Present Secretary

Kemball To Contend For S G Vice Pres.

Allen Kemball has announced his candidacy as vice-president of the Student Government recently. His campaign manager, Roger Mazingo had the following comment concerning his qualifications.

"I take this opportunity to endorse Allen Kemball, a junior in the School of Agriculture, as my candidate for vice-president of the Student Government. As we all know, the 1961-62 school year will bring forth many changes in our college community which will have direct bearings on the welfare of our Student body. By looking back over our Student Government's accomplishments to date, we can see how our fine student leadership has influenced several school policies which pertain directly to student welfare. The man I choose to support is presently a Student Government leader and has played a prominent part in establishing its record.

"Allen has been associated with Student Government for three years, during which time he served as a Senator and is presently secretary. Other areas of participation which offer insight and experience are the Consolidated University Student Council, N. C. State Student Legislature (Secretary), curriculum clubs, and Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity (Secretary).

"The quality of his work, and

Allen Kemball

his conscientious attitude, plus broad experience in the above listed activities is evidence enough that Allen would do an outstanding job in representing the whole Student body.

"Again, I endorse Allen Kemball, a man of character leadership, and a keen desire to serve the students.

Phi Eta Sigma Meets; Elects New Officers

Phi Eta Sigma, national honorary fraternity for freshman, held its annual banquet and election of officers Friday night at Ballentine's in Cameron Village. Speaker for the occasion was Hugh Cannon, Assistant to the Governor of North Carolina. Special guests present were Dean of Student Affairs, J. J. Stewart; Jafar Hoomani, recipient of the Phi Eta Sigma Faculty Award; Professor J. W. Morgan, faculty advisor to Phi Eta Sigma; and Dean Henry Bowers of Student Activities. Other guests were two N. C. State freshman coeds who although qualified scholastically for membership were nevertheless ineligible by virtue of Phi Eta Sigma's being a fraternity. They were Miss Mary Elizabeth Key of Horseshoe, N. C. and Miss Anne Loise Fakler of Raleigh.

Mr. Cannon spoke on Governor Sanford's tax proposals explaining the shortcomings of certain present procedures and pointing out the advantages to be gained by revision. He also discussed several matters now

Three Top Tar Heel Authors To Speak At Literary Forum

Helen Bevington, Legette Blythe, and Frank Borden Hanes, three Tar Heel writers who made book news in 1960, will be the featured speakers for the sixth annual North Carolina Literary Forum to be held at the State College Union on Thursday, March 23, at 8 p.m.

Sam Ragan, executive editor of The News and Observer-Raleigh Times and author of the weekly column, "Southern Accent," will moderate.

Blythe's recently released book, Thomas Wolfe and His Family, which he did with Mable Wolfe Wheaton, has received considerable attention from the literary world. Blythe, incidentally, was a University of North Carolina classmate of Wolfe, best known of the native writers. A prolific writer, the Huntersville resident, also received considerable attention for his biography of another North Carolinian, Dr. Mary Martin Sloop. Titled "Miracle In the Hills," it is the story of life and work at Crossnore in the mountains and was selected by two book clubs. For it he received the Mayflower Cup.

Mrs. Bevington, originally from upstate New York, has lived in Durham almost 20 years. She and her husband, Mr.

Merle Bevington, both teach at Duke. She is author of Dr. Johnson's Waterfall and Other Poems, Nineteen Million Elephants and Other Poems, and A Change of Sky and Other Poems. For this last volume she received the Roanoke-Chowan Award in 1956.

Borden Hanes's third book, The Fleet Rabble, is scheduled for publication in June. Like Blythe, he was graduated from UNC and also is a former newspaperman. He, too, has received the Roanoke-Chowan Award—for his Abel Anders. Both the prize-winning volume and his second book, The Bat Brothers, are novels in verse.

The panel is sponsored by the Raleigh Woman's Club, the Junior Woman's Club, and the Library Committee of the College Union.

The Forum will be held in the College Union Ballroom.

Top Teachers To Be Honored

By Bill Jackson

Selection committees from the senior class to name outstanding teachers in the various schools at State met last Tuesday night in the College Union. The meeting was scheduled for the purpose of orienting the committee members as to the part they will play in the selection of the eight professors.

The idea of recognizing State's faculty members for their superior classroom performance was put into action last year by the class of '60. Seven men representing the seven existing schools were presented the Distinguished Classroom Teacher Award; they were Dr. Arthur Kelman, Agriculture; Mr. Duncan R. Stuart, Design; Dr. Gerald B. James, Education; Dr. Forrest W. Lancaster, Engineering; Mr. Robert G. Hitchings, Forestry; Dr. Abraham Holtzmann, General

Studies; and Dr. Ernest B. Berry, Textiles.

Selection of the teachers will be made on the basis of classroom performance only, not past successes or research work. The program is designed, of course, to improve the caliber of classroom instruction at State and to recognize some of the men who have attained a high degree of proficiency in this area of instruction.

At the meeting, Dean of the Faculty John W. Shirley outlined for the committee members points to consider in making the selections. The criteria of selection is up to each individual committee, but the meeting was called to inform the seniors chosen on the committees of the nature of the awards.

According to Roger Mazingo, President of the Senior Class, the committees were chosen by the Department Heads in the different schools. In general, two seniors were picked from each department in a fair manner and invited to participate in the program. "We believe that a very competent job was done in the selection of committees," Mazingo said. "Mature, intelligent, conscientious students were chosen."

In a further statement to The Technician, Mazingo added, "This project was initiated solely for the purpose of recognizing the importance of undergraduate classroom instruction. This program, as you can imagine, received both praise and criticism from various individuals in our college community; however, we feel that the project is very timely and probably should be adopted as a permanent yearly project for each senior class.

"I cannot over-emphasize the importance of this selection committee. It will be extremely important that this project not develop into a popularity contest. The committee would have to appraise and analyze the teaching performance of every faculty member suggested to it . . . it is our sincere desire that an outstanding teacher, and not necessarily the most popular, will be selected. Each of the eight schools will have a separate committee, and the decision for the selection will be left solely in the hands of the committee."

From the School of Agriculture the seniors on the committee are Charles Little (chairman), Stuart Marks, Gerald White, Kenneth Lewis, Roger Bone, Robert Lumsden, Charles Smith, Wayne Brooks, Robert Patterson, and Wade Miller.

Talmadge Brown is chairman of the General Studies delegation. Others on the committee

NOTICE

Application blanks for Thirty and Three, sophomore honorary fraternity, may be turned in before 5:00 p.m. until March 24. Any sophomore is eligible. The blanks are due at the Student Activity offices, Room 207, Holladay Hall.

Election Books are open for all elective positions on campus. Students wishing to run for an office may sign up until March 29, in Room 207, Holladay Hall.

Are Night Quizzes Necessary

We can understand . . . yet we still regret . . . that it is perhaps necessary to schedule some academic courses as night so that students can work them into their schedules.

Many teachers state that no two quizzes can be equal, and therefore, they prefer one quiz. However, the student should also be considered. Some students are considered when the quizzes are given at night. It gives them an equal chance with all the other students in his class.

A night quiz may be more difficult for some students than others. One student may have just two courses on the day that the quiz is given, while another student may have classes from 8:00 to 5:00. This undoubtedly is a disadvantage for the student that has classes most of the day. While he is in class, the other students can be resting or studying for the quiz.

It is difficult to understand the necessity of scheduling night quizzes in courses whose lectures are scheduled during regular class hours.

We feel that some teachers . . . not all . . . may not have the time to make up more than one quiz. Therefore, they take the student's time at their expense.

The majority of the student's at this technical institution have very little spare time. They have their time budgeted to cover studies, meetings, and perhaps, a rare hour of relaxation.

We would like for the Student Government to investigate this matter, and help ease some of the strain that is present on the students with night quizzes.

Unlimited Cut System???

As most of you know, State College has the unlimited cut system. However, some teachers still find it necessary to keep rolls on upperclassmen. If we are going to have this system, it appears that the professors could abide by it.

If a student feels that it is not necessary for him to go to class except when the quizzes are given, then that is his privilege. Some students can pass a course without ever going to class.

It is true that a student loses out on some important matters by not attending class. However, in some of the classes on the State College campus, it would not make any difference whether you attended class or not. Some of the lectures are taken straight from the text, and anyone could obtain the same knowledge by reading the book.

We do not encourage students to cut classes. At the same time we do not think that upperclassmen should be penalized for missing classes. Of course, an upperclassman with a low average or a failing average should be warned about excessive cuts. The student with the high average should not be warned if he feels that he can spend his time more wisely on another course or activity.

IDC Release

Dormitories Active In All Phases

The last article concerning the Interdormitory Council dealt with its constitution and purpose. This article will attempt to summarize the operation of the IDC.

Each semester each dormitory resident pays one dollar to the IDC which is its only source of revenue. It is this source that enables the IDC to sponsor its various activities and continue its operation. The council sponsors the dormitory lounges and pays approximately three-fourths of the cost of providing television sets in the lounges. Any dormitory that lacks a TV set need only contact its IDC representative, who will explain the conditions which must be met in order that a set be placed in the lounge. In conjunction with the Physical Education Department, a highly successful intermural program has been established. The annual IDC Ball is promoted entirely by the IDC. Homecoming floats and dormitory picnics are partly sponsored by the IDC. These are a few of the many activities sponsored by the IDC, and it is my opinion that the one dollar spent at the beginning of each semester is used to the advantage of every dorm occupant.

The IDC has been headed this year by Edward Elam, president; Bob Roach, vice-president; and Houston Smith, secretary. As advisor, N. B. Watts, Director of Student Housing, answers pertinent questions and advises the council on important matters. The IDC has three directors who assist the president in the operation of the council. The athletic director, John Brady, assists the director of intermural in planning and supervising all intermural athletics, advises and notifies all dormitory athletic directors of pertinent information concerning the intermural program. The publicity director, Roger Walters, promotes all IDC and dormitory publicity. The social director, Robert Blankenship, serves as chairman of the IDC Ball Committee and is responsible for social events of the IDC. He works with dormitory social directors in carrying out social programs for the year, checks social rooms in the dorms, and makes recommendations to the dormitory social directors and the council.

A movie in color depicting the ancient and honorable people of Thailand will be shown in the College Union Theatre tonight at 8:00 p.m. The film is the second of a series in Walt Disney's "People and Places." The people of Thailand are regarded by Americans and others of the Western World as the most romantic people of the Orient, leading a life keyed to exotic enchantments. In this film, Disney has added a photographic record of the customs, historically glamorous race. A twelve-minute feature on Hungarian Revolution will also be shown. The presentation is sponsored by the International Committee of the College Union.

An interesting and informative program will be presented by the House Committee on Thursday, March 23 at the College Union from 4:30 to 7:00 p.m. This program is aimed for all students who feel the need for individual consultation and open discussion on problems relating to income tax . . . federal or state. The consultant will be a qualified accountant. There will be no obligation on the part of the participants. All interested students are urged to take advantage of this rare opportunity.

The Acts and Crafts Contest are now open to all College Union members and their families. Entrees will be classified under one of these four categories — ceramics, lapidary, woodworking, and metal craft which includes copper tooling, copper enameling, and metal etching. Items made for class are not admitted. Craft Shop purchase cards—three two-dollar cards and four fifty-cent cards, will be given as prizes. The Hobby Committee, sponsor of the contest, will have the right to reject any items which does not meet their approval. Entrees should be made as soon as possible to the Craft Shop.

There will be a meeting of the Checkers Club at the College Union on Monday at 7 p.m. All persons who wish to join the club or who just like to play for fun are cordially invited to play.

The College Union Hospitality Committee will hold an Easter Egg Hunt for the children of both faculty members and students on Sunday, March 26 at the College Union Terrace from 3:30-5:30 p.m. The children will be grouped into three; pre-school, grades 1 and 2, and grades 3 and up. Lots of fun and excitement are in store for the children attending. Prizes will be given in all groups. Refreshments will be served after the hunt.

Carnival Weekend on the State College campus is set for April 14, 15. Information about the event and applications for entering a booth have been mailed to all organizations on campus. Any organization which did not receive any information or applications, but are interested in putting up a booth, should call the Activities Office or drop by the office.

Ninety percent of the profit made by a booth is kept by the organization sponsoring the booth, and ten percent is given to the Student Loan Fund. Several Colleges including UNC, WCUNC, and the girl's schools in Raleigh area have been invited to attend the event.

An organization sponsoring a booth may also enter two contestants for the Carnival Queen Contest which will be held on Friday, April 14. The queen will be presented at the dance on Saturday, April 15, and she will preside over the presentations of trophies for the best decorated and the most original booth.

A new coin club has been organized at North Carolina State College. It will hold its first meeting next Monday night, March 27, 1961, at 7:30 p.m. in the College Union. A room has not yet been assigned, therefore any persons attending should check at the main desk for the room number.

The purpose of the meeting is to set up organizational plans and to elect officers for the coming year. The coin club is being sponsored by the College Union Hobby Committee.

Everyone who is interested in collecting coins and associating with other collectors is urged to come to the meeting. It is hoped that there will be collectors of all specialties, so that no one should hesitate to join because of this.

Pack Trips Dartmouth With Late Run Spree

North Carolina State's baseball team broke loose for 11 runs in the seventh and eighth innings to bury Dartmouth College 14-4 Monday afternoon. The score was tied at 3-all going into the bottom of the seventh inning when the Pack let go with a pulverizing attack.

Dartmouth plated three runs in the top of the second frame to take the lead. State pushed in one run in the second and then added two in the third to knot the score. In the seventh inning, Roman Gabriel reached first on a fielder's choice and then advanced on an error. Jerry Cordell, who drew the starting nod at first base, drove Gabriel home for the deciding run.

With Cordell on second, a Wayne Edwards hit was error-ed and Cordell scored. Les Young got a single and then a two-bagger by sophomore catcher George Hayworth brought in Young and Edwards. Vernon Strickland then banged out a single that scored Hayworth. In the eighth inning, the Pack banged out four straight doubles after a walk and an error had put two on base.

Wilson Carruthers started on the mound for the Pack, but he had to be relieved by Bobby Conner in the seventh frame. The win went to Conner, who is a pitching transfer from Wilmington. While in the game, Carruthers gave up three runs on three hits. He struck out five Dartmouth batters and issued five free passes to first base. Conner allowed one run and three hits, while striking out four and walking one. Bill Coates was credited with set-back.

The Pack's hitting attack clicked extremely well despite the fact that this was the first game of the season. Five of the Wolfpack gathered two hits. Hayworth collected two doubles in five trips to the plate and scored twice. Gabriel had a single and a double in six trips to the bat and he scored twice also. Edwards knocked out two doubles in five times at the bat. Edwards scored twice.

Young scored twice and had two hits in four tries. Sorrell said before the season started that Young was good fielder, but he didn't know whether he could hit well enough. Vernon Strickland had two hits in four trips and scored twice. The Pack showed a great deal of balance in their first game as all the starters got at least one hit.

Dartmouth and State were to have played a rematch of Monday's meeting yesterday afternoon, but the game was postponed due to the bad weather. Slated for mound duty in that contest was Joel Gibson. The Wolfpack will be idle until March 29 when they face Colby College on the State diamond. The Pack is also slated to play Maryland, Ohio, Washington & Lee, and West Virginia during the Easter vacation period here in Raleigh.

After the vacation time, the Pack will jump off into an extensive ACC schedule in which they will face each of the teams twice.
