For Grad. Training

NIE Awards Grant For Genetics Study

The National Institutes of Health have awarded a $204,094 grant to North Carolina State College to be used for the graduate training of geneticists.

The training program authorized by the grant will be administered in the college's Department of Genetics, headed by Dr. H. F. Robinson.

In making the announcement of the grant, Dr. John T. Caldwell, chancellor of the college, declared:

"The State College Department of Genetics has earned a world-wide reputation which brought to it this additional recognition.

"North Carolina can indeed take pride in these continuing developments here."

Dr. Robinson said the grant, one of the largest ever received by State College, would be used for three purposes:

First, it will be used to provide both pre-doctoral and post-doctoral stipends for deserving geneticists. Training will be offered in quantitative genetics, evolution and speciation, and physiological genetics.

Secondly, it will be used to support staff and laboratory requirements for the expanded program of genetics training.

And thirdly, the grant will be used to establish a joint program of graduate medical genetics with the University of North Carolina School of Medicine. Under this third phase of the program, genetics students are expected to do much of their course work at State College and their research at Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill.

Dr. John Graham of the Department of Pathology at UNC has been working with Dr. Robinson in setting up this phase of the program.

Dr. Robinson said the grant

"indicates that the NIH recognizes the role that land-grant colleges can assume in training scientists in the basic sciences.

"State College is one of the first land-grant colleges to receive such a grant," he added. "Previously, most NIH grants of this type have gone to either schools of medicine or departments of genetics closely associated with schools of medicine."

While the Department of Genetics is the nucleus of genetics research and teaching at State College, associate members of the department are located in eight other departments on the campus. In all, about 40 scientists are involved.

"Holiday Bomber" Causes Two Deaths In Subway Blast

NEW YORK, UPI—A bomb, believed set off by New York's "holiday bomber," rocked a subway express train deep under the streets of Harlem Sunday night, killing two persons and injuring 12 others.

It was the city's fifth Sunday explosion in six weeks. A sixth blast occurred on a holiday, Columbus Day. Forty persons were injured in the previous explosions.

The blast blew a hole in the floor of the second car from the rear of the six-car train. Windows in the car were shattered.

Ambulances, police emergency crews and a disaster unit from Bellevue Hospital were rushed to the scene, at 125th Street and Eighth Avenue, in the heart of the teeming Harlem area.

It was the first bomb believed touched off by the city's demoted "holiday bomber" to kill Bowman Gray Stadium, Winston-Salem, N. C.—Two great quarterbacks met here Saturday afternoon and State won their sixth game of the 1960 season over the Deacons of Wake Forest.

Norman Snead of Wake Forest and Roman Gabriel of N. C. State put on one of the greatest offensive shows in the history of the Atlantic Coast Conference as State edged out a 14-12 win over the Deacons. Snead completed 16 of 27 passes for 237 yards and two touchdowns. Gabriel completed 15 of 25 passes for 140 yards and one touchdown. Snead picked up a minus 16 yards on the ground and Gabriel ran for 69 yards and one touchdown. The two aces accounted for over 400 yards in Saturday's battle.

As Coach Earle Edwards promised, the Wolfpack had a very potent ground attack that picked up 245 which is a much larger sum than they have picked up in any game this year. For the entire game the Pack picked up 385 yards on offense with 280 of these yards coming in a very important first half for the Pack. In the first down department the Pack out scored the Deacons 21 to 11. Of the 21 first downs that the State team got, 16 came in the first half, while the Deacs had only two in the first two periods.

State won the toss and elected to receive. With Gabriel at the helm the Pack drove all the way to the Wake Forest four yard line before the steam ran out. Wayne Wolf got the Deacons out of trouble with a booming 75-yard punt. After two plays the Pack fumbled and the Deacons took over on the 48, but they were able to move the ball only four yards and Wolff punted the ball into the end zone giving State a first down on their own 20.

From the 20 the Pack started to move down the field. Combining running with passing, Gabriel moved the Pack to a touchdown with 1:40 gone in the second period. Gabriel covered the final yard for the score on a sneak. Niek Maravich, substituting for Jake Shaffer, split the uprights with the point after to give the Pack a 7-0 lead.

After the ball exchanged hands, the Wolfpack was on the move again. The Pack moved to the Wake Forest eight yard line on passing and running and here Gabriel threw a perfect strike (See State Wins, page 3)

Nixon, Gavin Win Straw Vote

Over two thousand State College students, faculty, and staff members participated in the straw vote last week sponsored by the Political Science classes of Dr. Abraham Holtzman. The ballots, which were printed in last Thursday's Technician, were tabulated by the sponsoring members and the results announced today.

In two very close races, Nixon and Gavin emerged as popular favorites in the poll. When only registered voters were considered, however, Kennedy was slight ahead. This was despite

Jackson, Morton Predict Victory By Good Margin

WASHINGTON UPI—The chairmen of the Democratic and Republican parties predicted Sunday that whoever wins the election Tuesday will have a comfortable margin of electoral votes.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, the Democratic national chairman, and Sen. Thurston B. Morton, the Republican chairman, predicted the winning candidate would have more than 300 electoral votes. A total of 269 is needed to win.

Both Morton and Jackson claimed victory for their candidates.

Speaking on television twice during the day, the two men also played down the importance of rolls. Jackson, although noting that Democratic candidate John F. Kennedy is leading in many of the samplings, said he did not think the polls are "too active a guide" about who would win the election.

Jackson's personal prediction of the election's outcome was that it would be a landslide for Kennedy. He predicted the Democrats would carry all of the big electoral vote states, such as New York, California, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, and Illinois.

Morton said he believed Nixon would definitely carry a majority of these big states. He said he would not concede any of them to the Democrats.

the fact that a good majority of the participating voters were Democrats. The faculty was fairly consistent, giving Kennedy and Sanford almost identical majorities.

Nixon To Answer Voters' Questions On Four Hour Show

DETROIT UPI—Vice President Richard M. Nixon will take on the role of "answer man" for voters across the nation Monday in an unprecedented four-hour telethon aimed at capturing those voters who at the 11th hour may still be undecided.

The GOP presidential candidate will appear nationwide on the American Broadcasting Co. ABC television network to answer questions called in by voters.

A crew of more than 100 Republican volunteers from the Detroit area will be on hand manning 100 telephones over which the questions will come.

The telethon, first such activity attempted on a national scale by a presidential candidate, will originate from the studios of WXYZ here and will be aired from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. EST.

Bill Stover, one of the Nixon aides here working on details of the telethon, said it was expected that 8,000 phone calls could be handled during the four hours but that "of course the vice president wouldn't be able to answer that many questions."

Nixon aides said many details of the program still were to be worked out, including who would screen the questions to be asked and on what basis.

They said the volunteers manning the phones would be in a room apart from Nixon but that they would appear on the television screen part of the time.

The volunteers will take phone calls or telegrams from anywhere in the nation.

The cost of the telethon is to be born by the Republican national campaign organization.

The ABC network had offered to sell the Democrats equal time for Sen. John F. Kennedy, but Democratic National Committee spokesmen said they were passing up the offer — "We can't afford it."

Comments From The Editor Summit Conference

North Carolina State College has its Summit Conference talks tonight at the College Union beginning promptly at 9:00 p.m. Members attending the conference are as follows: Norris Tolson, acting Student Government Vice-President; John Cook, Chairman of the Honor Code Board; Ed Elam, President of the Inter-Dormitory Council; John Hardage, President of the Inter-Fraternity Council; Clyda Weeks, President of the College Union; Lamar Thomas, President of the YMCA; Eddie Stubbins, Head Cheerleader; and Jay Brame, Editor of The Technician. Bob Cooke will preside over the conference.

There are many topics that will be brought up at the meeting tonight. Some of the topics include the College Union budget, the cheerleader problem that now exists at State College, and the lack of funds for the Board of Publications to operate with efficiently.

These student leaders will discuss their goals tonight along with offering constructive criticism to each other.

This meeting will serve as a liaison meeting between the student leaders.

We plan to offer the following constructive criticism. For one thing, we would like to see a better cheerleading squad than the present one. Secondly, we would like to see a reallocation of the Student Activity Fee. We would also like to have the proper authorities study the College Union Budget. We feel that the budget is considerably large. We, along with other students at State College, would like to see the College Union's Student Activity Fee reduced a dollar or so.

We know that some of these leaders are going to disagree with us on some of these issues . . . and maybe all of them. This, of course, is their privilege.

It will be interesting to hear some of the comments that are made from some of these leaders concerning certain problems that now exist at our school.

From this meeting will come some criticism that is very constructive. We hope that we can give the student body a detailed account of an interesting night that is bound to leave some of the campus leaders angered at each other just as President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev were last spring before the hoped for Paris talks.

Letter To The Editor

To the Students in the School of Engineering and P.S. & A.M.:

During the past summer a new School was created at State College, the School of Physical Science and Applied Mathematics. Since many of the students in this new school came from the School of Engineering, the question of the relations between the students in these two schools arose immediately. The purpose of this letter is to acquaint the students in Engineering and P.S. & A.M. with the action taken in regard to this question, and to acquaint the students with the results of that action.

On October 13 the Engineers Council passed a by-law making it possible for the students in the School of P.S. & A.M. to be members of the Engineers Council on a yearly temporary basis.

This by-law was passed with the understanding of the allied interests existing between the students of the School of Engineering and the new School of P.S. & A.M., and in the hope that the students in the new School would feel free to remain affiliated with the Engineers Council so long as it was in their best interests.

An effort was then made by the Dean of the School of P.S. & A.M. and the advisors of the Technical Societies in that school to determine the opinion of the students on this matter. A letter was made available to each student in the School of P.S. & A.M. explaining the situation and asking for a choice among (1) Establishing a new Council within the School of P.S. & A.M. (2) Establishing no Council and withdrawing from the Engineers Council, (3) Remaining with the Engineers Council. Well over 80 per cent of the students expressing a choice was in favor of the first choice.

The Dean of the School of P.S. & A.M. interpreted the results of the student opinion as meaning that the new School should move toward establishing a New Council as soon as possible, that is, that at the beginning of the Spring semester the new Council should be established and begin operating. To this end, a petition was made to the Engineers Council to accept the students of the School of P.S. & A.M. for the Fall Semester of this school year only, with the understanding that the students of the new School would pay a share of the expenses of the activities of the Council in which they participated.

The Engineers Council voted unanimously on November 3 to accept the students of the School of P.S. & A.M. and agreed that the students of the new School would pay $1.00 each to the Engineers Council, the $1.00 to come from the fee already collected. It is the intention of the Engineers Council that a high degree of understanding and cooperation shall exist among the students in Engineering and P.S. & A.M. and indeed, among all the students at State College. The Engineers Council thus invites the students of the School of P.S. & A.M. to receive a copy of the fall edition of the Southern Engineer, to borrow from the $4,000.00 Engineers Loan Fund as set up by the Engineers Council last fall and administered by the Financial Aid Office, to come and enjoy the Engineers Ball at the Coliseum on November 19, and to share in the other activities of the Council during this semester.

Outing Committee: Many Trips Planned

By Archie Copeland

Whether a student wants to participate in an endurance hike, speed across a lake on water skis, explore a cave, or just get away from it all for a week-end, the College Union Outing Committee is capable of helping him meet his objective. This committee was established by the College Union Board of Directors to meet the demands of students who appreciate the out-of-doors. In its original structure, provisions were made for an overall program open to all College Union members as well as the establishment of clubs to meet the needs of small interest groups. The only requirement for the organization of such clubs is that the president be an active member of the Outing Committee.

The budget of this committee is relatively small. It has a fund for repair and, to some extent, replacement of equipment which has been purchased through military surplus. Publicity for ten overnight trips is also included. These trips range from Beach Trips to Cave Exploring Trips and include an overnight trip for married students. The largest item in the budget is for the Annual Anniversary Square Dance. This is the only event of its kind on campus open to the entire student body.

Contrary to popular belief, the Outing Committee does not finance trips for students. Through careful planning, however, it enables students to spend a week-end away from campus for approximately three dollars. This includes food, transportation, use of equipment, and accommodations when necessary. Purchase of food through the Union Food Service, car pools, and contacts which have been established in various areas throughout the state have made these prices possible.

All overnight trips are cleared through Student Affairs and are open to students from St. Mary's, Meredith, Peace, and Rex. Faculty and staff members participate in the events as chaperons.

Each Wednesday, an informal meeting is held from 7:15 until 8:00 p.m. in the College Union. All students are given a chance to express their views on topics included in the agenda as well as ideas for new programs. Members of the committee help, in any way possible, in formulating these plans and ideas.

At the request of several students, a series of Friday night hayrides have been added to this year's program. Plans are also underway for Sunday picnics and ski parties at Kerr Lake next Spring. The Outing Committee is combining efforts with the Hobby Committee to co-sponsor a gem hunting trip to the old emerald mines in Spruce Pines, N. C. on November 5 and 6. There will also be the opportunity to see Linville Carvens, the State Mineral Museum, and the mysterious Brown's Mountain lights. These are only a few of the programs which are provided during the year to meet student demand.

Statesville Tenants Must Register Cars

The Traffic Committee has been informed that many student cars in Statesville are unregistered. The married student housing area is a part of the State College campus and cars parked in the area must be registered and display a college sticker.

Remember, only a few days of grace can be given.

Don Blizzard, Chairman
 SG Traffic Committee

NOTICE

The Technician will give a complete coverage of T the election in the Wednesday night issue. There will also be comments from some of the students at State College on the results of the election. Who will win? We don't know, but it promises to be one of the closest elections in the country's history.

Traffic officers have been asked to give Statesville tenants a few days in which to register the cars in question. After a few days, Statesville and the UK housing areas will be under closer scrutiny by the traffic department.

A second problem in Statesville traffic is that of parking. Some students complain of lack of space. There are sufficient spaces, and every car parked anywhere except in a marked space will be subject to a fine.

Gabriel-Snead Battle Holds Fans To The End

to Jim Tapp for the second Pack score. Maravich again booted the point-after to give the Pack a 14-0 lead at half-time.

After State had completely dominated the first half, the Deacons came roaring back in the last half. Wake Forest got the ball on the State 45 and in just three pass plays with Snead throwing, the Deacons had their first score of the afternoon. Snead attempted the point-after by kicking, but he missed for the first time in seven tries this season giving the State team a 14-6 edge at this point.

In the fourth period, the Deacons got control of the ball on their own 21 and moved the 79 yards for the score in just three plays with a Snead-to-Bobby

Allen pass covering the final 38 yards. The pressure was now on the Deacons. They had tried the two point conversion 15 times before in the past and had not made it the first time, but they had to go for the two points in order to tie the Pack. Snead faded back and fired a pass into the endzone, but Tom Dellinger came streaking across the backfield and knocked the ball to the turf to keep the Pack in the lead by a slim two points.

For the remaining six and a half minutes the two teams moved up and down the field with neither team getting inside the other's 30.

State pulled out a new weapon on the Deacons or at least the Deacons didn't know how to stop it. The Wolfpack ran the fullback draw play all afternoon and didn't fail to pick up under ten yards on any attempt. Roger Moore and third stringer Sam Raneri ran the play with a great deal of success against the Deacs. A word of praise must also go out to the Pack defensive line. The State forward wall held the Deacons ground attack to only 48 yards the entire afternoon.

The win left the Pack with a 4-1 mark in the ACC and a 6-2 mark on the season. The loss dropped the Deacons loop record to 2-3 and their overall record to a 2-5. Next week State will face Arizona State, while Wake Forest will take on Duke, the Navy killers.

With two games left on the '60 slate, the Wolfpack still have a chance to give Coach Earle Edwards his best season since coming to State. The Pack must win the next two games to top the 1957 mark of seven wins.

Frosh End Perfect Season, 35-6

The North Carolina State freshmen ended their season on a happy note Friday night by handing Coach Johnny Clements an undefeated season. The Pack ended the year with a very impressive win over South Carolina by a 35-6 margin.

The win added to wins over Carolina, Wake Forest, Duke, and Virginia gave the Pack a perfect 5-0 mark for the season. This is the first undefeated State freshman team in the last 17 years or so. In winning their five games the Pack scored 189 points giving them an average of about 38 points per contest.

Again it was the running of Carson Boshier and Tony Kozarsky that proved to be the winning factors. The fine quarterbacking of Jim Rossi was also outstanding.

This year's freshman team will offer a lot of talent for the picking next fall when they move up into the varsity ranks. One reason for the great success of the team this year lies in the

These are the silver wings of a U. S. Air Force Navigator. As a flying officer on the Aerospace team, he has chosen a career of leadership, a career that has meaning, rewards and executive opportunity.

The Aviation Cadet Program is the gateway to this career. To qualify for this rigorous and professional training, a high school diploma is required; however, two or more years of college are highly desirable. Upon completion of the program the Air Force encourages the new officer to earn his degree so he can better handle the responsibilities of his position. This includes full pay and allowances while taking off-duty courses under the Bootstrap education program. The Air Force will pay a substantial part of all tuition costs. After having attained enough credits so that he can complete course work and residence requirements for a college degree in 6 months or less, he is eligible to apply for temporary duty at the school of his choice.

If you think you have what it takes to earn the silver wings of an Air Force Navigator, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Ask him about Aviation Cadet Navigator training and the benefits which are available to a flying officer in the Air Force. Or fill in and mail this coupon.

Republican County Head Forced To Quit By Party

North Carolina politicians trying to get one last word before Tuesday's election, Sunday made the political battlefield hotter with Republicans in one incident turning on one of their county chairmen.

State Republican Chairman Williams E. Cobb, after conferring with the Tar Heel GOP Executive Board, Sunday requested the immediate resignation of W. B. Rouse, the party's chairman for Craven County.

The action was taken because of a newspaper advertisement signed by Rouse which attacked the religion of Democratic Presidential Nominee John Kennedy. "Even though Rouse did not publish his statement as chairman of the party in Craven County, we condemn his action," Cobb said.

In another development, 12th congressional district republican nominee Heinz Rollman invited Gov. Luther H. Hodges to join him on a television program originating from WLOS-TV in Asheville Monday night.

"Be my guest and tell the people of North Carolina about the so-called analysis that you have made," Rollman said in a telegram to Hodges, "I do not attach any strings to such a debate except that you apologize to the people of North Carolina for making peace on earth a political football."

Rollman was objecting to a statement which referred to a world construction plan which the Waynesville shoemaker said he originated, not Kennedy.

Mr. Muehl is well qualified to give this analysis. He is the author of three books: Politics for Christians, The Road to Persuasion, and Mixing Religion and Politics. Mr. Muehl is a professor of Practical Theology at Yale Divinity School and one of the few laymen who hold positions on a seminary faculty without benefit of ordination. He is a lawyer by training, receiving his degrees from the University of Michigan, Michigan Law School, and Yale University (honorary). He is a member of the Michigan State Bar Association and the American Arbitration Association.

Currently he is active in the arbitration of numerous labor-management disputes and serves as a consultant in personnel training to several Connecticut business firms.
