State Students Win USA Bridge Title

Teams representing Columbia students won the National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament, it was announced today (April 11) by William D. Scott, Director of the Student Union at the University of Massachusetts and Chairman of the National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament Committee. More than three thousand students at 185 colleges and universities in the United States took part in this largest and most unique of all college competitions.

Sanford M. Reder of 123 West 93rd Street, New York City and James W. Becker of Gloversville, New York were on the Columbia University team which won playing the North-South boards.

Reder and Becker also won the North-South title in last year's tournament. Reuben T. Smith, Jr. of 251 S. Elm St., Asheboro, N. C. and Richard I. Stanton of 8 Cottage Lane, Springfield, N. J. played the East-West boards and won the national title for North Carolina State College.

The Columbia team scored a perfect 10 pars while the North Carolina State team scored 9 out of 10 pars on the 18 prepared hands played in the all-male duplicate Bridge competition.

In second place were the North-South team of Roland S. Barton, Jr. and Michael R. Daignault of the University of Missouri and the East-West team of Lyman Boynton and Tim Palmer of Carleton College (Minn.). The University of Notre Dame team of Dave Joyce and Bob Bennett took third place North-South honors while the East-West third place winner was a pair from Yale University, Jased Lobdell and James Featherstone. More than five hundred other pus titles.

Now in its fourteenth year, the National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament is a contest in Duplicate Contract Bridge in which all competing colleges play on campus a set of eighteen prepared hands. These hands are prepared and scored by Geoffrey Mott-Smith, noted Contract Bridge authority, who determines campus, regional and national winners. The tournament, sponsored by the Games Committee of the Association of College Unions, is unique in college competition in that it is one of the few intercollegiate events in which men and women can compete on an equal basis.

Civil Rights Declaration Approved By S. G. Thursday

Again last Thursday night the State College Student Government was called to order in an effort to decide the fate of our fair campus. After Vice-president Bob Cooke had called the meeting to order and Don Duckworth, in the absence of Charlie Russell, had read the minutes of the last meeting, the legislation commenced to flow forth.

Senator James Gregory, representing the Rules Committee, presented a bill which would amend the Student Government by-laws in regard to the Honor Code. As the present system is set up, any student has the right to face his accuser in any case to a violation of the Honor Code. It was felt by the Rules Committee, that if a person knows that he is going to have to face another person and say "I saw you cheat on a quiz", he will be inclined not to report another man even if he does see him cheating, although he himself is violating the code by not reporting his fellow student. With the new rule, if a person is seen cheating, he will have a chance to admit that he committed a violation; hence, becoming his own accuser and releasing the former accuser from the responsibility of having to accuse his classmate in an Honor Code Court.

This legislation was passed in an effort to make the honor system stronger, in that people will feel less pressure on them because they did their duty and reported a fellow student for cheating.

After this amendment was passed, Ed Woods, chairman of the Rules Committee, presented a bill which slightly altered the constitution of the State College Board of Publications. After slight discussion, the bill passed with no trouble.

Murry Rudisill, chairman of the Elections Committee, presented tentative dates for the campus election next year. The freshmen elections will be held on Oct. 20 and 27. The upperclassmen elections will be held on April 13 and 20. Both of these tentative dates were passed and this concluded Senator Rudisill's report.

The next committee's report was that of the Investigations Committee. The committee had been asked to look into the obtaining of a portable public address system for the school in order to eliminate the necessity of paying $5 an hour to rent the sound truck and the big man that comes with it.

Senator Blizzard stated that a portable system could be bought for $100 which would have a range of 1/2 mile. This system would be rented out by the College Union to organizations or persons wishing to make public announcements.

This equipment could be placed on any car and be taken around campus to announce information which would be pertinent to all students. Blizzard made a motion that two of the speakers be purchased at once for use later this year and in coming years. The bill received a second and after some discussion, passed.

Fulton, with the taste of success in his mouth from his last bill, presented another bill, a bill concerning civil rights. The bill in essence stated that no business proprietor, owner or clerk in the performance of work in a corporation or business under license to serve the public, with the expectation of profit from the public for services rendered, and with doors open to the public can hypocritically refuse service to any member of the public for reasons of appearance only, unless the appearance betrays an unwillingness or inability to pay, a threat of immediate physical violence from the person, drunkenness, or perversion of character.

We regard such a refusal as a defamation of character, a direct and highly personal insult equivalent to libel, and a complete failure by the corporation or business to fulfill its obligation to serve the public. Further, it is our conviction that the charge of trespass made by the owner, proprietor, or manager of a corporation or business under license to serve the public is not valid against any member of the public who protests the said refusal of service described above. Charge of trespass can be met by counter charge of insult and failure to serve the public.

We regard such a pure hypocrisy the charge of trespass by business or corporation owners against members of the public who respond to the invitations of open doors, displayed wares, helpful clerks, customer conveniences, and advertisements to the general public through signs, billboards, radio, newspapers and television.

'Holiday On Ice' Opens Stand Tuesday

"Holiday on Ice," the big Am'can ice show that shattered Moscow attendance records last year, will be celebrating its 15th anniversary when the production is staged in the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum at North Carolina State College next week.

The huge ice spectacle will open its five-day stand in the State College Coliseum Tuesday, April 12, at 8:30 p.m. In addition, there will be evening shows Wednesday, April 13, through Saturday, April 16, at 8:30 p.m. and matinee performances Friday, April 15, at 3:30 p.m. and on Saturday, April 16, at 2:30 p.m.

Helping to make the show a top-flight attraction here will be lovely Jinx Clark, whose skating artistry is known throughout the world.

"The Legend of the Black Pearl," the featured production number, is a perfect vehicle for the heralded talents of Miss Clark. Her role as the "Rare Black Pearl" gives Jinx opportunity to show solo magnificance and also adagio-daring as she joins with Alfredo Mendoza.

Early in the show, Jinx and Tommy Collins romp through a fast-paced pair with a French setting. She's a nursemaid and Collins a gendarme in "Parlez Moi D'Armour". For her finale encore, Jinx gives a rhythmic interpretation of the Blues.

She also struts in her inimitable style in the sophisticated 12-boy number—"Miss Everything."

Off the ice, Jinx is Mrs. Alfredo Mendoza—and she's now an accomplished water skier. Her husband was the world champion water skier before turning his attention to the ice. They have worked up adagio on water skis—quite an accomplishment—and manage to spend almost as much time on the water as they do on the ice.

The show is packed full of entertainment and runs for two and one-half hours.

Tickets sales are underway at the Coliseum Box Office, State College and at several other box offices in Eastern and Piedmont North Carolina including Wamble's, Inc., in downtown Raleigh and Kerr Rexall Drugs in Cameron Village.

Seawell to Speak at C.U. Tuesday

Malcolm Seawell, former Attorney General and now a candidate for Governor, will speak under the auspices of the College Union Forum Committee, Tuesday, April 12, at 8 p.m. in the College Union Theatre.

He received his law degree at the University of North Carolina in 1935, and worked briefly for the Institute of Government in Chapel Hill. After three years on the staff of the State Parole Commission, Seawell in 1938 established his law office in Lumberton. Four years later, he was elected Solicitor of Lumberton's Recorder's Court. In 1942, he joined the staff of the Secretary of War in Washington and returned to Lumberton three years later.

Seawell took his first plunge into politics in 1947, when he ran for the office of Mayor of Lumberton. He became a Superior Court judge in 1955 and was on the Bench when Governor Hodges named him Attorney General in April, 1958.

Mr. Seawell will be appearing at the C.U. as the third candidate in a series of gubernatorial Candidates.

Malcolm Seawell

Notice
There will be a meeting of all candidates for offices for the Spring election tonight, April 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the College Union Theatre. Positions and correct names on ballots will be determined then.

For S.G. Program

Cooke States Platform

In an interview with The Technician today Bob Cooke, a rising senior from Huntersville, N. C., released the following statement:

"During my tenure as vice-president this year I have recognized that an active, functioning student government must promote the interests of the student body and must be sensitive to student needs and opinions. To indicate my interest in such a program, I will briefly describe a few areas in which the student government can exert an influence in the behalf of the student body.

"Faculty Advisory System— Student government should investigate the charge that 'secretaries are doing most of the advising.' This program might be improved by requiring the advisors to hold private conferences with his advisees during Freshman Orientation Week and by requesting the faculty member to invite his advisees to at least one interview. This applies particularly to the freshmen and sophomores.

"Parking Problem — The privilege of operating cars at State College must be guarded. As long as parking space and/or funds for paving new areas exist, I will oppose arbitrary restriction of the student use of automobiles.

"Coliseum Rental—An acute problem of obtaining, within financial means of student organizations, adequate facilities for social events was pointed out by The Technician. The only logical facility for large events, such as The Friends of the College, and major dances, such as IFC and IDC, is the coliseum. This matter was discussed with the Chancellor in a liaison meeting Friday afternoon. Chancellor Caldwell agreed that a request for an appropriation to subsidize the use of the coliseum would be included in the next college budget proposal. I will follow this through the proper channels to obtain final action.

"Programming— Student Government should encourage further development of programs such as the Apollo Club and the Friends of the College. This can be accomplished by use of influence in the boards and committees. (See COOKE, page 4)

Correction

In the Thursday, April 7, issue of The Technician, the headline which read, "Phi Kappa Phi Plan Annual Ball," should have read, "Pi Kappa Phi Plans Annual Ball." The article concerned the Rose Ball of that fraternity on April 13-17.

Abridgement of Civil Rights

Far exceeding the importance of racial frictions or of preservation of any so-called "Southern" way of life, is the importance of maintaining law and order and the demonstration by the judicial and legislative arms of government that equality before the law will be guaranteed.

We have observed that in this state the right to boycott has been threatened, the privilege of peaceful picketing has been ridiculed, and trespass has been charged against the public during business hours by owners and managers of corporations and businesses who are licensed to serve the public. Will the right of the people to peacefully assemble also not be guaranteed by the State of North Carolina as it was not guaranteed by the State of Alabama recently? We hope not.

With no particular concern for the rights of any race or minority group but with concern only for each and every citizen of the State of North Carolina in general, we hold that no business proprietor, owner, or clerk in the performance of work in a corporation or business under license to serve the public, with the expectation of profit from the public for services rendered, and with doors open to the public can hypocritically refuse service to any member of the public for reasons of appearance only, unless the appearance betrays an unwillingness or inability to pay, a threat of immediate physical violence from the person, drunkenness, or perversion of character.

We regard such a refusal as a defamation of character, a direct and highly personal insult equivalent to libel, and a complete failure by the corporation or business to fulfill its obligation to serve the public.

Further, it is our conviction that the charge of trespass made by the owner, proprietor, or manager of a corporation or business under license to serve the public is not valid against any member of the public who protests the said refusal of service described above. Charge of trespass can be met by counter charge of insult and failure to serve the public.

We regard such a pure hypocrisy the charge of trespass by business or corporation owners against members of the public who respond to the invitations of open doors, displayed wares, helpful clerks, customer conveniences, and advertisements to the general public through signs, billboards, radio, newspapers and television.

Held sacred in the United States are the right to boycott, to assemble peacefully, and to protest peacefully. Let not these rights be deprived of even one citizen of the State of North Carolina, for such a deprivation sets the precedent that places the rights of every other citizen in jeopardy.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

S. G. Action - Sound

Often, in the past, we have criticized the State College Student Government for making certain recommendations which we felt were unsound for the students here. However, at the same time, we have always tried to praise the S. G. when they presented bills of a noble nature, which showed sound thought and reasoning.

At the last meeting of the Student Legislature, two bills were presented which seem to possess an unusual amount of forethought and conviction, one concerning a revision of a section of the procedure of the Honor Code Board, and the other, a declaration concerning the civil rights question, and the lunch counter situation in particular. (See story, page one.)

The resolution on the revision of the rules governing the procedure before an Honor Code Board trial is explained in the front page article. In the future, a student, seeing a fellow student violate the Honor Code, will turn him in. If the violator admits that he did wrong, then the student who turned him in in the first place, is released from the pressures of having to face the violator during an Honor Code Board hearing. However, if the violator will not admit that he was justly accused, then the trial will be conducted as it is now—the violator will have the right to face his accuser.

The S. G. also passed a declaration which stated, in essence, that the charge of trespass by the operator of a business establishment under boycott by any member of the general public, was not a valid charge if the persons asking for service of some nature were acting in a manner becoming to a member of the human race.

We feel that both these resolutions were presented with a great amount of sincerity and should be judged as such. Concerning the latter, we of State College have held a feeling of tolerance for the last few years when the question of race has been discussed. There is no need to enumerate the happenings on this campus this year and in years past which have supported this theory.

The declaration by the Student Government is in keeping with the attitude which State College has assumed. The Legislature must be commended for that action by all those who hold this newest State College tradition dear.

To the Editor of The Technician:
For many reasons, I would like to impress upon the students of North Carolina State College my opinion that Bob Cooke should be their choice for President of the Student Government in the campus elections this April 28.

First, Bob Cooke is certainly the candidate most experienced in Student Government affairs. Bob represented students during this 1959-60 academic year as the Vice-president of the Student Government and during his previous two years at State College as a senator from the School of Agriculture.

Bob has a thorough knowledge of the functioning of the various committees of the College on which the President must serve, e.g., the Liaison Committee, the Athletic Council, the College Union Board of Directors, and the Board of Directors of the Friends of the College. As Vice-president of Student Government, Bob is a member of or has represented the President of many of these committees.

I have had occasion to attend the Liaison Meeting where Bob eloquently, and with thorough understanding, presented to the Chancellor, officers of the Faculty Senate, and The Technician, the actions of the Student Government legislature at its previous meeting.

In the second place, Bob's personality has executive traits. One can merely apply adjectives to describe personality. When these adjectives are just pulled out of the air and placed on campaign posters, they remain what they were in the beginning—just air. But when they accurately describe personality, they are important in judging personality.

I know that Bob is responsible and punctual. One can easily ride into office on a gas bag of glory and then fizzle out. Bob punctually attends three or four meetings a week as the Vice-president of the S. G. He has done the work that he was responsible for, and that has been no small task.

But, Bob is also imaginative, influential, and industrious. Granted that Student Government has not merited high student opinion in the past, but this year it certainly must have. Bob presented an imaginative program to the legislature in September. He influenced the Student Government committees to really function, and they have. He industriously co-ordinated his program to fit the year's schedule.

Last, Bob Cook is impressive. He speaks with thought and eloquence, yet with brevity. He is forceful, yet seeks opinion of others. He has an admirable platform, which I term a program, for it will have a schedule and it will be carried out. Bob Cook is the logical choice for your next President of Student Government. Vote for him.

John Fulton, senator
Student Government

To the Editor of The Technician:
The office of President of the Student Government at North Carolina State College requires of its holder a great deal of time and effort to adequately fulfill the obligations involved. The holder of this office must of necessity be an outstanding individual scholastically. He must be a leader and as a leader, be able to communicate with his fellow students as well as the administration of the College.

As individuals participating in a democratic process, each student must examine the past records of the candidates for this office before making a choice as to his favorite in the up-coming elections. On the basis of his past record—and as an individual—I heartily endorse Dick Currie as candidate for the office of President of the Student Government.

It has been my pleasure to know Dick and to work with him during the past three years. Here is a man who is a credit to the school. Scholastically Dick ranks at or near the top of his class. He is a member of Alpha Pi Mu, the Industrial Engineering Honor Society. For the past two years, Dick has been Business Manager of the Southern Engineer, published by and for the engineering students. He has performed the work in a business-like and competent manner.

Dick has been a member of the student chapter of the AIEE, and this year is secretary of the organization. Dick's talent for leadership has been recognized in that he is a member of 30 & 3, the Sophomore leadership society. At the present time, he is also Secretary-Treasurer of the Consolidated University Student Council.

Dick is a person who takes his responsibilities seriously. He is not known as an individual who makes snap decisions. Rather, he seriously considers all aspects of a problem before he gives his opinions. This is a quality to be admired.

I firmly believe that Dick would be the best man for this office in that he would always keep the students' interests uppermost in his thoughts and actions.

Bill Foss, President
Engineer's Council

ernment President as does Bob Cooke.

Bob's record of service to State College is one of unselfish and tireless devotion to his schoolmates. It is a record which could stand as his platform in his bid for the presidency. With his customary zeal and enthusiasm, however, he proposes to do even better things for State College. I do not doubt for one minute that he will carry out every single point which he has included in his platform.

It goes without saying that we cannot afford to put someone in office who is not absolutely familiar with the demands of that office. Bob has filled in as president on many occasions and always represented his schoolmates well. He has analyzed and appraised all those problems which confront a student body president and has a ready proposal for most of them. He has no special group in mind but is interested in the progress of the student government as a whole. He is sincere in his approach and I have noticed on several occasions that the school administration—with which he would have to work—holds a deep respect for his opinions and suggestions.

Bob Cooke is willing to give the student body his time and energies. He is certainly the most able of all the candidates. I want to urge you to give him your vote and support!

Phil Carlton, President
Senior Class

To the Editor of The Technician:

In the coming elections there is one man running for the President of the Student Government that, in my mind, would certainly be the best representative the N. C. State College student body could have. This man is Dick Currie, a rising senior in Industrial Engineering, and a person who has been very active in campus life.

Dick Currie, if elected, would truly represent the majority of the student body and he would be an officer of whom this school could be proud.

I ask your support of Dick Currie for President of our Student Government and a true representative of the students.

Dormitory Drivel

SLIME FROM SYME

By Larry Wright

And now to finish last week's article which was cut short because of a lack of space. As a brief summary, 18 year-olds can not vote, but they may get married, serve in our Armed Forces, pay taxes, get driver's licenses, and choose their vocations.

If we are not mature enough to handle these responsibilities, then why are they entrusted to us? If we are mature enough to make these responsible decisions, then why are we not allowed to vote?

Our government trusts us to defend it, support it, and to build its homes, but it still does not allow us to vote. Is this fair?

Dormitory office elections are here. Are you going to exercise your right and privilege to vote? Or does it matter to you what kind of officers your dorm has? Voting is one of the basic rights that American Citizens have. Let's put it to use.

I would like to announce my candidacy for the office of Vice-President of Syme dormitory. The Vice-President is one of the two representatives of the dorm to the Inter-Dormitory Council. If I should succeed in being elected to this position, I shall use every means at my disposal to truly represent our dorm, and to keep the students informed of what is happening.

I am sure that I express the feelings of many boys on the third floor of Syme when I say that we sincerely regret the accident that took the life of our janitor, Fred a week ago this past Saturday.

It is hard to believe, but the E. E. Department has come through with five or six straight quizzes for the students in E. E. 202 that have required no corrections. Congratulations! It is quite a relief to sit down and work a quiz without fearing that as soon as you finish working a problem, a correction will be made that will nullify your work.

WKNC is a unique radio station, and one that State (and Peace) students can be proud of, but it is exasperating to tune across the broadcast band and pick up WKNC three times. Furthermore, WKNC completely drowns out WSHE, and strongly competes with WPTF on WPTF's assigned frequency. In addition to this, harmonics as high as the 60th harmonic can be heard. Perhaps some of WKNC's engineers can come up with a solution to this problem. At least the transmitter in Syme could be cut off when WKNC is not transmitting.

To the Editor of The Technician:

I do not believe that there is any other person at State College who has the experience and ability to serve as Student Gov-

Blue Devils Win Over State Pack

By Earl Mitchell

The N. C. State baseball team suffered two conference defeats this past week. The first came at the hands of Maryland here in Raleigh, and the second came in Durham, when the Blue Devils of Duke dropped the Pack nine.

On Thursday of this week the University of Maryland handed the Wolfpack an 11-3 conference setback and then on Saturday Duke dropped the State team 4-1 for its second league defeat in two games.

The Terps banged out 13 hits and played errorless ball while holding the Pack to five hits. Joel Gibson started the game and lasted until the fifth inning when the Maryland hitters tapped him for five big runs. By this time the Terps were in a commanding 10-3 lead and coasted on to the win. They did add one more run to their count in the eighth frame to give them their 11 runs.

State scored all three of its runs in the second inning off Terp starter Charlie Marshburn. Singles by Cox, Perry and Story combined with a walk and two infield outs provided the punch for the three run attack. Jim Fowler took over the Terps pitching chores in the second inning and held the Pack to only two hits for the remainder.

On Saturday the story was a little bit different as the Pack came a little closer to grabbing the win. There were only eight base hits given up to the two teams during the entire game. Duke led in the hitting department with five hits to only three for the Pack. The fact that the Blue Devils were able to bunch some of theirs together in the bottom of the sixth inning led to the Duke win.

Don Altman got credit for the win while Wilson Carruthers was tagged for the loss. The Wolfpack led off in the scoring with an unearned run in the top of the third inning but the Blue Devils came back in the sixth inning to pull into a two run lead. A walk and three singles in a row provided the power that the Blue Devils needed to win their fifth game of the season against only two setbacks.

State's record now stands at 3-5 counting all games and 0-2 in the conference.

The Pack received a setback Thursday when Roman Gabriel decided to quit the team. Gabriel, who was an all-stater in high school, was expected to give Vic Sorrell's team some help this fall. Sorrell stated that Gabriel missed all of practice last week before he decided to quit. Jake Shaffer also dropped from the team last week.

While their elders were getting beaten in Durham last Saturday afternoon, the State freshman team was handing the Blue Imps of Duke an 11-1 defeat. State struck early in the game with five big runs in the first inning and took it easy for the rest of the game. They added two more in the fourth and four in the fifth.

Duke scored their only run in the seventh frame on a four bagger by Miller. Jerry Cordell, Tom Hines, and Don Montgomery each got two hits to pace the Wolflet attack.

George Vollmer lets the discus fly in the track meet held on the State track field Saturday morning and afternoon. Vollmer won this event with a toss of 127 feet 6 1/2 inches. The State team faced an Atlantic Coast Conference foe, Clemson in this meet and the Tigers downed the Pack 76-55. Clemson took the other two places in the discus event with Jim Armstrong and Paul Carver placing second and third respectively. ## Clemson Tigers Drop State

The Clemson Tigers grabbed ten first places to only five for the Wolfpack as they coasted to a 76-55 win over the Pack in an Atlantic Coast Conference track meet here at State Saturday afternoon.

George Vollmer and Tom Stradley paced the Pack attack with each getting two first places. Vollmer won the shot put and discus events while Stradley picked up wins in the 100 yd. and 220 yd. dashes.

Vollmer heaved the shot 44 feet, 5 1/4 inches and hurled the discus 127 feet, 6 1/2 inches. Stradley ran the 100 in 9.9 and turned in a time of 21.8 in the 220. Carol Leary turned in the other first place for the Pack by winning the pole vault event. Leary won the event with a jump of 12 feet, 6 inches.

"NO PARKING"

As everyone knows, the most serious problem facing American colleges today is the shortage of parking space for students' cars.

Many remedies have been offered to solve this vexing dilemma. For instance, it has been suggested that all students be required to drive small foreign sports cars which can be carried in the purse or pocket. This would, of course, solve the parking problem but it would make double dating impossible—unless, that is, the boys make the girls run along behind the car. But that is no solution either because by the time they get to the prom the girls will be panting so hard that they will wilt their corsages.

Another suggested cure for our parking woes is that all students smoke Marlboro cigarettes. At first glance this seems an excellent solution because we all know Marlboro is the cigarette which proved that flavor did not go out when filters came in—and when we sit around and smoke good Marlboros we are so possessed by sweet contentment that none of us wishes ever to leave, which means no gadding about which means no driving, which means no parking problem.

But the argument in favor of Marlboros overlooks one important fact: when you run out of Marlboros you must go get some more, which means driving, which means parking, which means you're right back where you started.

Probably the most practical suggestion to alleviate the campus parking situation is to tear down every school of dentistry in the country and turn it into a parking lot. This is not to say that dentistry is unimportant. Gracious, no! Dentistry is important and vital and a shining part of our American heritage. But the fact is there is no real need for separate schools of dentistry. Dentistry could easily be moved to the school of mining engineering. Surely anyone who can drill a thousand feet for oil can fill a simple little cavity.

Take the case of dental student Fred C. Sigafos...

This experiment—combining dentistry with mining engineering—has already been tried at several colleges—and with some very interesting results. Take, for instance, the case of a dental student named Fred C. Sigafos. One day recently Fred was out practicing with his drilling rig in a vacant lot just off campus. He sank a shaft two hundred feet deep and, to his surprise and delight, he struck a detergent mine. For a while Fred thought his fortune was made but he soon learned that he had drilled into the storage tank of the Eagle Laundry. Walter P. Eagle, president of the laundry, was mad as all get-out and things looked mighty black for Fred. But it all ended well. When Mr. Eagle called Fred into his office to chew him out, it so happened that Mr. Eagle's beautiful daughter, Patient Griselda, was present. For years Patient Griselda had been patiently waiting for the right man. "That's him!" she cried upon spying Fred—and today Fred is a full partner in the Eagle Laundry in charge of pleats and ruffles.

Speaking of laundries reminds us of cleanliness which in turn reminds us of filtered Marlboros and unfiltered Philip Morris—both clean and fresh to the taste—both available in soft pack and flip-top box.
