mounted on red and white podiums ready to play a drum specialty. This number features all of the drummers accompanied by the Band. As the Band accompanies the drums they will also do an intricate dance step in the background.

The next formation is that of a large trumpet while the 30 man trumpet section is introduced to the fans. The trumpets, accompanied again by the Band, will perform a modern number in jazz rhythm titled TRUMPETS WILD.

As soon as this rousing music is concluded the Band will move into a geometric formation for the presentation of the 1959 Homecoming Queen. Among fanfares from the Band, the crowd will learn the winners of the floats from the morning's Homecoming Queen. The Pershing Rifle Drill Team of the State College ROTC will be on hand to offer the famous Queen Anne Salute when the Queen is crowned.

Following the crowning of the Queen the Band will form the familiar monogram NCS formation for the performance of the NC State College ALTA MATER.

A busy program of Homecoming events is scheduled for State College this weekend.

Highlights include the football game between N. C. State and Wyoming in Riddick Stadium Saturday at 1:30 p.m.; the selection of a Homecoming queen; a giant parade through downtown Raleigh and out to the campus; and "open house" in the Alumni Memorial Building; and the annual Homecoming dance.

The parade, which will feature 41 marching units will take place Saturday morning, starting at 10:15 o'clock. It will move from Memorial Auditorium, down Fayetteville Street to the State Capitol and around the Capitol to Hillsboro Street, and will proceed down Hillsboro Street to State College.

Among the units in the parade will be the 150-member State College Marching Band, directed by Robert A. Barnes; the Color Guard; and the ROTC Drum and Bugle Corps.

More than 1,500 bandmen will take part in the band exercises.

Sponsoring the parade will be the Order of Thirty and Three, sophomore leadership society, headed by Charles Russell of Jamesville. Blue Key, the junior leadership society, headed by Phil Carlton of Pinetops, is sponsoring the Homecoming queen contest in which 10 young ladies will be finalists. The Homecoming dance will be sponsored by the Monogram Club, headed by Richard (Tiny) Reynolds of College Park, Md., a tackle on the Wolfpack football team.

Classes will be dismissed at 10 a.m. in order that students and professors may attend the Homecoming parade.

The Raleigh Merchants Bureau will present trophies to winning floats in three categories in Saturday's parade. The categories include dormitories, fraternities, and other student organizations.

Three judges have been named for North Carolina State College's big Homecoming parade.

They are James E. Briggs, former Raleigh major and president of T. H. Briggs and Sons; G. Akers Moore, Jr., vice president of the Commercial Printing Company and president of the Research Triangle Corporation; and G. Wesley Williams, executive secretary, Raleigh Merchants Bureau.

Briggs and Moore are State College alumni, and Williams is a long-time friend of the institution.

A group of 25 floats will be entered in the parade. They include 10 from dormitories, seven from fraternities, and eight from other student organizations.

Linda Wey of Boone, majorette with the State College Band and queen of the 1958 Homecoming, will crown the new queen during halftime exercises at the game. The other nine finalists will be introduced to the football fans.

The College Band, along with the visiting high school bands, will present a special program prior to the game.

Following the game, the Alumni Association will hold an "open house" and coffee hour at the Alumni Memorial Building.

The board of directors of the Alumni Association will meet at the college Saturday at 10 a.m., with Mose Kiser of Greensboro, chairman, presiding. The association's president is Richard L. Rice of Raleigh.

Among the students organizations that will participate in Saturday's parade are Sigma Chi, the College Union, Pi Kappa Phi, Lambda Chi Alpha, Bragg Dormitory, Alpha Gamma Rho, Bagwell Dormitory, the Horticultural Club, Tucker Dormitory, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Becton Dormitory, American Society of Heating, Refrigeration, and Air Conditioning, Alpha Phi Omega, Alexander Dormitory, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Fourth and Stadium Dormitories, State Mates Club, Delta Sigma Phi, Berry Dormitory, American Society of Agricultural Engineers, Gold Dormitory, Sigma Alpha Mu, Syme Dormitory, State College Veterans Association, Scabbar and Blade, Pershing Rifle Society, and Turlington Dormitory.

The N. C. State College Chapter of the Order of De Molay will have a meeting tonight at 7:00 p.m. in 205 Polk Hall. Coats and ties to be worn, because pictures for the Agromeet will be taken after the meeting. All DeMolays please attend.

Any organizations wishing a place to build a float for Homecoming contact Bob Redmon at TE-36901.

Apple cider made by the Horticulture club is for sale in Kilgore Hall from 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. for $1.25 a gallon.

A meeting of all coeds who are interested in Sigma Kappa Sorority will be held in the CU on Monday, November 2, at 7:30. The room number for the meeting will be posted.

Make plans now for the 1959

Engineers' Ball, which will be held on November 21 in the Coliseum. The Engineers' Council is striving to make this year's Ball the biggest and best ever held. Music will be furnished by the Duke Ambassadors, decorations in the Coliseum will be by Fallons and soft drinks and ice will be provided by the Engineers' Council.

Be sure to attend the only dance at State College that is especially for engineering students.

Found: One pair of glasses near the 1911 building at 10 a.m. Oct. 28, 1959. Contact Tom Kirkpatrick after 6 p.m. at TE 2-1183 or check at the College Union.

Bridge is being sponsored by the States Mates, the student's wives organization of State College, in the College Union. The meeting will be held in the Ball room on November 2, at 8:00 p.m. There will be instructors for beginners and accomplished players. Everyone is welcome.

Faculty to Hear Speaker on Religion

Dr. Tom Driver, faculty member at Union Seminary in New York, will be the guest lecturer for the annual Faculty Lectures on Religion at State College, November 10, 11, and 12.

Dr. Driver writes for The Christian Century about current plays appearing on Broadway. The Rev. Oscar B. Woolridge, Jr., coordinator of religious activities at State said Dr. Driver will interpret to the faculty what different contemporary authors are saying to this generation and to the religious implications of their writing.

The meeting will be in the Grill Room of the Cafeteria.

Watch For "The Boy Friend"

'Miss Wolfpack' Finalists

One of these ten finalists chosen by the Blue Key Leadership Fraternity will be crowned the Homecoming Queen at the halftime of the Wyoming-State College football game on Saturday, October 31. She will be presented at the Homecoming Dance in the College Union at 8 p.m.

Peggy Breedlove, sponsored by Lambda Chi Alpha; Ann Lee, sponsored by Delta Sigma Phi; and Kathryn Crumpler, sponsored by the Ag Economics Club.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

In Our Behalf

As many of you have probably noticed, the "Letters to the Editor" section of this newspaper has just recently become a sounding board of student opinion. Granted, most of the letters have concerned the shortcomings of The Technician, but, nevertheless, students are beginning to write and tell their feelings.

We do not mind being criticized, for any criticism, whether constructive or not, has a definite value. If it's good, this newspaper will improve because of it; if it's bad, we'll have a good laugh.

The point is that we want students to continue to write in, but we must make just a few reservations. First of all, we have received countless letters pointing out the inadequate coverage that The Technician gives to news happening on our campus. We realize without being told that we do not cover all meetings and events held on this campus, but, with our limited news staff of four persons, we try to give an acceptable performance.

By virtue of this first point that we do not have an adequate staff, let us say, in the second place, that it is impossible to write or re-write every news item that is printed in The Technician. Often, because of a shortage of time, we are compelled to lay out articles which only have been read over by one of the staff members. Therefore, it is entirely possible that one may read an article in one of the Raleigh dailies only to discover the same article in this newspaper. We both get our news releases from the State College News Bureau.

In the third place, going back to the letters in general, all correspondence intended for publication as letters to the editor must be signed by the person who wrote them. This statement means that no letters will be printed which have only the initials of the writer or a pseudonym attached.

The writer may request that his name be withheld and we will do that in certain cases, but all letters must be signed.

This paper has received enough criticism in the past two weeks to last for the rest of the year. Now, in order that The Technician may take advantage of some of the constructive criticism that was received, we must have a larger staff.

As we said, the news staff proper consists of four persons. Its responsibility is to write or re-write each article, copyread each article, lay out each page, and write headlines for that page. It is impossible for four students to do all these jobs in an effective way when there are seven such pages for a Thursday issue.

We have already found out that some of the students who criticize this paper so freely do not "have time" to come and help us improve it. Therefore, we must ask those of you who have an honest desire to see a better paper to come to our offices. Many of you have worked on newspapers before; others of you are good English students. Whether you fit one of these categories or not, we need you and we have a place for you.

A degree-granting School of English is not the answer to a better Technician; an honest effort by more than four students is the answer.

Recently, there has been a flurry of activity between fraternities of which I heartily approve. Now I don't want to sound like a sage of the world, but this activity which I am speaking of is inter-fraternity parties. (Small "i".)

These parties are perhaps the best thing in the interest of promoting better relations between different chapters than all the other organized events combined. Another distinct advantage is purely financial. One fraternity can hire the combo and another can take care of the "refreshments" or place of action. Believe me, this is the sort of thing we need among the big "Eighteen" here at State.

I don't know whether or not you recall that I mentioned the National Interfraternity Council last week, but I did, and here is the poop I spoke of. This year's conference will be held in New York City on the Thanksgiving dates of November 26, 27, and 28, at the Waldorf-Astoria. As soon as our I.F.C. representatives return I'll have their report for you.

This conference is a workshop designed to promote better operation of Inter-fraternity Councils thereby providing better all-round fraternities and fraternity systems.

It gives our representatives an opportunity to meet and exchange ideas with undergraduate and graduate leaders in I.F.C. work.

Last year, the conference covered topics such as "Ideals," "I.F.C. Organization and Operation," "Rushing," "Pledge Training," and "Greek Week." Our I.F.C. compared favorably with those represented and shared much in common with many of those present. This year's conference should be just as successful.

Congratulations to progressive Meredith College for their initiative in the execution of an "Exchange Dinner Program". In this new plan ten young Meredith ladies are sent in a body to a fraternity house to eat dinner, while ten fraternity men travel to Meredith to have dinner with their student body.

After the meal, the girls may remain at the house until eleven o'clock and those men at Meredith may return to the fraternity house a la dates to join in an approved evening. In addition to the twenty possible dating couples at the fraternity house, those brothers who would like may also bring Meredith dates over.

Those fraternities interested in playing host and vice-versa may contact Betty Galloway, chairman of the Social Standard Committee at Meredith, and request that they be considered for a particular evening.

Another first out at Meredith is a series of articles in their student newspaper, The Twig, on the fraternities here at State. They give a brief resume of the fraternity's history, the alumni, and general description. They intend to cover all eighteen by the end of next year. Congratulations again, Meredith, someday there may even be dancing in the halls of the "Angel Farm".

Hurrah For October 27

After the President of the Student Government had tentatively arranged for a reduction of prices of date tickets for athletic events, the legislature passed a bill demanding even lower price rates for those tickets. The problem in consideration is old, and the branches of the campus government may have defeated their purpose. It is always refreshing to see that members of the student government are optimistic and ready to fight for student rights even though some of them may exaggerate their zeal by being stubborn and thinking more with their feet than with their heads. Optimistic they are—and I hope they get their way—because to fight the Athletic Council (or anything athletic) on matters of money is like confronting a gigantic and powerful shark in deep sea water with your feet tied.

The fact that money pours into athletics in sizable amounts from many sources, one of them being gate receipts from townspeople, is not enough. As long as the student wives (1/3 of the student body is made up of married students) and student dates are a good potential for extra income, a hurrah of approval comes from the—shall we say "greedy"?—tentacles of athletics. Even the new measure, if approved, is only good if the student "guarantees" buying tickets for all games, which is the present situation for married students . . . and that is not good enough.

However, that previous statement only denotes dissatisfaction with the whole idea on basis of principle, and we want to make it clear that our congratulations go to the President of the Student Body for shrewd application of a democratic compromise.

Through the years the excitement, the "glory", et al), the original purpose of athletics seems to be lost in alumni pride for the Alma Mater team; the students conscience seems to be lost in a complete misunderstanding of the issue; and a general college condoning of some marginal athletic practices is the resulting situation . . . a sad one.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

G. W. Garrison and Charlie Selden were to be guest speakers for a discussion group meeting on dating of freshman coeds at the YMCA, Thursday, Oct. 22.

The speakers were present and so were two freshman coeds.

It looks like freshman coeds consider themselves too high to come to such meetings. If that is not the reason, then they must have all the answers to the questions of dating at State.

A lot of work went into getting speakers to speak on the subject. The least that the girls could have done was to attend.

lance's opinion that "The Penguin's Roost" is in very poor taste. I think The Technician should be a paper that we all respect and one that is respected by other people outside of State College. I do not feel that our parents would find much humor in a column such as "The Penguin's Roost!"

Do we of State College want to let people think that this column reflects the quality of humor or quality of people at State College? Are you proud of this column as the example of humor at State College? Would you have sent the October 22 issue of The Technician all over the state as you did the October 19 edition?

Sure, we may laugh at these jokes, but that does not make the column respectable. This column may be very popular with some people; however magazines like Adam and Si Knight are very popular, also I am told that the jokes in "The Penguin's Roost" seem like the quality of material that might appear in a magazine such as Adam or Campus Howl (an that the jokes do indeed come straight from Campus Howl).

I hope that The Technician will decide that it wants to be a newspaper to be proud of and one of high standards and quality, and that it will see fit to improve on such columns as "The Penguin's Roost".

Jim Myhre

To the Editor:

In Thursday's edition of The Technician, you printed a letter from a Mr. Ballance in which he criticized a column entitled "The Penguin's Roost". In the Editor's note that followed, you stated that a survey conducted by you indicated that various people did not think the column was in poor taste.

You suggested that reader Ballance should read "Jack and Jill." Your statement seemed very juvenile to me. Reader Ballance, in my opinion, is not interested in reading Jack and Jill, but, on the contrary, he seems to be interested in trying to improve the quality of The Technician.

I, too, agree with Mr. Bal-

N. C. State Receives Almost 4 Kilograms of Uranium-235 Fuel

State College's School of Engineering has received a new shipment of approximately four kilograms—nearly nine pounds—of solid Uranium-235 fuel.

The solid fuel will be used in the college's new 10-kilowatt nuclear reactor now being installed in the Burlington Nuclear Laboratories Building. The fuel arrived in a total of 26 elements packed in tightly-secured rectangular black wooden boxes.

Made up of uranium and aluminum plates, the three-foot-long square bars are known as "cold elements" since they have never been in a reactor and are not dangerously radioactive. They weigh 13 pounds and are wrapped in plastic covers to prevent contamination from the air and handling.

Dr. A. C. Menius, Jr., head of the college's Department of Physics, said that the fuel has been placed in a permanent fuel storage unit located under the floor of the Reactor Room. The elements fit into individual channels in the storage unit.

"The fuel elements will be kept in storage while the instrumentation for the new reactor is being completed," Dr. Menius explained.

He said that installation of the component parts of the reactor would be finished in a few weeks. In charge of assembling the reactor is Project Engineer Robert Wendland of Nucleodyne Corporation, Chicago, builders of the equipment.

Menius said the engineering school's new and second reactor will be placed into operation early in the new year.

With its completion, North Carolina State College will be the first college or university in the country to have two reactors for nuclear training and research.

Director of the School of Engineering's nuclear reactor project is Dr. H. A. Lamonds, physics staff member.

The annual Sadie Hawkins Dance will be held in the CU ballroom this Friday evening, October 30th at 8 o'clock. The dance with music by "The Corvettes," sponsored by the Hospitality Committee, is based on the Dogpatch characters of Al Capp, and it is hoped that students will wear costumes depicting any of these characters. A prize will be given for the best costume.

Mrs. Amad Strabadi of Iraq will speak on "Women in the Arab World" on November 2nd at 8 p.m. in the CU theater. Mrs. Strabadi holds a MS degree in English Literature from Wisconsin University; her talk will concern the progress and achievements made by the Arab women recently. A short movie about the activities of Egyptian women will follow the event that is sponsored by the International Committee. It is another in the series to promote better international understanding.

The Fall Bridge Tournament will be played on November 10th. The duplicate bridge game will be held in the College Union at 7 p.m. All interested students are asked to sign-up at the CU main desk by November 9th. The first and second place winners will be awarded prizes by the Games Committee.

On November 11th International Films will be shown in the CU theater at 8 o'clock. Films from France, Japan, and Canada will be presented by the International Committee. A coffee hour will follow the program.

Watch for "The Boy Friend". A Christmas card workshop will be held in the CU craft shop prior to the holidays. On Monday, November 9th at 7:30 p.m. there will be a demonstration and displays in the craft shop. The Hobby Committee says: "Start early and avoid the Christmas mail rush."

A sub-committee to investigate the possibilities of a Saddle Club at State College has been formed by the Hospitality Committee and the Outing Committee. An organizational meeting is planned for early November; watch for publicity announcing the meeting. Any interested student or staff member is encouraged to call the CU activities office to express ideas.

Language Classes were begun in the College Union on October 19th. The classes are conversational and begin at 7 p.m. No former knowledge is required, and languages taught on each Monday evening include French, Spanish, Arabic, and Hindi. The classes are sponsored by the International Committee.

"The Boy Friend" is coming with plenty of girls! The Village Players will present George Bernard Shaw's one-act comedy, "A Village Wooing" in the College Union on November 18th. As a curtain raiser the players will also offer a short comedy by Anton Chekhov, "The Proposal".

Vincent Price will present "Three American Voices" on November 12th at 8 p.m. in the Coliseum. The event is sponsored by the Friends of the College, and a State College student and his date are admitted free.

WUNC-TV Carries Eng. Program

Sound will be the topic of discussion on "Perspectives," the television series conducted during the academic year by State College's School of Engineering, Thursday evening at 8:30 over WUNC-TV, Channel 4.

Jim Reid, Raleigh manager of WTVD, channel 11, Durham, is moderator for the weekly half-hour panel discussions.

Panelists this week will center their discussion around a tuning fork. They are Dr. A. C. Menius, Jr., head of the Department of Physics; Dr. Rufus H. Snyder, professor of physics; and Prof. R. L. Chaplin, newly-appointed physics faculty member.

The School of Engineering's television series is under the direction of its Television Advisory Committee. W. H. Simpson, Placement Director, is chairman of the group. Members of the committee are Professors H. C. Cooke, mathematics; R. L. Cope, industrial engineering; J. W. Horn, civil engineering; and P. B. Leonard, mechanical engineering.

Chairman Simpson announced that next week's program will feature the Highway Research Program underway now at the engineering school in cooperation with the State Highway commission.

Frosh Meet Monday Night

There will be a meeting of all members of the Freshman Class on Monday night, November 2, in Withers Auditorium at 8 p.m. At this meeting the candidates for freshman offices will be permitted to introduce themselves.

There are 93 candidates on the ballot for the primary election. In order to make a wise decision in electing the officers, all freshmen are urged to attend. It should be remembered that these officers will be responsible for planning the Freshman-Sophomore Dance, which will involve a rather large expenditure. Also, the Student Government representatives will be making decisions that will affect the entire student body.

It is to be hoped that the freshmen will elect the candidates that will best act in the interest of the class and the college. The primary election will be held on Tuesday, November 3, and the final election on Thursday, November 5.

Freshman Hopefuls Announce Candidacy

President—Charles Trexler

Charles Dechant Trexler, a second-semester freshman in the School of Design, announces his candidacy for the office of President of the Freshman Class.

Trexler's campaign manager made this statement to The Technician.

"Chuck" is active in all phases of campus life, as is evidenced by his positions in the Freshman Council and the Y.M.C.A. cabinet and membership in the Theatre and Activities committees of the College Union.

"He is also a Past Master Councilor and Chevalier-elect in the Order of DeMolay, and was Vice-president of the Senior Class at Groveton High School, Alexandria, Va. He was born in Salisbury, N. C., but is now liv-

V. P.—Fred Fors

J. Frederick Fors, in announcing his candidacy for Vice-President of the Freshman Class, made this statement to The Technician.

"I am J. Frederick Fors. I am running for vice-president of the freshman class. It is very important that all members of our class take part in elections, because our class is inexperienced, and unorganized. We should elect the best man possible, and the one sure way to do this is to get everybody out to vote.

"If possible all freshmen should attend the campaign speeches November 2.

"I am for our class one-hundred per cent and will back it in every way possible. When you vote, mark number five for Fors for vice-president of the freshman class. Thank you."

Secretary—Jim Page

Page made this statement to The Technician. "It is my belief that the Freshman class is not publicized enough in its activities and also that it is not known enough around campus as a class.

"If I have the privilege to be elected to the post of Secretary by my fellow classmates, I will do my best to see that the freshman class is one of the best-known and publicized classes on campus. As a staff writer on The Technician I feel that I am able to carry this out.

"I will do my best to see that the freshman class is one of the foremost classes of the college. By being secretary of the class, I feel that I can keep abreast with the activities of the class and therefore make them known to the college as a whole, also will be able to keep the freshmen themselves abreast with all of the activities of the class.

"I will also try to carry out, to the best of my abilities the other important duties that the class secretary has placed on him. I will be deeply grateful for any support that you might give me in the forthcoming elections. I will also be most gracious to all of the freshmen Forestry students for their support in the Forestry senator elections. See you at the poles."

Among Western Hemisphere cities with the largest per capita enjoyment of Coca-Cola are, interestingly enough, sunny New Orleans and chilly Montreal. When we say, "Thirst Knows No Season," we've said a cheerful mouthful.

So don't take any lame excuses about its not being hot enough for Coca-Cola. Forget the temperature and drink up!

U and the Y

by Anne Smith

There has been something new added to the Y's program this year. Have you noticed? Well, you should have. The new attraction is a Freshman Council composed of nothing but freshmen. Freshmen to dream up activities for freshmen. It sounds good.

The council consists of ten boys and one girl. (How she got in there, the boys will never know.) The group elected officers last Monday. They have been using temporary officers for the past two weeks. They must have been doing a very good job, because they were elected as permanent officers.

The new officers are: President, Carlyle Franklin, Richmond, Va.; Vice President, Ed Johnson, Dunn; Treasurer, Bud Taylor, Kinston; Secretary, Ann Smith, Jacksonville. If they continue to do the kind of job that they started out to do, the council will be a big success.

The other members of the council are: Eddie Black, Asheville; James Cox, Reidsville; Joe Dermid, Hendersonville; Marshall McLeod, Mount Pleasant; Don Schneider, Elizabeth City; Jim Tollison, Asheboro; Chuck Trexler, Highland Park, Ill.

The purpose of this council is to provide activities for freshmen who know just as little about college life as they do. They have started off with a bang; they just hope that they don't end with a fizzle.

A few of the activities that have been planned are discussion groups, devotions, social functions (such as a freshman dance), trips, and local visitations. An "outsider" will be guest speaker at the monthly discussion group meetings. Upperclassmen as well as freshmen are urged to attend these meetings.

An example of the above is the discussion that was held in October using "Dating" as the topic. Girls from the various girl schools were recruited into being the guest speakers. There were two girls to each group meeting. If you weren't at the group meeting you don't know what you missed.

Tom Johnston, associate secretary for the Y, is the council's advisor. Council and advisor get along splendidly. They are both working toward the same goal—a place for each freshman in the student body of North Carolina State College.

The council holds its weekly meetings in the Y. They have a luncheon served to them for 70¢ (home cooked). During these luncheons is when the business of the council is discussed.

Well, this council member is going to be late for a meeting if she doesn't get over to the Y pronto. See you in the next edition.

WKNC Presents Tonight: 'War of the Worlds'

It was twenty-one years ago this October 30th that Orson Welles and "The Mercury Theater of the Air" held the whole nation in suspense with its presentation of H. G. Well's "War of the Worlds." So realistic was this drama that some of the listening audience actually committed suicide to avoid the more horrible death which seemed near at hand.

This realistic drama will be presented tonight (Oct. 29) over WKNC at 9 p.m. on "Exploring the Unknown." At this time the complete recording of this famous program will be presented.

Freshmen Elect New Officers For 'Y' Council

The Freshman Council of the YMCA of North Carolina State College has elected officers for the 1959-60 school year.

The officers are president, Carlyle Franklin, Richmond, Va.; vice president, Ed Johnson, Dunn; treasurer, Bud Taylor, Kinston; secretary, Ann Smith, Jacksonville.

The council plans activities for the Freshman Class at State College. One of the most outstanding activities to be planned is the discussion group meetings held in the dormitories bimonthly.

An example of this was the meeting held in October concerning "Dating." The speakers were girls from the various girl colleges. Other speakers are to be presented during the year.

The discussion groups are not limited to freshmen alone. They are open to any student living on campus.

Pack And Cowboys Clash In Home Finale

North Carolina State takes on powerful Wyoming here Saturday afternoon, and the Wolfpack is bracing to meet one of the strongest opponents on this year's schedule.

The victim of four straight losses, State now must prepare for the Cowboys who will bring a 5-1 record into Riddick Stadium.

Wyoming, winner of the Skyline Conference championship and the Sun Bowl last year, has lost only to a rugged Air Force eleven, 7-20.

Cowboy victories this year have come often and by decisive margins. Victims were Montana 58-0, Utah State 27-2, Colorado State 29-0, Brigham Young 21-6 and Utah 21-7.

"Wyoming could be our toughest opponent," Coach Earle Edwards said. "The Cowboys are coached by an old friend of mine, Bob Devaney, who was an assistant coach at Michigan State when I was there.

Edwards pointed out that Wyoming uses seven different offensive formations. "We must prepare our defenses for the T, winged T, double-winged T, single wing and anything else they might use," the Wolfpack coach remarked. "They mix up their attack well. Some of the formations will be from a balanced line, some from an unbalanced. Playing Wyoming presents a multitude of problems."

Field goals have played a major part in three of State's five games this year. The Wolfpack beat Virginia Tech with a three-pointer and lost to Wake Forest and Duke by the field goal margin.

Incidentally, State opponents have been highly successful with field goals this season, kicking three out of three. State has made one out of three.

State has lost the coin toss five straight times this year and still hasn't scored a point in the third quarter. . . Twelve different receivers have caught the Pack's 43 passes this fall.

Halfback Ron Podwika leads the receivers with 11 receptions.

Pass interceptions have proved extremely costly to State in the first five games. Opponents have intercepted six aeriels and have returned three of the stolen passes for touchdowns on runs of 50 yards or more.

Virginia Tech, Duke and Clemson were the villains. Ironically, the three TD interceptions were thrown by three different quarterbacks, Roman Gabriel, Ron Wojcicki and Gerry Mancini.

The Wolfpack has scored eight touchdowns to date and five different players have been responsible for the six-pointers. Roman Gabriel, Ron Podwika and Bernie Latusick have two each while Al Taylor and Ron Wojcicki have one each.

The cost of mud: Last Saturday's State-Duke game, played in Riddick Stadium's juiciest mud, was a costly one in more ways than one for the Wolfpack.

One dozen new footballs were used (at a cost of $21. each). The balls are good for practice only, now. Laundry and dry cleaning costs for two sets of jerseys, one set of pants, socks and t-shirts will run over $100., and it took three people nearly six hours to clean, oil and shine the football shoes worn by the players.

Equipment manager Dorsey Poole weighed a pair of mud-soaked pants after the game and found that the pants weighed 4 1/4 pounds. The regular weight is about one pound.

Rain, rain go away. State's football team would like to play!

Wyoming, the Wolfpack's Homecoming foe Oct. 31, will carry a 4-1 record into Saturday's game against Utah, and the Cowboys rule a two-touchdown favorite in that contest.

Coach Bob Devaney's Wyoming squad has beaten Montana 58-0, Utah State 27-2, Colorado State 29-0, and Brigham Young 21-6. The only loss was to the Air Force, 20-7.

State's souvenir football program this year is the largest and most comprehensive ever published by the college. The informative book contains 72 pages of pictures and facts. The program was edited by David Huffman, a junior from Burlington who is assistant to the sports relations director.

Freshman coach Bill Smalts says Roger Moore of Littleton might be the best fullback State has had in years. Moore (no relation to tackle Collice Moore) was a star in the Wolflets 27-14 win over the Wake Forest frosh.

N. C. State Cage Tickets Go On Sale November 11

Tickets for North Carolina State's regular season basketball games will go on sale Nov. 11, athletic director Roy B. Clogston announced today.

Clogston said mail orders and cross-counter sales at the box office will be received on that date. Tickets for the holiday double-header Dec. 11 and 12 may be ordered or purchased at the same time.

The holiday double-header brings together Kansas and Kansas State against State and Carolina in a two-day affair. These tickets are not included in the season books.

Season books, which sell for $21. and $13., are good for the Wolfpack's nine home games. Ducats for the holiday double-header are $3. for each night.

Clogston said orders for Dixie Classic tickets will be received beginning Nov. 16 and cross-counter sales will start Dec. 1. Season books for the 11th annual Dixie Classic are $14.50 and $10.50.

Mail orders should be sent to the Coliseum Box Office, P. O. Box 5905, Raleigh. Checks should be made payable to the Box Office and must include 25 cents for handling charges.

The 1959-60 edition of the Wolfpack promises to be a real fine team despite the loss of the four starters, Bob MacGillivray, Lou Pucillo, John Richler and George Stepanovich.

SPE, Turlington Win Track Titles

The SPE Fraternity and Turlington Dormitory are the Intramural Track Meet Champions of 1959.

For Turlington Dormitory it was their second straight championship in the track meets that have been staged by the Intramural Department.

The SPE's dethroned the Kappa Sigs who were the winners in the Fraternity Division last year. They had to settle for a fourth place finish this year.

This year's meet broke all records for participation. The fraternities had 242 participants this year as compared to 206 participants last year. There was also an increase in the dormitories as 88 boys participated as compared to 77 last year.

The following is how the fraternities and dormitories finished this year:

FRATERNITY DIVISION
1. SPE	37 1/2 points
2. Sigma Chi	26 1/2
3. KA Sigma Chi	20 1/2
4. K. Sig	18 1/2

N. C. State Awarded $25,988 In Grants To Advance Tobacco Research

State College Friday announced that it will expand its research work on insecticide residues in cigarette smoke with new grants totaling $25,988.

The college scientific studies have attracted international attention and have been the subject of news articles and features that have been distributed on a national level.

Dr. T. G. Bowery, research professor and head of the Pesticide Residue Laboratory at State College, said the laboratory has been awarded a grant of $16,738 by the National Institute of Health.

He said the grant will be used to initiate a new research project involving the use of radio-isotopes to study the organic insecticidal residues in cigarette smoke.

With the grant, Dr. Bowery and his associates plan to make what he called "a logical extension" of a research study that has been underway for some time and to try to determine if the pesticide residues in cigarette smoke actually get into the lungs of smokers.

In addition to the grant from the National Institutes of Health, new grants totaling $9,250 have been received by the State College Pesticide Laboratory, Dr. Bowery said. The latter grants were made by the Union Carbide Chemicals Company, the Food Machinery and Chemical Corporation, the Chemagro Corporation, the Shell Chemical Corporation, and the Tobacco Industry Research Committee.

Dr. Bowery said the latter grant will be used "to help support the current extensive program on the determination of pesticide residues on raw commodities."

Results of the research project to date were described by Dr. Kenneth R. Keller, director of agricultural research at the college.

He stated that the long-range research program at State College, designed to coordinate chemical and biological control of tobacco insects, has indicated that both chemical and biological agents have a definite place in insect control on tobacco.

The levels of TDE found in commercial cigarette smoke, the research studies showed, are four times less than the seven parts per million (ppm) permitted on food by the Food and Drug Administration.

Entertainment Unlimited

Alan Lee

Here it is Halloween again; and as always, there are lots of doings of interest: late shows and a horror movie on channel five Saturday evening for those of you who intend to spend a quiet evening at home or in the dorms or C.U. Lounge.

There are all sorts of parties that you can crash or be thrown out from; and you could go trick or treating. For a bit of real entertainment, look over the contemporary cards in a bookshop. They're really gruesome.

In other words, there isn't a ghost of a chance that you can escape an enjoyable evening if you go searching for it.

We've heard rumors that the Kingston Trio is coming on a tour in North Carolina. Anyone know anything conclusive about that?

STRANGE BUT TRUE—The things you see on this campus! Recently, while passing Welch, we observed two guys—they must have been freshmen—opening their screen. From the window a large, brown cat jumped out, meowed, and ran across the lawn.

And honest, this is true! A certain student got locked out of his room so much by his roommates who then put chairs, beds, and other objects in front of the door that he was forced to resort to desperate measures.

Recently, he was seen going to take a shower carrying all three chairs from the room with him. His roommates were still one step ahead of him. They had fixed the shower. He's still red from the hot water.

The date for Vincent Price's appearance at the C. U. is November 12th.

TV—Desi Arnaz stars on the "Desilu Playhouse" tomorrow evening in a play called "So Tender, So Profane". Concert Pianist Eugene List makes the list of guests on Person to Person along with Jack Webb whose visit was postponed from an earlier date. Shelley Berman will appear on Jack Parr Program tomorrow evening along with others.

Music—It's our hunch that a tune called "The Hunch" by the Bobby Peterson Quintet will climb up the ladder of hitville. Also watch Lavern Baker's big recording of "Tiny Tim" and Fabian's "Hound-dog Man".

For those of you who prefer something a little more advanced, Stan Freeberg has an album out with all of his famous satires called "Stan Freeberg and the Cast". Johnny Mathis, Elvis Presley, and Dinah Washington all have recently released really fine albums. Next week, we'll print our recent conversation with Brook Benton who was a very kind and cooperative subject when recently here in Raleigh.

A new book in the series of "Mad" books just recently hit the stands. It'll really hit you when you see it.

In weeks to come both here and on the radio program, we'll be printing and using interviews we made with the various stars who appeared at the shows with the N. C. State Fair.

Comments about this column are sincerely invited.

Pack Clash

ing lineup bears out Edwards' statement. The biggest man on the first eleven weighs 206; one of the ends weighs 166, the other 189; the guards weigh 173 and 191; and the center tips the scales at 185.

The game will be Homecoming for State and is the last home game of the season. The Wolfpack probably will be without quarterback Roman Gabriel for the second straight week, but halfback Claude Gibson and fullback Arnold Nelson, who missed the Duke game, should be back.

Ron Wojcicki, a junior from Pittsburgh, Pa., will again handle the quarterback post in Gabriel's absence.

NO FLAT "FILTERED-OUT" FLAVOR!

NO DRY "SMOKED-OUT" TASTE!

See how Pall Mall's famous length of fine, rich-tasting tobacco travels and gentles the smoke—makes it mild—but does not filter out that satisfying flavor!

HERE'S WHY SMOKE "TRAVELED" THROUGH FINE TOBACCO TASTES BEST

1 You get Pall Mall's famous length of the finest tobaccos money can buy.

2 Pall Mall's famous length travels and gentles the smoke naturally...

3 Travels it over, under, around and through Pall Mall's fine tobaccos... and makes it mild!

Outstanding... and they are Mild!

Agriculture Education Seniors Teaching In State High Schools

A group of 35 seniors in agricultural education at State College reported to 17 high schools October 6, for 12 weeks of student teaching.

They are working full-time in the community, teaching under the supervision of the local teacher of agriculture. Members of the State College staff in agricultural education will assist in the supervision.

Dr. C. C. Scarborough, head of the college's Department of Agricultural Education said the work of the student teachers will include studying the community and teaching adults as well as teaching boys enrolled in vocational agriculture.

The student teachers together with the name of the high school and the teachers of agriculture will follow:

Thomas G. Edwards of Route 2, Middlesex and Boyd I. Sharpe of Sharpsburg, Fair Bluff High School, J. R. Rabon, supervising teacher.

R. Chris Spivey of Chadburn and Julius M. Boggs of Lawn-dale, Bladenboro High School, W. L. Bryant and A. R. Davis, supervising teachers.

Rambling Around

If all the loudmouths who play such a good game of foot- ball from the stands were to try out for the team, State Col- lege would never lose a game! I don't know how anyone else feels, but it really irks me to hear the fellow next to me be- littling our team. If Earle and the boys can hear them, it can't be very good for their morale.

State College believes in look- ing after its own. Therefore, for the benefit of those of you who cannot read, WKNC and this column are joining forces every Wednesday at 10:45 to bring you fifteen minutes of music and assorted nonsense, barring quizzes and other acts of God. If there is anything you want to cuss about let the station know, and I'll be glad to help you.

If you are interested in the reason why WKNC's Alton Lee wrote such an ardent defense of 'music and news' radio sta- tions ask him who he works for on the weekends.

The coeds around here are always striving for equality in one form or another; now they want a sorority. Well then, if they want to have a Greek let- ter organization, let them join a fraternity. I'm sure the boys wouldn't mind very much.

Can anyone tell me from what zoo The Penguin escaped? I'd like to return him for the re- ward. Then too, maybe he could pick up some new jokes while he was there.

I would appreciate it if M and O would clear up something for me. I understand that bicycles and motorcycles are two dif- ferent types of vehicles, and therefore subject to different rules, but what are they going to do about a bicycle to which a motor has been added.

That reminds me: I saw a security cop over by the Textiles building the other day, busily picking up pecans which had fallen from the trees. Are we being 'protected' by men or squir- rels? Oh well, sweets for the sweet, nuts for the nut.

Gee, I wish that I had an echo chamber like those people on the radio. Then I could say 'news and weather together-ether- ether' like they do. It is very hard to obtain an echo on a typewriter.

If there are any graduate stu- dents around with nothing to do, they might try calculating the probability that our team will continue losing the pregame toss of the coin during the rest of the season, given the fact that we haven't won one yet. Or, if they really have nothing to do, I have a quiz they can take. Please apply in person.

In response to a diminishing number of requests, I am again placing in circulation a dollar bill with the serial number W-935768051. The same rules ap- ply: bring it to me and I'll be glad to try again. And this week's secret word is 'Data.' No student should be without one.

Noted Editor Appointed To State Music Staff

J. Perry Watson, formerly a faculty member at Appalachian State Teachers College in Boone and editor of the North Carolina Music Educator Magazine, has been named assistant director of music at State College.

A widely-known musician, Watson has already assumed his duties at State College. He is assisting the college's director of music, Robert A. Barnes.

Barnes and Watson this fall are directing State College's 150-member Marching Band, largest in the State, and are in charge of a varied program of musical activities for State College stu- dents.

Watson, a native of Miami, Fla., succeeds Nels Leonard, Jr., who resigned last spring.

He was educated at Florida State University, where he received his bachelor of music de- gree in 1949, and of Appalachian State Teachers College, where he earned his master of arts de- gree in 1955.

The new N. C. State staff member has a broad background as a musician and educator.

He was director of music at the Jamesville, Minn., High School, 1949-50; bandsman and instructor with the U. S. Air Force, 1950-53; director of music at Charlotte, N. C., High School, 1953-54; graduate assistant with the band at Appalachian State Teachers College, 1954-55; sales representative (music) with the Kidd-Frix Company, Concord, 1955-56; director of music, Ap- palachian High School, 1956-59; and instructor at Appalachian State Teachers College, 1956-59.

WKNC's 'Mystery Program' Named 'Musical Capers'

by Kent Watson

WKNC's "Name It" contest, which ended on October 12, had a winner. The winning name "Musical Capers" was submitted by Donald F. Baldwin in 832 Owen. WKNC congratulates Don on submitting this name for our early evening show. He will receive his prize of $5.00 as promised.

desire coverage by WKNC should contact the station and let their wishes be known. If you aren't familiar with our format... let me just say, "We play MUSIC, not noise."

All freshmen seeking offices in the upcoming elections are reminded to avail themselves of the free air time offered by WKNC. Candidates for class president are allowed 5 minutes; all other candidates are allowed 3 minutes.

To keep informed of all campus events and activities hear the "Campus Bulletin Board" over WKNC each weekday at 5:30 and again at 6:30 p.m.

The following paragraph is dedicated to all you neglected boys in Watagua. We are thinking about you! If you really want to hear WKNC in your dorm... let us know by dropping all your cards, letters, butts, etc., to WKNC, Box 5748, Raleigh or call TE 2-7861 during broadcast hours. The more requests we get, the better the chance of you Wataguans (to coin a phrase) getting your transmitter.

KOOL ANSWER

I am discouraged! I worked all last week to make my column funny; and our friend, disguised as John Ballance, mild-mannered student of a great University, fights a never-ending war for Deity, decency, and the American way by writing a letter to our editor which was by far funnier than the afore-mentioned column. Mr. Ballance is essentially correct in his analysis of me with one exception. He claims I have low moral standards. This is untrue. I have absolutely NO moral standards. I am a wicked penguin!

1.) An intense hatred for professors cafeteria food, Lawrence Welk, Carolina students, and Pepsi-Cola advertisements.

2.) An intense love for women, alcoholic beverages, Maverick, women, Mad comics, alcoholic beverages, sports cars, women, cheating, alcoholic beverages etc.

3.) An intense disinterest in everything else.

Officers elected were:
President: Jack Daniels
V. President: Ryland T. Bumgartner
Secretary: Hiram Walker
Treasurer: Tom Collins
Publicity Director: Penguin

"Who gave the bride away?"
"Nobody. I could have, but I kept my damn mouth shut."

Two little colored boys were marveling at a Mexican horned toad in a local zoo.

"Looka there, he got horns on his head, his legs, he got horns all over his body."

"I wonder how do he have any sex life?"

"He don't man, thats why he's so horny."

A local minister recently announced that there are one hundred, thirty-five sins. He's had hundreds of requests for a list, mostly from State students who think they are missing something.

One of the girl cheerleaders said that the football team would play much better if only they had supporters. This, I dare say, is true.

One explorer, upon discovering twelve-inch high outhouses, said, "Oh oh I was afraid of this... headshrinkers!"

Wonder what fraternity will send its pledges to the State Capitol to paint the unmentionable portions of Stonewall Jackson's horse this year.

Meredith dean ending a speech: "And furthermore, I would rather commit adultery than touch a drop of liquor."

Senior, in the back row: "And who the hell wouldn't?!"

By the way, Ryland Bumgartner is running for freshman class vice-president (really), and we ask all Penguin Pals to cast your vote for him. Next week: My Roommate. REMEMBER PPR (Penguin Panty Raid) WILL COME BEFORE THE SEMESTER IS OVER.

CAMPUS LEADERS EXPOSE!

Jimmy Hunt, past S. G. president, is going into the ministry! This comes from a reliable source who suffered through Rev. Hunt's blessing at Apollo Club, last Thursday. Contemplating over his cold peas, our source could not but believe, by the length of Hunt's prayer, that the Methodist ministry has called our great ex-leader.

Jim Tom Spence—(S. G. Orientation Committee) drove up to Meredith College and picked up his date on his motorcycle last year!

Eddie Knox—(S. G. President) sings high tenor in an old gospel quartet. When asked why he sang high, Knox replied that he was too bashful to sing while sober.

Lobo—Has been taking tranquilizer pills.

An Officer of the IFC (sorry, no name on this one)—has spent the night in Penick Dorm, St. Mary's! (congratulations)

Phil Carlton (President of YDC)—is in love!
Ask Paul Leggett (Jr. class president)—how he got the nickname "PJ", and, don't let him tell you it means Paul Junior.

Our thanks and a tip of the hat to Larry Baxter and Ryland Bumgartner for acting as undercover agents in this expose!

"APPLE OF THE EYE"
For this overworked phrase, we must turn to the world's richest source of quotations—the Bible. Specifically, the Old Testament, Deuteronomy, XXXII, 10:
"He kept him as the apple of his eye."

"ALL IS NOT GOLD"
Seems like everybody had a crack at this piece of homely philosophy, but the originator seems to be Geoffrey Chaucer, in "The House of Fame". Book I:
"Hyl is not all gold that gleareth"

"COUNT 10..."
Was there any limit to the talents of Thomas Jefferson? Statesman, scientist, architect—he also authored this admonition:
"When angry, count ten before you speak; if very angry, a hundred."

Jockey T-Shirts

The most respected, creative name in underwear is Jockey brand. It stands to reason, then, that Jockey brand T-shirts are unmatched for quality as well as style. You can choose from standard crew neck T-shirt, "sleeveless" shirt, sleeveless I-shirt, and V-neck T-shirt models. Every man needs a drawer full of T-shirts—and the label to look for is Jockey brand. Let it guide you to the world's finest underwear.
