Koszarsky Scores First Pack TD

By Benny Pearce

For three quarters of a football game Saturday it appeared as if the Wolfpack were going to bring back a football victory for the many fans back home. State had gained an early first half field goal and had led the boys of Wyoming to a good half. The score remained 14-14 for most of the third period but when Wyoming picked up two more points shortly before the period ended when a Wolfpack snapper was downed on the end of zone. There was an attempt to get the ball to Dave Houts, punting specialist of the Wolfpack. Wyoming scored their final touchdown with 6:16 left in the game. The Romney boys retreated possession of the ball on an interception pass and then proceeded to run out the clock to preserve their victory.

State got off to a bad start Saturday when Frank Palamandrini kicked off for the Pack, Wyoming taking the ball on their 14 and running to back to their 30. The Cowboys proceeded to move the ball down field under the capable direction of Chuck Lason. They moved the ball as far as the Wolfpack 13 before Mike Schutte fumbled and Don Montgomery recovered on the State 13.

The Pack took over and after a couple of running plays to get the ball to the 15, sophomore Dave Houts came in and got off one of the longest punts in Wolfpack history. He quick-kicked the ball from his own 15 to the three yard line of the Wyoming 53 yard line.

Roman Gabriel took over and moved the ball to the Cowboys' eight yard line with a 14-yard screen pass to Mike Clark being the key play. Jake Shaffer came in to attempt a field goal, but his attempt was blocked due to bad snapping from center.

Wyoming took over the ball on their own 30, but on the first play Benning fumbled and Bill Leidever recovered on the Cowboys 25.

Gabriel took over and completed a 12 yard pass to John Gill. After three plays failed to pick up yardage, Jake Shaffer once again came in to try a field goal.

Parking Reassignments Made In Disputed Areas

The empty parking spaces on campus will soon be filled.

Mr. N. B. Watts, Student Housing, told The Technician that several new parking spaces have been assigned to students. He explained this by saying that in order for all members of the community-faculty, staff, and student-to have parking spaces which would be close to their work or housing area, it would be advisable to assign the parking places to staff members who are presently working across the railroad tracks.

He also explained that the number of parking places in each of the areas were decided by a number of factors, including the distances that one has to walk from the parking places to the respective buildings. In a survey taken by the Technician earlier in the week, it was found that there are approximately six empty parking spaces in the freshman area, and thirty-one in the syme area. According to Watts, the changes should nearly fill all these spaces.

One of the largest pieces of equipment in the Nuclear Physics headquarters (located in the Nuclear Science Building) is a gamma-ray spectrometer. In this instrument, the markings of incoming electrons ejected by a reaction are registered and the distances that one has to walk from the parking places to the respective buildings.

Final Tailley 15-14

Cowboys Corral Wolfpack In Second Half Roundup

By Benny Pearce
Sports Editor

The Cowboys have been playing well in recent games and have not lost a game since then. The Wyoming men were well matched with the Cowboys and had a few breaks in the game. They are currently in the lead with a score of 15-14 as of this moment.
Although we had two good ones for tonight; but, happily, we found out that they were not exposed. Frankly, we say "happily!" is that, although we would love to have an interesting story, we would rather know that our school is doing a competent job of correcting situations which do not appeal to the students.

The two main points with which students have been most dissatisfied this year are the parking situation, which has increased the higher prices which are being charged in the college cafeteria.

Armed with a notebook and pencil, and planning to gather statistics to throw on the Traffic Committee, we went to all the parking places on campus. We found many empty spaces and thought that we finally had our "Big Story." When we talked to the people in charge, however, we found that we had been anticipated and that the empty spaces had been reassigned. Although we did not get the parking spaces for students beside Syme that we desired, we were shown that the revised plan was a fair and logical way to solve the parking problems. It is the way that is fairest to all concerned, and if we are to be logical, we must accept it.

The prices at the cafeteria are comparable to the parking situation. When we questioned the managers, we found that plans are already underway to lower food prices by offering special "deals" (see story page 1). Since the present managers have been connected with it for such a short time, we will accept their word that adjustments are being made which will go into effect as soon as it is possible.

As long as the governing bodies will work to correct oversights, we will not find fault, but we are still in search of the "Big Story." Watch out.

A Perfect Reason

When the Visiting Committee of the Board of Trustees came to State last spring, one of their main recommendations was that adequate housing should be provided for the coeds.

A column on this page which was written by a coed shows how badly this facility is needed. There is no point in our trying to add to or reiterate what someone else has already said, but we feel that this is something that should receive much consideration.

Just think, proper housing facilities will draw more coeds. Is this not a sufficient reason?
