Two Performances Slated

Friends Of The College Present MacLeish's "J. B."

Persons holding memberships in the current season of the Friends of the College, Inc., will be able to choose one of two performances of Archibald MacLeish's "J. B." when the Broadway touring production of the play is staged in the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum at North Carolina State College Monday, April 10.

Jerry Erdahl, administrative director of the Friends of the College, has announced that both afternoon and evening performances of the production will be given.

The afternoon performance will be at 4 p.m.; the evening performance will begin at 8 p.m.

Originally, only one performance was scheduled. However, according to Erdahl, the intimacy of the drama has forced officials to reduce the audience seating capacity in the Coliseum. Therefore, two performances have been scheduled in order to accommodate the expected audiences.

Erdahl has urged all patrons who possibly can—especially State College students—to attend the afternoon performance. He pointed out that out-of-town patrons who can attend the afternoon performance may enjoy an evening of shopping in most Raleigh stores, which will be open Monday evening until 9 p.m.

Shepperd Strudwick, Hillsboro native, will appear in the title role in the touring production. He will co-star with John Carradine, well known stage, screen, and TV star, who will appear as The Devil. Frederic Worlock will portray God.

Brooks Atkinson, former drama critic of The New York Times, referred to "J. B." as "one of the memorable works of the century." The play ran a year on Broadway, carrying away almost all drama prizes of the season.

Original Broadway settings by Boris Aaronson will be used in the production at State College. The play direction is by Elia Kazan, music by David Amram, and costumes by Lucinda Ballard.

"J. B." is a philosophical drama based on the biblical book of Job. It is a modern play drawn from a classical theme of heroic suffering.

Archibald MacLeish, the author, won a Pulitzer Prize for "J. B." He previously had won the coveted award twice for his works of poetry. He has served as Librarian of Congress and as president of the American Academy of Arts and Letters.

Sparrow Nominated For S G Treasurer

This is a statement to The Technician from Charles A. Sparrow, Candidate for Treasurer of Student Government.

Campus Crier

The Oasis Society of the YMCA will hold its monthly meeting in the east end of the Cafeteria Grill Room on Wednesday, April 12, at 6 p.m. Those working at Central Prison, the Catholic Orphanage, Methodist Home for Children, School for the Blind, Dorthea Dix State Hospital, and Joe Lewis Park are urged to attend.

Peace Corps volunteer forms are available at 206 Holladay Hall. Anyone interested in obtaining one of these forms or securing further information concerning the Peace Corps should come to this office as soon as possible.

All fraternities and organizations are reminded that the deadline is past for payment for space in The 1961 Agromeck. Checks should be made payable to The 1961 Agromeck and should be mailed to Bill Lytch, Box 5727, State College Station.

Any person who has served on a Student Government (See Crier, page 4)

"Having worked with finances, budgets, bills, etc., for the past two years, I feel that the following three planks of my platform are the most essential to the welfare of the students:

(1) Future needs of this college must be considered when planning a budget for present requirements. This fact is made evident by the additions of Harrelson Hall and Fraternity Row, as well as the institution of the School of Physical Sciences and Applied Mathematics.

(2) Our scholarships and fellowships should increase in proportion to the growth of this college. As one of the leading technical schools in the South, we should continue to recognize those students who deserve and need financial help. Because of the anticipated increase in enrollment within the next 5 years, this will present an important problem to the college and to the students.

(3) As keeper of the books, my task is clearly defined. I can only promise to conscientiously perform the duties required of me.

"As you can see, my platform calls for planning on a long-range scale. I have outlined, for the most part, aims rather than promises. I hope that this article has been of some help to you who will be voting in the elections Thursday."

Annual Parents' Weekend Features Variety Of Special Activities

State College's annual Parents' Weekend, sponsored by Golden Chain, senior leadership honorary, will begin Friday with an official welcome by Lieutenant Governor H. Cloyd Philpott at the opening of the Engineers' Fair in Riddick Stadium. This special weekend in honor of the parents will come to a close Sunday, the last event being an all-campus sing sponsored by Mu Beta Psi, State's music fraternity.

The parents will have an opportunity to observe the fruits of labor in several diverse areas of student endeavor during their stay on campus. Among the many college organizations taking part in the weekend will be the Engineers' Council, whose Engineers' Fair has long been the outstanding attraction during the weekend. The Fair will provide the parents with a good look at the accomplishments of the State student in the field of engineering.

The College Union will present its annual carnival on Friday and Saturday with the Carnival Queen being crowned Friday night at the Carnival Kick-off Dance. Carnival booths will be operated by State College organizations and groups from UNC and Woman's College representing the Consolidate University Student Council.

Registration for the parents will be held in the College Union Saturday morning from 9:00 A.M. till 12 Noon. This registration will be handled by the Order of Thirty and Three, the college's sophomore leadership honorary. Saturday afternoon there will be open house in the dormitories and fraternities for all visitors and at 3:00 there will be a tea held for the parents in the College Union. This tea will be given by Blue Key, State's national leadership honorary for juniors and seniors. The Engineers' Council will continue its presentation of the Engineers' Fair in the engineering department buildings from 9:00 A.M. until 5:00 P.M. Saturday afternoon. Saturday's activities will come to a close that night at 8:00 in the College Union with the Consolidated University Day Dance.

On Sunday morning a special service for the parents will be held in the Danforth Chapel of the E. S. King Religious Center, preceded by a coffee hour at 10:00. The final activity of the weekend will be the all-campus sing at the College Union beginning at 2:00 that afternoon. This sing will be of a competitive nature, pitting the best voices from the many campus organizations against each other.

Several organizations are to be commended for their work in trying to make Parents' Weekend a big success. Among them: Golden Chain, Blue Key, the Engineers' Council, Mu Beta Psi, the Order of Thirty and Three, Alpha Phi Omega, and the College Union.

Floyd Airs Opinions On Campaign Issues

This statement was given The Technician by Jim Floyd.

"Since returning from the Easter Holiday's, I have begun an active campaign for President of our Student Government. I have been asked many questions and have answered them. The following ones have been asked most often. I trust that these questions and my answers will aid you in deciding who to support for President of our Student Government.

Q. Why do you wish to be Student Government President?

A. "I believe it is the duty of every citizen to offer to serve his community (college community in this case) and given the opportunity to do so, exercise his capabilities with pride and dignity, with vision and concern, seeking always to enhance the growth and development of that community. I believe it the duty of every governing body to attempt to bring about a harmonious relationship between the body and the people it serves. I offer my services."

Q. Just what elected positions have you held in our Student Government?

A. I am presently serving as Student Government Treasurer and served as a member of the Campus Code Board last year.

Q. What are your opinions of a party system at State?

A. It appears as if we are moving slightly in this direction. I feel that a well organized party system would be an advantage to our Student Government. A party platform could be adopted and campus issues could be debated between parties instead of individuals. Campaigns would be closer correlated and students could be definitely sure of the position of the person they vote for. I would, however, be the last person to advocate a party system consisting of an "Ag Party" and an "Engineer's Party". This type system could develop considerable tension between students in our various areas of study.

Q. How do you stand on the traffic problem and Freshman having cars?

A. This is an old question. Since arriving at State, I have stood strong for any student operating a car at State provided his or her parents have no objection. This is a privilege that few North Carolina Colleges offer their students. I stand prepared to defend this privilege. As our student body grows this problem will become of even greater concern than it is today; therefore, I feel that this problem must be handled tactfully and carefully with the interests of all concerned considered. Our traffic prob-

Campus Leaders Endorse Tolson For S G Pres.

We the undersigned do hereby publicly endorse Norris Tolson for President of Student Government. We know Norris Tolson and recognize that he possesses the abilities and qualifications necessary for the office of President. We feel that Norris earnestly desires to serve the students of North Carolina State College as is verified by his active participation in past Student Government activities. Therefore, we do heartily endorse and support Norris Tolson for President of Student Government.

Williamson Seeks IFC Post

This is the statement released to The Technician by Richie Williamson, candidate for President of the IFC:

"The executive committee of the Interfraternity Council has nominated me to be a candidate for the office of President of the IFC for the 1961-62 school year. This office will be of extreme importance in the next year with the coming of Fraternity Row. This project will require definite foresight and intense planning in the months of organizing a strong unit which face us. I have set foremost in my campaign the idea of bringing together a closer and more effective IFC to be carried out in the year ahead.

"I have had much experience in working in the IFC and other campus organizations and will devote full time to carrying out the vast amount of work that will undoubtedly face the new Council. My efforts will be directed towards bringing closer unity among the fraternities and better discussion of problems common to all, an area that has been neglected in the past. Our fraternities are based on brotherhood, and now is the time for this brotherhood to be spread to all fraternities.

"My experience for this office include serving as an IFC representative, IFC publicity chairman and athletic director, editor of the FRATERNITY WAY, and a member of the executive committee of the IFC. I am a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Blue Key, and Phi Eta Sigma honor fraternities, have served as a senator in the Student Government, executive council of the Wesley Foundation, associate sports editor of THE TECHNICIAN, and a member of the Intramural Advisory Board. I feel that these positions have given me the opportunity to see first-hand the actions and problems of this campus from various sides; therefore, I feel qualified and capable of holding the office for which I am running.

Journalism Course Needed

In past years student publications at State College have suffered due to small staffs. The lack of student aid has hindered many of the publications and has put extra strain on the members of these small staffs. What has been the main reason for these publications lacking the support of the student body?

Before we answer this question, we would like to examine some of the publications. All of the student publications belong to the Board of Publications. The Agromeck, The Technician, and WKNC are considered the main three publications. They are the executive members of the Board of Publications.

The editors and business managers are given a token allowance each month to cover their expenses that faces them. The editor and business manager of The Technician are paid ninety dollars per month, while The Agromeck's and WKNC's top brass are paid sixty dollars per month.

There are also some other positions on these staffs that receive some allowance. We would like to say that none of these students are getting overpaid for the time that is rendered to their publication. We would also like to say that there are students that work on these publications for nothing. They work because they enjoy the type of work. A member must work on a publication for at least a year before he can receive a salary.

This is one of the reasons that it is hard to obtain members for these staffs. Why should a student work for nothing when he could be receiving money elsewhere for his services?

State College is a technical school. It is hard for a student to sacrifice approximately ten hours of his week for nothing. No student receives any academic credit toward his degree for his services on a publication.

We feel that there would be more students working on the publications if credit was given. We also feel that a course in journalism should be offered to students. We feel that a lab should be connected with this course. A student's lab would consist of working on one of the publications for a certain number of hours a week.

We feel that if this course was offered, it would increase the size of the staffs besides increasing the quality. It would definitely help us in obtaining a daily student newspaper for State College.

There has been some discussion among administration leaders about a course of this type. We feel that the college would be very wise to install a course such as this for it would benefit from the course as well as the student body.

The students that work on the publications do a very good job with their limited experience and small staffs. However, these students would do a better job with more experience in the journalism field and more help from the student body. The publications at State College will continue in their same class if some help is not received . . . both from the college and the student body.

To The Editor
Of The Technician:

As election time approaches, we look over the field of candidates in order to choose the best qualified. Surely if the candidates are willing to give of their time, energies, and talents in campaigning and in performing the duties of their elective office, the least we as State College Citizens can do is give these men our careful consideration in order to elect the best.

I would like to call to your attention Mr. Charles A. Sparrow, candidate for Treasurer of the Student Government. This office is important to all of us (we all pay the fees the Treasurer will be in charge of) and Charles Sparrow is a very worthy candidate.

It is not necessary for me to review the Campus activities of Charles Sparrow. Suffice it to say that his leadership is proven, his interests are varied (including Engineering School Technical Societies, honor societies, church groups, service societies, fraternity, etc.), his experience in handling monies and in budget planning is superior, and his intentions are honest and well-planned.

One of the biggest jobs facing the new Student Government Treasurer will be planning. It will not be possible to just perfunctorily do what was done last year. I am happy to report that Charles Sparrow is aware of the responsibility and has prepared a plan for action. He recognizes the growth and change in State College—the new schools, new facilities, new and increased needs of all students. I urge you to consider the ideas in his statements; to assess the value of having a forward-looking, interested, qualified Treasurer of the Student Government, and to elect Charles Sparrow.

Frank S. Madren

To The Editor
Of The Technician:

It is with considerable pleasure that I announce the candidacy of Lamar Thomas for Senior Representative to the Honor Code Board. We are fortunate indeed that such a capable person has volunteered his services for this vital position.

Editorial Note

In the past month there have been editorials in The Technician that were not initialed. These editorials were written by our editor. All the editorials that were not written by the editor were initialed by the writer. We hope that this will clear up the matter.

Lamar, a Junior in Mechanical Engineering, has been a prominent campus figure throughout the past three years. Perhaps he is best known for his work in the State College Y.M.C.A. Lamar served as secretary of the Y during his sophomore year, and now holds the presidency of that organization. He is also active in the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the Scabbard and Blade, and is chairman of the Student Government Cafeteria Advisory Committee. In recognition of his leadership abilities Lamar has been elected to membership in the 30 & 3 Honor Society.

In view of these facts, I urge that all rising seniors go to the polls on Thursday, April 13, and cast their votes for Lamar Thomas as Senior Representative to the Honor Code Board.

Kinney Bales

To The Editor
Of The Technician:

Carlyle Franklin, Forest Management major from Richmond, has compiled an impressive record as a student. As a recipient of a four year scholarship and as a participant in the honors program, he has demonstrated his ability. On campus, Carlyle has served as president of the YMCA Freshman Council and on the YMCA Cabinet. Also, he is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, scholastic honorary and the Order of Thirty and Three, leadership honorary.

In high school he completed a course in journalism, wrote for his high school paper, and was youth page editor for the Richmond News Leader. In his senior year, he was tapped into the International Honor Society for High School Journalists.

Franklin has proven his desire to serve as Editor of the AGROMECK by suspending his undergraduate research project of the honors program for the 1961-1962 school year.

Van Sherrill, Editor of the Southern Engineer and running mate of Franklin, also has considerable experience with publications, having served as business manager of his high school annual.

After being promoted from managing editor to editor of the Southern Engineer, Van, a native of Benson, N. C., has displayed competency and dedication to good journalism. In addition to publications, mechanical engineering student Sherrill has invested many hours in the chairmanship of the Student Government Traffic Committee.

I endorse the candidacy of Carlyle and Van, respectively, for Editor and Business Manager of the AGROMECK and request your support!

On Engineers' Fair

By Frank Madren

The Twenty-Ninth Annual Engineers' Fair is to be presented this year on April 14 and 15. The Fair is a tradition in the Engineering School, dating back to 1924 when the Engineering School consisted of a few hundred students with facilities in Winston, Daniels, and the buildings now housing Mineral Industries and Park Shops. The Fair has consistently improved. The number of people coming to see it grows larger each year. The Fair this year promises to be bigger and better than ever.

The Fair will be opened this year with a short address by Lt. Governor Cloyd Philpott, a prominent industrialist and political leader, and a great friend of State College. He will speak at 2:00 p.m. outside Riddick auditorium on Friday, April 14.

Following Lt. Governor Philpott's remarks, Dean J. H. Lampe of the School of Engineering will present the Hamilton Award to the Outstanding Engineering Senior who has most successfully combined proficiency in his major field of study with notable achievements in the social sciences and humanities. The award of a Hamilton wrist watch goes to a Senior chosen by a faculty committee.

Then, Miss Carol Ann Williams, "Miss Raleigh of 1961" (and daughter of a State College Engineering School graduate) will cut the ribbon officially opening the Fair. At 2:30 p.m., the Fair will be open to the public, and will remain open through 10:00 p.m. and 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Saturday, April 15.

The theme of this year's Fair is "Engineering for a Better Tomorrow." All of the departments in the School of Engineering are working on exhibits that will convey this idea as well as demonstrate the important and interesting principles of science and engineering.

Included in the 10,000 or more visitors to the Fair will be high school students from all over North Carolina, the parents of many students, and friends of State College from Raleigh and the surrounding areas.

In addition to the Engineers' Fair, I would like to call attention to the other events of this weekend. Golden Chain is sponsoring Parents' Weekend, and has sent a special invitation to your parents to visit State College during this weekend. The Dormitories will be holding Open House. The College Union is holding Carnival Night. Blue Key is entertaining the parents with a tea at the College Union. There will be a special service at Danforth Chapel. A large group of students from W.C. will be coming here for the activities. All of these and other things add up to an exciting weekend at State College.

Perhaps you are wondering about your part in all of this. Like all big events, this weekend is made up of a lot of people contributing a part to the effort. I would like to list a few things that you could do.

1. Make sure your parents are coming to see the Engineers' Fair and will be participating in the Parents' Weekend Activities.
 2. Invite a group from your high school. You could act as their guide and introduce some of your friends to the educational opportunities at State College.
 3. Participate in the Engineers' Fair. If you have an idea for an exhibit, funds are made available by the Engineers' Council to your department fair chairman for financial help. If you are not building an exhibit you can be a big help in your department in presenting the exhibits to the public. This is the largest job of all. Remember that the department with the best over-all show will receive a plaque distinguishing the winner of the Engineers' Fair for 1961.
 4. Be present at the opening of the Fair, tour the Fair, and take part in the activities of this big weekend.
 5. Encourage your fellow students to do the things above also.
- I know that you will want to share in the pride of a successful Engineers' Fair and Parents' Weekend.

Van Sherrill Seeks Agromeck Position

Van Sherrill, a candidate for Business Manager of The Agromeck, made the following statement to The Technician:

"When we pay our college fees next fall we will pay for a copy of the 1962 edition of the Agromeck. How good a publication will it be? ... the photography? ... the layout? ... the commentary? How can we be sure of getting our money's worth? ... By choosing the two people for the two top positions who are best qualified and most willing to serve.

We look to the Agromeck to record in picture and commentary the day by day history of State College. It should be more than just a big book of pictures; it must tell the story of State College, our own story. On this account I feel that a thorough evaluation of the Agromeck is long overdue. The Agromeck needs new life to better reflect the spirit of State College. I want to survey the best annuals from all over the nation for new ideas and improved techniques. The Columbia Press Association and other similar groups offer many valuable services to student publications. Full advantage shall be taken of these opportunities.

I realize the value of experience and genuine desire to serve the campus. We want a better Agromeck, and we are willing to work for it! My running mate and I are confident that we have the experience and the ability to raise the standards of the Agromeck. We present ourselves and offer our services to you the student body, hoping that you see the need as we do.

Jerry Hutchens Vies For Jr. Veep

Jerry Hutchens, candidate for Junior Class Vice President, recently made the following statement to The Technician:

"Students, the day has passed at State College when the quiet lead and the blind follow. We are no longer self-entities but a homogeneous body with group shared interests, ideas, and ambitions. A new day has dawned at State College when good leadership is essential for the further prosperity of this school. You, as a student of this institution, have an obligation to provide your college with capable and experienced leadership. In order to do this, you must vote. I pledge myself, as a candidate for Vice President of the Junior Class and Junior Textile Senator, to support your interests as a member of the student body. To the members of the different schools, the fraternities, the veterans, and the students off campus I hereby pledge complete support of all matters of importance.

"The object of my candidacy is to serve the interests of the students to the best of my ability. If elected, I shall endeavor to live up to the responsibility and the confidence entrusted to me. The purpose of this campaign is not only to fill vacant offices, but to allow you, as a student of State College, to elect valuable and efficient leaders. This is my ambition. This is your responsibility."

-Bowling Captains-

There will be a meeting of all open league bowling captains at the Western Lanes on Tuesday night at 9 o'clock in order to set up the schedule for the league.

-We're Sorry-

The Technician wishes to apologize for the omission of the sports page in this issue. Such a flood of campaign "poop" came into the office that the staff felt that to be fair to everyone, it should run as much campaign material as possible.

Lamar Thomas Nominated For Honor Code Board

Lamar Thomas, Nominee for Senior Representative to the Honor Code Board recently made the following statement to The Technician:

"Fellow classmates of '62, I wish to present my reasons for running for the position of Senior Representative to the Honor Code Board and to outline for your consideration my suggestions for actions to be taken by the Honor Code Board during the next year.

"Throughout the past three years I have noted with a great deal of interest the actions taken by the Honor Code Board and the student response to these actions. The past boards have continually made attempts to bring the value of the Honor System to the student's attention. I desire that this effort be continued and I wish to insure its presentation. I am confident that I am capable of making conscientious efforts toward fair decisions on cases and interpretations handed to the Board.

"Through discussions with other students and with faculty members and through personal evaluation, I see several areas which I think should deserve specific consideration in the Honor Code Board's 1961-62 program. These important areas would form a program (1) emphasizing to each entering student that he is never expected to be called before the Honor Code Board due to a personal violation, and that he is responsible for living up to this expectation, (2) conveying to each student that as a citizen of the State College Community, he is responsible for upholding its prestige and honor in the classroom, on campus, and in any city, state, or nation where the N. C. State College Man finds himself, (3) asking each professor to make a concentrated effort to acquaint fully his students with what he will consider to be fair and unfair in the preparation of assignments for the particular course, making this presentation at the beginning of the course and discussing peculiarities as they arise (Of particular interest would be information about the help one might receive in preparing themes, research papers, and assignments requiring group effort such as lab reports or research projects), (4) acquainting the student with the possible rulings that the Board can make, (5) emphasizing that the responsibilities we accept today form the core from which we build throughout our lives, and (6) seeking to evaluate the signing of the honor pledge.

"These are only a few areas which deserve consideration. I hope that you will evaluate these and those others which my opponents will present. Vote for the program and the man you think best. I hope that you will find the above program interesting and valuable. If so, I shall appreciate your vote.

 lem at present is not in the number of parking spaces, but their location. I feel this can and will be solved with all interest considered. If spaces become a problem Doak field can be opened and an area behind Tucker and Owen is to be paved in the future.
 "I have tried to visit a majority of the fraternity houses in order to fully explain my ideas, but due to a lack of time, I was not able to visit all. For those which I did not see, I hope that you will take this statement into account when you go to vote."

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS:

DEAR DR. FROOD:

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: A penny saved is a penny earned. And if you could put away a penny a week for one year . . . why, you will have fifty-two cents!

Dear Dr. Frood: Our college mascot is a great big lovable Saint Bernard. He loves everyone—except me. In fact, he has bitten me viciously eight times. What can I do to get him to like me?

Frustrated Dog Lover

DEAR FRUSTRATED: Mother him. To carry this off, I suggest you wear a raccoon coat, let your hair and eyebrows grow shaggy and learn to whimper affectionately.

Dear Dr. Frood: Most of my life here is extracurricular. I carry the drum for the band, pull the curtain for the drama society, wax the court for the basketball team, scrape the ice for the hockey team, clap erasers for the faculty club and shovel snow for the fraternity houses. Do you think these activities will really help me when I get out of college?

Eager

DEAR EAGER: I don't think the college will let you out.

Dear Dr. Frood: On New Year's Eve I foolishly resolved to be more generous with my Luckies. My friends have held me to this, and I've been forced to give away several packs a day. What do you think would happen if I broke this resolution?

Resolute

DEAR RESOLUTE: It's hard to tell, really. Lightning, a runaway horse, a tornado—who knows?

Dear Dr. Frood: Before vacation, my girl and I agreed to exchange Christmas presents. I sent her a nice hanky. You can imagine how I felt when I awoke Christmas morning to find a sports car from her. What can I do now?

Distraught

DEAR DISTRAUGHT: Remind her that Easter giving time is just around the corner.

Dear Dr. Frood: Can you help me convince my girl that I'm not as stupid as she thinks I am?

Anxious

DEAR ANXIOUS: Perhaps, but you'll have to convince me first.

TO GET A QUICK LIFT, suggests Frood, step into an elevator and light up a Lucky. Instantly, your spirits will rise. When you savor your Lucky, you're IN—for college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular. They're a wisecracking bunch who've known all along that Luckies taste great. Get the cigarettes with the toasted taste—get Luckies.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!
