Gill Calls Party System A Pillar Of Democracy

By Bill Jackson
"Can we make democracy work? Each generation must ask itself this question." This sentiment was expressed by Edwin Gill, Treasurer of North Carolina, who was the guest of the Apollo Club at its third meeting last Thursday night. The topic of Mr. Gill's talk was "Political Foundations of Democracy."

Gill was introduced by Major General Capus Waynick, the Adjutant General of North Carolina, a long-time friend and associate of the state treasurer. In the introduction Gill was pictured as a man who "draws on a wide fund of knowledge of our political foundations. He is indeed a great student of government."

Gill described himself as simply a "politician" and referred to the unfortunate connotations the word "politician" has generally. "Politics is the science of government. I know of no profession more important," the speaker stated. His first basic foundation of democracy was the politician. Mr. Gill cited as good examples Lincoln and Roosevelt, great statesmen who succeeded because they were also great politicians.

A major pillar in the democratic framework was the political party. "Until we come up with another method of administering government, the political parties are absolutely essential."

"It is as inevitable as human beings, it is as inevitable as human minds that you will have differences of opinion. Only American democracy has found a way for expressing these differences. Political parties are the basis of democracy."

France was cited as an example of a democracy which flourished because of lack of strong parties.

Jefferson's belief in the enlightenment of the people was listed as the third principle of Democracy. Gill quoted "the great advocate of learning" when he said, "The hand-maiden of liberty is education." He added that, "The public's business should be public. The right of people to know is most important — yet some processes necessarily cannot be public." Top-secret military projects, Supreme Court conferences were cited as examples.

Woman's College Responds Warmly To NY Trip Plan

In an effort to establish a closer bond between the two schools, Woman's College has been invited to join State for a trip to New York City during the Thanksgiving holidays. The College Union Travel Committee has been notified that the trip received an overwhelming response on the women's campus; and it may prove necessary to increase the number of openings for them. To determine the number from State who wish to participate, it is urged that all who are interested in the trip sign up immediately as the deadline has been set for November 10.

Buses will leave Raleigh for New York City on Wednesday, November 23, at 1:00 p.m., going via Greensboro; and will return to Raleigh about 10:00 p.m., Sunday, November 27. The cost of $45.00 includes round trip transportation, hotel (3 days and 4 nights at Hotel Edison) including check-in and check-out fee, and transportation and tickets to Hayden Planetarium, Rockefeller Center, and the United Nations.

Further information concerning the trip is available from copies of the itinerary posted on the campus bulletin boards, or in the Activities Office of the College Union. In addition to both W.C. and State students, their guests are eligible to participate.

Annual Campus Chest Drive Opens At State This Week

By Tom Lane
This is the week of the annual Campus Chest Drive. This is the only drive held on campus for the entire school year. The sole purpose of this is to raise money for helping others. It would be helpful to many if the drive was explained more fully.

The name of the united drive on the State College campus was selected last year as Campus Chest Drive. Previously, it had been Student United Fund, World University Service Drive, and the Campus United Fund.

Drives supporting charitable causes have previously been rather unsuccessful. The drive last year headed by Jim Griener of Richmond, Va. ran 138% above that of the previous year with a total collection of $1,746. This was only 58% of the intended goal of $3,000, but it was a great improvement over the previous ones.

This year's goal has been set at $3,000. This is a large sum, but when you base this upon the number of students enrolled it dwindles rather rapidly. If every student would give a minimum of a dollar the goal could be realized.

The proceeds this year will go to the world university service and the Raleigh United Fund. The proceeds will be divided on a 50% basis. The groups which are receiving benefits of the drive were selected by the students during registration. These selections were approved by the advisory committee which is made up of the campus leaders.

An explanation of the organization would be very helpful to your understanding of what the money will accomplish.

The world university service is a student supported organization giving aid to students all over the world. Some of the countries aided recently have been India, the refugee students from Algiers, the Hungarian student refugees, and latest are the students of Chile who were left in a state of chaos following the earthquakes.

This world university service does not just give money to these students, but it aids them in helping themselves. When a group of Chinese students were faced with a shortage of textbooks W. U. I. aided them by giving them a duplicator; so they could print their own.

In Chile money was given for food, tents were sent for housing the students, and medicines were sent to keep down the spread of diseases.

As previously stated, World University Service is a student supported organization aiding students around the world.

The Raleigh United Fund is similar to all city united campaigns. It supports or helps support all charitable organizations within the city. It helps the Cerebral Palsy Hospital, the American Cancer Association which is waging war on one of America's greatest killers, the National Polio Foundation, and the Heart Fund; all of these organizations reap benefit from the proceeds of the drive.

If you want to see an example of money being well spent, go to the Cerebral Palsy Hospital and watch the effort and care being taken trying to help these children who cannot help themselves. Every student on Campus should feel an obligation to organizations such as these.

It has been mentioned earlier that this is the only money raising drive which is held on our campus. It has the full endorsement of the Student Government. The faculty stands one hundred per cent behind the drive. So it is up to you to do your part to support the Campus Chest Drive. When the Campus Chest Leader for your area visits you give wholeheartedly to help those who are not as fortunate as you. Help to exceed this year's goal of 3,000.

Wellman To Speak At Union

Manly Wade Wellman will speak at the North Carolina State College Union Wednesday (November 9) at 8 p.m.

For most of his adult life, Wellman has been a professional writer of history and fiction. He is the author of more than 500 short stories and articles published in national magazines and of thirty published books, most of them dealing with aspects of Southern history.

Wellman's most recent novel is CANDLE OF THE WICKED, published in September. It is a story based on violent occurrences in the history of the Kansas frontier during the 1870's.

Manly Wade Wellman is the son of the late Dr. Frederick Creighton Wellman, scientist, explorer and novelist, and a brother of Paul I. Wellman, author of many best-selling novels.

The talk by Wellman will be held in the College Union Theatre and is sponsored by the College Union Library Committee under the chairmanship of Fred Slosman of Asheville.

Halloween Season

Tonight is Halloween, and Linda Wall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Wall of 802 Dixie Trail probably has one of the best displays in the city of Raleigh. Clyde Hoey, Technician photographer, thought her display was very appropriate for the Halloween season. (Photo by Hoey).

Old Members Invited

Seven Sophs Honored By Phi Eta Sigma

Phi Eta Sigma, national honorary fraternity for freshmen, will hold its fall initiation Tuesday night, November 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the College Union Theater.

All Phi Eta Sigma members who were initiated last spring are urged to attend the initiation. Afterwards their certificates of membership, which were not available last spring will be distributed. Also a short business meeting is planned with refreshments to follow, giving the new members a chance to meet the brothers of the local chapter.

Membership in Phi Eta Sigma, generally recognized as one of the highest scholastic honors given to freshmen, is based on academic achievement. Initiations are held in both fall and spring.

Those eligible for Phi Eta Sigma membership on the basis of their academic standing for the entire school year 1959-60 are: William Scott Guion, Ralph Hodges Hackney, Jerry Stephenson Lee, William A. McClenny, Richard Miller Morgan, Willis Alton Reid, Jr., and William Henry Smyth.

Campus Crier

Mr. Edgar S. Woolard, Jr., of E. I. Dupont DeNemours Co., will be the guest speaker for Tuesday night's meeting of the A.I.E. The meeting will be held in the College Union at 7:00 p.m.

Mr. Woolard, a '56 graduate of N. C. State College in Industrial Engineering, is a native of Washington, N. C. His topic for Tuesday night will be "Management's View Towards the Industrial Engineer in Large Business."

All IE's are urged to attend and hear this State graduate, now a member of the Dupont Co. All those attending are asked to wear coat and tie, as pictures will be made for the Agromeck before the meeting gets under way.

North Carolina State College will again be able to go to another Mock United Nations. The assembly will be held the week of February 22-23 at Duke University.

All persons interested in going this year should sign up in the College Union Activities Office before November 7. Late applications for a position in the delegation will receive some consideration.

Tryouts for the College Union Talent Show will be held in the

The N. C. State Graduate Dames will meet Tuesday, November 8, at 8:00 p.m. in room 256 of the College Union.

The program will be a display of native North Carolina crafts and home made Christmas decorations exhibited by Miss Marjorie Shearin.

All wives of graduate students are invited to join.

YMCA Search Party 1 — What Christians Believe and Why — meets at 6:00 on Monday, October 31, in room B of the Cafeteria, to discuss "Objections from Non-church Groups to Christian Action in Politics". Search Party 2 — Militatism, Nationalism, and World Understanding will meet on Tuesday, November 1, in the Cafeteria.

The Electrical Engineering Wives' Club meets Wednesday, November 2, at 8 p.m. in rooms 256-258 of the College Union. "Christmas Food Ideas" is the theme of the program. Mrs. E. G. Manning will present several ideas and suggestions

Comments From The Editor Aid Needed!!!

Our editorial, "Cheerleader Crisis," in the October 26 issue of The Technician has brought about many comments from the students at State College.

We received a letter from the Head Cheerleader, Eddie Stubbins, discussing the cheerleader problem that is now present.

First of all, we would like to say that Eddie Stubbins has done a fine job as head cheerleader with the material that has been present. We feel that there are few students at State College that could have done the job that he has done with the present cheerleaders.

There have been many students that have griped about the cheerleading problem . . . but how many of them tried out for the squad? As the head cheerleader stated . . . three boys came out for the squad and three made it.

There are students in this school that could make the cheerleading squad, but they just sit back in their dormitory room and gripe about it. They don't do anything to aid the cause.

We printed a very nasty letter in Thursday's edition about the head cheerleader. We very seldom print a letter that does not have the signature of a student. This letter as most of you will remember was signed by the occupants of Turlington dormitory. We knew that we would receive criticism about this letter. The students that wrote this letter were very illiterate. They are the student(s) that gripe about things, but they don't have the initiative to come out and help the cause.

We would like to apologize to Eddie Stubbins, the head cheerleader, for publishing this nasty letter.

We also criticized the co-ed cheerleaders and we still feel the same about them being the poorest imitations of cheerleaders that we have ever seen.

We would like the cheerleading committee do one of two things. Either pick a complete squad of male cheerleaders or go to St. Mary's, Peace, and Meredith and pick some co-ed cheerleaders that could help the cheerleading squad besides adding some beauty to the contest. We know that some students will not agree with us about this, but this is our opinion. If you know of anything that can be done about the present cheerleader problem, please write us and let us know what you think ought to be done. We definitely would like to see something done before the basketball season begins.

Letter To The Editor

To The Editor of The Technician:

During the past few weeks, there has been a great deal of discussion about the cheerleaders. I, being as close to the situation as anyone, feel that it is not entirely the fault of the cheer leading squad that they do not live up to what is expected of them. True, State College's cheerleaders are not the best in the Atlantic Coast Conference, and they could easily be the worst. I ask this question. Why does State College turn out some of the best engineers in the country? A good answer for this is competition. This, I feel, is the downfall of the cheerleading squad. In the last three years, there has been a total of eight different male students who have tried out for the squad. Out of these eight, seven were selected. Is this competition? No. An organization of this type can only be what the people who back it make it. Surely, out of approximately 10,000 males who have been students here in the last three years, there are more than eight who feel that they can aid the school spirit at State College by serving on the cheerleading squad.

I am sure that there are many students at State College that would make much better cheerleaders than the members of the present squad. However, from the students that were present at tryouts, the Student Government Committee picked those which they thought to have the most potential as far as being a cheerleader was concerned. I would like to urge each student not to criticize the present squad, but to tryout at the next tryouts. It is up to the students themselves to tryout, and, by doing so, get the best people for this job that State College has to offer. Only in this way can State College have cheerleaders equal in ability to the cheerleaders at Duke and Clemson, these institutions having by far the best squads in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Judicial Board Reports October Meeting Results

Five cases involving the Honor Code were handled by the Honor Code Board of the Judicial Department of Student Government. Two students were brought to trial on charges of stealing a textbook. After due consideration both students were found not guilty of the alleged violation. Another student charged with stealing pleaded guilty and was put on probation for the rest of the school year.

One trial concerned cheating on a quiz; two students were questioned by the Board. After lengthy discussion, one was found guilty and suspended for one semester. The other student was cleared of the charges.

Two State men pleaded guilty to charges of counterfeiting season football date tickets; they were placed on probation for the remainder of the year. Nine students were charged with buying the false tickets with knowledge of their value. One of these pleaded not guilty to the charges and was found not guilty. The others were placed on probation for the fall semester.

All the students were reminded of their rights of appeal; vital new evidence and violation of trial procedure. They were also reminded that two convictions of Honor Code violations results in automatic dismissal.

The board was also called upon by the Legislature of Student Government for an interpretation of the resolution pertaining to Junior Class Rings.

NOTICE

The time of the year has come for the annual Campus Fund Drive. This is the one time during the year that the more fortunate college population has the opportunity to give and aid those who are not so fortunate as ourselves.

Starting tonight and running through Saturday, November 5, authorized collectors will be calling on you and asking for contributions. I am sure these collectors will be qualified to answer any questions that you may have concerning this drive. When these collectors call, I urge you to give understandingly to this worthy cause.

Rambling Round

By Ann Smith
Did you hear and see the Kingston Trio? If you didn't you missed a very good show. I am dismayed, however, with the conduct of some of the students who attended. The sound of ice tinkling in glasses and the dull thung of bottled being opened drowned out some portions of the show. The comments concerning the poor sound system could also have been avoided. It has been rumored that the Trio is usually intoxicated during a performance. All I have to say is that at least they were able to stand in an upright position which is more than I can say about the group that was sitting behind me. One of the group staggered to his feet during the last song and said, "Shing anudder shong!" Since the Trio doesn't "shing shongs", they didn't fill his request. It seems to me that the time to celebrate the performance would be after it, not during it. Let the people around you see and hear what they paid to, not an exhibition of juiced State students.

The production at the Raleigh Little Theatre seemed to go over quite well with the persons that attended. The ones that I talked with congratulated the College Union Theatre Committee for buying out all the Theatre's Sunday performances for the students this year. This program enables State College students and a date to see a live play in a real theatre at no cost to him. Few people have been griping about this feature of the Union.

I wish that the person who lives in Watauga Dorm and pours bourbon out the window would let me know when the cascade will occur. I have a little cup handy for such purposes.

Speaking of people who live in Watauga Dorm, I wish that the guy who lives a few doors down from me would stop pounding on all the doors on the hall at 2 a.m. It disturbs my bongo playing.

I have been asked to make an announcement. The College Union Theatre Committee is sponsoring a Talent Show. Tryouts for the Show will be held Wednesday (November 2) at 8 p.m. in the College Union Theatre. Any person who would like to take part in the Show is invited to attend. I have also been told that the first prize is a free dinner at Gino's. Other prizes will also be given.

I attended a dinner banquet Tuesday night. Guess where it was held. Outside! It sounds silly, but I had a wonderful time and did not mind the cold at all.

Last week I asked for students who wanted a poem published to send it to me. I received several and the one that I chose may not be the best, but it was the shortest.

Parking Deck

Driving down Salisbury looking at the lights screaming park, damn you, park!
But I don't want to park please, I want to ride around
Park, damn you, park!
Please, please don't make me do it,
I really have no change.
I just came down to look at town.

Park, damn you, park!
So here I am sitting in my lonely parking place, a parking ticket on my windshield—
A tear upon my face.

—William N. Hicks III

If you want your poem to appear in my column, send it to: Ima Trotter, Box 5614, State College Station, Raleigh. Thanx.

Veteran's Corner

By Ted Byers

Join the Veteran's Association and attend the meetings for great enlightenment. How's that for a plug?

Seriously gentlemen, the Veteran's Association has great possibilities if all of you will lend a small portion of your time twice a month to help it progress. Our meetings are on the first and third Friday of each month at 7:00 P.M. in the College Union. All Veterans, members and non-members, are encouraged to attend.

Bill Daniels, our program chairman, is doing a fine job. He acquired three films from the Air Force to show during the last meeting. They were very entertaining and informative. Keep up the good work Bill.

There has been some question as to who is eligible for membership. The part of the Constitution pertaining to membership states "Any Student of North Carolina State College who is on active duty in the Armed Forces of the United States of America, or who shall have been discharged, separated, or released therefrom under honorable or general conditions, shall be considered for memberships". So now we know.

UCLA Hands State Second Loss, 7-0

By Earl Mitchell
The number one pass defense in the Atlantic Coast Conference failed to live up to its average and as a result the State Wolfpack went down to a 7-0 defeat at the hands of UCLA in Los Angeles Saturday night.

State has been at the top of the pass defense listing in the ACC for almost the whole season and had allowed less than 52 yards per game in the air, but Bill Kilmer hit on eight of 15 aerials for 131 yards and one touchdown. Roman Gabriel topped the Bruin ace in the passing department with 13 completions in 26 attempts for 162 yards. On the ground, the Uclans chalked up 165 yards to only 65 for the visiting Pack.

The Pack went into the game a ten-point underdog and could have easily beaten UCLA had they gotten a few breaks. The Wolfpack had one touchdown called back on a holding infraction. Gabriel fired a 31 yard aerial to end John Morris, but one of the officials had tossed his red and white flag to the turf before the play really got started.

On another occasion near the end of the first half State got the ball with less than a minute left. After one pass fell incomplete, Gabriel hit George Vollmar in the Bruin's 36 for a first down. On the next play Gabriel again hit Vollmar. This time the play covered 24 yards and gave the Pack another first down. With the ball on the Uclan 12 the Wolfpack was unable to get another play started or get time out before time ran out.

The Pack made two deep cuts into the Bruin's territory in the second half. The first drive went to the 23 and the second went to the 28. Once a fumble stopped the drive and incomplete passes halted the other one.

The Bruins took the opening kickoff and marched 61 yards to the State four before the State defense put the brakes on Kilmer and Co. Jim Tapp led a group of State tacklers that threw Kilmer for an eight yard loss. On the next play the UCLA team took too much time and were set back another five yards. Then Kilmer attempted to pass and fumbled and Harry Puckett pounced on the ball on the State 40 to half the drive.

After the Wolfpack had a touchdown pass called back in the second quarter, the Bruins got the ball on their own 22.

Kilmer took to the air and hit on five straight passes with Marv Luster catching four to push over the game's only score. Kilmer passes to Luster to cover the final ten yards that climaxed a 78 yard drive. Dave Duncan, a sophomore blocking back, booted the point after the touchdown to finish up the scoring for the night for both teams.

In the opening minutes of the third quarter, the Bruins drove to the State 10 and were pushed back to the 15. From here Duncan tried a field goal. Center Bill Hill broke through and blocked the kick to stop another Uclan drive. In the late minutes of the fourth period, the UCLA team drove to the State three before the State team rose up to stop them. The UCLA team failed to make first down and the Pack got the ball with about a minute left in the contest. They moved the ball 25 yards before the final gun halted the action.

Although the State team didn't win the ball game they played very well. Led by Tapp, Collice Moore, Jim Fitzgerald, and Puckett, the Pack defense held the pulverizing UCLA singling very well. The downfall of the ACC team was that they were unable to stop the passing of All-American candidate Kilmer.

Gabriel played a good ball game, but he never seemed to be able to really get going. Al Taylor and Randy Harrell ran very well for the Pack. Bert Wilder turned in a very good performance in the State line.

The loss left the Wolfpack with a 5-2 record on the season and, of course, did not have anything to do with their ACC standing. Duke is still in the number one spot with a 4-0 mark and State is right behind them with a 3-1 record. Maryland slipped into third place with a win over South Carolina. Clemson dropped into fourth place tie with Wake Forest. South Carolina is next and Virginia and North Carolina bring up the rear.

This week the Pack will return to the ACC to face Wake Forest, the team in a tie for this meeting since last summer. Although the Deacons have not had a very successful season, this game should be a real great one.

The following is the scoring summary for the UCLA-State game:

| | | | | |
|-------|---|---|---|-----|
| UCLA | 0 | 7 | 0 | 0-7 |
| State | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0-0 |

UCLA: Luster, 10 yard pass from Kilmer. (Duncan kick)

The following is the scoring summary for the UCLA-State game:

There were no serious changes in the Atlantic Coast Conference standing a result of Saturday's clashes. Duke continued to hold onto the number one place in the conference with a 4-0 mark. The Blue Devils fared better Georgia Tech 6-0 in a real thriller in Durham when Dean Wright punched over from the one yard line with the game's only score.

The second place team, N. C. State, also went outside of the loop to play this week. The Wolfpack went down to defeat at the hands of UCLA by a 7-0 count. The loss left the Pack with a 3-1 loop mark and a 5-2 overall record.

Wake Forest edged Virginia in a real thriller in Charlottesville 28-20. The Deacons built up a 28-6 lead over the Cavaliers, but then had to hold on for dear life as the Virginia team almost pulled it out of the fire.

Duke Still First In ACC

There were no serious changes in the Atlantic Coast Conference standing a result of Saturday's clashes. Duke continued to hold onto the number one place in the conference with a 4-0 mark. The Blue Devils fared better Georgia Tech 6-0 in a real thriller in Durham when Dean Wright punched over from the one yard line with the game's only score.

The second place team, N. C. State, also went outside of the loop to play this week. The Wolfpack went down to defeat at the hands of UCLA by a 7-0 count. The loss left the Pack with a 3-1 loop mark and a 5-2 overall record.

Wake Forest edged Virginia in a real thriller in Charlottesville 28-20. The Deacons built up a 28-6 lead over the Cavaliers, but then had to hold on for dear life as the Virginia team almost pulled it out of the fire.

This was the 24th loss in a row for the hapless Cavaliers. The University of North Carolina went outside of the conference and were soundly beaten by the Tennessee Volunteers, 27-14. The Tar Heels scored first, but the Tennessee team took advantage from there on out and scored four touchdowns before the Carolina team was able to push over another score.

In other ACC games, Maryland handed South Carolina a 15-0 set-back in College Park. Vanderbilt upset Clemson 22-20 for the Tigers third straight loss of the season after winning three straight.

Pack Drops Sixth; Faces W&L Today

The North Carolina State soccer team went after its first win of the season this afternoon when they faced Washington & Lee University at Lexington, Virginia. The Pack has lost six games this season without picking up the first win.

Their latest setback came at the hands of Norfolk Navy by a 3-2 count Friday afternoon here in Raleigh. Bob Nelson booted in a goal in the first period to put the Wolfpack into the lead until the third period when Joe Pierce put one in for the Navy team. Gunner Metzger added another goal to the Navy total to tie State after Freddy Hamedani had put the Wolfpack ahead. Metzger booted home the winning goal in the second overtime period to hand State their sixth loss of the season.

The Washington & Lee team will offer the Pack a great deal of competition since the Generals usually field a very strong team in the sport.

The North Carolina Tar Heels had a great deal of trouble with the Washington & Lee team several weeks ago and the Carolina team is one of the better teams in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

This 1960 season has been a very disappointing one for the Wolfpack so far. Coach Bill Leonhardt had predicted before the season started that he thought that his boys would do much better than last year and that one of his booters might be All-American material. So far, his predictions have not come true, but maybe victory is not too far away in the future for the Pack soccer team.

Ah yes, good old football season isn't going to be with us much longer. Football season . . . The only time of year that you can walk down the street with a blonde under one arm, and a blanket under the other, and not get dirty looks.

Had you ever noticed that these people who drive these small foreign cars, I mean the real tiny ones, are very quick witted? They have to be. It takes quick thinking to decide which tailpipe to drive up when one of the "Detroit Monsters" makes a sudden, unsignaled, stop in front of you.

Kudos to the Raleigh Little Theater for a job well done.

Sure Dean Talley would say that no one has been up to his office and asked to see the books. He's not there at night, now is he?

I hear that M&O has finally gotten the bell on top of Withers fixed. A typical example of M&O efficiency. About three months.

I don't see what all this griping about the food at the cafeteria is over. Why I have it on good authority, from one of the faculty, that ". . . and they buy excellent food . . ." also ". . . they have been working for years to get the food to its present quality . . ."

For goodness sake, all of you who are old enough to vote, get the hell out and vote for . . . er . . . in the presidential election.

Let Not The Marriage of True Minds . . .

Admit impediments . . . like Budgets! Love is not love which alters when it finds there is not enough current cash to meet the need for shoes for baby.

Be ye husband, wife or in a state of bachelor bliss, there is heartening news in prices at Hudson-Belk. Hudson Belk believes that fashion is a matter of taste, not of price, and rich, or poor . . . it's YOUR Store.

All E. E. student and faculty wives are cordially invited to attend the meeting.

The Christianity and the Arts Search Party of the YMCA will present a panel discussion concerning the problems of church architecture on Thursday, November 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the YMCA Conference Room (second floor). The panel consists of: Robert Burns and Cecil Elliott, professors in architecture at the School of Design, and Hartley Hall and Rod Reinecke, YMCA Chaplains. Prof. Joseph Cox, of the School of Design, will act as panel moderator.

The students and faculty of the Engineering School are reminded of the Engineers' Ball, coming November 19. The dance is formal. Music will be furnished by "The Ambassadors" of Duke University. Pick up your bids now in your Department Office.
