Final Results Of Chest Drive Reported

The 1960 Campus Chest Drive was both a success and a failure. The Drive netted a total of $1721.00, or about twice as much as last year's drive.

The total, however, fell way short of the goal of $3,000.00, only reaching an overall 57%. The trophy for fraternities was not given, as all fraternities contributed 100% even. The dormitory trophy went to Gold, and the Veteran's Association copied the organization trophy with total contributions of $38.00. Final results are: Dormitories—$662, Fraternities—$850, Vetville—$45.00, Organizations—$128.00, Off-campus—$36.00.

Jim Greiner, the head of this year's drive, made this statement: "Special thanks for a job well done are in order to The Technician, for their coverage of the drive, dorm managers, IFC, YMCA, Alpha Phi Omega, Veteran's association, and the following persons: Tom Lane, Tom McCaskill, Dick Carter, Fred Alligood Tom Johnston, Frank Madrey, Charlie Cox, George Brown, Landis Keyes, P. Gennert, Clark Thompson, and Carlton Baird."

Details Released On Married Housing

The long-awaited announcement concerning the details of the new married student housing project have been released by the Director of Housing at State College.

Director N. B. Watts—released all the pertinent data to The Technician in an interview on Tuesday.

The announcement, which has already been delivered to many of the Married State students, contains all information on occupancy, priority, prices, etc.

According to the released report, the housing units will be ready for occupancy on or about August 15, 1960. Vetville units, excluding the UKs (which will be allowed to remain as housing quarters if the need exists), will be closed on September 15, allowing students living in the Vetville units to have one month to make the change to their new quarters.

As specified by the report, the new facility will contain 32 living room with two bedrooms and bath apartments, 148 living room with one bedroom and bath apartments, and 120 efficiency apartments (one large room with bath).

Each of the units in all three categories will be furnished with gas cook stove, gas hot water heater, gas space heater, and electric refrigerator. In addition to their utilities, the efficiency apartments will be furnished with combination couchbed units.

Each occupant will be required to pay for all gas, electricity, and water used, except for cold water. In addition, all of the apartments must be used with the equipment that is provided, i.e., no facilities may be removed. Laundry facilities will be provided within the housing project, so, therefore, no family will be allowed to operate a washing machine in the apartments.

The monthly rental charges will be as follows: efficiency apartments—$43.00, one-bedroom apartments—$57.50, and two bedroom apartments—$69.00.

According to the release to The Technician, the priority will be as follows, after the present residents of Vetville have been accommodated: (1) Any married graduate student, (2) Any married undergraduate student entitled to G. I. educational benefits, past or present, and (3) Any other married student.

As mentioned previously, this schedule of priority will not go into effect until the present occupants of Vetville are allowed sufficient time to present their applications for one of the apartments in the new housing project. Until that date, May 3, 1960, present Vetville residents will have the first priority.

Concerning the list of priority that has been established among the present Vetville occupants, the couples there with two or more children will have the first opportunity to sign up for the two-bedroom apartments. In the event that there are more than 32 families with two or more children, the families with the oldest children will have first priority.

On the one-bedroom units, families with one child will have first priority after those with two or more children have been accommodated. After both these groups have been taken care of, the families with no children will be allowed to sign up for these apartments. Date of assignment to Vetville will determine the priority list of the couples with no children.

Efficiency units will be assigned to those couples with no children.

For those persons who are residing in Vetville on May 1, 1960, all applications for residences in the new housing project should be filed with the Director of Housing by May 3. That office will follow through on each application and determine the eligibility and priority of each applicant according to the rules that have been listed

Greek Week Activities To Close With Formal Dance

By Lenny Lavitt

The number one social attraction of the school year takes place this Saturday with the presentation of the Interfraternity Council's "Spring Greeks" formal dance.

To get things rolling, the nearly 800 members of the various fraternities and their dates will move out to a near by pasture west of Raleigh to hear one of the top new modern jazz groups, Art Blakey and his Jazz Messengers. Blakey has displayed his unique style in the top nightclubs around the country and at last year's New York Jazz Festival.

Ernestine Anderson, the female vocalist who will appear at both the afternoon concert and the dance, was hailed by Time magazine as one of the greatest jazz vocal discoveries in years.

Maynard Ferguson and his Orchestra, who is no stranger to N. C. State, will provide the music for the formal. The dance will be at the Coliseum on Saturday night from 8 p.m. to midnight, with the Figure at 10 p.m. Ferguson has appeared at many colleges and major hotels across the nation and at the Newport Jazz Festival.

This year's "Spring Greeks" will be set in a southern plantation theme with beautiful decorations. Alan Altman and Ed Puckhaber, Co-chairmen of the Social Committee, have asked that each chapter send 4 men to help with the decorations at 10 a.m. on Saturday. There will be a figure rehearsal at noon at the Coliseum.

Many of the various houses will have additional social functions, such as cabin parties, combos, and beach parties, to make this weekend the highlight of the social calendar.

The "Spring Greeks" brings to a close the 1960 Greek Week, which began last Monday. The award for the most food collected in the canned food drive for Wake County's needy families will be presented at the dance. The winners of the field day events, which will be held to-

WKNC To Initiate "Gripe" Show Tonight

"Campus Roundtable" is the name of a completely new show premiering tonight at 10:30 on WKNC. It has often been said that it is the prerogative of the State College student to discuss or gripe (mostly gripe) about nearly anything around him. It will be the expressed purpose of "Campus Roundtable" to provide an outlet for opinions about these topics of collegiate interest. Special attention will be devoted to subjects with direct influence on State College students; such as Student Government legislation, College Union activities, M & O, etc. By doing this it is hoped that each and every State College student will become better informed about each facet of the college.

During the 30 minutes allotted to the show, announcer-moderator Dave McCurdy will bring up several controversial topics and after outlining the pros and cons of each he will then solicit opinions from the radio audience. These opinions can be called in by any listener to TE 2-7861 during the broadcast. Both sides of each phone conversation will be heard by the listeners. In this way the caller will be voicing his opinion to the entire radio audience, and not just to the announcer.

As a way of insuring success for tonight's premier performance, each caller offering a constructive opinion or criticism will be awarded a free LP record. Judgement of this awards will be decided by the program announcer. So if you have something you want to get off your chest, be sure to tune in "Campus Roundtable" tonight at 10:30 p.m.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

"Woe is Us!"

On Monday, April 25, a bulletin concerning the married students housing project was released to all married students and to this newspaper office. The next day, cries of "Woe is us!" arose in unison from the present occupants of the apartments and houses in Vetville.

Several reasons were behind this sudden cry. Some of the students there were disturbed by the fact that their questionnaire is required to be in the housing office by May 3, which leaves little time for decisions to be made. Another reason, explain the present occupants of Vetville, is the cost of living in the new project. This is perhaps the main force behind the outburst. However, there are other reasons that the students there have emphasized as reasons for contention. They concern the fact that they will not be able to bring any appliances which they may own to the new project, that they will not be allowed to wash their clothes in their own apartment by any means except manual, and so on.

Most of these questions that have been raised are legitimate. But, the question of the costs of occupying the apartments is the one that is most objectionable of all. Especially of grave concern to the students is the costs of the one-bedroom apartments.

A good deal of thought and work has gone into preparing an argument in favor of reducing the costs of the one-bedroom apartments. Students in Vetville have been working nightly and some concrete facts have been determined which may, in the near future, have a definite bearing on whether or not the project will bring about its intended results.

One area in which the students have been able to ascertain certain facts is in the costs of occupying private apartments throughout the city of Raleigh. An outstanding example of their efforts is seen by studying the price list obtained from the Cameron Village Apartments. A comparison of that list and the one for the one-bedroom apartment in the new project show that there is very little difference, and, if anything, the new project is more expensive. This conclusion was arrived at by taking into consideration that the cost of gas (which will cook the meals, heat the water, and heat the apartment) will be about twenty dollars per month in the new project.

Another one of the major contentions coming from the occupants of Vetville is that they, if they do move to the new project, will be forced to either sell their present appliances, rent them, store them, or junk them. None of these alternatives are particularly appealing.

Just what these students can do against the higher forces over them is hard to say at this point. It is hoped that they will be satisfied, at least, with the reasons that will be given for the high rent, certain restrictions, etc. We think they have a legitimate gripe and they should be shown the reasons whether those reasons are legitimate or not. . . .

Rambling 'Round

By Harvey Horowitz

If the people in the Business Office in Holladay Hall were actually in business, it would be a very interesting spectacle. Who else would wait until the last week of April to present a bill for tuition that was supposed to be paid before registration? I know that this actually happened, because I was the one who received the bill!

In addition to the usual fees, I had to pay an additional penalty for being late—how in the world am I supposed to pay a bill on time if it isn't presented to me on time?

The crowning touch came when I noticed that I was now apparently an out-of-state student—judging from the size of the bill—after nine semesters as an in-state student!

I have naught but good words concerning the College Union's Nassau Trip during Easter Vacation. It was, at least for me, the best event the C. U. has ever sponsored. When the C. U. Travel Committee plans similar jaunts in the future, you can be sure of a good time if you go.

When I returned to campus after Easter, I received a couple of rude shocks. The first of these was that the 'roundhouse' was actually beginning to show above ground, be it only slightly. I was beginning to think that they were going to build it underground, and then pull it up with ropes.

The second shock came when I noticed that some of the streets on campus had been repaved during vacation, while most of the students were gone! This is, of course, contrary to all former policy, which dictated that paving should be done at the exact time calculated to offer the most annoyance.

Speaking of annoyances, why must they mow the grass around the dorms at such an unheard-of hour as eight in the morning? It is most disturbing to wake up to that sort of serenade.

I have been informed that a certain English teacher, whose name need not be mentioned, feels that the main fault with this column is that I always use the abbreviation, M and O, and that some people may not know what this mystic symbolism means. I have my doubts, but just for the record, it refers to the Department of Maintenance and Operation. Is everybody happy now?

I believe I shall save the editor the trouble of answering Eugene H. Lehman's question about the 'phycosexual meaning' of the College Union symbol. Sir, it is my belief that the symbol you mention is a picture of the Union building itself. Step across Hillsboro Street and see if you don't agree.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor of The Technician
Despite the action of a majority of the members of the Junior Class this year, there is going to be a Junior-Senior Dance at N. C. State College on May 14.

It will be held in the College Union from 8-12 p.m. Music will be by Urbie Green and His Orchestra. It was hoped by the committee that enough money would be available to have a small combo in the Snack Bar, similar to the Freshman-Sophomore of last year, but unless last minute pleas for dues are successful this will not be possible. Jim Capps will act as Master of Ceremonies.

Invitations will be available from dance committee members at the College Union from May 9-13. The exact times will be announced later.

Having talked with people

Recuerdos

Preceding the void was the lucid reality; detached. A segment of existence sacred and peaceful, full of calm. Always to be kept in a spotless corner, unobserved yet filling the room with a soft, possessive light. And I shall be constantly pulled to this source of pure purpose when asked who I am. There will be no wondering, no vulgar shouts of dissatisfaction, only shades of green among the dead.

It is not now as it was, for there was an interlude and a piece of the future fell into the gap. Even a chasm must have walls. The bridge does not sway, is straight and well trodden but only in one direction; the journey back is abrupt to hell, but cooler than before. I must linger a little more next time and then again. And soon my travels will end, the link repaired, the space filled not by the echo but the voice not by the shadow but the man. —I. G. Stein morrow at 4:00 p.m. on the Athletic fields, will also be announced at the dance.

The IFC sponsors two major dances each year, one in the fall, The Pledge Formal, and the "Spring Greeks". These dances are always well attended, due in part to the name bands on hand for the occasions. Last year the spring formal saw an attendance estimated at between 1200 to 1500 persons, and this year is expected to be even greater.

above. All other married students should apply at the Vetville office until further notice. They will also be placed on the lists of priority.

All Vetville residences are reminded to submit the application that they have already received to 207 Holladay Hall not later than May 3.

who have heard this orchestra and having listened to some of his recordings myself I feel that the music this year will be of a superior quality, regardless of the lack of a so called "big name band".

The success of the 1960 Junior-Senior does not depend upon the dance committee. It depends directly upon those who attend the dance. If you come in a hyper-critical mood, expecting to have a miserable time, then no quality of music or decorations could cause you to change your mind. However, if the Juniors and the Seniors will support the dance it will be the best one ever.

The Word

Well, spring is here again. Once again it is time for a young man's fancy to turn to whatever it does. Now the sun doesn't go down until late and the best friend of man, the mosquito, appears just as it does go down. Time to put school books and stay at State College until June 4. For him, it is a preview of Hell.

So say the poets of the world, but what do they know about the poor man who is doomed to stay at State College until June 4. For him, it is a preview of Hell.

Let's look at the poor fellow. There he is with his head bent over a twenty-dollar book which is being absolutely ruined by the sweat running off the end of his nose. On top of that the rest of the gang is down at the local pub consuming the drink of the natives which goes down so well this time of year. He just this minute left the phone after calling his favorite chick breaking the date he had for the weekend at the beach because some thoughtless professor assigned a quiz for Monday which will count 50% of the semester's grade. Now a ray of hope is seen. Just think the summer is only about a month off. Damn it, just remembered. This summer will be spent in summer school.

Yes, Spring is wonderful.

Band To Present
Concert Series

The North Carolina State College Musical Organizations will present again this year a series of outdoor pops concerts on the Terrace of the College Union Building. The first of these concerts will be given Friday evening, April 29th, at 7:00 p.m. The State College Fanfare Band will perform under the direction of J. Perry Watson.

Robert A. Barnes, Director of Music for the College, stated that the series will include four Friday night concerts. The 80-piece Symphonic Band and the 75-voice Men's Glee Club will present the Concert on May 6th.

Once the spring holidays come and go, it isn't much longer until the big vacation, summer. However, since it has been such a long time between columns, let's go back and look over the month of April.

The carnival as always was a big success and a very enjoyable affair. This brings us right up to the door of the CU.

As you know the CU has passed some rules about people being admitted to the Platter Party. We think this is all good and well; but when one has to pledge alliance to the flag before being allowed to enter, isn't that carrying things just a little too far? Seriously, we just were rather hurt when the girl at the door didn't seem to think we were old enough—that is of college age—to be admitted. She obviously arrived at this conclusion by reading this column.

Next week, we'll have the long awaited "Alton Awards" which come after the academy awards. And while we're on the academy awards, let's look at a few suggestions. It seems that with all the money spent on this show, they could teach the performers, etc. which side of the stage they are to go off after accepting the award. Invariably, the people go the wrong way.

Also, it never has seemed quite fair to give all the awards to one production. A number of the critics gripe that the show has no suspense, and we agree. As soon as the first award is given to some picture, the ones that follow usually go to the same movie.

The last Lucy program has been filmed and shown. The final show which hit the air waves on April first was no April Fool's joke. There won't be anymore new "I Love Lucy" programs. SONGS AND THEIR MEANINGS * * * "Twelfth of Never" . . . Graduation date; "He'll Have to Go" . . . Advanced Calculus teacher; "Paradise" . . . The CU State Room; "Just One Time" . . . And "A" on anything; and "Home From the Hill" . . . #$$%&.

There are a number of new tunes spinning their way to the tops as well as albums:

The Skyliners have released a rocking version of "Pennies from Heaven" which could well cash in on more than pennies. The Everly Brothers are clowning around with "Cathy's Clown", "Nobody Loves Me Like You" has the Flamingos flying high on the charts. Sam Cooke, who's doing well with "Wonderful World", wrote the above tune by the Flamingos. Elvis' tune is a smash—and why doesn't someone?

Others which could well become national chart favorites are: "Right By My Side" and "Young Emotions" by Ricky Nelson. Nat Cole has a waxing called "Is It Better To Have Loved and Lost?"

One of the best albums we have ever heard is the new one by the Platters, "Reflections". It's tops. Also very good to listen to are: "Unforgettable" . . . Dinah Washington; "Patti Page's Golden Hits", and the new one by the Kingston Trio, "Sold Out". Pat Boone has 12 new tunes on a platter called "This And That".

Richard Crenna turned in a splendid performance last weekend on "The Deputy". Crenna is a regular on "The Real McCoys" and is best remembered as "Walter Denton" on the now defunct "Our Miss Brooks" series.

State Seeks Fifth Straight Victory Against Tar Heels

Coach Vic Sorrell's State Wolfpack seeks its fifth straight victory against the Carolina Tar Heels Saturday on its home field. The Wolfpack has captured its last four victories against strong Atlantic Coast Conference competition. The victims have been Wake Forest, South Carolina, Clemson, and Virginia.

In these games, the Wolfpack has come up with some lusty hitting. Leading the way have been second baseman Jimmy Cox, outfielder Jim Story, first baseman Stacy Wells, catcher Adjar Perry, and pitcher-outfielder Joel Gibson. All of these players are hitting above the .300 mark with Cox hitting .444.

The Tar Heels also have some strong hitters. The Tar Heels were rated among the top teams in the ACC before the season began. However, they lost their first three games in conference play. Since then, they have beaten South Carolina and Virginia.

The pitchers for the Wolfpack and the Tar Heels will be two of the best in the conference Saturday. It will be tall Joel (Bones) Gibson vs. Wayne Young. Young is the ace of the Tar Heel pitching staff. Gibson has captured five victories for the Wolfpack this year. He is the top strikeout pitcher in the ACC with 39 strikeouts.

The starting lineup for the Tar Heels besides Young, will be Bruce Crump behind the plate, Vaughn Bryson at first, Larry Craver at second, Harold Workman at shortstop, and Ferg Norton at third. Gerald Griffin, John Burgwyn, and Russ Hollers will patrol the outfield for the Tar Heels.

The Wolfpack will start off with Perry catching, Wells at first, Cox at second, Wayne Edwards at short, either Vernon Strickland or Neal Easoma at third. Jim Lancaster will be in leftfield, Bernie Latusick in center, and Jim (Shorty) Story in right.

Wilson Carruthers will back Gibson up on the mound. Carruthers was unable to pitch last week because of an infection. The lanky righthander has fully recovered and will be ready for duty if Coach Sorrell needs him.

This will complete the Wolfpack's first round with ACC teams. They have played the other members of the ACC once.

The Wolfpack goes against Virginia next Monday, and follows up with Maryland. Both games are away.

Joel Gibson who is currently leading the Atlantic Coast Conference in strikeouts with 39 is slated to start on the mound against North Carolina Saturday afternoon. Gibson is carrying a 5-2 record into the Carolina game.

Bringing new knowledge to eager finger tips

Braille has opened up bright new worlds for thousands and thousands of blind persons. However, the difficulty of translating printed material into this complex "touch language" has limited the number and variety of publications.

To make more Braille material available, a method of transcribing the printed word into Braille automatically has been developed by IBM scientists in cooperation with the American Printing House for the Blind.

The text, in punched card form, is processed by a high-speed IBM electronic computer. The computer can translate a 300-page book into its equivalent Braille in less than an hour.

It takes all kinds of talents to develop computer systems that can handle complex jobs like this. Expanding computer applications at IBM have created opportunities in research, engineering, programming and manufacturing. Perhaps one of these IBM careers is the "future" you've been looking for.

STRICTLY AD LIB

During the weekend of March 18 and 19, some 3,400 college and university students crowded the field house at Notre Dame University to listen to jazz. What made the occasion unique was that all the performers were themselves students—at various schools throughout the east, middlewest, and southwest. The occasion was the second Collegiate Jazz Festival.

Started last year by Notre Dame students, with the guidance and cooperation of Down Beat magazine, the festival had jumped considerably in size this year. Twenty six groups—both big bands and combos of all sizes—took part in the event.

So high was the quality of some performances that Stan Kenton, one of the judges at the festival quipped that if some of the musicians turned pro (which many of them undoubtedly will), there were musicians in the business who would not be happy about it.

Winning the award (a big, travelling loving cup) as the best group in the show was the North Texas State College Lab Band, which also won the best big band award, and an engagement at the Detroit Jazz Festival this summer. Named the best combo winner was the Dots Trio, from Fairmont State College, Fairmont, W. Va.

Other winners were: The Dixie Dynamos, Dayton University, Dayton, Ohio, special award for showmanship; Marv Stamm, trumpeter with the North Texas State band, outstanding instrumentalist award (he won a scholarship to the Berklee School of Music and a new Conn trumpet); Lorin Binford, from Northwestern University, best trombonist; Bob Pierson, University of Detroit, best flutist; Don Miller, Cincinnati University, best guitarist; Dennis Behm, State University of Iowa, best bassist; John Tatgenhorse, Ohio State, best drummer; Allan Beutler, Michigan State, best alto saxophonist; Dave Young, Indiana University, best tenor saxophonist; Lois Nemser, Cincinnati University best vocalist; Tom Mustachio, Fairmont State College, and most promising soloist; best pianist; Ralph Mutchler, Northwestern University, most promising arranger; Lowell Latto, Ohio State, most promising leader.

Recommended Recordings:

"Gerry Mulligan Meets Ben Webster" on Verve. This disc, given five stars, is called by Down Beat critic John S. Wilson "one of the great records of jazz."

Duke Ellington-Johnny Hodges in "Side by Side," another Verve disc, given four stars by Down Beat, and called "worthy additions to Ellington disciana."

Readers of the Times may remember a series of columns we did for that paper last spring based very closely on ENTERTAINMENT UNLIMITED. In the column, we introduced you to two very interesting young men here on the campus. If you didn't see the bit, here's a second chance.

Jim and John Myhre first came to our attention when we saw their pictures in Dig Magazine. We did not know the boys at the time but remembered seeing them here at State. The brothers Myhre are identical twins, and believe us when we tell you they don't come any more identical than these two.

Born on November 2, 1939, just ten minutes apart, Jim, the older, has grown up to be just a fraction taller. He's a little over five-feet-ten.

The logical question asked about twins who look alike is are they really alike. That depends on how you look at it.

We'll let you draw your own conclusions when you read about the boy's likes and dislikes.

John is transferring to Carolina—oh, that dirty word again—in the fall where he'll take up Pharmacy. His brother is struggling with that popular favorite—Chemical Engineering. He hopes someday to get into the field from the technical sales stand point. Both guys admit they love to meet and be with people.

When it comes to entertainment—and you knew we'd explore this—John lists The Nun's Story as his favorite movie; Jim picks The Man Who Knew Too Much.

Music? John picks Doris Day, Roger Whitfield, and the Four Aces. Jim goes for Doris also and adds Johnny Mathis and the Platters to the list. They admit that they rarely watch TV; and since they both work with WKNC, you know what radio station they prefer.

Reader's Digest Features State Professor's Article

In its May issue, The Reader's Digest features the work of a State College professor in an article, entitled "Wonders from Wood."

The article describes new research developments which may lead to wider use of wood products and lists Dr. Alfred J. Stamm, a faculty member in State College's School of Forestry, as one of the key figures in the scientific discoveries relating to wood.

Dr. Stamm's work outlined in the Reader's Digest story was done while he was on the staff of the U. S. Forest Products Laboratory, Madison, Wis., where he was employed before joining the State College faculty July 1, 1959.

Lloyd Stouffer, writer of the Reader's Digest article, said scientists "are producing wood that won't burn; wood that won't shrink, swell or warp; wood that defies termites and decay."

By removing chemicals from wood, the scientists, Stouffer reports, "are creating a wide variety of commercial products—yeast, alcohol, adhesives, plastics—even the vanilla flavoring for your ice cream."

In discussing Dr. Stamm's

achievements, the writer states that the State College professor developed a process which produces "a wood so stable that it is used to make die models for automobile bodies."

In another process developed by Dr. Stamm, wax is diffused throughout the wood, making wood a more useful product. Re-

Physics Prof. Speaks At Boston College

A State College professor will deliver a series of lectures at Boston College May 2-3.

He is Dr. Arthur W. Waltner, professor of physics at State College, who will lecture there under the auspices of the American Association of Physics Teachers as part of a broad, nation-wide program to stimulate interest in physics.

Now in its third year, the program is supported by the National Science Foundation.

Lectures, informal discussions, assistance to faculty members with curriculum and research problems in physics, and talks with students will be among Dr. Waltner's activities while at Boston College.

A native of Kansas, Dr. Waltner received his A.B. degree from Bethel College. He was awarded the M.S. degree by Kansas State College and the Ph.D. degree by the University of North Carolina.

Candidate I. Beverly Lake Presents Campaign Views

By Frank Justice

Dr. I. Beverly Lake spoke at the College Union on Friday, April 8, at 8:00 P.M. in the ballroom, the second candidate for the office of governor of the state of North Carolina to be a guest of the College Union Forum Committee. Fred Toms, chairman of the Forum Committee, called the program a great success, and expects good attendance to the third program in the series, a speech by Malcolm Seawell.

The guest speaker, Dr. Lake, was introduced by Miss Kim Morgan of the Forum Committee. She pointed out that Dr. Lake had been Assistant Attorney General for North Carolina from 1952 through 1955, and from 1932 through 1951 had been a professor of law at Wake Forest College, and in 1947 had received the degree of Doctor of Law from Columbia University after he had published a book on law.

Dr. Lake opened his talk with a summary of why he wanted to run, in twenty-five words. He stated that the policies the administration will make in the next few years will have a far-reaching effect for North Carolina, and that he wanted to assure the children of today a future free from strife between races in this state. He felt that the greatest need was tolerance in leadership. He stated that he definitely believed that there was no place for moderation in important decisions in government, and that the next government of the state would have to make forceful decisions instead of drifting along. He gave his ideas on North Carolina's leadership among the states: that it was science or industries or good roads that made a state a leader, but the strength of the people in the state.

The school program was one of the main topics in Dr. Lake's speech. He stated that the schools would have to be improved, even though this might mean a greater tax burden on the people. He explained that under the present system money was coming in this year from one source that would be non-existent next year, and that the present school program could not be continued unless North Carolina had a boon in business, which seems very unlikely. It was his feeling that the present moderate administration was carrying on a ruinous program, and that there could be no "Hold the line" program for next year. Dr. Lake stated that his main objectives were to improve the present pupil to teacher ratio, to do something about the present system of social promotion because it is a handicap to the student who loafs in later life, and to free the teacher to teach. It is his objective to make appropriations to improve the pupil to teacher ratio first and then try to get clerical help for teachers. Then he would try to get teachers salaries adjusted on the same basis as other state employees' salaries.

One of the main problems facing the school system right now is the segregation issue, in Dr. Lake's opinion. He stated as an example the condition of the schools in Washington, D. C., which had steadily declined in the past few years because of the prejudice of parents. He blamed all of the trouble on the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, stating that that organization wished only the complete obliteration of heredity between the two races.

He called the white people who aided N.A.A.C.P. "carpet-baggers", and stated that this organization was deliberately stirring up trouble by attacking the rights of businessmen in the recent lunch counter situation. He feels that the Negroes and the White race are and should be friends, but that there must be a completely separated school system for each, and that the rights of the businessmen must be upheld at all costs. He said that he would fight against any Supreme Court decision that was not in the best interests of the people of North Carolina on this issue, but that he would follow the Constitution of the United States to the letter.

After the main body of his talk, Dr. Lake attempted to answer the many questions of his audience. He stated that he would see that the legislature was reapportioned in representation according to population.

Veterans' Corner

By Wayne Philbeck

No, the hot and humid weather you've experienced this month is not entirely attributable to Mother Nature! A portion of this heat wave is a result of the recent activities of the Veterans' Association. Beginning with Carnival Weekend earlier this month, the Veterans' Association was awarded its very first trophy! This award commended the Association for having built and sponsored the MOST ORIGINAL BOOTH during Carnival Weekend.

It is with great pride that I announce the winning of two more trophies by the Association. The first of these was awarded to the Association for making the largest per capita contribution to the Campus Chest Drive. The second trophy was presented to the organization sponsoring the winner of the Beautiful Legs (BLIT) contest.

The Association is proud to have sponsored the winner, Susan McGough, wife of Mac McGough, who is an active member of the Association. Congratulations to Susan for having the Best Legs In Town and for winning the $200 worth of prizes donated by local merchants.

Veterans, the NEW LOOK continues to grow! Do you belong to the NEW LOOK? Do you own a ceramic missile nose cone? If you don't, you may become the talk of your community!

Last Friday night was elections night for the Association; a commendable slate of officers was elected to lead the Association to greater achievements during the next school year. The new officers who assumed their duties at the meeting last Friday night are President Bill Land, a rising sophomore in Engineering Physics; Vice-President "Gabe" Hartsell, a senior in Mechanical Engineering; Treasurer Harold Eskridge, a rising senior in Nuclear Engineering; Auditor Carlton Carver, a rising junior in Electrical Engineering; Recording Secretary Darwin McCombs, a rising senior in Mechanical Engineering; and Corresponding Secretary Wayne Philbeck, a rising senior in Engineering Mathematics. New committee chairmen will be appointed by the President in the near future.

The next meeting of the Association is scheduled for Friday night, May 6th in the College Union. At this meeting the Nominations Committee will present the names of eligible faculty members to be considered for the position of Faculty Advisor to the Association. The Association has been without a Faculty Advisor since the untimely death last month of Mr. Clarence Bomar.

Also at this meeting plans for the annual spring picnic will be announced and discussed. The special program for this meeting will be announced in next week's column.

By the way, veterans, it has been called to my attention that there is a popular misconception around campus as to the requirements of becoming a member of the Veterans' Association. In order to clear up this misconception, allow me to quote Article III, Section 1, of the newly adopted constitution of the Association:

"Any student of North Carolina State College who is on active duty in the Armed Forces of the United States of America, or who shall have been discharged separated, or released therefrom under honorable or general conditions, shall be considered for membership."

This does not imply that a veteran must be receiving the G. I. Bill in order to become a member. All non-member veterans are invited to attend the last two meetings of the Association for this year and observe first-hand the operation of the most active organization on campus. Then during registration this fall, we would like for you to become a member of our Association. Our last two meetings will be May 6th and May 20th. See you there.

Now I would like to re-emphasize and correct a statement made in an earlier column concerning dress to Association meetings. The statement as previously printed concerned a new by-law adopted by the Association. It read "Preferred dress for Association meetings is semi-formal." The statement as it stands is incorrect. It should read "Business dress is the preferred dress for Association meetings."

Say, veterans, do you have an opinion you would like aired? Do you have some complaint (or compliment) about campus life that you would like to make? Do you have a suggestion for a worthwhile project that the Veterans' Association might undertake? If you do, call me at TEmple 29884 and let's talk about it.

Dormitory Drivel

By Larry Wright

Some time ago the United States Air Force was elevated into the national spotlight by its controversial manual which claims that certain religious organizations are Communist infiltrated. The National Council of Churches of Christ protested very strongly to this accusation. Was the Air Force Manual right? Let's see.

It is an established fact that over 2100 Methodist ministers, 1400 Protestant Episcopal Rectors, and 600 Presbyterian clergymen have pro-Communist records. Rather shocking isn't it?

In 1958 the National Council of Churches had a meeting in Cleveland, Ohio. Of the 600 delegates that attended, 200 were clergymen. More than half of these clergymen have records showing that they are now affiliated with fronts which are pro-Communist or have at one time been associated with such fronts. These delegates are in favor of diplomatic recognition of Red China. All 600 of these delegates voted for diplomatic recognition of Red China by the United States. The National Council is the strongest force in America that advocates recognition for Red China. They also have a powerful lobby in Washington which advocates Socialism.

If the National Council of Churches is not Communist infiltrated, pro-Communist, or against American principals and rights, why was it branded as being subversive by the Naval Intelligence in 1935 when the Council was known as the Federal Council of Churches? Why should this organization protest when religious organizations are accused of being Communist infiltrated?

The copyright to the Revised Standard Version of the Bible is owned by the National Council of Churches. They know, and many other people know, that thirty of the ninety-five scholars who prepared this version are associated with Communist fronts. With this fact in mind, it is not surprising that many people still refuse to accept this new version.

Perhaps the National Council should explain why some of its Bishops and theologians are teaching Marxian theory, associating with Communist fronts,

Department Head Featured In Mag.

Dr. Edward M. Schoenborn, head of State College's Department of Chemical Engineering, is featured in an article appearing in the current issue of the Du Pont Engineering News magazine.

The State College professor is in Wilmington, Del., on leave of absence for the current academic year to participate in the Du Pont Company's "Year in Industry" program.

In addition to his regular assignment with the Du Pont Company, Dr. Schoenborn has taken an active part in an after-hours seminar program. The two-fold aim of the program is to help practicing chemical engineers from three divisions of the company brush up on the mathematics and thermodynamics involved in phase equilibria

Acting C. E. Head Gets $66,599 Grant For Basic Research

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has awarded a research grant of $66,599 to Dr. Kenneth O. Beatty, Jr., acting head of the Department of Chemical Engineering at State College.

Announcement of the three-year grant was made today by the college's Engineering Research Department under which Dr. Beatty's project will be administered.

The chemical engineering professor's research work will be a continuation of previous investigations on condensation of vapors in a centrifugal force field.

Dr. Beatty explained that "the absence of significant gravitational force in space ships or satellites requires that some artificially-produced force field be generated for the removal of condensate from heat transfer surfaces in such vehicles."

He also pointed out that air conditioning, power generation, and moisture recovery in space vehicles are all critical problems involving condensation heat transfer.

Work already completed by Dr. Beatty and his co-workers has shown that centrifugal force can be used very effectively to maintain high rates of condensation without the need for a gravitational field.

In the three-year program being supported by NASA the work will be extended to include condensation of vapors mixed with large quantities of inert gases such as air.

A pair of Corvairs recently recorded 27.03 and 26.21 miles per gallon in the 2,061.4-mile Mobilgas Economy Run. That's certified proof that Corvair skimps on gas costs. It saves other ways, too. Corvair is the only U. S. compact car that never needs antifreeze or costly radiator repairs. Come in and drive the compact car that outdoes them all.

Things Corvair gives you that America's other compact cars can't:

Practically flat floor... real foot room for the man in the middle. Fold-down rear seat gives 17.6 cu. ft. of extra storage space. Four-wheel independent suspension for a smoother, flatter ride.

Rear-engine traction... that comes with the engine's weight bearing down on the rear wheels.

You probably realize already that the mileage figures Corvairs recorded in the Mobilgas Run are higher than the average driver can expect. But because the cars met every kind of driving condition—rugged mountain grades, long country straightaways, congested city traffic—those mileage figures prove Corvair's inherent ability to save. Operating costs take a nose dive the day you take delivery of a Corvair.

Sigs Swing At Cavalier Hotel

The 1960 Sigma Chi Sweetheart Ball, Delta Epsilon Chapter's finest and largest blast of the year, remained among the tops in fraternity parties as the Sig Socialites returned from a weekend of party, party, party.

The Ball all started when convoys of cars came wheeling up to the Cavalier Hotel at Virginia Beach last Friday. Taking only enough time to get the bags in and the rooms assigned, the first in a series of "winner-type" parties began. The Cavalier Combo gave the sounds, and they were doing fine until they played the Cha Cha Cha, when "Willie" Morrison slipped and fractured his arm, trying to dance. Seeing "Willie's" condition reminded everyone to watch their step.

At 10:00 o'clock Saturday morning a delicious "eye-opening" breakfast was served, starting with tomato juice. After the breakfast had settled, everyone began rushing for the beach to bake in the hot sun.

That afternoon, a party began beside the pool at the hotel, and all the Sigs, Sig Alumni, Chaperones, and guests lingered and dinner banquet. After enjoying a fine meal, master of ceremonies, Penn Cassels introduced the guest speaker, Lindsay Whichard of the English Department, who gave a tremendously enjoyable speech. President Rolfe Reusing then gave a few words of cheer.

The climax of the weekend came at 10:45 when the Sweetheart Court was called in front of the bandstand and the lovely ladies presented a bouquet of red roses. Mrs. Jeannie Locke, last year's Sweetheart, presented Miss Jenny Temple with a crown of white roses and a sash with the inscription "1960 Sweetheart of Sigma Chi". All the Sigs moved to the front to serenade the new Sweetheart.

Following the crowning of the Sweetheart, the newly pinned were serenaded on the balcony of the Cavalier Hotel overlooking the pool. After the serenade the party returned to the dance floor, where the band continued until one.

The partying finally saw its ebb, and smiles on the faces of two of the organizers of the 1960 Sweetheart Ball; Jerry Austin, Chairman of the Sweetheart Ball, and Doug Angel, Social Chairman.

Army ROTC Team Wins Simonson Rifle Match

The Simonson Rifle Match was held on the campus of State College April 9, placing the N. C. State Varsity, Army ROTC, and Air Force ROTC teams in competition. The Army team fired a score of 1376 out of the possible 1500 to take first place. The Air Force team came second with a 1320, and the varsity tallied 1293.

High scoring honors for the match went to Reid Hinson, of the Army team, with a 283. Banks, for the Air Force, and Moody, of the varsity, received individual honors with a 276

The members of the winning Army team are Herr, Pindell, Russell, Barrier, and Hinson. The team received the first-place trophy from Col. and Mrs. Purcell, donors of the match awards, who traveled from Washington, D. C., for the occasion.

Army team member Bill Herr recently gained a position on the All-State ROTC Team. This distinction ranks him with the top five collegiate marksmen in the North Carolina. Tom Buchanan and Herr were medal winners at the ROTC Invitational at Chapel Hill last month. The

Lucky Strike's Dr. Frood declares:

Graduation is all a matter of degree

Dear Dr. Frood: I'm working my way through college. I have delivered newspapers, worked as an usher in the local movie theater and rolled bandages for the school infirmary. What can my college life possibly prepare me for?

Beaver

Dear Beaver: Publishing, motion pictures, medicine.

Dear Dr. Frood: I am about to graduate top girl in my class. I have decided to take up a career, rather than squander my intellectual achievements on bawling babies, dreary housework and a sloppy husband. Don't you think I have made the right decision?

Smart Gal

Dear Smart: I do, and I feel safe in saying that I make that statement on behalf of every man in America.

Dear Dr. Frood: What a mess I have made out of college! I am flunking out because I have been so lazy. I can't get a job because I have made such a poor record. I have no friends because I have no college spirit. What is there left for me?

Chastened

Dear Chastened: You can always serve as a horrible example.

Dear Dr. Frood: I was outraged to learn that a rich, spoiled senior is planning to give sports cars as graduation presents to all the friends he has made in college. Is there any action I should take?

Dean

Dear Dean: Give him a big smile, put your arm around his shoulders and say, "How're things, pal?"

Dear Dr. Frood: In the past four years, I feel that I have become a wiser and better man. How much do I owe to my college for this?

Grateful

Dear Grateful: Shhh! Somebody must have forgotten to send you the bill.

Dear Dr. Frood: The older generation claims college life is too soft. Just a lark. Well, I am finishing four years, and look! The day I enrolled in college, the photo-

Serious Student

Dear Serious: Just what we've said all along. Parties, parties, parties!

Dear Dr. Frood: Yesterday I visited my boy friend and I saw two Lucky Strikes burning in an ash tray. One had lipstick! Was I right in slapping him in the face and leaving the room?

Scorned

Dear Scorned: No. Why get jealous just because other girls smoke the same brand you do?

STUPID

Dear Stupid,

Free tuition, meals, laundry, spending money, new car, poop on quizzes, and they call you stupid. ha!

I AM A COED. NO ONE WILL DATE ME. WHAT CAN I DO?

Dear Mary Ann,

You think you've got problems. Hell, there ain't a female penguin within two hundred miles. Try this; put a bag over your head, and walk nude through the dorms. If this doesn't work, put on webbed feet and a tuxedo, and call me.

No play in the history of our theater so refuted the theories of "what can succeed" as did the Elia Kazan production of Archibald MacLeish's "J. B." "J. B.", called "A theatrical thunderbolt" by Newsweek, is a Biblical story, in blank verse, a play about faith, about suffering, about God. Nevertheless, "J. B." is a modern play, as warm as a Thanksgiving dinner, and as universally poignant as the birth of a child.

Archibald MacLeish, one of the United States' most famed poets, graduated from Yale University and the Harvard Law School. MacLeish has held the position of Assistant Secretary of State. The outstanding poetry of this author was twice awarded with Pulitzer Prizes before he received an unprecedented third Pulitzer Prize for "J. B."

We all have our little shortcomings, don't we.

My girl will not drink because she says that her house-mother smells her breath every time she comes in. What can she do to remedy this?

Wondering

Dear Wondering,

Tell your girl not to brush her teeth for about two weeks, eat onions and garlic, and grow fungus in her mouth. This will stop the housemother from smelling her breath. But don't ask me how you will be able to stand her yourself—you can't have everything.

DEAR PENGUIN:

I do everything to try to get my boy friend to notice me. I have a fairly nice figure (38-22-36), good looks, money, and personality. People tell me I look like Liz Taylor, but he pays no attention to me. What is the matter with him?

Dear Frustrated,

Forget it, man, he is dead.

DEAR PENGUIN:

COLLEGE: THE FOE OF EDUCATION

In your quest for a college degree, are you becoming a left specialist, or are you being educated in the broad, classical sense of the word? This question is being asked today by many serious people—including my barber, my podiatrist, and my little dog Spot—and it would be well to seek an answer.

Let us examine our souls. Are we becoming experts only in the confined area of our majors, or does our knowledge range far and wide? Do we, for example, know who fought in the battle of Salamis, or Kant's epistemology, or Planck's constant, or the voyage of the Beagle, or Palestrina's cantatas, or what Wordsworth was doing ten miles above Tintern Abbey?

If we do not, we are turning, alas, into specialists. What, then, can we do to escape this strait jacket, to broaden our vistas, lengthen our horizons, to become, in short, educated?

Well sir, the first thing we must do is throw away our curricula. Tomorrow, instead of going to the same old classes, let us try something new. Let us think of college, not as a rigid discipline, but as a kind of vast smorgasbord, with all kinds of tempting intellectual tidbits to sample and savor. Let us dive in. Let our pent-up appetites roam and snatch where they will.

Let us examine our souls.

We will start the day with a stimulating seminar in Hittite artifacts. Then we will go over to marine biology and spend a happy hour with the mollusks. Then we will open our pores by drilling with the ROTC for a spell. Then we'll go over to journalism and scramble a font of Bodoni. Then we'll go to the medical school and palpate a few spleens. Then we'll go to home economics and have lunch.

And between classes we'll smoke Marlboro Cigarettes. This, let me emphasize, is not an added filip to the broadening of our education; it is an essential. To learn to live richly and well is an important part of education, and Marlboros are an important part of living richly and well. Do you think flavor went out when filters came in? Well, ha-ha, the joke is on you. Marlboro, with its Selectate filter, delivers flavor in full measure, flavor without stint or compromise, flavor that wrinkled care derides, flavor holding both its sides. This triumph of the tobaccoist's art comes to you in soft pack or flip-top box and can be lighted with match, lighter, candle, Welsbach mantle, or by rubbing two small Indians together.

When we have embarked on this new regimen—or, more accurately, lack of regimen—we will soon be studded with culture like a ham with cloves. When strangers accost us on the street and say, "What was Wordsworth doing ten miles above Tintern Abbey?" we will no longer sink away in silent abashment. We will reply loud and clear:

"As any truly educated person knows, Wordsworth, Shelley, and Keats used to go the Widdicombe Fair every year for the poetry-writing contests and three-legged races, both of which they enjoyed wildly. Well sir, imagine their chagrin when they arrived at the Fair in 1776 and learned that Oliver Cromwell, jittery because Guy Fawkes had just invented the spinning jenny, had canceled all public gatherings, including the Widdicombe Fair and Liverpool. Shelley was so upset that he drowned himself in the Bay of Naples, Keats went to London and became Samuel Johnson, and Wordsworth ran blindly into the forest until he collapsed in a heap ten miles above Tintern Abbey. There he lay for several years, sobbing and kicking his little fat legs. At length, peace returned to him. He composed himself and, noticing for the first time the beauty of the forest around him, he wrote Joyce Kilmer's immortal Trees... And that, smartypants, is what Wordsworth was doing ten miles above Tintern Abbey."

© 1960 Max Shulman

Poets and peasants alike know that if you like mildness but you don't like filters, you can't do better than Marlboro's companion cigarette—Philip Morris.
