Khrushchev Threatens War In Intemperate Speech

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., UPI—Premier Nikita Khrushchev Tuesday night made the stormiest and most intemperate speech of his United Nations visit, taunting the United States with a lack of "guts" and warning delegates they would die themselves in another war.

Khrushchev was stung into a fish-waving, shouting speech by the words of Ambassador James J. Wadsworth of the United States.

Wadsworth had told the General Assembly earlier Tuesday the U. S. was prepared to discuss disarmament immediately but not in a "table thumping propaganda" spectacle of heads of government as proposed by Khrushchev.

Khrushchev Tuesday night exercised the right of reply and, at the start, he was calm.

But he quickly discarded the one single sheet of paper he had brought to the rostrum and, his face red with emotion went into a tirade that left delegates stunned with its rudeness and challenge.

The words of the American delegate does not scare Communists, he shouted.

Soviets Ready For War
"You haven't got the guts to do it."

If the West wants war, Khrushchev shouted, the Soviet Union is ready for it.

"In our country rockets are coming out like sausages," he said.

He pointed a finger at the delegates in the assembly hall. If a conflict comes, he told them, few of those sitting there would survive it.

"If anyone," he added. Khrushchev said the previous proceedings in disarmament committees were like "meetings in a stable of horses and they had the smell of it."

The Soviet Premier said he had revolted at the spectacle of Americans chewing gum. He said he understood there was also a saying of "chewing the rag" and he wanted no part of it.

Referring to Wadsworth's calm speech, Khrushchev said he could not pronounce the American ambassador's "strange" name but that while the delegates might get "soothing" words from Wadsworth, they would get "pinched awake by Khrushchev."

Shouts At Khrushchev
When Khrushchev walked back to his seat directly behind the Spanish delegation, one of the Spaniards turned around and shouted in his face. It appeared for a moment the two men might come to blows and all eyes in the hall were focused on them. Khrushchev shouted, then took his seat.

Wadsworth walked slowly to the rostrum. His voice was low. He said he could pronounce Khrushchev's name. Then in unemotional tones, he said:

"If the intervention we have just heard from the representative of the Soviet Union is typical of what he would have to say in a disarmament debate, that is all the more reason it should not be held in this chamber." And after that, the United Nations defeated Khrushchev's proposal to move disarmament discussion into the main assembly.

The vote was 54 to 13, with 31 nations abstaining.

Khrushchev, who this week disclosed he planned to leave for home Thursday night, said he was prepared to cancel his plans and remain until agreement could be reached on disarmament.

He said Russia would take part in the political committee debate at the start, and indicated that it would also participate in small-committee talks if five neutralist powers were added to the 10 from East and West in the Geneva group last year.

But he made it clear that Russia reserved the right to walk out at any moment.

Lapsed Into Vulgarisms
Russia had formally proposed a resolution adding five neutralist powers to the East-West evenly-divided committee whose talks at Geneva collapsed last June when Valerian A. Zorin, now Soviet ambassador here, led a Communist walkout just as the West was about to introduce new disarmament proposals.

A. F. Fails In Launch Attempt Of First Samos Spy Satellite

Gavin Promises New Prosperity For Eastern N.C.
KINSTON, N. C., (UPI) — Republican gubernatorial nominee Robert Gavin wooed eastern North Carolina voters tonight with the promise that he would not forget that section if elected governor.

"You people are counted safe for the Democratic Party just as the south is counted safe for the Democratic Party," he said in a speech prepared for delivery at a GOP rally. "And because you are counted before you vote, you get nothing."

He said he would concentrate on the east and far west, adding "the east must regain its stature of a hundred years ago. It must regain its lost prosperity."

"In the industrial relocation, the good salesman gets the plum. The state has gotten many plums but too often they have not been in the neglected areas of the east where the income is most needed.

A. F. Fails In Launch Attempt Of First Samos Spy Satellite

The Air Force could offer no immediate explanation for the failure, but was attempting to find out what went wrong. The shot appeared completely successful when the giant bird boomed off the launch pad shortly after noon PST.

The cigar shaped, two-ton satellite, carrying test photographic equipment in its nose, was blasted aloft atop a 77-foot Atlas D intercontinental missile at 12:33 p.m. PST 4:33 p.m. EDT.

The 95-foot rocket vehicle roared straight up from its pad into a clear blue sky and rose until only its tail flame appeared as a brilliant light before turning southward to streak over the South Pole. The Atlas bellowed a mighty roar and sent waves of sound crashing over the surrounding hills.

Within 45 minutes after the Samos lifted into the sky—looking like a giant soda pop bottle—the Air Force announced the second stage had fired successfully.

Christened Launching Center
Dubbed Samos I-satellite and missile observation system—it was the experimental forerunner of satellites devised to photograph military installations around the world.

The Air Force firing christened the nation's third satellite launching center, the U. S. Naval Missile Facility, located on a jutting section of coast about five miles south of the Vandenberg Air Force Base launch pads.

Samos was aimed to enter a North-South orbit, some 300 miles above the earth. In such an orbit, with the globe turning beneath it, a satellite could photograph every foot of the earth's surface.

The launching could raise the hottest international political implications since the U. S. admitted earlier this year that it had used U2 observation planes for spy missions over Red territory.

As yet there has been no international agreement regarding "overflights" of satellites of any kind.

Can Scan Earth
Samos was the first military reconnaissance satellite capable of scanning the entire earth. Two Midas — missile defense alarm system — Satellites have been launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., but not in polar orbit.

The recent Tiros weather satellite transmitted thousands of pictures to earth, some of them presumably taken over Russia, but official announcements indicated they did not have the sharpness necessary to record more than cloud cover.

Stern U. S. Threatens Withdrawal From U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., UPI—The United States warned Tuesday it might withdraw from the United Nations if a warlike Red China were seated and then went on to hand a stinging defeat to Nikita Khrushchev on his pet subject, disarmament.

Khrushchev, stung by U. S. rejection of his proposal for a special General Assembly session on disarmament next spring, reacted with one of his most violent diatribes, sprinkled heavily with vulgarisms.

The assembly, by a vote of 62 to 12 with 24 abstentions, approved its steering committee's recommendation — opposed by Khrushchev — to send the arms question to its 99-nation political committee for preliminary des-

Comments From The Editor Support Needed

What is wrong with the cheerleaders at State College? That is a question that has been brought up by many people that have attended the football games this fall, involving State College.

As far as we are concerned, there is not a thing wrong with them. The trouble seems to fall on the shoulders of the student body. The cheerleaders can not lead a cheer if they do not have the backing of the students . . . and that is something that they have not had this year.

There has been many times during a game when the cheerleaders have gone through a cheer without a single student opening his or her mouth. This looks very bad for our school. As far as we are concerned, there is only one cheer that the students know . . . and that begins "Rip em up, tear em up, give 'em hell, State."

At the Carolina game the cheers that the cheerleaders used were distributed on sheets of paper throughout the stands. This helped some, but many of the students used these sheets as visors, to keep the sun out of their eyes.

We are going to Duke this weekend to play the biggest game of the whole season as far as we are concerned. There has been talk about us going to a bowl game this year if we continue our winning ways. A victory over Duke could be the key to our having a winning season. We have not beaten Duke since 1946.

The team is going to need all the support that it can get from the student body this weekend. Many students plan to make the trip to Duke this weekend. We are asking them to back the cheerleaders this weekend. We would also like to ask the cheerleaders to have the same handout sheets that they had at the Carolina game so the student body can follow them in the cheers.

Many people blame the cheerleaders . . . however, we feel that the blame lies with the student body. The cheerleaders can yell their heads off, but if the students do not yell along with them the cheerleaders are wasting their time.

We are asking the student body to back the cheerleaders all the way this weekend at Duke. The team deserves this support after the fine start that they have made, and the cheerleaders need your support too.

The cheerleading squad needs some improvement, we will agree, but the student body needs a lesson on how to cheer and support a winning football team !!

The Tar Heel On The Bar Room Floor

'Twas a nippy winter evening,
And a goodly crowd was there,
That well-nigh filled the slop shop

On Carolina's campus square.
And as the foam and dirty jokes
Came through the open door,
A vagabond crept slowly in
And stood upon the floor.

"Give me some suds—that's what I want,
For I'm out of money, you know . . .
But when I had the cash to treat
a gang

This hand was never slow.
Thank you. (siluurrpppp)
May Zen bless you one and all.
Next time I'm around this right
mad pad
I'll pay another call.
You've treated me pretty kindly,
So to entertain you I'll tell how
I became this wine-o stud
You see before you now.

"I was a way-out painter once;
Not one who hacks with brick and wood,
But an artist—and for my mental caliber

Was considered half-assed good.
I did a painting perhaps you've seen—called it
'She had a Coke-Bottle Frame'—
Although it brought me a few bucks,
It added dirt to my name.

"And then I met a woman,
(here is the funny part)
With eyes that stirred my very soul

And sank into my heart.
Did you ever see a broad
For whom your soul you'd give,
With a form like a playtex girl,
And too beautiful to live?

"Well, I was working on a portrait
One afternoon in May,
A picture of my friend from State
Who lived across the way.
Now my lover, she admired it,
And said, to my surprise,
She's like to meet the guy who
Had such bedroom eyes.
So I introduced her to my pal
from State,
And before that month had flown,
The Wolfpack had stolen my darling,
And I . . . was left alone.

"That's why I drink and hate
State, boys,
Say! I never saw you smile!
I thought you'd be amused
And laughing all the while!
What's the matter, friend?
There's a teardrop in your eye . . .
Come on, laugh, like me—
It's only babes and women that cry.

The purpose of THE TECHNICIAN is to serve the college administration, the faculty, and the student body by publishing three issues a week. In these issues are news events that take place on the State College campus, articles and editorials that are designed to improve the status of State College and its student body, and a complete coverage of international, statewide, and local news provided by United Press International wire service.

We are continuing operations much as they were in the past. Most of the organizations on campus have a reporter who relays news to THE TECHNICIAN. We are trying hard to increase the size of the staff this year. We feel with this increase more areas will be covered on the State College campus. We presently have members on the staff to cover the college administration, the Army and Air Force ROTC units, the Interfraternity Council, the Interdormitory Council, the College Union, and most of the athletic contests in which State College takes part.

For the past two years, we have mailed all editions of the newspaper to the faculty, off-campus students, and the staff of State College. We are continuing to do that this year also, as we feel it establishes better relations between the faculty and other people associated with the school and the students of this great institution.

The Board of Publications at State College has again continued helping THE TECHNICIAN operate on a firmer and better financial ground this year. We hoped to get an increase in the Student Activity Fee this year, since we were increasing our number of publications a week. We, however, did not receive that increase.

Last year we felt that a daily newspaper was out of the question for State College in the near future. This year we have made progress towards publishing a daily newspaper at State College by publishing THE TECHNICIAN three times a week, as compared with two times a week last year. This is the first time in the history of State College that THE TECHNICIAN has been published three times a week. We are still handicapped by our facilities and the physical aspects of the office in which we work. As was stated above, THE TECHNICIAN has a complete wire service through United Press International. This is a major step in having a daily newspaper at State College, since a wire service would be necessary with a daily newspaper.

As was stated above, we did not receive an increase in the Student Activity Fee. A student at State College will receive THE TECHNICIAN this year for $0.013 per issue. We are giving the student three issues a week for the same fee that he paid last year for two issues a week. If a daily newspaper is foreseen for State College, There Is Definitely Going To Be An Increase In The Student Activity Fee!

We hope that we can help the college more by publishing three issues a week. We hope that you can solicit any aid that will help us realize our aims this year. We also hope that a daily newspaper is not too far off in the distant future at State College.

Respectfully submitted,
Jay Brame, Editor

Boys, if you give me just another,
I tell you I'll be glad,
To draw a picture for you
Of the boy who made me mad.
Give me the piece of chalk
Which you use for the baseball score,
And you shall see that boy from State
Upon the barroom floor."

Then, after putting the last lock of hair
Upon the manly head,
He wrote under the picture "3-0"
And fell across the whole thing . . . dead !!

So ends another true story from the files of "Norwood." As a parting word for this week, I make a toast:
Here's to Eve, the mother of creation;
Who wore the leaves in the right location—
Here's to Adam, the father of us all,
Who was Johnny-on-the-spot when they began to fall!

Another drink, and then with chalk in hand,
The vagabond began
To draw a face that would bring fear
To the heart of any man.

Intramural Action Hits Halfway Mark

By Richie Williamson
Strong defensive play highlighted Monday's football play in the fraternity intramural league. Three previously unbeaten teams suffered their first losses of the season as the standings in each division tightened up. With these games the teams reached the halfway point of the season and are beginning to point for berths in the playoffs.

In division four, Sigma Alpha Mu stopped previously unbeaten Theta Chi by a 13-0 score. After a tight and scoreless first half, the Sammies opened up with their scoring punch. The first touchdown came on a 4-yard end run by Arnie Cohen, and then Cohen passed 17 yards to Richie Williamson for the second score. In the second game of the division, Lambda Chi smashed Phi Ep 27-6. Thornes tallied twice in pacing the victory while Neville and Thomas scored the other touchdowns for LCA. Lenney Tillman put across PEP's only T. D.

SPE remained unbeaten by downing Sig Pi 17-0. Huffman passed to Bill Biggerstaff for a second period score. In the third quarter Wagner intercepted a Sig Pi pass and returned it for a touchdown. SPE also pinned two safeties on Sig Pi to round out the scoring. PKT had to stave off a fourth quarter rally by Farm House to win 14-8. They scored what proved to be the winning score on a 12-yard pass from Bob Thorn to Eddie Edgar. Farm House crossed paydirt on a Jim Wright to Garland Purdue pass for six yards.

In one of the big games of the afternoon Sigma Chi edged Delta Sig by an 8-0 margin. Delta Sig, previously unscored upon, saw Bill Jordan of Sig Chi intercept a pass and turn it into a touchdown in the first period. A defensive battle took over from there as the only other score came on a safety in the second half. PKP got their first win of the season on a 12-0 victory over PKA. PKP scored two second-half touchdowns, one by Johnson and the other by Morris, as they were offensively led by Jerry Crabtree.

The closest division race is in division #2, where KA stopped SAE, and Kappa Sig beat TKE to make it a three-way tie for first place. KA's defense was particularly strong in keeping SAE scoreless. KA pushed across two first-half T. D.'s to give them the 12-0 win. Kappa Sig and TKE had a real battle with the only score coming in the second quarter on a Kappa Sig pass to Durant Vick with Sherron adding the extra point for the 7-0 victory. The second half was a defensive standoff.

Niewierowski Elected Captain Of Wolfpack Basketball Team

By Richie Williamson
The State basketball team has elected Stan Niewierowski to captain them through the 1960-61 season. He steps into the spot previously held by Dan Englehardt. Niewierowski, a senior who hails from Brooklyn N. Y., has seen three years as a regular performer for coach Everett Case's Wolfpack.

Stan stands at 6'4" and weighs 200 pounds. In last year's action, he scored 159 points and really proved his ability under the boards by pulling down 131 rebounds. His favorite shots are the one-hand jump from anywhere on the floor and the two-hand set shot from around the foul circle. Case says of Niewierowski: "He will make a fine floor leader for the team this year."

The cagers have been loosening up daily at the gymnasium with regular practice getting underway on October 17.

Case has an excellent nucleus to form this year's starting five plus the bench strength which he so often calls upon for help in clutch situations. Returning

Coming up from last year's crack freshmen team are four boys who should push a lot of the regulars for their position. Leading this group is Jon Speaks, 6'1" from Lexington, Ky. who averaged over 20 points who will be fighting for a position include John Key, George Ken Rohloff, 6' guard; Pete Finnigan, Terry Litchfield, Auksel, 6'6" center; and John "Wheaties" Whitfield, and Pom Pungler, a 6'4" forward. Others Sincock.

ORGAN RECITAL—E. Power Biggs, world famous organist, will present an organ recital in the Duke Chapel on Sunday, October 16 at 4:00 p.m.

SALESMEN, SOLICITORS AND THIEVES—Each year a number of State College students living in dormitories and fraternity houses are relieved of a sizeable sum of money by confidence men operating in the guise of salesmen, saleswomen or solicitors. These men or women "sell" everything from insurance to cut-rate clothes. A confidence man always has a reasonable story. One had a forged letter from this office. To protect the student body, the College has ruled that there is to be no solicitation in any dormitory or fraternity house unless the solicitor has been approved by the Financial Aid Office (Dr. Johns, TE 4-5211, Ext. 460). When such permission is given, it is only to State College students and the student is required to wear a badge issued by that office. NO person who is not a student at State College can get a permit to solicit. If an unauthorized salesman comes to your door, notify your dormitory manager or call TE 4-5211, Extension 215, 370, or 460.

United States Threatens Withdrawal

bate. It rejected, 54 to 13 with 31 abstentions, Khrushchev's demand for a full-dress debate in the assembly immediately.

Compared To Stable

Khrushchev said he was prepared to defer his departure for Moscow—scheduled for Thursday night—and "sit here until agreement is achieved on disarmament." But he warned that Russia might walk out of the political committee debate.

He compared committees with a "stable of horses and all the smells in it."

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth, replying to Khrushchev's contention that the United States could not negotiate a disarmament pact now because it was hamstrung by its presidential elections, told the Russian "we are ready and have been ready—elections or no elections."

Khrushchev ranted against Wadsworth "whose name might break my tongue," he said for 22 minutes and declared at the height of the furor that the Western powers "have not got the guts" to scare Communist countries. Delivered Outside Assembly Wadsworth delivered his warning about Communist China outside the assembly at a luncheon meeting of the U. N. Correspondents Association. The U. S. attitude, he said, would depend on the Peiping government's attitude and whether it continues its "espousal of force as a national instrument."

"Whether the U. S. will be willing to sit in the same organization with a people who want to make war all the time, I am not sure," he said. "I think we will just have to wait and see." It was the first time a government official—and Wadsworth is a member of President Eisenhower's cabinet—had said the United States might quit the United Nations were Communist China to be seated.

"HOME SWEET HOMECOMING"

A great number of people have been asking me lately, "What is Homecoming?" but I have been so busy trying to find out why my new sports car leaks that I haven't had time to answer. I am now pleased to report that I finally discovered why my sports car leaks—I have been driving it upside down—and so I am ready today to turn my attention to Homecoming.

Let's begin with definitions. Homecoming is a weekend when old grads return to their alma maters to watch a football game, visit old classrooms and dormitories and inspect each other's bald spots.

The weekend is marked by the singing of old songs, the slapping of old backs and the frequent exchange of such greetings as "Harry, you old polecat!" or "Harry, you old porcupine!" or "Harry, you old rooster!" or "Harry, you old wombat!" As you can see, all old grads are named Harry.

It is not just old grads who behave with such liveliness during Homecoming; the faculty also comports itself with unaccustomed animation. Teachers laugh and smile and pound backs and keep shouting "Harry, you old Airedale!" This unscholarly behavior is carried on in the hope that old grads, in a transport of bonhomie will endow a new geology building.

The old grads, however, are seldom seduced. By game time on Saturday their backs are so sore, their eyeballs so eroded, their extremities so frayed, that it is impossible to get a kind word out of them, much less a new geology building.

Even the football game does not improve their tempers. "Hmmp!" they snort as the home team completes a 101-yard march to a touchdown. "Do you call that football? Why, back in my day, they'd have been over on the first down! By George, football was football in those days—not this namby-pamby girls' game that passes for football today! Take a look at that bench—50 substitutes sitting there. Why, in my day, there were 11 men on a team and that was it. When you broke a leg, they slapped a piece of tape on it and you went right back in. Why, I remember the big game against State. Harry Sigafos, our star quarterback, was killed in the third quarter. I mean, he was pronounced dead. But did that stop old Harry? Not on your tintype! Back in he went and kicked the winning drop kick in the last four seconds of play, dead as he was. Back in my day, they played football, by George!"

Everything, say the old grads, was better back in their day—everything except one. Even the most unreconstructed of the old grads has to admit that back in his day they never had a smoke like Marlboro—never a cigarette with such a lot to like—never a filter so easy drawing, a flavor so mild yet hearty, so abundant, so bountiful—never a choice of flip-top box or soft pack.

So old grads, young grads, and undergrads, why don't you settle back and have a full-flavored smoke? Try Marlboro, the filtered cigarette with the unfiltered taste; and Homecoming will be a happy occasion and the sun will shine and the air will be filled with the murmur of wings and no man's hand will be raised against you.
