For Presidency

Frosh Hopeful Vie

Parks Cobb

Charles McKissick

Parks Cobb, in announcing his candidacy for President of the Freshman Class, issued this statement to The Technician.

"As a candidate for the office of President, I set myself before you, the freshmen of N. C. State, to accept or reject my services. The office for which I am running demands your deepest attention as voters, and it is up to you to select the man best suited for the office and the one most willing to give of his time and talent in your interests.

"Before coming to State I held offices in high school and outside organizations; I feel that this experience and background qualify me for the office of President. I have served on Student Government and was a class officer my senior year. I have been president and vice-president of my church youth group.

"If you choose me for this important office, I will do everything in my power to make us the best freshman class ever to pass through State College; I will vigorously push every worthwhile campaign for the betterment of our school."

In announcing his candidacy for president of the freshman class, Charles McKissick made the following statement to The Technician.

"I am seeking the offices of freshman class president and engineering senator.

"I am acutely interested in student government and will carry out the duties of these offices with the viewpoints of the freshman class foremost in my mind. The freshman class, being the largest, deserves able representation and, if elected, I will always be available to listen to any and all ideas brought before me.

"Our class should take the initiative and instill a new spirit into State College. We should make ourselves heard and our influence felt. This can best be achieved through student government, which is only as effective as its officers. Consider these things carefully before submitting your ballots on Thursday. Your vote will be appreciated."

Interdormitory Ball Features Billy May's Band Saturday

FRANKIE LESTER

Billy May's well known band, with Frankie Lester, will provide the music and entertainment at the Interdormitory Ball which will be held from 8:00 to 12:00 p.m. Saturday night.

The dance will be held in the Coliseum, and dress will be formal. It has been announced that the Military Department has allowed students to wear their uniforms formally (White shirt and black bow tie) for this event.

Billy May has been showing off forward-looking musical ideas since the thirties, when he used to have jam session in an East Liberty bar with two Pittsburgh friends—Errol Garner, and a wiry boy named Billy Strayhorn, who became as well-known an arranger as Garner a show.

He himself has been a brass player since he began playing tuba as a boy. Billy was never really at home at the piano. "I play an arranger's piano—no-body can understand it," he says. And that may be, but no one has any trouble understanding his arrangements, which from the start have been not only fresh and inventive, but as solid and thoroughly grounded in technique as if he's spent some intensive years in conservatory study. When asked to account for his arranging and orchestral style, May has the amazingly casual answer that he just picked it up himself.

Some of his first arranging was done with Charlie Barnet's orchestra when he arranged the classics "Cherokee," "Redskin Rhumba," and "Pompton Turnpike." Later he joined the Glenn Miller Band to play trumpet and arrange. After the Miller organization broke up, Billy came to Hollywood where he was a trumpeter and arranger on some major network programs, among them the shows of Red Skelton and Bob Crosby. In addition to that, this talented artist was musical director on the popular Ozzie and Harriet

In the early part of 1951, Capitol Records decided to release a new dance album in which four bands were to perform selections in the style for which they were known.

Of the four, only one had not previously recorded the type of music planned for this album. This was the band to be conducted by Billy May.

carefree type, seemed unusually. In this particular case, Capitol wanted Billy to make four sides of music in 4/4 time for fox trot dancing, and on the basis of previous research, done with the help of the Arthur Murray schools, he was asked to prepare his music in such a way that it would be a mixture of the modern dance band approach and the "rockin'" Jimmy Lunceford two-beat style.

Everything to this point was pretty routine. Planning had taken its customary careful course, the selections of the songs had been made.

Then things began to happen. The session on which the Billy May sides were recorded was one of the most exciting Capitol had held since Stan Kenton's big band first rolled in from Balboa to record. Billy, normally the inspired and interested in what he was doing. The band felt it too. After only one "run-through" of the first number there were murmurs of great interest and enthusiasm and the pitch of excitement continued to rise throughout the session.

The initial preview outside the home office foreshadowed the public's national enthusiasm for Billy's fresh and humorous approach to popular music; there were raves from New York, Chicago, New Orleans until the reaction reached a fever pitch. The rest of the story is well known to every "Big-Band" enthusiast. Billy May was truly an "overnight hit." And like many other great personalities, he is an artist who has been in the entertainment business, perfecting his skill for many years, rather than a newcomer who "just got lucky."

All Juniors and Seniors in the Army ROTC and the Air Force ROTC who have not had their pictures made for the military section of the AGROMECK will have them made on Thursday, Oct. 20 in the College Union from 9-5:00. All members of the Pershing Rifles, Scabbard and Blade, and Air Society will also have their pictures made, at that time.

There will be an Agronomy Club meeting Thursday night at 7:00 in the McKimmon Room in William Hall. Everyone in Soils or Field Crops is cordially invited to attend. Initiation of new members will be held.

The Outing Committee of the C.U. is sponsoring a HAYRIDE this Friday night, Oct. 21. Only a limited number of couples can be accommodated so hurry and sign up by noon Thursday, Oct. 20. Those going meet at the C.U. 7:00 p.m. Friday.

There will be a meeting of the Senior class Thursday, October 20 at 6:00 p.m. in the College Union Theater. Several important issues will be discussed. All interested Seniors are encouraged to attend. (Meeting should last about 30 minutes.)

In view of the fact that a week has been allowed for a limited number of individual military pictures, Waller Studios has agreed to take class pictures on Thursday of this week at the College Union 9-5:00. If you have not had your class picture taken, please do so this week.

The Math Club will meet on Oct. 26 in Riddick room 242. Dr. A. C. Downing of Oak Ridge National Laboratories will speak on "Design of Iterative Algorithms For Digital Computations."

V P Nominee: Bill Lewis

Campaign managers for Bill Lewis, candidate for vice-president of the class of '64, today submitted the following statement to the "Technician" staff.

"Bill Lewis of Durham, freshman in Mechanical Engineering, is the boy to elect for Vice-President of the Freshman Class. Bill served for three years as a member of the Durham High School Student Government. In addition, he was president of the Spanish National Honor Society, Vice-President of the Math Club, and a member of the National Honor Society. Bill has a great desire to be elected and will do more than a creditable job if he is given the chance. He has pledged himself to help the elected president in any possible way, and he is confident that the Class of '64 can be the finest ever at State College."

Nixon, Kennedy Offer Strong Foreign Plan

MIAMI BEACH, UPI—Both presidential candidates promised a two-fronted U. S. foreign policy Tuesday in speeches before the annual American Legion convention, the nation's largest veterans group.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican nominee, called the regime of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro an "intolerable cancer" in the Western Hemisphere and said the United States "will very promptly take the strongest possible economic measures" against the island nation.

Democratic standard bearer John F. Kennedy said he "never believed in retreating under fire" and would not cut the nation's commitments in the world. "This," he said, "includes the Formosa Straits or anywhere else."

Strength Declines—Kennedy But Kennedy said relative American military strength has been on a sharp decline compared to that of the Communist world. Nixon disagreed, contending that while the nation cannot stand pat, it is obviously still the most powerful nation militarily and economically.

Kennedy was first to speak to the 9,000 delegates attending the 2,600,000-member veteran organization's 42nd annual convention. Nixon followed by about an hour.

Kennedy also touched on Cuba when he said international communism has been able to advance "until the Iron Curtain now rests on the island of Cuba."

"Cuba has been lost—for the time being I hope—to the Communists," he said.

Emphasize National Strength Both candidates dwelled heavily on national military strength.

But Nixon said "this is not the time to discuss these problems from a political standpoint."

He warned against turning any free world territory over to a Communist dictator. In an obvious reference to the defense of Quemoy and Matsu he said: "Where a Communist dictator is concerned you cannot draw a line and say this is an area we will exclude. They will push us across the line and you will have to draw it again."

Nixon also repeated his stand against admission of Red China to the United Nations, saying this country would be justified in using its veto in the Security Council if necessary.

Kennedy said no amount of oratory or claims "can hide the harsh fact that behind the rhetoric . . . American strength relative to that of the Soviet Union has been slipping, and communism has been advancing steadily in every area of the world."

He said it is on the military power front that the immediate danger to survival is greatest.

"We must build the military power necessary to keep our commitments and stop the next war before it starts," he said.

Kennedy called for a jet aircraft fleet, crash programs for the Polaris and Minuteman missiles and a reorganization of the Defense Department.

Key Clubbers Form New College Group

Students organizing the new Circle K Club at State issued this invitation:

"Attention all young men interested in becoming charter members of the N. C. State College Circle K Club. Our next meeting is tonight, Wednesday, October 19, and everyone is invited. The meeting will be in the Faculty Club Room of the College YMCA from 7:00 p.m. until 8:00 p.m. Circle K Clubs are to colleges what Key Clubs are to high schools, so we hope all you former Key Clubbers will become members. A charter will be sent in soon so don't wait—come tonight!"

Two Run For Treasurer Post

Pete McDonald

In an interview with a technician staff writer today, Joel Ray, former Sophomore Class Treasurer and member of Golden Chain, gave his personal endorsement to Pete McDonald from Thomasville, a student in mechanical engineering and candidate for the office of Freshman Class Treasurer.

Ray, speaking of McDonald, said, "In the few short months that I have known Pete, he has exhibited fully his excellence of character and great leadership potential. Having had much experience in student government and numerous other student organizations including the National Honor Society and having been Valedictorian of his graduating class, Pete is quite well qualified for this position. This is a man to keep your eye on; he will, if given the chance, be one of the future leaders of N. C. State College."

Jerry Williams

Jerry Williams, in announcing his candidacy for the office of Freshmen Treasurer, made the following statement.

"Are you ready for the big Freshman - Sophomore Ball? Probably not, since it isn't until next Spring. In fact the majority won't even be conscious of it until a few weeks before. But some of us will be planning and working all year. Dues have to be collected to finance the Ball and other activities of the Freshman Class. A budget has to be made. Bills must be paid.

"I think that I am capable of undertaking this task. I would like to have the job of Freshman class treasurer."

Notice

The Air Force Officer's Qualifying Test (AFOQT) will be given on Saturday, 22 October at 7:25 A.M. in Room 242, Riddick Hall.

This is an all day test and will end at approximately 4:20 P.M. Completion of the AFOQT is mandatory for all students desiring to enter the advanced AFROTC course which begins in September 1961.

All students who intend to take the test should print their names on the AFOQT roster which will be posted in the basement of Pullen Hall until October 19.

Editorial Comment Well, Cheers

We read with interest the letter to the editor which appeared in the Monday issue of The Technician concerning State College cheers, cheerleaders, etc. Our interest was twofold in that (1) the problem which was brought to mind was a good one and that (2) the writer was a coed. We hope that our lady students will feel free to continue expressing themselves on the issues which confront the student body.

It is definitely true that in order to look like a well-oiled machine, a cheering squad (or a football squad, or a drill team, or a basketball squad) must continually practice. And it is quite evident that our squad, which was only selected three weeks ago, must have had to do some tall practicing to learn the cheers in such a short time. One must remember that a student carrying twenty hours of technical courses should be commended for volunteering his services at the risk of much-needed study time, in the first place.

A check with the Cheerleader Selection Committee, appointed by Student Government, will show that in the eyes of the committeemen our present squad represents much more potential than our cheerleaders from previous years.

And although we don't see what difference the location of a student's home makes at all (whether he be campus politician, athlete, or newspaperman), something else should be said. We would urge our correspondent to look at the football roster and discover for herself the hometowns of our football players, if she's that interested. She might be pleasantly surprised.

But, of course, this is still no answer to the problem which is before us; let's look at things in the proper perspective before we start, however.

One very good suggestion was mentioned in the letter, and we certainly don't want to overlook it. Our writer's reference to the cheers we have used is a point well worth considering. Spectators at games involving Annapolis, West Point, and other schools noted for their cheering cannot help noticing the life, vigor, and originality in the cheers they use. It is natural that many students are not fired up by stereotyped chants and high schools cheers. The situation is not altogether the fault of the cheerleaders or the student body. Perhaps Student Government can take the ball from here and study our cheering problem. Some cool cheers would probably make the atmosphere at our events quite a bit more cheery.

A tip of the hat to our cheerleaders for their efforts on our behalf.

The Big Day

Tomorrow will be a big day for the freshman who have shown their interest in campus activities. It is unfortunate that all of the talent and desire represented by the posters, cards, and handshakes of the last few days cannot be utilized in the several student positions to be determined by the freshmen voters.

Freshman elections always creep up on everyone—especially the freshmen. Each vote in the hotly contested campaigns means a lot to the individuals involved, naturally. But the decisions which are made tomorrow are of even greater significance. The choices will determine to a large extent the initial status of the class of '64. And a good start is most important.

College life is the training ground for the men and women who will be the leaders of tomorrow. The interest of the freshmen class shown at the polls scattered throughout the campus tomorrow will reflect on the caliber of the class as a whole. For your own good, freshmen, make it a point to know your candidates . . . and vote.

May Shulman's Essays To Plague Us Again

Max is Back!

As Fall falls, college students will once again be assured that, along with lectures, finals, semi-finals, verbal quizzes, discussion periods they will be able to soak up the droll wisdom and witty advice of one of the country's leading humorists.

Shulman is busily turning out 26 more columns filled with sage advice and little known facts that are guaranteed to turn the squarest student into a well-rounded graduate.

Where else but in a Max Shulman column could the young seeker of knowledge find such a graphic definition of a "retort." Now in some circles, mainly those which revolve around the chemistry lab, a retort is considered some sort of a glass container for holding batches of weird acids and things. However, Max clarifies this immediately by the following example.

"Perhaps one of the most famous retorts ever made was delivered by none other than Noah Webster himself. It seems one day Mr. Webster's wife walked unexpectedly into Mr. Webster's office and found Mr. Webster's secretary sitting on Mr. Webster's knee. 'Why Mr. Webster,' cried Mr. Webster's wife, 'I am surprised.' 'No, my dear,' he replied. 'I am surprised, you are astonished.'"

In addition to such vital information, which is must equipment for anyone attending a campus gab session, Max will again bring students the knowledge he has gained through his association with Winko Sigafos, inventor of the hot water bottle; his brother Sam, inventor of the nostril; Lydia, son of Winko, and Cosmo, poet supreme.

Without the opportunity to refer to the wealth of information packed into "On Campus with Max Shulman" what student could make such a statement as this: "Whew! It's hotter than a lehr in here. Let's get our harquebuses and go out and shoot some girls." A lehr, as Max will tell you, is really an oven in which glassware is annealed; a harquebus is a portable firearm having a matchlock operated by a trigger and one of the many definitions of a girl is a roebuck in its second year.

For the college student struggling with the eternal triangle—in math class that is, trying to calculate calculus or who found himself dangling from his dangling participle, "Professor" Shulman's "On Campus" is must reading.

State Library Series Landed By Times Writer

Reprinted from The Raleigh Times
Sept. 12, 1960

The increasingly large place State College is holding in the life of North Carolina is demonstrated again in the calibre of the program arranged for this school year by the College Union Library Series. The speakers are all nationally known, John Dos Passor, Lawrence Feringhetti, John Ciardi, and Malcolm Cowley.

In presenting such men of letters to State College students and to the townspeople here, State College is doing its share in helping to broaden the lives of all concerned. It is demonstrating again its realization of the fact that a technical institution must educate its students in all phases of life, not just in the slide-rule precision of the technical world. It is demonstrating, too, that a college is a real part of the whole life of a state and of a community, and is not just something set apart from other people and other things.

The immense response given by the people of Raleigh and this whole area to last year's "Friends of the College" concert series at N. C. State was heartening to those who had jumped off the deep end to get the started. The fact that this area will support such an outstanding series was shown in the quick sell-out of tickets for this school year's programs.

State College's own band, orchestra and glee club have added much to the things which make Raleigh such a pleasant place to live. The coming of the Friends of the College was another valuable addition.

And now the addition of this series by the College Union Library series comes as just another very pleasant development.

Letter To The Editor

Congratulations BJ, you have finally written a most stirring editorial pertaining to the class ring bill that was introduced to the Student Government at its last session. But, I am compelled to say that you have fallen into the same category as Johnathan Daniels and Drew Pearson. Your editorial was one of the most inaccurate statements that has ever been printed in The Technician.

Do you remember last year's Juniors screaming for their class rings before Christmas holidays, and then that spring "ramming" a bill through the S.G. stating: Class rings will not be ordered until after registration for the second semester of the junior year? Do you remember that the tradition has been for the past two decades that class rings were ordered the first semester of the junior year? Were you informed that Bob Cooke told Ervin Lineberger that the wording of his bill was proper prior to the S.G. meeting?

It would seem to me that the editor of a campus newspaper would get the facts straight before printing them, otherwise someone will continue to throw the correct facts back at you as I have done.

Bill Liles

(Editor's Note: First of all Mr. Liles, I would like to say that BJ refers to my news editor, Bill Jackson, who initials are the exact reverse of mine. I would also like to say that Mr. Jackson has interviewed personally SG officers and representatives. I would also like to state that I would like to have earned the many dollars that Mr. Pearson and Mr. Daniels have made in printing the facts during their time as reporters. I would also like to refer you to our format which is usually on the same page as our editorials. As you can see now, you wrote the letter to the wrong person. Maybe you will get the facts correct next time yourself. As editor of the paper, I would like to say that when the truth is not printed in The Technician, we apologize to the party offended. But after talking to Mr. Jackson, I feel that he had the correct facts.)

State Wins Opener; Faces Heels Today

The North Carolina State cross-country team went to Chapel Hill this afternoon looking for their second straight win. The Wolfpack runners will take on the University of North Carolina harriers in an Atlantic Coast Conference meet.

In the first meet of the season last Friday, the State team scored a perfect win over the University of Virginia by taking the first five places. The number one man for the Pack was John Davis, who covered the course in a time of 21:09.8. The other top finishers for State were Gerald Fincher, Marvin Beatty, Richard Wilson, and James Tyson.

The winning times for the State team ranged from the first place time of Davis to the fifth place time of 22:46.5. The meet with Virginia was held last Friday night in Charlottesville, Va. The next meet on the agenda for the Pack runners after the Carolina meet that was held this afternoon will be a meet here on the State College course with the University of South Carolina and Clemson College. This meet is slated for Friday.

Gabriel Leads Two Depts. In Latest ACC Statistics

State College is well represented in the latest ACC statistics released this week. Roman Gabriel is first in passing and total offense. Al Taylor is currently the number three rusher in the conference with an average of 3.5 yards per carry.

In the team division the Wolfpack is also well represented. They are third in passing offense, second in total defense, and first in pass defense. The Pack ranks fifth in total offense.

The following are some of the statistics for the ACC to date.

Four Fraternity Teams Remain Unbeaten

By Richie Williamson
With only two weeks of regular league play left in the fraternity football season, the teams are vigorously fighting for their spot in the playoffs. So far, four teams have clinched places leaving the other four spots up for grab in the tight section races which developed as a result of this week's past activities. There are these four teams; Sigma Nu, Sigma Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Phi Kappa Tau who have not suffered a defeat so far in section play and loom as possible favorites in the coming playoffs.

It is in section #2 where the biggest scramble for the berths occur. At present, KA and Kappa Sig have 3-1 records with SAE right behind with a 2-2 mark. KA showed tremendous power in crushing TKE 24-0. Wayne Miller led the scoring with two T. D.'s and Bowers and Terrell, each crossed paydirt once as the KA's rolled out 148 yards while holding TKE to a minus yardage. Kappa Sig picked up a surprisingly easy 20-0 victory over SAE. It was end Durant Vick who hauled in all three touchdown passes in paving the way for the win. Extra points were added by Shearin and Campbell to complete the scoring. SAE moved the ball but could not produce the touchdowns. Sigma Nu continued to display the form which marks them as the team to beat in competition as they ground out a 25-0 win over Theta Chi. In four games, Sig Nu has rolled up 98 points while allowing their opponents only 14 points. The passing combination of Herman Snyder to Johnny Stevens again led the way along with the excellent running power plays. SAM remained in second place in this section by stopping winless PEP 25-0. Arnie Cohen figured in all the points as he ran for two T. D.'s, passed to Romie Bard for another, and passed to Richie Williamson for a T. D. and extra point. The Sammies totaled 143 yards while their defense kept Phi Ep from threatening.

Sigma Chi made a last half comeback against PKP to keep their record unblemished by pulling out a 12-7 victory. PKP scored in the first period on a touchdown by Hudson and held on for a 7-0 lead at half.

Clearing the hurdles with research

At Gen Tel, we've made a running start toward solving many of tomorrow's communications problems.

For instance, scientists at General Telephone & Electronics Laboratories are working in the uncharted area of the spectrum where radio waves take on the characteristics of light. They have already developed an experimental ultramicrowave system that may one day make possible the transmission of two million messages over a single radio beam in free space.

As a major communications company with world-wide connections, General Telephone is helping to advance the science of total communications around the globe.

Our stepped-up research in the basic sciences is but one example of the way General Telephone & Electronics combines the talents of many people and the facilities of many companies to meet the future communications needs not only of America, but the whole world.

Received an important communication from Dean Talley last week. Seems that he thought I was misquoting someone or something or other when I made my little comment about the Clique Unanimous. I hereby wish to inform you, sir, that the comments in this column are just one animal's opinion, and not necessarily the opinion of this noble sheet, or its kindly editor. I do feel, however, that any organization which has so many thousands, even tens of thousands, dollars in a reserve fund, and is continually adding to it tax-free and not using this money in payment for expenses, and/or betterment, is not, in the strict legal sense, non-profit. Oh well, I guess you just can't fight city hall.

Why is it that the gentlemen of the Ag school control our student government? I feel that they are surely in the minority.

The CU will at least try to give the students the impression that they are trying to improve. They have put a suggestion box in the lobby. Ain't that a scream.

A few suggestions:

(1) Print a complete, itemized listing of all money taken in, where it comes from, and how much, if any, is paid back to the source in (I hate to use such a nasty sounding term) kickback; this listing should also include a complete, itemized listing of all money paid out, where it goes, who it is paid to, and for what. (this is to include salaries! !)

(2) Get rid of the myriad of committees. By this I mean that they can be moved together . . . put the photography committee under the hobby committee as a club, not as a committee, make the house committee responsible for the present functions of the games committee, the film committee, the hospitality committee, the social committee, and the gallery committee. What I mean to say, is just that there are too many committees! Consolidate, streamline, and this way, you could probably get by on much less money.

Oh well, enough griping about the CU tonight, except one last comment . . . it seems to me that the present opinion on the Clique Unanimous (at least its directors) is:

"What's good for the CU is good for the students"
The girlie shows at the fair were, as usual, BLAH.
There was a young lady from Pace,
Whose corset was too tight to lace.
Her mother said "Nelly,

There's more in your belly Than ever went in through your face."

Watch for the Chipmunk's recommended reading list, to be published soon in this column.

You know, it's too bad we are located in the heart of the "Bible Belt". There are so many people who would be benefited by a cancelation of these stupid "Blue Laws".

There we stood, waiting to get out of the stadium at Dook, when the band began to play. A highly inebriated Methodist, or some other follower of the Dook football fortunes, said to his female companion: "Listen to those — blow down there. They sound like a bunch of those cows they raise over there. Why our band sounded . . . urp . . . Baarf. . . ." He said it!

So we lost. So what? They still sell booze in Raleigh, but not on Sunday, dammit.

If you drink, don't park. Accidents cause people.

So let the prudes and blue-noses sneer and raise — over my column. In this country, and at this school (I hope), we have freedom of speech.

A maternity dress . . . a slip cover.

When better girls are made, State men will make them.

Mr. Whichard: If you must tell the kindly editor to strike out certain of my jokes, please pick the un-funny ones.

I got up this morning, and it looked so nice out, I let it stay out all day.

Where have the people who used to call us immature gotten to? Fellows, if they want to call you immature, let them. Most of these so-called mature students are the most immature souls I have met.

Who put the Cantharides (Spanish Fly) in the punch at a sorority house over on the hill? I hear that the party became real interesting.

For Vice-President

Freshman Declares Candidacy

In announcing his candidacy for the offices of Vice President and Senator of the Freshman class, John Gettinger made the following statement.

"I, John Gettinger, am running for Vice President of the freshman class, and for the position of Senator in our student government. I think that I am the man for the job. Not only do I have experience in student government, but I have an intended desire to help the freshman class in any way I can. I maintain a high interest in the freshman class because I think that it is one of the most important years in college life and if properly treated, can provide a large stepping stone to future success.

"Because of these interests, and past experience, I feel sure that I can own up to the responsibilities of the Vice President. One of the most important being the freshman-sophomore dance. With the proper amount of planning and work this dance can become the best dance of State College this year. If I am electd, I will assure you that this will become a reality. Re-member freshmen if you want vitality in the class of '64, a loud voice in student government and affairs, and a highly successful freshman-sophomore dance, elect me, John Gettinger for vice president and senator."

A FRAT TO REMEMBER

Every year, as we all know, the Benevolent and Protective Order of Collegiate Fraternities awards a highly coveted prize to the fraternity house which, in its judgment, has done the most to promote and enhance the fraternity way of life. The prize this year—eight hundred pounds of white putty—goes to the Signa Phi Nothing chapter of the South Dakota College of Dentistry and Renaissance Art.

The award this year is exceptionally richly deserved, for the Signa Phi Nothing house is the very model of all a fraternity should be. It is, first of all, a most attractive house physically. The outside walls are tastefully covered with sequins. Running along the upper story is a widow's walk, with a widow stationed every three feet. Moored to the chimney pot is the Graf Zeppelin.

Indoors, the house gives an impression of simple, casual charm. The chapter room is furnished in homey maple and chintz, with a dash of verve provided by a carp pool three hundred feet in diameter. A waterspout rises from the center of the pool with the housemother bouncing on the top.

Members' rooms are gracious and airy and are provided with beds which disappear into the wall—permanently. Each room also has a desk, a comfortable chair, a good reading lamp, and a catapult for skeetshooting. Kidney-shaped desks are available for kidney-shaped members.

Perhaps the most fetching feature of the house are the packs of Marlboros stacked in heaps wherever one goes. If one wishes to settle back and enjoy a full-flavored smoke, one needs only to reach out one's hand in any direction and pick a pack of Marlboros—soft pack or flip-top box—and make one's self comfortable with a filtered cigarette with an unfiltered taste—that triumph of the tobaccoist's art, that paragon of smokes, that acme of cigarettes, that employer of mine—Marlboro!

The decor, the grace, the Marlboros, all combine to make Signa Phi Nothing a real gas of a fraternity. But a fraternity is more than things; it is also people. And it is in the people department that Signa Phi Nothing really shines.

Signa Phi Nothing has among its members the biggest BMOCs on the entire campus of the South Dakota College of Dentistry and Renaissance Art. There is, for instance, William Makepeace Sigafoos, charcoal and bun chairman of the annual Stamp Club outing. Then there is Dun Rovin, winner of last year's All-South Dakota State Monopoly Championship; 135 Pound Class. Then there is Rock Schwartz, who can sleep standing up. Then there is Tremblant Placebo, who can crack pecans in his armpits. Then there is Ralph Tungsten, who went bald at eight.

But why go on? You can see what a splendid bunch of chaps there is in Signa Phi Nothing, and when one sees them at the house in the cool of the evening, all busy with their tasks—some picking locks, some playing Jacks-or-Better, some clipping Playboy—one's heart fills up and one's eyes grow misty, and one cannot but give three cheers and a tiger for Signa Phi Nothing, fraternity of the year!

And while you're cheering, how about a huzzah for the newest member of the Marlboro family of fine cigarettes—unaltered, mild, delightful Philip Morris king-size Commander! Have a Commander—welcome aboard!
