portunity to present to you my candidate for Senior Class Fresident, John Broughton. President, John Broughton. John is now a Junior in Applied Physics, and would appreciate the opportunity of leading the Class of '62.

"He is backed by Roger Mo-ingo, Don Rink, Wade Mills, and Steve Browning who are President, Vice President, Sec-tetary, and Treasurer of the present Senior Class. John elso has the full support of Allen Kimball, who is past Secretary of the Student Government, and John Hardage who is present President of the I. F. C.

'Neil Blake, who was in the preliminaries for Senior Class President, has also pledged his support in favor of John.

"John is thoroughly familiar with the duties of Senior Class President, as he has been help-ed extensively by Roger Mozin-go. This includes the Outstanding Professor Award which is the main work of the president.

"I appreciate your time in reading this article and your support for my candidate."

Futrell Releases Views And Policy

Jim Futrell, a candidate for Senior Class president retently released the following state-ment to The Technician.

The following is a statement made by Jerry Crabtree, urging support for John Broughton, candidate for Senior Class President:

"I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the rising seniors who voted for me in the primary election and ask again for your support in the final election.

If elected on Thursday my purpose will be to make good all opportunities to represent the Seniors of N. C. State Coltresident. John Broughton. lege in whatever way I am called upon to perform.

The powers and limits, the strengths and weaknesses, the past and present and future of the office of Senior Class Pres-the office of Senior Class President depends upon the support given the Senior Class President by you as Seniors.

My hope is that all rising Seniors will come to a clearer understanding of the duties and responsibilities of the Senior Class President.

The President of the Senior

The President of the Senior Class has the responsibility for leadership of the Senior Class. This leadership must be underand approved by rising Seniors.

The President acts as spokes ever the opportunity arises. The graduation speech is a major task of the President of the Senior Class, and I look forward with much enthusiasm performing this task.

I feel the Senior Class should

The final campus elections will be held tomorrow What does this mean to the members of the student body? It evidently means nothing when approximately nty-five per cent of you did not vote last Thursday in the primaries. If Castro would have been running for President of the Student Government, he would have probably been elected because of the poor support that you offered the candidates in the election.

The Right To Vote ...

If the administration decided that you could not vote on Student Government posts, you would say that you had a right to vote. If the trend continues as it has in the past few years, the administration will probably designate capable students to fill these positions, and you will not be able to voice your opinion one damn bit on any Student Government matter. This may seem strange to you now, but it could happen.

School spirit is reflected in these elections, and from the results, we are presently very low. It is about time seventy-five per cent of you started to take an active part in your Student Government. We have one of the strongest Student Governments among the nation's colleges, but the student body as a whole is very weak when it comes to supporting the candidates running for a major office.

Two of the major races were decided by less than a hundred votes last Thursday. These races were expected to be close, but not as close as they were.

We hope that the seventy-five per cent of you that did not vote last Thursday will try to take about five minutes of your precious time tomorrow and vote. You would be doing the candidates a favor, the student body school a favor, and most of all, you will be exercising one of America's greatest privileges . . . THE RIGHT TO VOTE!!!

State Tons Duke 5-1:

By Earl Mitchelle Sports Editor

State handed Duke their first eball loss of the season y afternoon 5-1 on the yesterday afternoon 5-1 on the State diamond. It was State's third conference win and it moved them into strong contention

Going into the bottom of the eighth inning, State held a slim 2-1 lead over the visiting Blue Devils. In that inning, Roman Gabriel, batting in the clean-up slot, smacked a 410-foot home run over the left field fence with two mates aboard to lock up the game for the Pack, Ver-non Strickland walked to lead off the eighth frame and after Ray Perry popped out, Wayne Edwards was issued a free pass. With these two men on the sacks, Gabriel sent his towering blow over the fence to clinch the

In the sixth inning, State pushed back into the lead with the help of one run. Strickland led off with a single and then Perry pushed him to second. Strickland then scored on a single by Edwards.

The big eighth inning for the Pack put the game on ice for State. The eighth inning actually had no bearing on the outcome of the game, but it gave the shivering fans something to cheer about. A strong wind whipped over the field for almost the whole ball game. When the the whole ball game. When the game started the wind was blowing from home plate toward the left field fence, but changed several times before the game was completed.

Carruthers Wins

Wilson Carruthers went the distance for the Pack on the mound and picked up his second mound and picked up his second win of the season against no setbacks. Carruthers gave up seven hits to the Blue Devils, three of which went to McCracken. The "outside voice" that links the base with alert and command posts throughout the world is a multichannel microwave radio relay system capable of handling hundreds of telephone conversations, teletype messages and early-warning radar data simultaneously. The communications equipment connecting Vandenberg Air Force Base with the outside was designed, manufactured and installed by our subsidiaries, Automatic Electric and Lenkurt Electric, and is operated for the government by General Telephone of California

This advanced high-speed system is expressive of the way General Telephone & Electronics strives to serve the nation through better communications – not only for national defense, but for homes, business and industry as well.

"As a candidate for vice-president of our class, first, I would like to express my sincere appreciation for your support in the general election. I am one of the two candidates who will be in the runoff election on Thursday of this week. Now, I ask you to support me again in the runoff.

I have always be en interest nave atways been interested in the various class activities which are associated with each school year. Although I have had little experience here at State College, I can assure you that if I am elected, I shall devote my time and services to you that if I am elected, I shall devote my time and services to help make the coming year the best and most prosperous year for our class. Also, I shall work with the other class officers to promote any worthwhile activity that you (the class members) show an interest in.

"I would consider it a great onor to be elected as vice-presi-nt of our class. However, only on can help bring this desire reality. During the past two seks, I have worked hard with my campaign, and I will con-tinue to campaign this coming week. During the week, I hope to talk personally with as many of you as possible.

"In the general election last thursday, only approximately 400 members of our class exercised their privilege to vote. As you know, this is less than 50% of our total class members. Because we are electing the people who will be leading our class for the coming school year, it is our duty, as class members, to vote for the candi-voting."

Wes McGee, a candidate for president of the Senior Class who did not make the final election, asked his supporters to support Jim Futrell for class president Thursday. Wes stated:

"I think that Jim has the best program for president. He is diligent, hardworking, and earnest. If Jim carries out his duties next year as well as he has his campaign, we seniors should reap very many benefits. I hope that all the students who voted for me in the pre-liminaries will throw their support to Jim."

THE DEAN YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN

Now in the waning days of the school year when the hardest heart grows mellow and the very air is charged with memories, let us pause for a moment and pay tribute to that overworked and underappreciated campus figure, your friend and mine, the dean of students.

Policeman and confessor, shepherd and seer, warden and oracle, proconsul and pal, the dean of students is by far the most enigmatic of all academicians. How can we understand, him? Well sir, perhaps the best way is to take an average day in the life of an average dean. Here, for example, is what happened last Thursday to Dean Killjoy N. Damper of Duluth and M A and M.

At 6 a.m. he woke, dressed, lit a Marlboro, and went up on the roof of his house to remove the statue of the Founder which had been placed there during the night by high-spirited under-

At 7 a.m. he lit a Marlboro and walked briskly to the campus (The Dean had not been driving his car since it had been placed on the roof of the girls dormitory by high-spirited under-

At 7:45 a.m. he arrived on campus, lit a Marlboro, and climbed the bell tower to remove his secretary who had been placed there during the night by high-spirited undergraduates.

At 8 a.m. he reached his office, lit a Marlboro, and met with Derther Sigafoos, editor of the student newspaper. Young Sigafoos had been writing a series of editorials urging the United States to annex Canada. When his editorials had evoked no response, he had taken matters into his own hands. Accompanied by his sports editor and two copy readers, he had gone over the border and conquered Manitoba. With great patience and several excellent Marlboro Cigarettes, the Dean persuaded young Sigafoos to give Manitoba back. Young Sigafoos, however, insisted on keeping Winnipeg.

At 9 a.m. the Dean lit a Marlboro and met with Erwin J. Bender, president of the local Sigma Chi chapter, who came to report that the Deke house had been put on top of the Sigma Chi house during the night by high-spirited undergraduates.

At 10 a.m. the Dean lit a Marlboro and went to umpire an intramural softball game on the roof of the law school where the campus baseball diamond had been placed during the night by high-spirited undergraduates.

At 12 noon the Dean had a luncheon meeting with the president of the university, the bursar, the registrar, and the chair-man of the English department at the bottom of the campus swimming pool where the faculty dining room had been placed during the night by high-spirited undergraduates. Marlboros were passed after lunch, but not lit owing to the dampness.

were passed after lunch, but not lit owing to the dampness. At 2 p.m., back in his office, the Dean lit a Marlboro and received the Canadian minister of war who said that unless young Sigafoos gave back Winnipeg, Canada would march. Young Sigafoos was summoned and agreed to give back Winnipeg if he could have Saskatoon. The Canadian minister of war at first refused, but finally agreed after young Sigafoos placed him on the roof of the mining and metallurgy building.

At 3 p.m. the Dean lit a Marlboro and met with a delegation from the student council who came to present him with a set of matched luggage in honor of his fifty years' service as dean of students. The Dean promptly packed the luggage with his clothing and Marlboros and field to Utica, New York, where he is now in the aluminum siding same. is now in the aluminum siding game.

To the dean of students and all you other hard-working academic types, here's the new word in smoking pleasure from the makers of Mariboro—king-size unfiltered Philip Morris Commander. Welcome aboard!
