State Homecoming To Offer Pageant Of Varied Events

By Bill Jackson

Hundreds of alumni, parents, and guests are expected on the State College campus this Saturday when the Wolfpack will play host to the Virginia Cavaliers in the annual Homecoming Day football festivities.

Special events for the occasion will include the annual Homecoming Parade, the selection of the State College Homecoming Queen, the Homecoming Dance and open house at the Alumni Building, the fraternities, and the dormitories.

Elaborate Parade Scheduled

The Homecoming Parade, an event anticipated greatly each year by both students and townspeople alike, will start from the Memorial Auditorium in downtown Raleigh at 10:00 a.m. and wind its way back to the Tower. This year's parade will feature over 50 units, including the Homecoming Queen finalists, 7 bands, 25 dormitory and fraternity floats, and several special surprises. Ervin Lineberger, the Chairman of the 1960 Homecoming Parade, reported to The Technician: "The enthusiasm concerning homecoming this year has certainly been high. We are looking forward to one of the best parades ever." The parade is sponsored annually by The Order of Thirty and Three, the sophomore leadership honorary society.

Trophies will be awarded to the winning floats in the three contest divisions: dormitories, fraternities, and campus organizations. The prizes are donated by the Raleigh Merchants Association, who will select the judges.

Game Ceremonies

The State College Marching Band, with several visiting high school bands, will present a special pregame performance just before kickoff time. The other bands are: Durham High, Smithfield High, Henderson Jr. High, Fuquay Springs, and Broughton High.

Game time at Riddick Stadium will be 1:30 p.m. The elaborate half-time ceremonies will feature the talents of the Marching Band, the Drum and Bugle Corps, and the Pershing Rifles crack drill team. The winners of the float trophies will be announced, and the finalists in the Homecoming Queen Contest will be presented. Miss Peggy Breedlove, 1959 Homecoming Queen, will then crown Miss Homecoming Queen of 1960. The contest is conducted by Blue Key Honor Fraternity, junior leadership society.

Saturday evening the Monogram Club will stage the Homecoming Dance at the College Union. The Homecoming Queen will be officially presented at the dance.

The student organizations represented in the parade are: States Mates, Young Democrats Club, Forestry Club, Alpha Phi Omega, the Veterans' Association, and the Young Republicans Club.

The fraternities taking part in the parade include: Sigma Nu, Pi Kappa Phi, Sigma Chi, FarmHouse, Delta Sigma Phi, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Lambda Chi Alpha, Pi Kappa Alpha, and Alpha Gamma Rho.

The dormitories entering floats are: Bragaw, Owen, Turlington, Syme, Fourth, Becton, Alexander, Tucker, and Bagwell.

Castro Pulls Out; Visit In New York Was A Real Gasser

Fidel Castro moved out of the Hotel Theresa Wednesday with 300 pieces of luggage, part of a case of whisky and two containers of white mice. After surveying what Castro had left behind, the manager said he would not voluntarily accept him as a guest again.

Shortly before Castro left, a suspicious looking package was delivered and examined by a police bomb squad. The package was X-rayed and otherwise examined before it was deemed safe to be opened.

The parcel contained a large package of flea powder and a note that read:

"You can probably use this." The Theresa, in the heart of Harlem, caters almost entirely to a Negro clientele. Castro moved there lock, stock and hot plate from the Hotel Shelburne in Midtown Manhattan in a pique over arrangements made for him there.

Castro and his party occupied 40 of the hotel's 300 rooms. They spent much of their time beating on the walls to the time of Latin rhythms and drinking coffee, according to hotel employees.

Thirty-one hopping mad members of Castro's U. N. delegation—and much of Castro's baggage—were left stranded in Bogdan Babich will conduct the famed Branko Krstanovich Chorus in a concert on October 5 at the Coliseum. The 80-voice ensemble will be presented as the first attraction in the Friends of the College second series.

Slav Chorus To Appear

By Jim Page

The Friends of the College will start their second grand season October 5 when they present the Branko Krstanovich Chorus of Yugoslavia, with Bogdan Babich conducting.

This is the second year that the Friends of the College will bring to the Piedmont area of North Carolina a previously unobtainable quality of music, theater and dance events for the lowest possible price.

The four concerts which will be presented this year will cost approximately $30,000.00. The College Union puts $3500.00 into this fund while the townspeople of Raleigh will cover the balance.

State College students will be able to see all four productions this year along with their dates simply by showing their I.D. and registration cards at the door of the Coliseum.

Beside the October 5 attraction, the Friends of the College will present the Detroit Symphony Orchestra with Paul Pary conducting on February 16; the New York Philharmonic, with Leonard Bernstein conducting April 19; and "J. B.", Pulitzer Prize Broadway Play by Archibald MacLeish.

The Branko Krstanovich Chorus of Yugoslavia is composed of 40 men and 40 women. The largest chorus ever to tour America will bring with it an attitude and sympathetic understanding of ensemble singing which is an ingrained part of the cultural life of Yugoslavia. The Yugoslavs are known throughout Europe for their vocal traditions dating back hundreds of years.

They are one of the oldest and most distinguished European choral organizations. In Europe it is, in fact, a continuation of the great tradition of the "Obilich" Choir founded in 1884. Two years of negotiations were needed to obtain this chorus so that they might make a tour of this country.

Make plans now to hear this group of 80 mixed voices when they come to Raleigh on their first tour in the United States.

Homecoming

This coming weekend promises to be one of the most colorful weekends for the school year. It is homecoming, and many of the alumni will be back. Many of them will be surprised at how State has grown in recent years. They will see a new dormitory . . . Bragaw . . . which opened two years ago. They will see a new gymnasium in its final stages of completion. This new gymnasium will be opened next semester. It will be one of the most modern of its kind in the South. A new married housing project will also be seen, and many of the alumni that lived in Vétville will wish that this project had been here when they attended school. They will also see a new circular mathematics building in progress.

Yes, State College is becoming more modern every year. The old campus is gradually giving way to the new look. Even though State is referred to as Cow College by some individuals about twenty-five miles from Raleigh, but it is definitely not the correct name for a college that is changing its look rapidly.

Homecoming also gives the student a chance to impress the alumni with his and her maturity and responsibility. The alumni also get a chance to view the school spirit of the college . . . a thing that has been lacking in the past few years. Many of the different organizations will have floats in the annual Homecoming Parade. This is a form of school spirit which impresses many of the old grads that return.

Of course, the big thing of Homecoming is the football game Saturday afternoon between the University of Virginia and the Wolfpack. The student body will be given another chance to show the alumni just how much school spirit we have this year. We have started off the year on the right foot with two straight victories, and there is no excuse about us not having a winning football team. Let's show the alumni that not only is the school obtaining the new look, but also the student body. Let's show them that there is more school spirit at State than ever.

Then, there is the crowning of the Homecoming queen, and the Homecoming Dance Saturday night that ends the big weekend.

We hope that the alumni and the student body enjoy one of the most gala festivities of the whole school year . . . the 1960 Homecoming.

Fraternity Flashes

With Ed Puckhaber

Although it has been repeated hundreds of times this week, on behalf of State Greeks I would like to echo a giant sized CONGRATULATIONS to Coach Edwards, his staff, and team for that magnificent and thrilling performance at Chapel Hill last Saturday. The high spirited, or should I say spirited high fraternity men were behind you all the way, and we look forward to cheering the Wolfpack on to another victory this weekend.

With the Homecoming parade and game the main events for this Saturday, most of the houses have been making plans to entertain their alumni who are returning for the annual day of partying. Some of the faithful return every fall. I'm sure most of the houses would be pleased, but very much surprised, if all (or almost all) of their alumni became as faithful as those very few. It can happen.

There has been a small rumor circulating around that the competition between houses for the best Homecoming Parade float will be a little more keen this year. We'll have to wait until Saturday to see what these Friday night float building parties will produce.

As the first day of October approaches, the planning for the IFC fall pledge formal moves into high gear. From all reports, it seems as though a real bang up weekend is in store. More details and publicity are forthcoming as the date draws nearer.

This column is intended to be a source of news and information for the fraternity men at State. However, it can not serve this purpose unless contributions are made from time to time from the member fraternities of the IFC. Believe it or not, fraternity men are interested in what's taking place in other houses. Generally, IFC news is easily obtainable and will be included each week. It is the individual house news which should also be included, but which is not so easily obtainable. Therefore, I would be happy to receive any news, comments, or opinions from other fraternity men. Just call or write to Ed Puckhaber at the Sigma Nu fraternity.

To the Editor

As a result of pressing issues, the date of this year's Campus Chest drive has been changed from October 3-8 to October 31 through November 5.

The change came as a result of the meeting of the Campus Chest Advisory Committee last Monday night. The committee felt that everyone was too busy with homecoming and everything that comes along with the first few weeks of school to have a successful drive at the scheduled time.

Progress has been made in the planning of the drive and it appears that the drive should net more than the previous year's campaigns.

The advisory committee is composed of the president of the student government, Bob Cooke; the president of the IDC, Ed Elam; the president of the IFC, John Hardage; WKNC manager, Kent Watson; The Editor of The Technician, Jay Brame; Student Government Representative, Irvin Lineberger; and Campus Chest Chairman, Tom Lane.

Nixon and Sanford Picked To Win

By Jim Page

As the intensity of the various political campaigns gains volume and each candidate, it seems, makes every effort possible to our brag and out promise the other candidate, we all wonder who will manage to poll the greater number of votes come November. We would like to present our views on the campaign and make our predictions in regard to the gubernatorial race and the presidential race.

Let us first look at the state running to see who will occupy the mansion for the next four years. Terry Sanford and Robert Gavin are both staging a vigorous campaign. Sanford has relaxed somewhat after the Democratic primary while Gavin may be working somewhat harder as poll time grows nearer. Sanford showed up very well in the primary and it may be readily seen that he carries a great deal of force. He has a very dynamic personality and a good speaking ability which has sparked his campaign across the state. However, in the past few months some Democratic supporters of Sanford have turned against him for several reasons. The primary reason that possibly might be seen is that Sanford went for Kennedy at the national convention. As a true Democratic this is about the only thing that he could have done, but there is a great deal of discontent throughout the state because of this move. There are several other reasons which could be brought out but space does not permit at this time. Some Democrats have even gone so far as to start a Democrats for Gavin group because of their discontent for Sanford.

On the other hand, Bob Gavin has been able to arouse considerable Republican and Democratic support throughout the state. Much of this support may be due to the fact that the people of North Carolina do not want another man in the mansion that will be anything like Hodges; or, it may possibly be for other reasons. At any rate, Gavin has got considerable support considering he is a Republican candidate.

Gavin may have hurt himself in his mud slinging statements against the Hodges administration because of their force; however, Hodges has counterbalanced this to a great extent by slinging his share of mud at Gavin in support of his administration and in favor of Sanford.

Gavin, in our opinion, does not have the personality and the speaking ability that Sanford has nor does he have some of the very influential backing that Sanford has. This tends to hurt him to some extent, but of course, the big thing that will injure him is that North Carolina has some of the most staunch Democrats to be found in the nation and they will go the democratic ticket all of the way.

It is our opinion that Sanford will take Gavin with out too much trouble come November, but Gavin will show up fairly strong as a Republican candidate.

Now let us briefly look at the presidential campaign. We have of course noticed that both Kennedy and Nixon have been carrying on a very rapid moving campaign. Each man is seems is trying to cover just as much ground as possible. Each man of course has a very strong and firm group of supporters behind him. However, we feel that there are several things which will turn the tide toward one of these men.

One of the first things is that the Democratic party is split to some extent. It was split in the convention and still is not as firmly behind its candidate as perhaps he wished they were. Also, it seems that Lyndon B. Johnson has not been as active and has not done as much good in the south as the Democrats had hoped for. Several Southern governors have felt that their states are not as solidly Democratic as they once were, a matter which they had hoped Johnson could help.

We feel also that one thing that will play a large part in this campaign is Religion. Perhaps many people do not want to admit this but never-the-less it is a fact that in the coming elections many votes will be cast against Senator Kennedy because people do not want to take the chance of having the United States controlled from the Vatican. The South in particular we feel will be influenced by this factor.

Kennedy and Nixon came on the political scene about the same time but they have had different kinds of experience. Kennedy has had a great deal of experience in the legislative branch of the government while Nixon has had his experience in the executive department of the government. Each of these men are leaders in their respective parties and are very strong members of them.

Perhaps one thing that may tend to hamper Nixon in the election is the fact that there is some discontent with the Eisenhower administration. This may hamper Nixon because of his close affiliations with this administration and his support of it.

Regardless of the fact that (See CANDIDATES, page 8)

Engineering Honors Program Enrolls Top Forty-one Juniors

A group of 94 of the most talented students in the School of Engineering at North Carolina State College are participating in a special program to develop their unusual abilities. The "Engineering Honors Program" is designed for juniors and seniors who have displayed superior talents during their freshman and sophomore years. Engineering Dean J. H. Lampe said.

The program gives the students a considerable degree of freedom from customary academic rules and provides specifically-developed courses through which they develop their special talents.

Electrical Engineering—R. H. Blackwell, Jr., Charlotte; R. L. Boger, J. C. Harris, J. C. Hart, W. M. Jackson, all of Winston-Salem; A. M. Chedester, Alexandria, Va.; John B. Link, Salisbury; and L. K. McDowell, Tarboro.

Engineering Mathematics—C. B. Carver and R. E. Williams, Jr., both of Raleigh; Walter Cummings, New Delhi, India; Marvin Margolis, St. Paul; P. N. Nazetta, Winston-Salem; and Roscoe Elkins of Clarkston.

Mechanical Engineering—J. P. Brauer, Norlina; J. T. Curlee and H. W. Blake, both of Winston-Salem; G. W. Fisher, Mt. Pleasant; D. W. Nelson, Morehead City; L. M. Perry, Jr., Sanford; and E. S. Todd, East Bend.

Physics and Nuclear Engineering—D. H. Brown, V. B. Noah, H. B. Noah, A. K. Pearson, Jr., and R. S. Winton, all of Raleigh; R. A. McCorkle, Cherryville; C. E. Parks, Halifax; S. D. Scott, Fair Bluff; G. H. West, Kinston; C. L. Duke and R. H. Williamson, Canton; and Candler Willis, Candler.

Mineral Industries—L. W. Sink of Lexington.

Dr. Robert A. Douglas, professor of Engineering Mechanics at North Carolina State College, wondered if he was seeing double when he met identical twins Bryan Noah (center) and Vann Noah. And he was even more surprised to learn that the Raleigh students are both juniors at State College, both studying nuclear physics, and both new members of the "Engineering Honors Program." The twins are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Noah, 2514 Park Drive, Raleigh.

Foremost among a number of additional opportunities and privileges accorded the participants is a lecture series in which outstanding representatives from varied fields of engineering and the sciences introduce and discuss topics of current significance.

Headed by Dr. Robert A. Douglas, the honors program selects superior students from the various departments of the Engineering School at the conclusion of their sophomore years. Each one is assigned a special adviser within his respective department and together they prepare a program of studies for the student's remaining years of undergraduate work together with tentative plans for a first year of graduate study.

Through the honors program, the students have an opportunity to obtain "a truly outstanding education on which to base future work," Dean Lampe said.

The 41 juniors tapped into the program this year are:

Chemical Engineering—R. O. Hadlock, Raleigh; W. H. Slack, Wilmington; and W. R. Bland, Edward, N. C.

Civil Engineering—P. W. Brant, W. T. Buchanan, Grady T. Ferrell, all of Raleigh; and W. C. Carpenter, Hickory.

Cavaliers To Visit Riddick

"State's traded a loss for a win." Such has been the main comment about the State-Virginia game. Many of those in the know think that the replacement of Clemson with Virginia almost assures State of a win. Coach Earle Edwards looks at the Virginia game in this manner.

"Virginia is about due for a win and I would hate to lose because of carelessness or because of not being ready."

"We don't want our boys to have a dropoff because of it not being Carolina. In the Atlantic Coast Conference you can't be successful unless you go all out in each game," added Edwards about the upcoming Virginia game. Edwards plans to have his Wolfpack in much better shape as far as offense is concerned. The Wolfpack showed great defensive ability against the Tar Heels last Saturday when the chips were down. They grabbed fumbles and intercepted passes when they really needed to.

The Virginia team will come into the State game with a 19 game losing streak. Their latest setback came at the hands of Wm. & Mary by a 41-21 count. But it is to be noted that the 21 points scored by the Cavaliers in their first game was more than they had scored in nearly three seasons. As Edwards stated, the Wahoos are just about due for a win, but the State team is hoping that they don't get that win this Saturday.

The Wolfpack definitely has too much for the Cavaliers in all departments and should win this one with relative ease.

Big Four On The Move

All of the Big Four schools will be on the move this weekend with the exception of State. Carolina will move down to Miami to get things underway Friday night. The Tar Heels, as we all know, suffered a setback last Saturday at the hands of State. Miami will be playing their first game of the year when they face the Carolina forces. Last year the Hurricanes defeated the Heels by a 14-7 margin, but it is doubtful if they'll be able to turn the trick this year. The Miami forces will be missing the services of Fran Curi, who almost personally beat the Tar Heels last year.

North Carolina should rebound from last week's defeat and take the Miami Hurricanes for their first win of the season.

Duke, who surprised everybody in their opener with South Carolina, will travel to College Park, Md., to do battle with the Maryland Terrapins. Duke let loose a wide open offense on the Gamecocks and mopped up the field with them to the tune of 31-0. Maryland fell victims to the powerful Texas Longhorns, 34-0, last week.

Duke seems to have found the replacements that they needed and should beat the Terrapins this Saturday.

Virginia Tech, who is 1-1 on the season will journey down to Death Valley to face Clemson. Clemson opened up its season in a very impressive manner by trouncing Wake Forest on the Deacs home ground. Virginia Tech stopped weak West Virginia last weekend and were beaten by N. C. State the week before. Clemson was picked to win the ACC crown this year and they made a good start against the Deacons.

In the words of Frank Howard, "The champs ain't dead" and VPI is going to find out the hard way. Clemson will win this one with relative ease.

Wake Forest will move down to take on Florida State. Florida State was downed by Florida in a close one last week by a 3-0 margin while the Deacs were losing their opener against the Tigers. Last year the Deacons edged the Florida St. team in a close one.

The Deacons should hit the comeback trail with a win over Florida State.

In the final ACC attraction of this week, South Carolina takes on Georgia. Last week the Gamecocks were stomped by Duke, 31-0, while the Bulldogs were downing Vanderbilt, 18-0.

Georgia should win this one over the Gamecocks.

Pack Seeks Third Win; Virginia Offer Opposition

By Earl Mitchell
The University of Virginia Cavaliers will move into Riddick Stadium Saturday afternoon trying to break a 19 game losing streak. The Cavaliers will be seeking their first win since 1958 when they beat Duke 15-12. State, on the other hand, is currently on a two game winning streak and it is not likely that the Virginia team will be able to break it.

The homecoming tilt is slated to get underway at 1:30 between the two ACC foes. This will be the second conference game for State while it will be the first for the visiting Wahoos. Last weekend State slipped passed the University of North Carolina 3-0 on a field goal by Jake Shaffer. While the Wolfpack was taking their second win of the season, Virginia was being soundly trounced 41-21 by William and Mary. State fans will remember the William and Mary team back in 1957. The State team was coasting along undefeated and had been tied twice when William and Mary tripped the Wolfpack by a 7-6 count.

The last time the Cavaliers and the Wolfpack met was back in 1958 when the State team beat Virginia 26-14 for one of their two wins that year. The Virginia game will be only the second time that an Earle Edwards coached State team has played the Cavaliers. The last time that the Pack faced the Cavaliers before Edwards's reign was back in 1946 when State defeated the Wahoos, 27-7.

The Pack will have a chance to really show the fans the passing attack that they have been promising since the start of the season. Roman Gabriel, who has completed 63% of his passes this year, will probably be throwing the ball all over the field come Saturday afternoon. Against Carolina, Gabriel was able to throw only seven passes because the Tar Heel defense kept the Pack in the hole most of the game.

Gabriel's principle targets will be ends John Gill, Dennis Kroll, Jim Tapp and John Morris. Morris has been one of Gabe's favorite targets during the season while Tapp has proved to be very strong on defense, especially in the Carolina game. Collice Moore and Tiny Reynolds will probably get the starting assignments at the tackles. Bert Wilder, Graham Singleton and Nick Maravich will also see a great deal of action at tackles before the game is over.

Joe Bushofsky and Alex Gilleskie will be the number one guards for the Virginia game if things run true to form. Also seeing a lot of action at the guards will be Jake "The Toe" Shaffer, who booted the winning field goal against Carolina, and Harry Puckett. Co-captain Bill Hill will alternate with Jim Fitzgerald at the pivot post. It was Fitzgerald, who stopped a Tar Heel drive with a key pass interception.

The backfield will, of course, feature the passing arm and play calling of Roman Gabriel at quarterback. Tom Dellinger will spell Gabriel on defense and Bill Kriger, who turned in a 21 yard dash against UNC, could see some action from the signal calling spot. The halfback chores will again be divided among John Stanton, Al Taylor, Claude Gibson and Randy Harrell. The fullback spot will feature Roger Moore and Jim D'Antonio.

The Cavaliers will probably have Tony Uehla and Ed Ferris handling first string halfback positions with Carl Kuhn, Ted Rzemoluch and Bobby Freeman also seeing a great deal of action. The quarterbacking will be handled by two lettermen and a sophomore. Arnold Dempsey, Stan Fischer and Gary Cuozzo will do most of the signal calling. John Barger, Fred Shepherd and Tommy Griggs will alternate at the fullback post.

The centering will be handled by sophomores Andy Moran and Bill Lang. Dick Fogg could see some action at the pivot post. Carrying most of the load at tackle in the State game will be John Marlow, Ron Gassert, Bill Kanto and Hank Koehler. Rounding out the starting lineup will be Emory Thomas and Frank Hamilton at the guards and Dennis Andrews and Brerly Jones at the flank positions.

Head Cavalier coach, Dick Voris stated at the first of this year that he expected some improvement in his team over last (See CAVALIERS, page 5)

Wolflets Open Season With Carolina Frosh

By Richie Williamson

The Wolflets of N. C. State open their 1960 football season this Friday night at 8 o'clock in Riddick Stadium against the Tar Babies of North Carolina. The game is under the sponsorship of the Raleigh Shriners. For the freshman it will be the first time to play under a college banner.

State's frosh have been going through practice drills since September 1 and according to Coach Johnny Clements, the team has come along very fast. Clements said that Friday night's contest will give his men a chance to gain some valuable experience and almost everyone is expected to see action. The squad has been divided into three units in practice sessions; the "blue" team, the "yellow" team, and the "white" team. Clements plans to use these three units Friday night so that more boys will see action.

The Wolflets gained excellent experience last Friday in a practice game against the "rinky-dinks" which they lost on the last play of the game by a 13-7 score. With Jimmy Rossi of Asheville quarterbacking the blue unit and Ron Skosnik of McKees Rocks, Pa., calling the signals for the yellow team, the frosh moved the ball very easily for the first three periods. The defensive play by the middle of the line and the linebackers also stood out in the scrimmage. The experience of the "rinky-dinks" came through in the last quarter to pull out the victory.

During the final week of workouts before the opener, Clements said he would work on the basic offense and defense setups in an effort to cut down on the mistakes. Also, the defensive unit would work against Carolina's plays. The offensive workout would be concentrated on moving the ball on the ground. Also the passing attack looked strong in scrimmages.

In comparing this year's team to the 1958 Wolflets which featured Roman Gabriel, Clements thought "that this year would produce a better balanced team with a much stronger line. The boys have shown excellent spirit and aggressiveness and appear to have a definite desire to win."

Besides Rossi at quarterback, the blue unit will have co-captains Anthony Koszarsky of Bridgeville, Pa., and Joe Scarpatti of Fanwood, N. J., at the halfbacks, and Pete Falzarano from Stirling, N. J., at the fullback slot. The yellow team has Skosnik at quarterback, Charlie Thompson of Asheville and Carson Bosher of Chester, Va., at the halfbacks, and Nick Jessen, Lynchburg, Va., at fullback. Tom Kehoe of Hawthorne, N. J., will work at quarterback and halfback positions.

The ends will be played by Bob Landis, Dan Martin, Jim Martin, and Bob Royer. The tackle positions include Rosario Amato, Doug Brackett, Rawley Speir, John Turco, and Lou Richmond. Filling in the middle of the line at guards are Bob Bussard, Silas Snow, Golden Simpson, and Bill Sullivan. At center is Vance Cockerham along with Gerald Topinka.

The Tar Babies are under a new coach this year, and coach Bob Thalman says that there has been competition for starting assignments at virtually every position. His starting lineup will consist of either Charlie Shaffer, Chapel Hill, or Richie Pierson, Bergenfield, N. J., at quarterback, Eddie Kesler and Glenn Ogburn at halfbacks, and Barry Westfall at fullback. The starting ends will be Jerry Rowe and Jerry Spivey, tackles are Vic Esposito and Jim Alderman, George Ellison and Curtis Ish at guards, and Bob Brown at center.

Last year the Carolina frosh beat State by a 28-0 score so this year the Wolflets will be gunning to even the score and make it a clean sweep against Carolina this season.

Pack Booters Face Ft. Bragg In First Match Of Season

The N. C. State soccer team will open its 1960 season Saturday, October 1, when they journey to Fort Bragg to do battle with the Fort Bragg team. Last year the State booters fell victim to Fort Bragg in the first two games of the season.

Last year the State team won two games in nine outings while losing seven contests. The two wins came over Lynchburg by a 3-1 count and over Virginia Tech, 7-0. The Wolfpack soccer team played four conference games last year and are scheduled to play four ACC matches again this year.

New additions to the schedule include Pfeiffer, Norfolk Navy, and Washington & Lee. Other opponents for the 1960 season include in addition to Fort Bragg, Maryland, Lynchburg, Duke, Virginia, and North Carolina.

Coach Bill Leonhardt has only two lettermen with which to build his team. Tommy Lind, one of the senior lettermen, will be counted on heavily as a fullback. Gunter Hafer, the other returning letterman, will be counted on to hold down the goal position for the State team.

Even though there are only two returning lettermen, Coach Leonhardt is very optimistic about this year's prospects. Leonhardt thinks that he will have the best team he has had since coming to State four years ago. Leonhardt bases this belief on the fact that he has a large group of top notch newcomers to fill in the vacant spots in the lineup.

This year's edition of the Wolfpack soccer team has 22 members with 11 being from the United States and the other 11 coming from outside the U. S. Ergin Uskup, a junior left forward, from Turkey is picked by Leonhardt as possessing All-American potential.

"I am as enthusiastic about this season as the boys. I believe several teams on our schedule are going to be in for a surprise," stated Leonhardt.

Backing up Gunter in the goal position are junior John Broughton and sophomore Charles Thompson. The list of wings includes Ed Gibson, Robert Nelson, Rodrigo Porras, and Oral Soysal. To the right of the center Leonhardt will be counting on Xahier Doxandabartz and Fereidoun Hamedani, while Uskup will handle most of the action on the left side of the center.

The number one center at the present time is Sukru Tarim, a junior from Turkey. In addition to Lind, Leonhardt has four fullbacks. These include Manuel Gonzales, Jack Grimberg, Carlos Platschek, and Steve Zeis. Rounding out the team are halfbacks Verlin Edwards, Bernd Hintz, Harry Maheras, Jose Marti, Jorge Rivadeneyra, and Josef Scherman.

After the Fort Bragg match on Oct. 1, the Pack will return home to face this same Fort Bragg team on Oct. 6. On Oct. 8 the Pack booters will start their ACC schedule with a match with Maryland here in Raleigh.

Taylor and Gabriel Lead Offense Depts.

In figures just released by North Carolina State College, Al Taylor is the number one rusher for the State Wolfpack. In two games Taylor has picked up 101 yards in 26 carries for an average of 3.9 yards per carry. Next in line is Jim D'Antonio, who has picked up 21 yards in seven carries for an average of 3-0 yards per carry.

In the under-ten carries department, Bill Kriger has ripped off 24 yards in two carries for an average of 12.0 yards per carry. Tom Dellinger has picked up 21 yards in two carries for a 10.5 average.

In the passing department, Roman Gabriel is the sole name. Gabriel has completed 17 passes for 159 yards. Gabriel is currently hitting on 63% of his passes.

Gabriel's number one receiver is John Morris, who has caught five passes for a total of 66 yards. Next in line is George Vollmar, who has snared four passes for 35 yards.

year, but he pointed to 1961 as the year for a fruitful team. In scoring 21 points against Wm. & Mary, the Cavaliers scored more points than they had scored since 1957 when they stomped VPI 38-7. This in itself is improvement over last year.

As the series between the Pack and UVA stands at the present, State has won five and Virginia has won five with one contest ending in a tie. The 12th meeting of the two clubs should be an exciting one set in State's homecoming festivities. State will be a definite favorite unless something drastic happens between now and game time. But this does not mean that Virginia can't and won't be tough.

Wilson Fellowships Offered For Teachers' Grad Study

Princeton, N. J., October 3—An election campaign promising rich rewards for the successful candidates gets under way today as thousands of faculty members from universities and colleges in the United States and Canada begin to nominate college seniors for Woodrow Wilson graduate scholarships.

In announcing the opening of the competition for the academic year 1961-62, Dr. Hugh Taylor, President of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, estimated that well over 9,000 students will be nominated by the closing date of October 31.

Designed to reduce a nationwide shortage of qualified college teachers, the program annually awards 1000 fellowships for first year graduate study at any university of the recipient's choice in the United States or Canada. Candidates are elected only after rigorous screening and personal interviews by one of fifteen regional committees of educators. Each elected fellow receives a $1500 stipend for living expenses plus full tuition and family allowances.

The program is open to college graduates mainly in the humanities and social sciences. There are fellowships open to technical students also. Both men and women are eligible, and there is no limit on the age of the candidate or on the number of years he may have been out of college. Those who receive awards are not asked to commit themselves to college teaching, but merely to "consider it seriously" as a possible career.

The program, designed to encourage college seniors of outstanding ability to study for advanced degrees with faculty jobs as their goal, is administered by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation under a $24,500,000 five year grant from the Ford Foundation.

Dr. Hans Rosenhaupt, National Director of the Wilson Fellowship Foundation, in an analysis of the past years' activities, reported that the highly selected grants have been awarded to graduates from 560 different colleges. This is convincing proof that many colleges throughout the country, not only the few well-known ones, offer high quality education. Almost 90 per cent of all the 1000 Fellows in 1959-60 continued study after the first year, and more than 75 per cent of all Fellows eventually end up in academic positions. Of the nominated candidates who failed to win Woodrow Wilson Fellowships more than 80 per cent, Dr. Rosenhaupt said, went on to graduate school anyway, often with financial help from other sources. He estimated the annual need for new college teachers at 30,000 a year for the next ten years.

The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation does not accept applications directly from students. Every candidate for the award must be nominated by a faculty member. Nominated students are invited to declare themselves active candidates for the award by sending the necessary application forms to the chairman of the selection committee for the region in which the prospective candidate is now located. A list of the fifteen regions and the names of the regional chairmen may be obtained from the Foundation's national headquarters, Box 642, Princeton, New Jersey, or from the Woodrow Wilson representative Dr. John Lambert, 220 Winston Hall on any campus in the United States and Canada. Names of fellowship winners will be made known by March 15, 1961.

To Seniors

Fulbright Grants Available

Only one month remains to apply for some 800 Fulbright scholarships for graduate study or research in 30 countries, the Institute of International Education reminded prospective applicants today. Applications are being accepted until November 1.

Inter-American Cultural Convention awards for study in 17 Latin American countries have the same filing deadline.

Recipients of Fulbright awards for study in Europe, Latin America, and the Asia-Pacific area will receive tuition, maintenance and roundtrip travel. IACC scholarships cover transportation, tuition, and partial maintenance costs. IIE administers both of these student programs for the U. S. Department of State.

General eligibility requirements for both categories of awards are: 1) U. S. citizenship at time of application; 2) a bachelor's degree or its equivalent by 1961; 3) knowledge of the language of the host country; and 4) good health. A demonstrated capacity for independent study and a good academic record are also expected. Preference is given to applicants under 35 years of age who have not previously lived or studied abroad.

Applicants will be required to submit a plan of proposed study that can be carried out profitably within the year abroad. Successful candidates are required to be affiliated with approved institutions of higher learning abroad.

Enrolled students at a college or university should consult the campus Fulbright adviser for information and applications. Others may write to the Information and Counseling Division, Institute of Inter-

Technician To Offer Paperback Review

The first issue of Paperback Review will be inserted in The Technician during the week of October 3. This printed insert will contain feature articles by Mark Van Doren and other well known literary figures, cartoons by Ed Fisher, a literary quiz, and lists of from five to six hundred of the best paperback titles currently available in various field of interest.

These titles have been selected and reviewed by such eminent specialists as Mark Van Doren, Richard Morris, Brooks Atkinson, Margaret Mead, and Orville Prescott.

Cubans

New York on Wednesday when the Cuban premier flew back to Havana aboard a borrowed Soviet airliner.

They were still stranded on Wednesday night, blocked from leaving by a legal battle over a seized Cubana Airlines turbo-prop Britannia plane, one of three such planes placed in receivership by courts because of a stockholders' suit against the airlines.

The plane had been scheduled to leave at 2 p.m. EDT with Castro and his 64-member delegation. Because of the legal dispute over the plane's ownership, however, police refused to let it take off. Castro and 33 members of the party then left aboard the Soviet plane placed at his request by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, leaving the others behind.

Fifteen of the 31 Cubans left stranded by Castro boarded the Cubana plane and ignored police demands that they get off. Sixteen others were prevented from boarding by New York Port Authority police and sweated out the wait in the Cubana lounge in the terminal building.

English Prof Climbs Pike's Peak Twice In Day

A State College professor established an unofficial record this summer when he climbed Pike's Peak twice in one day.

He is Edwin H. Paget, professor of English at N. C. State, who vacations annually in the Colorado and whose hobby is mountain climbing.

His recent record-breaking hikes were reported in the Colorado Springs, Colo., Free Press of September 8 under the byline of Jerry Skelton:

"Edwin H. Paget, professor of speech and director of debating at North Carolina State College, Raleigh, N. C., lists his hobby as climbing mountains, but he specializes in climbing one mountain—Pike's Peak.

"Paget set an unofficial record last Friday when he climbed Colorado's most famous peak twice in the same day.

"His morning trip took three hours and 14 minutes and his afternoon ascent took three hours and 26 minutes. 'I slowed down a little on the second hike,' he commented.

"His fastest Pike's Peak climb took two hours and 44 minutes." The record was set in 1903 at two hours, 31 minutes," Paget said.

"Today he will make his 14th ascent of the summer up the peak. This trip will bring his life total to 139 Pike's Peak climbs.

"Last summer he climbed the peak 17 times.

"I made my first trip up Pike's Peak in 1919," Paget said. "I was vacationing here with my parents at the Cliff House."

"Since that first trip as a boy, Paget has been a frequent summer visitor to Pike's Peak Region.

"This area is a nice place for a family's summer vacation," Paget said. "Being close to town means a lot, because while I'm out hiking in the mountains the family can shop, go to the theatre or see the local sights."

"Paget said another reason he likes the Pike's Peak Region was the ease of reaching other mountain areas. "I can reach five different ranges from here with less than four hours driving time," he said.

"Despite his specializing in climbing Pike's Peak, Paget has climbed most of the Colorado mountains over 14,000 feet in elevation.

"Paget pooh-poohs the claims of many vegetarians who believe their special diet makes them better climbers.

"I think they are confusing the effects of climbing with their diet," he said. "Mountain climbing is a very good exercise. I don't think the diet has anything to do with it."

"He said that he keeps in shape all year by climbing a hill near his home every day."

Judgement & Justice

After last Saturday's Victory, it seems that State students stand taller and hold their heads higher than we have noticed in a long, long while. By the way, Ol' Earl is Coach of the Nation this week. He, his staff, and most certainly the Team is to be congratulated on the fine work of Saturday last. Give 'em Hell, State!

Contrary to popular belief, State was not the first team to meet UNC in football this season, word of mouth has it that W.C. tore them up the weekend before.

Here is our first Scoop of the year! The reason that State fans always sit with the sun in their eyes is that Carolina does not want them to see how bad their team really plays.

One thing that we must give UNC credit for is that the college on "The Hill" does have some of the prettiest co-eds that we have seen in a long while also some of the cutest boys!

To Charlie Craven, we simply say, "Better luck next year." Wonder if he would cheer up if we gave Carolina two points?

INFORMATION:

Just learned that if you cut 500 bras in two, you get 1000 beanies with chin straps. (from Clean Living)

We hear by way of the local grapevine that three of our State boys were apprehended in Chapel Hill two nights before the big game and the local Gestapo charged them with trespassing. Wonder if they were staging a Sitdown Strike?

A sign in Jay Brame's office simply states: "Help Stamp Out SEX." Wonder what Jay has against it? Guess that he doesn't know that SEX is a sport, too.

K.A.: "Do you believe in free love?"

W.C. date: "Have I ever sent you a bill?"

Although we consider them to be well informed on College students (i.e. What the students will buy and how much they will pay), the Students Supply Store has installed five new convex mirrors so that they may further study the habits of State students.

Steward on Trans-Continental Flight: "Sir, would you like some good TWA coffee?"

Passenger, eyeing the shapely stewardess: "Thank you no, But I certainly would enjoy some good TWA tea."

If anyone has an idea how to rid this campus of the menace called pigeons, please contact Professor Baker Wynn of the English Dept. We understand that he got bombed, not once but twice in the not too distant past.

At Burning Tree Golf Club a foursome was interrupted by a nervous little man who gasped, "Would you mind terribly if Mr. Eisenhower played through—war has been declared."

To the person who mailed us the letter signed X. We almost died laughing at your jokes but our censor would not pass them for publication. Thanks a lot, if you have any more just send them in and we shall give them the old college try.

Nixon will lose some votes because of discontent with the Eisenhower administration we will pick Nixon to edge Kennedy in November. We feel that the religious issue will be one of the main things that will drop Senator Kennedy. North Carolina will probably go with Kennedy but Nixon will make a good show as the precincts come in throughout the Tar Heel state and in the final tally Nixon will edge out the Massachusetts Democrats as far as the national running goes.

These are our views and predictions for the forthcoming elections. Come November the eighth we will see if Sanford and Nixon carry the strength we think they do.

THE PLEDGE YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN

Today's column is directed at those young female undergraduates who have recently pledged sororities and are worried, poor lambs, that they won't make good. Following is a list of simple instructions which, if faithfully observed, will positively guarantee that you will be a mad success as a sorority girl.

First, let us take up the matter of housemothers. The housemother is your friend, your guide, your mentor. You must treat her with respect. When you wish to speak to her, address her as "Mother Sigafos" or "Ma'am." In no circumstances must you say, "Hey, fat lady."

Second, let us discuss laundry. Never hang your wash on the front porch of the sorority house. This is unsightly and shows a want of breeding. Use the Chapter Room.

Third, meals. Always remember that planning and preparing meals for a houseful of healthy girls is no simple task. Your cook goes to a great deal of trouble to make your menu varied and nourishing. The least you can do is show your appreciation. Don't just devour your food; praise it. Exclaim with delight, "What delicious pork jowls!" or "What a yummy soup bone!" or "What scrumptious fish heads!" or "What clear water!"

Fourth, clothing. Never forget that your appearance reflects not just on yourself but on the whole house. It was well enough before you joined a sorority to lounge around campus in your old middy blouse and gym bloomers, but now you must take great pains to dress in a manner which excites admiring comments from all who observe you. A few years ago, for example, there was a Chi Omega named Camille Ataturk at the University of Iowa who brought gobs of glory to all her sorors. Camille hit on the ingenious notion of suiting her garb to the class she was attending. For instance, to English Lit she wore a buskin and jerkin. To German she wore lederhosen and carried a stein of pilsener. To Econ she wore 120 yards of ticker tape. Her shiningest hour came one day when she dressed as a white mouse for Psych Lab. Not only her Chi Omega sisters, but the entire student body went into deep mourning when she was killed by the janitor's cat.

Finally, let us take up the most important topic of all. I refer, of course, to dating.

As we have seen, the way you dress reflects on your sorority, but the men you date reflect even more. Be absolutely certain that your date is an acceptable fellow. Don't beat about the bush; ask him point-blank, "Are you an acceptable fellow?" Unless he replies, "Yeah, hey," send him packing.

But don't just take his word that he is acceptable. Inspect him closely. Are his fingernails clean? Is his black leather jacket freshly oiled? Is his ukelele in tune? Does he carry public liability insurance? And, most significant of all, does he smoke Marlboros?

If he's a Marlboro man, you know he has taste and discernment, wit and wisdom, character and sapience, decency and warmth, presence and poise, talent and grit, filter and flavor, soft pack and flip-top box. You will be proud of him, your sorority will be proud of him, the makers of Marlboro will be proud of him, and I will be paid for this column.

The makers of Marlboro, having paid for this column, would like to mention another of their fine cigarettes—mild, unfiltered Philip Morris—available in regular size or the sensational new king-size Commander. Have a Commander—welcome aboard.
