Vincent Price Makes Coliseum Appearance

Vincent Price will appear here on November 12 at 8 o'clock at the William Neals Reynolds Coliseum under the auspices of "The Friends of the College Inc" to bring to the audience of Raleigh something of the excitement and enthusiasm that he feels for the arts.

Mr. Price will interpret "Three American Voices" in a rich and varied dramatic entertainment from the works of three great American artists—a poet, a painter, and a playwright—whose unique artistic visions electrified the world.

Walt Whitman, America's first truly universal poet whose free verse launched a new era in poetic art; James A. McNeill Whistler, the great American painter whose artistic example and satirical writings stirred Europe and did much to cause a revolution in the art of painting, and Tennessee Williams, our internationally admired playwright, whose "A Streetcar Named Desire" and "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" have been performed all over the globe and who has opened up new realms of feeling and expression in the dramatic arts, offer Vincent Price a chance to devise a program to display his amazing versatility in the fields of poetry, art, and drama.

With consummate artistry Vincent Price weaves together a dramatic presentation which includes selections from Whitman's "Leaves of Grass", excerpts from Whistler's provocative essays "The Gentle Art of Making Enemies", and a one-man version of "The Last of My Solid Gold Watches" by Williams.

Theatre-goers know him for his commanding stage presence and dramatic skill in such plays as "Victoris Regina" and "Angel Street".

Movie-goers know him for his characterizations in many popular chillers. Collectors of LP records are familiar with his voice reading the verse and drama of the past.

Woodcarving Exhibition Showing In Art Gallery

An exhibition entitled "Early American Woodcarving", which records in skillful watercolor renderings the carved figure in American folk art will be on view at the College Union Art Gallery from November 8 through November 25. This show, which is being circulated by the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service, depicts the story of primitive craftsmanship from colonial times to the end of the 19th century.

The show consists of fifty watercolors selected from the Index of American Design, National Gallery of Art, by curator Erwin O. Christensen.

The works indicate the inventive and richly imaginative work of our native craftsmen. The forthright and vigorous simplicity of American wood-carving which ranges in subject from Mexican bultos to cigar-store Indians and carousel figures is richly represented.

Woodcarvings of this nature once had a practical, religious or symbolic meaning which they no longer retain. Instead, one values these beautifully executed objects for their energetic expressiveness, achieved with the greatest possible economy of means, and too, for the fine craftsmanship which they display.

Painted in a watercolor technique especially developed for the purpose, and executed to scale, each design faithfully renders the appearance, details, and texture of the original object with such exactness that each is truly a surrogate for the original object.

S. G. Calls For Reorganization Of Inter-college Legislature

The State College Legislature, at the meeting on November 5th at the College Union, passed a resolution stating that the President be given the power to appoint a committee to take steps to reorganize the State Student Legislature.

The committee will be appointed in time to act toward a meeting to be held during the current school year, and shall have full power to speak and act for State College in all affairs concerning the organization of the State Student Legislature.

The Legislature, a loosely-organized group for the past several years, is now at a condition of complete disorganization due to the snow storm which caused the cancellation of its 1958 session.

The State College Legislature also approved a motion to recommend to the College Union Board of Chairmen that it inaugurate and sponsor a "Last Lecture Series" as a part of its forum program.

In this type of lecture series faculty members are "challenged", so to speak, on the following questions: "If you were given one last chance to stimulate your students, what would be the topic of your lecture? What idea or experience with which you have come in contact, have you found most challenging? If you knew that you had only one last lecture to give to your students, what would you want them to remember?"

Similar lectures have been thoroughly enjoyed by other student bodies, and have been very successful at other colleges and universities.

Another important resolution is:

Whereas, We feel that Student Government is not adequately presenting its concerns and views to the student body, the faculty, and the administration, and

Whereas, We feel that Student Government is not making a sufficient effort to gain understanding of the thoughts and attitudes of the student body, the faculty, and the administration, and to gain such information as directed necessary for the proper functioning of Student Government, and

Whereas, In the past the Promotions Committee of Student Government has not been concerned primarily with promoting the affairs of Student Government but has dealt with miscellaneous items. Now

Therefore Be It Resolved, that the Promotions Committee of Student Government be expanded in membership to act as a Public Information Commission of Student Government, and be it further resolved,

That, the Promotions Committee of Student Government shall be charged with the specific tasks of

1. Placing through every available and reasonable means the issues involved in anticipated actions of Student Government as well as the expected date of action before the student body, the faculty, the Chancellor, the President of the Consolidated University, and any other interested parties, of
2. Registering through every reasonable and available means completed actions of Student Government and an explanation of their effects upon interested parties with the student body, the faculty, the Chancellor, the President of the Consolidated University, and any other interested parties, and of
3. Conducting such surveys and gleanings such information as directed necessary by the Vice President of Student Government for the proper functioning of Student Government; and be it further resolved

That, The Promotions Committee present a plan to Student Government for simple majority approval where by the provisions of this mandate may be executed with thoroughness and deliberate speed.

Given by Woman's College 'The Boy Friend' Coming

"The Boy Friend," a musical comedy by Sandy Wilson, will be given by the theatre department of Woman's College, Tuesday, November 10, at 8 p.m. in the College Union.

The play will be directed by Herman Middleton. Other key figures will be designer, Ray Smith; music directed by Carl Alexius of the Woman's College School of Music; choreographer, Virginia Moomaw of the Woman's College Department of Physical Education.

"The Boy Friend" is a lampoon of the entertainment patterns of the madcap decade that starred speakeasies, flappers, and men in plus-fours. It parodies the songs that delighted that era—thin mechanical jazz, silly but elaborate lyrics, and amusingly banal love songs.

"The Boy Friend" had its premiere in London in December, 1953, and ran there for over five years. It opened in New York in September 1954 where it ran for 488 performances. It was revived off Broadway in the spring of 1958 and that engagement is still running.

The Phi Kappa Phi Honor Fraternity here at State College will meet on Friday, November 13, at 12:10 p.m. in Room 149 of Gardner Hall.

On the agenda of this meeting is the introduction of new members, the report of the Auditing Committee, the selection of new members, both from the senior class and from the Graduate School, and other business.

In a report to The Technician, an adviser to the national fraternity pointed out that Phi Kappa Phi is the equivalent of Phi Beta Kappa. The only difference in the two fraternities is that Phi Beta Kappa is a honor fraternity for liberal arts Colleges and universities, where Phi Kappa Phi is primarily for technical institutions.

The adviser further added that the requirements for membership in the two top scholastic fraternities are the same.

Chess Champion To Appear At CU

George Koltanowski, international chess master, will appear in the College Union on November 9 at 7 p.m. in Rooms 256-258. He will give a simultaneous and blindfold exhibition and will take on all comers. Mr. Koltanowski is the champion of Belgium. At 17, he is the holder of many chess records, and he is the author of many chess books. The exhibition is sponsored by the CU Games Committee and the Vass-Barden Chess Club of Raleigh. There is no charge for State students, and all are welcome to attend.

Fifteen officers and senators were elected in the final Freshmen elections. These, plus the two senators who were elected in the Tuesday preliminaries, brought the total number of freshmen representatives to 17.

Although the official number of freshmen who voted has not been received by The Technician, it is estimated that approximately 500, or less than forty per cent of the freshmen voted in the final elections.

Jimmy Cox will serve as president of the freshman class for the coming year. He received 304 votes to the 185 votes that were received by the other finalist, Carroll Norwood.

Other class officers will be

Floyd McCall, vice-president; Peggy McConnell, Secretary; and Buck Champion, Treasurer.

On the senatorial front, six Engineering senators, two Agricultural, one Design, and two Forestry Senators were selected.

The six Engineering Senators are: Bill Bryan, Frank Smith, Dillard DeHart, Jimmy Cox, Les Young, and Frank Justice. Johnny Moore and Woodrow Taylor are the two Agricultural senators, and Jerry Cook is the Design senator.

Jim Page and J. C. Griffin were the two freshmen who were elected as Forestry Senators.

Glee Club To Present First Program

The State College Men's Glee Club will present its first program of the year for "Horizons of Science", sponsored by the School of Agriculture, at 7:30 p.m., November 13, in the Coliseum.

The Program will have a variety of music, much of which is considered very difficult. Among the numbers to be presented are the following: "Motto for the State College Glee Club", by Frederick Stanley Smith; "All Through the Night", by Ringwald; "Sophomoric Philosophy", by Dvorak "Cherubim Song No. 7" by Bortniansky; "Dry Bones" as arranged by Gearhart; and "Ride the Chariot", by Henry Smith. The Glee Club will conclude the program with the familiar "State College Alma Mater".

The Glee Club this year not only is the largest one in the history of the school, but is also the largest men's glee club in the state, having 72 voices this year.

The officers of the Glee Club, which were recently elected for 1959-1960, are the following: President—Ken Culbert; Vice-President—Cliff Fuller; Secre-

SSL: A Worthy Meet

The State Student Legislature is now being reorganized by the Student Government of State College. This organization, whose meetings in the past were often a scene of great controversy, had long served a worthwhile purpose for the students and legislators of this state.

It gave the Legislators and the people of North Carolina a chance to hear the issues which were foremost in the minds of this states students.

But, two years ago, the SSL did not meet due to a bit of faulty planning and, last year, a storm snowed out the planned meeting.

At Duke University yesterday, State College delegates to the Regional Conference of the National Student Association were given the task of reviving the Legislature. State students have always played an important part in the State Student Legislature and it is only fitting that we were given the task if the job is to be done effectively.

The State Student Legislature is the place for the students to let their opinions be heard by the leaders of North Carolina. With the help of some student leaders, our opinions will be heard on the Capitol Square some-time this spring.

A Bitter Pill

The Weekend Exchange Program with the University of Toronto is off. After a build-up campaign by many of the campus leaders, this program, which was intended to cement relations between the students of the United States and those of Canada, has suddenly been called off by the Exchange Committee at Toronto.

This is indeed a bitter pill to swallow for the students who have been working so diligently during the past two months to make this exchange a success. Meetings were held, letters were written, and speeches were made so that we here at State would be prepared to give the students coming here a time to remember and realize as a definite asset.

But all is not lost. As the president of the Student Government has said (See letter, this page) we have gained an important new idea with which we can work. At the present time, plans are being formulated to contact several important universities within this quarter-sphere with the hope that one of them will see the urgency of such an exchange.

We still feel that an Exchange Program, possibly with one of the leading universities to the south of us, would be a great help in establishing better relations between the two nations involved. The students who would be present will be some of the leaders thirty years from today, and an understanding at this time could hurt no one.

We have been shunned, and another college has been chosen, but we have salvaged this invaluable idea. It is our hope that the State College Exchange Commission can use this idea and be successful in soliciting the help of another university in realizing our aims.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"NAW, THAT ISN'T HIS LETTER SWEATER - THAT'S HIS GRADE AVERAGE."

Greeks On Campus

by Bill Marley

Richard Maltby begins his four-hour stand at 8:00 p.m. this Saturday to put the Fall IFC Pledge Dance of '59 in full swing. Matby was last here in April, 1957, and, at that time, provided some excellent dancing music. He was here in Raleigh for the Debutante Ball in '55 also.

There will be a concert in the Coliseum from 2 'til 4 which is another "blanket affair" for you "progressives" while us old "conservatives" can sit in the balcony seats.

I can safely guarantee another successful fraternity weekend.

Due to a lack of action this past weekend among Greeks, here and for other reasons I don't have much to relay but would like to pass on a definition of fraternities I found in an old frat magazine last year and ran it for the benefit of the new pledges. I sincerely believe that is good enough to merit reprinting.

"Take a group of men. Give them a pin; give them a ritual; give them some songs.

"They use them. They blend them, and are blended by them into that mystery of college life... a mystery even to those that live it and love it... a Fraternity.

"No one can explain it; no one can define it. All can live it and reap its benefits. It is a thing of the soul and the spirit; a creation of man's mind, and heart, and his desire to 'belong.'

"It is indefinable, yet it is the extreme in reality to those who live it. It becomes virtually a way of life to them. It colors their lives and thoughts, gives them a different outlook and point of view.

"This mysterious creation of man takes its members and molds them and polishes them and in the finality, produces a man, instead of a boy, and a gentleman instead of just a man.

"Its benefits are uncountable and positive. They are easily singled out and listed: Fraternity brings to its members purpose in life, the spirit of co-operation in group living, ability and experiences in leadership and all its facets, social poise and contacts, aid in scholarship and countless others boons.

"Yes, its benefits are many and real. Its organization is easily grasped and put down in black and white. Its home can be seen and lived in. Yet, again:

"What is a Fraternity?"

"The Boy Friend"

To the Editor:

I am very disappointed at the school I am now attending. I sang the Alma Mater at the Wyoming-State game, but, when I stopped to see if anyone else was singing, I could only hear our college band. Maybe everyone else had stopped at the same time, but I think not.

I ask: What is the matter with the student body here? I have also heard more cheering by a group of ten-year old girls cheering a group of midget football players. I do not blame the cheerleaders; I blame only the students.

What would you feel like if you were playing football for a team and the people just sat in the stands and said nothing? I hope that the student body here can improve its school spirit; it needs it. Robert Cowan

To the Editor:

I have been reading The Technician for almost two years and, judging as an outsider, I do not think the newspaper has degenerated to the extent Mr. Propst

L.G.

"With this issue, the author wishes to begin relating to you a trip that he took, quite by accident, through time into a distant land, and the condition of life in this time."

The Method and Circumstances of the Journey

I arrived, by means of an apparatus which I shall describe briefly, in a land completely foreign to my tastes and customs. The natives seemed to be on a much higher plane of cultural development than our generation. But, excuse me, I am getting ahead of myself; I wish to tell a little of the method by which I came to visit this country.

In my younger days I came to be quite interested in electronics and various phenomena connected with time. Through several years of study, I came to discover several formulae, too complicated to relate here, which proved to me that travel in time was possible as is travel in space. After years of development and experimentation, I finally arrived at a mechanism for the transportation of man through time, several smaller animals having donated their services to my cause. The vehicle was almost ready for the final test, when, quite by accident, the starting mechanism became lodged while I was helping my test animal into the vehicle, initiating a wild chase through the portal of time.

The machine proved quite efficient, landing us 100 years into the future, or so I calculated later, in what seemed a matter of minutes. Here we were to be greeted by a race of people who would prove to be of greatest interest, not only to me, but to my friends back home. I said "landed"; actually I don't mean "landed" at all, but I use the word only for lack of a suitable equivalent in our present-minded language. Our time flight had ceased as abruptly as it had begun, in the middle of a large gaming arena located at the exact spot on which my laboratory was situated 100 years before. It was late at night and the arena was deserted and quiet except for the noise from the large urban area located about four miles to the northeast. I could still locate myself by a few familiar landmarks which the new generations hadn't yet changed in the course of development through the years.

My dog and I were afraid to walk far from our invaluable machine so we spent the night in the arena, sleeping lightly, awaiting the slightest indication of trouble which would awaken us immediately.

Upon arising early in the morning, we managed to drag the vehicle through an iron gate and deep into the nearby woods so that we could explore further into the strange mysteries of this time I had no idea of the time. You must realize that at this time I had no idea of the period of time into which we had traveled, so I had no conception of exactly what to expect. I proceeded to calculate the approximate time differential, using all that I could remember of my formulae and estimating the remainder. It was at this point that I discovered the difficulty of remembering the multitudinous volumes of calculations necessary to compute our destination time.

We left the woods and walked back by the arena toward the urban area, where we expected to find many new and surprisingly different developments of culture.

Later I will attempt to tell of the greeting received at the hands of the natives.

On The Toronto Exchange

Enthusiasm and interest has been high in respect to the proposed weekend exchange with the University of Toronto. Unfortunately, the exchange is now impossible. It is regrettable as such a program obviously has many assets. But the real question is the manner in which the students at the University of Toronto extended the invitation, but recently cancelled it. In a negative approach, they stated, by wire, that it would more than likely be impossible for us to carry out such an exchange. Such a statement has no justification, due to the many plans already in progress at State. Rather, it would have been more desirable had their exchange chairman stated that another university had been selected.

This experience has not completely been in vain, as an invaluable idea was acquired. As a result, the State College student exchange committee is contacting other universities. The University of Montreal has expressed an interest; and possibly a group of State College students will observe student life in Canada after all. Let's hope so, as the first experience hasn't made an outstanding contribution toward international understanding.

Letters to the Editor

Each freshman has a right to take part in the leadership of his class, and each one has the right to come to the officers he has elected anytime he sees a way that they can serve the class more efficiently. I would like to solicit the ideas and opinions of every freshman on campus. With new ideas and full support of class activities, this year before us can be most profitable.

Once again, I would like to express my appreciation to the freshman class for giving me the opportunity to serve its members for this year. Also, I will appreciate any suggestions which will enable me to fulfill the duties of vice-president in a more successful manner. Floyd McCall

To the Editor:

It is interesting to note the scholastic achievement of the fraternities here at State College. However, let me hasten to admonish the staff of The Technician for their inaccuracy in listing the standings of the various fraternities.

Granted, there was considerable confusion concerning this scholastic listing. This confusion should make the staff all the more careful in their gathering of the facts.

This was an honest mistake, I'm certain, and one which can be rectified very easily. It is always easy to find something wrong. Criticism is like salt; a little goes a long way, too much can be revolting.

James W. Klibbe Faculty Advisor Lambda Chi Alpha

(Editor's note: The information on which the article concerning the fraternities' averages for the past two years was based was given to us to release by the Student Activities office. Realizing that there was some discrepancy in the initial listings, The Technician detained publication of the information until it was certain that the listings had been corrected. To our knowledge, the information which appeared in the November 5 issue was correct.)

Sigma Chi; Syme Win; Football Playoffs Begin

The action in the intramural leagues was hot and heavy this past week and this coming week promises to be just exciting as last week. Most of this week will be taken up with play-offs in both football and volleyball for the dormitory league and football for the fraternity league.

In the big fraternity grid clash of the week, Sigma Chi gained revenge for an earlier season defeat at the hands of Sigma Nu by dropping the Sigma Nu team by a 6-0 count. Earlier this season the two teams fought to a 6-6 deadlock with Sigma Nu winning on the yardage rule. A Sam Walden aerial to Everett Norton proved to be the winning margin. The score came in the first quarter and the Sigma Chi team held on for the remaining three periods to take the win.

Walden, Mozinzo, Norton, Wood and Poley were the leaders for the winning Sigma Chi team while Corken, Vaughn, Snyder and Blanchard were the top performers for the losing Sigma Nu cause. Before the game, the experts rated the two teams as equal, and there was no pre-game favorite.

Over in the dormitory action it was Syme taking a 20-0 decision over Becton #1 in the feature game of the week. It was Mike Carpenter all the way for the Syme team as he passed and ran his team to the win. It was not only an out-standing offensive game for the Syme forces, but it also showed the fine defense which the Syme team had.

Backing up Carpenter in the Syme attack were Olson, Allen Hall and Church. Sherman, Sheron, Lewis and English were the standouts for the losing Becton #1 team.

The following is a run down on the football scores from last week's action:

Sigma Chi 6—Sigma Nu 0

Since the fraternity sections have not completed the regular season games the standings are not complete at this time. In the dormitory sections, however, the winners for the individual sections have been tapped. Tucker #2 and Becton #1 were the only undefeated teams. Tucker won the section #2 title over second place while Becton took the fourth section title. WG4S, Vetville won the first section with a 5-1 mark and Becton #2 Watauga tied for the third section title.

Pack Loses Thriller To Southerners

State College lost its sixth straight ball game Saturday to Mississippi Southern, 19-14.

For State College the ballgame was 54 seconds too long. If the game would have ended 54 seconds sooner, the Wolfpack would have hung up a victory.

State had scored with a minute and eight seconds left in the ballgame. When the Pack scored, the score was 13-12 in favor of the Southerners. The Wolfpack elected to gamble for the two extra points, and their try was good. Podwika, who crossed the goal line from the 2-yard line, completed a pass to Bernie Latusick for the extra point try. The Wolfpack was ahead with a little over a minute left, and the score 14-13 in their favor.

However, the Southerners were not to be denied, and they struck quickly as they ran the kickoff back to the State 37. From here, Mississippi Southern quarterback, Morris Meador threw a 37-yard touchdown pass to Rene Lorie, who gathered it on the 4-yard line and scooted into the end zone for the score. The try for the extra point was no good.

It was a bitter pill for the Wolfpack players to swallow for they had battled the Southerners on even terms for the whole ball game as the final statistics show. Both teams ended up with 126 yards rushing for the entire ball game. State held the edge in passing with 96 yards to 92 yards for the Southerners. The Pack came out on top in the first down department 13-9.

However, the small school power made the best of their yardage as they rolled up three touchdowns as compared with two for State.

State was ahead 6-0 at the end of the first half as fumbles and pass interceptions upset first half action.

State scored its first touchdown when they recovered a Mississippi Southern fumble on the Southerners 21-yard line. It took State only two plays to hit pay dirt as on second down John Stanton raced up the middle for eighteen yards. The try for the extra point was no good.

The Southerners came back in the second half and held a 13-6 margin until the last minute of play.

The Wolfpack plays UCLA Friday night in the Coliseum at Los Angeles, California. Coach Earle Edwards will have a hard time getting his boys up this week after Saturday's misfortune.

'Village Wooing' Set For Fri.

The Village Players will be seen in the College Union Ballroom on November 13 at 8 o'clock in two one-act comedies, "The Proposal", based on a play by Anton Chekhov, and "A Village Wooing", by George Bernard Shaw.

"A Village Wooing might be called a battle of the sexes, in which the male is doomed to defeat. In three scenes, the first set on board a pleasure ship and the remaining two in a English village store, Mr. Shaw has authored an account of a most unusual "wooing". The period costumes of 1910 add flavor and charm to the scene. "The Proposal" concerns itself with a wooing of a different nature. Set on a farm in the Midwest, "The Proposal" reminds us once again that "the course of true love, etc . . ."

LUCKY STRIKE presents

Dear Dr. Frood:

Dr. Frood, Ph.T.T.

DR. FROOD'S MORAL OF THE MONTH

When the world seems dark . . . when the sun refuses to shine, do not fret. It happens every night.

Dear Dr. Frood: A professor here says I'm so dumb I can't spell my own name. What should I do? Willyum

Dear William: He's just teasing.

Dear Dr. Frood: Several girls' colleges nearby depend on our college for dates. Some girl is always calling and asking me to go out. How can I politely refuse? Bothered

Dear Bothered: Say you have a headache. Better still, admit you have no head.

Dear Dr. Frood: I have gone steady with four different boys in the last three weeks. Would you call me fickle? L.N.

Dear L.N.: I would call you seldom.

Dear Dr. Frood: I hear that at some schools they let you smoke in class. How can I convince our administration to do the same? Hopeful

Dear Hopeful: Wherever you smoke Luckies, you're smoking in class.

Dear Dr. Frood: Like you're the most. I mean like you're out there . . . so cool you're Iceville. Like you're the ginchiest. Chick

Dear Chick: Like you're sick, Chick.

DR. FROOD ON A CURIOUS DECISION

There is considerable talk in tobacco circles about the introduction of new cigarette flavors. It is expected that you will soon be able to buy cottage-cheese cigarettes, sarsaparilla cigarettes and fresh-garden-vegetable cigarettes. You will be happy to know that Lucky Strike has decided to stick with its own remarkable taste—that of fine tobacco only. A pleasant decision, I'd say.
