Four Lectures Planned

Mrs. Nash Presents Talk In YMCA Marriage Series

The annual lectures on courtship and marriage will be presented this Monday through Thursday at 7 and 9 p.m. in Riddick Auditorium. Mrs. Ethel Nash of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine will present the lectures.

There will be four lectures in the series. On Monday, the topic will be "When Is Love Enough?" and the movie This Charming Couple will be shown. On Tuesday, the topic will be "What College Student Don't Know About Sex, or What College Students Know About Sex" with the movie Human Reproduction being shown. On Wednesday, as the concern "Pinning and Engagement, the Bridge to Marriage" with Studies in Human Fertility being the movie. The final lecture will be presented on Thursday, "Sexual Partnership in Marriage" with the movie A Normal Birth being used in conjunction with the lecture.

Mrs. Ethel Nash is a noted author, lecturer, and counselor. She is employed in the Dept. of Preventive Medicine of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine in Winston-Salem. She has become endeared to the students of State College for her humor, understanding and deep insight. This is her fourth return engagement to the college.

Golden Chain

Letters of nomination for candidates eligible for initiation into Golden Chain must be turned in to the Student Activities Office at 206 Holladay Hall by 5:00 p.m. Tuesday.

James Cox, the Student Chairman for the program, reports that the response each year is so great the facilities to accommodate those interested in the lectures have to be doubled. This year two identical lectures will be given. The first at 7 p.m. will be for men and women. The second at 9 p.m. is for men only. All students in the community of Raleigh are welcome to attend.

Mrs. Ethel Nash

The fraternities are inviting Mrs. Nash to have dinner with them prior to the lectures. Each year in such small, informal gatherings she speaks to many students. This year she will be entertained by Theta Kappa, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

For students wishing individual appointments with Mrs. Nash, these may be arranged for Friday, April 28, by contacting the YMCA office.

Epsilon Pi Tau Initiates Seven At Anniversary Dinner

Seven new members have been initiated into the North Carolina State College chapter of Epsilon Pi Tau, international honorary fraternity for industrial arts and vocational education.

The new members are: Ronald A. Bell of Winston-Salem; Ivan E. Valentine of Burlington; Walter Wray of Gastonia; Robert Lee Vaughn of Bel Air, Md.; Johnny Lee Crow of Lincolnton; James Robert Lawrence of Stoneville; and Bachary Taylor of Knighdale.

Dr. William E. Warner of Ohio State University, founder of the fraternity, was guest speaker at the 10th anniversary initiation banquet of the State College Alpha-Pi chapter.

Dr. Marshall Schmitt of the U. S. Office of Education, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Washington, D. C., was toastmaster.

Student members of Epsilon Pi Tau are elected on the basis of high scholastic achievement and demonstrated interest and ability in the profession. Professional members are admitted on the basis of superior performance as an educator, administrator, or industrial leader.

Union Directors Pick Committee Chairmen

The Board of Directors of the College Union at North Carolina State College has selected chairmen of student committees for the next academic year.

Included are 14 new committee chairmen and four chairmen from the current year selected to continue in office.

The new chairmen and their committees are:

Grace Elrod of Raleigh, hospitality committee; Dwight Pope of Burlington, house committee; Ray Brady of Newton, international committee; Dick Bullock

Taylor Elected S G Treasurer In Final Balloting Thursday

In the election finals which were held Thursday, Woodrow Taylor of Deep Run defeated Charles Sparrow of Charlotte for Treasurer of the Student Government. This was one of the closer races of the election. On the first ballot, Sparrow polled more votes than Taylor; but Taylor came back to win the election.

In the race for class officers, Jim Futrell defeated John Broughton for the office of president of the Senior Class.

Also decided were the election of the senior representatives of the Honor Code Board. Lamar Thomas and Jerry Crabtree were elected to these important positions.

John Earnhardt of Winston-Salem was elected vice president of the Junior Class.

Edward C. Franklin and Van Doyle Sherrill were elected as editor and business manager of the Agroneck after the last-minute withdrawal of Bill Lucas and Richard Culp.

Arthur L. Latimer was elected vice president of the Interfraternity Council.

This list of officers is incomplete. Due to a mix-up by The Technician, it was impossible to get the complete returns. These returns will appear in Wednesday's edition of the paper.

Hungarian Revolt Film Slated For CU Tuesday

By Peter Ivan Fogarasy

"Hungary Aflame" is the title of the 40 minute movie which was taken during the revolution of the Hungarian people in 1956 and will be shown in the College Union Theater at 8:30 P.M. Tuesday, April 25.

Besides the evidence of the 200,000 people who escaped, this film is one of the finest pieces of evidence of history's first successful revolution against Communism.

The film is not a Hollywood production and it is not in living color, but it is full of dying adventure.

I saw, as you will see on the screen, young students, who had known nothing but life under Communism, die for freedom on the street corner or on the tenth floor of a building. They died for freedom about which they had only heard from others or from their own hearts.

I saw workers lay down their tools and take up arms in a desperate bid to win back freedom for our country. I saw many tragic scenes such as a girl of 14 blowing up a Russian tank and in the next moment being killed by Russian machinegun fire.

I saw the whole nation—young and old, men and women, artists, engineers, doctors, clerks, peasants, and factory workers—become heroes over night as they rose up in the glorious revolution of Hungary against Communism.

While the Russian guns were killing our people, their broadcasts and newspapers spread the lie all over the world that our freedom revolution was a plot

It's Sports Day Tryout Time

Tryouts for the annual Big Four Sports Day begin this week for the nine sports that fill the program. The Big Four meet is being held at State on Monday afternoon, May 1. All intramural participants are urged to participate in the tryouts in order that the best teams will represent State in the meet. State has won two legs on the Annual Trophy and needs only one more leg to retain the trophy permanently.

The supervisors for each sport and the times and places for the tryouts are listed below. If a participant can not be at the tryout at the scheduled time, he should contact the supervisor and try to arrange a time for the tryout.

New College Union officers were elected by campus-wide vote in the general primary held last week. They are George Wallace of Forboro, Mass., president; Bill Cuion of Charlotte, vice president; and Cynthia Johnson of Clinton, secretary.

The 18 committees plan and execute the complete College Union program each year. Such events as concerts, talent shows, gallery exhibits, dances, lectures, student trips and outings, and lessons in various crafts and hobbies are examples of responsibilities charged to the committee.

Nomination blanks for Blue Key National Honor Fraternity may be obtained from the Student Activities Office and returned by Wednesday at 5:00 p.m. Juniors and seniors are eligible.

Whichard Receives IFC Award

Lindsay Whichard, a popular State English professor receives an E. L. Cloyd Interfraternity Service award from Peyton Neal of Greensboro at the annual I.F.C. Banquet which was held Thursday in conjunction with Greek Week. Herbert O'Keefe, editor of the Raleigh Times also received a Cloyd Award. (See Story on Page two.)

Few Students Vote

The final campus elections were held last Thursday and once again, very few students voted. There are many ways that these elections could be improved, but we are not going to recommend any improvements at this time. We are, however, going to state what happened in these elections that should not have happened.

First, there were only four polls used in last Thursday's election. Last year there were eight. We do not know why this number was reduced. There were no election boxes in front of Riddick where the majority of the engineering students usually vote. This was undoubtedly one of the causes for so few students voting. However, this was not the only cause.

The Elections Committee did not let anybody know when the elections were going to be except by inserting releases in The Technician. There should have been posters placed on the campus saying that "today is election day . . . vote."

There are many candidates that lost by a small margin, and this difference might have been overcome had the majority of the student body known that it was the day to vote. It is a crime to these students that lost by these small margins when approximately twenty-five per cent of the student body voted in the primary, and even a smaller percentage, twenty per cent, voted in the final campus elections.

There is a definite need of improvement on the part of the student body and the Elections Committee to promote these elections in a better manner. That of course will be up to those responsible next year. We hope that they do a better job than was done this year.

Minority Spoils Majority

Last week was a big week for the fraternity men at State College. Many events took place during the week, and they were climaxed by the annual spring dance Saturday night.

The members of the IFC enjoyed Joni James very much Saturday afternoon and were all set to hear her sing again Saturday night in the College Union Ballroom. However, many of them left the scene very disappointedly when they found out that she had left to make an appearance in Philadelphia.

We understand that she signed a contract to make one appearance, and she made that on Kidd Brewer's hill Saturday afternoon. We also understood that she had an option to sing Saturday night at the dance if she desired. This option was thrown right out of the picture by the poor reception that a few fraternity men gave her in the afternoon. She was received very well by the majority of the Greeks, but it was those in the minority that caused her to leave.

It is a shame that this minority spoiled Saturday night for the majority of the fraternity men. These minority know whom they are, and we hope that they are sorry for their actions. They were definitely uncalled for. We hope that they will never let this happen again.

Visiting Committee Reports On Student Affairs At NCS

(Editor's note. The following article is reprinted from the report of the Visiting Committee to the Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina. The article concerns Student Affairs at State College and the findings of the Committee.)

Student Affairs

Reports made by student leaders show progress toward the general acceptance by students of the Honor System. The Committee congratulates the student body on this progress. It also suggests an intensification of effort by administration, faculty and student organizations to bring students to a state of full mutual responsibility in the College community for honorable conduct and attitude.

The Committee accedes to the request of the students in endorsing the expansion of the Superior Student Program, which was inaugurated for the purpose of allowing the accelerated development of those students who show unusual ability.

Evidence given by students of the ineffectiveness of the Faculty Advisory Program leads to a strong Committee recommendation that steps be taken to improve this service to the students. If, as it is said, faculty members seek to avoid this function because there is a little professional recognition accruing from such counseling assignments as compared to that from research and publishing, then perhaps there should be a reappraisal of the functions of the faculty.

One of the most appealing requests heard by the Committee was for campus housing and adequate rest room facilities for women students. If they are to be admitted to the College, and their exclusion can scarcely be justified, then the need for suitable housing and facilities for women students must be recognized. The transfer of women students from Woman's College for graduate work in the Home Economics program emphasizes this need. Of special concern is the present necessity of women having to travel between off-campus residences and the library at night, in some cases along poorly lighted streets. With all fields of endeavor open to women, and in consideration of the value of their contributions to our state and nation, we cannot avoid this responsibility. We recommend the earliest possible attention to this need.

We heartily commend the student leaders and organizations on their progress in various activities. Noteworthy among these are the increase in publication of The Technician to three issues per week, the establishment of the "Outstanding Classroom Teacher of the Year" award, the projects of the YMCA, and the cultural program of the College Union.

Findings

1. Student morale and leadership are excellent. The Committee was impressed with the sincerity and maturity of the students.
2. There is a great need for housing and other facilities for women.
3. Student social, cultural, moral, and ethical programs are making excellent progress and are a major educational contribution.
4. Students are intensely interested in improving academic programs and facilities. The quality and stature of the academic program at State College are, according to faculty, students, and administration, improving at a gratifying rate.
5. There is some feeling that the field of instruction, both on and off the campus, should be increased to meet the continuing Education needs of North Carolina.
6. Faculty salaries, sabbatical and study leaves, increased library and research facilities are badly needed if the best possible faculty is to be obtained and retained.

Summary of Recommendations

1. That every possible action be taken to provide adequate housing for all State College students.
2. That the College increase and improve opportunities for

A State College professor and a Raleigh newspaper editor were presented E. L. Cloyd Interfraternity Service awards Thursday night at a State College Interfraternity Council and chapter advisers' banquet at the Angus Barn.

Herbert O'Keef, editor of The Raleigh Times, and Prof. Lindsey R. Whichard of the State College English Department, were award recipients.

The E. L. Cloyd awards were established at the college in 1960 as a tribute to Dean E. L. Cloyd, for many years adviser and treasurer of the State College Interfraternity Council and also retired dean of students.

The banquet was a part of "Greek Week" activities which was held last week at the college.

Peyton Neal of Greensboro, chairman of the IFC awards committee, presented the awards to the two men.

Professor Whichard's award is designed for someone directly connected with fraternities, who has made notable contributions to the improvement of his fraternity and in addition, has been responsible for the growth of the interfraternity system.

The other award presented to O'Keef goes to a man in the business and professional world, who has made outstanding contributions to the fraternity system and interfraternal world.

Banquet speaker was State Treasurer Edwin Gill. Other awards presented were the Pledge Scholarship Award and the Scholarship Award.

The first of these two honors, which was awarded to the Sigma Chi fraternity, goes to the current pledge class who has maintained the highest overall academic average. Fraternity president is Rudolph George Kugler, Jr., of Charlotte.

Winner of the Scholarship Award was Farmhouse fraternity. This honor is bestowed upon the fraternity whose total membership average in the current year was highest. David Eagle White, Jr., of Statesville is fraternity president.

The Pledge Scholarship Award was presented by Henry Bowers, assistant dean of student affairs, and Prof. Jesse S. Doolittle of the Department of Mechanical Engineering made the Scholarship Award presentation. (See Flashes, page 4) students with superior ability.

3. That every effort be made to improve the system for counseling and advising students.

4. That the budgets, as presented by the State College administration, are sound reflections of the academic needs and should be supported vigorously by the Trustees.

5. That the Trustees support fully the requests for facilities and equipment needed for quality ty instruction and research during the critical years of growth of State College.

6. That faculty salaries be increased to enable State College to be competitive with comparable institutions.

7. That professional travel, sabbatical leaves, and student leaves should be formalized and increased.

8. The funds provided to build up the library as soon as possible.

Friends Of The College Series Proves Popular

The total attendance for the four events of the 1960-61 Friends of the College, Inc., series held at the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum at North Carolina State College was approximately 35,000 persons.

The concert by the New York Philharmonic, with Leonard Bernstein conducting, held Wednesday night (April 19) ended the current season and attracted the largest crowd—an estimated 12,000 enthusiastic persons.

The first event in the current series, the Krsmanovich Chorus, held October 5 attracted approximately 9,000 folk.

Some 7,000 persons were on hand for the February 16 concert of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra conducted by Paul Paray. Also a total of approximately 7,000 people attended the two performances of Archibald MacLeish's "J. B." held on April 10. The 1961-62 "Friends of the College" series promises to be as interesting as the current series. Six events will be offered on the forthcoming program. First attraction will be October 23-25, when the New York City Ballet will appear.

Other attractions include the Roger Wagner Chorus, November 21; the Bayanihan Philippine Dance Group, December 1; Richard Strauss' Opera Ariadne auf Naxos, February 17; Metropolitan Opera star Birgit Nilsson appearing with the National Symphony Orchestra, February 20; and the Boston Pops with Arthur Fiedler conducting, March 31.

Friends of the College president for the 1961-62 is Sam Ragan, executive editor of The News and Observer - Raleigh Times. He succeeds William Joslin, Raleigh attorney.

Deacs Beat State, 4-3; Duke Next Foe On Card

State's baseball title hopes took a dive Saturday when they were edged by Wake Forest 4-3. The loss dropped the Pack down to fourth place with a 3-2 mark. Had they won they would have moved into undisputed second place in the league.

With four conference tilts on tap this week the Pack could boost their record to 7-3. The week starts out with a meeting with the Duke team tomorrow afternoon in Durham. The Pack beat Duke last week 5-1. On Friday they will take on South Carolina here and on Saturday they will face Clemson in a double header. The State diamondmen dropped South Carolina 3-2 earlier this season and a game with Clemson was rained out.

State came within a hair of winning the ACC tilt with Wake Forest. In the ninth inning Joel Gibson, who was pinch-hitting for Bobby Connors, blasted a deep drive to left field that hit on top of the fence and bounced back into the playing field instead of out of the park. If the ball had gone over, the score would have been tied.

State and Wake Forest each had one run in the first frame. State came back in the fifth inning to plate one run to move out in front 2-1. Wake Forest put the lid on the barrel in the bottom of the sixth inning with a three-run effort. State's Roman Gabriel blasted his third home run of the season in the eighth frame. The 400-foot homer cleared the fence in left-center-field.

Wilson Carruthers was charged with the loss for State on the mound. His record is now 2-1 on the season. Bobby Connors pitched two and a third inning in relief and held the Deacons hitless, while striking out one. Bob Plemmons was credited with the win for Wake-Forest and it was his sixth of the year.

North Carolina State's tennis dreams took a shot in the back this past week as the Pack lost two ACC matches. On Thursday the University of Virginia, one of the stronger ACC teams, trounced State 8-1. On Saturday, the Maryland Terps handed the Pack a 5-3 setback. The results of another match with George Washington have not been received.

Before last Thursday, the State netters were riding along on a 7-1 record, which was their best sometime. The losses set the mark at 7-3. Coach John Kenfield said that he felt that his charges could beat George Washington and if they did it would mean an 8-3 mark or if they didn't it would mean a 7-4 record.

This afternoon the State team got their toughest test of the season when they faced the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill. The Tar Heels are the current ACC champs on the courts. On Wednesday the Pack will return home to face East Carolina. Another ACC match is slated for Friday and that will be with Wake Forest here in Raleigh. The last match of the season will be on May 6 when Duke is here. The ACC tournament is slated for May 11, 12 and 13 in Durham.

The recent trip to Virginia, Washington, and Maryland was the first time that the Pack has played away from home this year.

C'mon, Dick! You're rationalizing. Jockey support might never have secured you against the Emperor. But it certainly would have provided snug protection against the physical stresses and strains of your active life. Your armor never tailored a coat of mail more knowingly than Jockey tailors a brief—from 13 separate, body-conforming pieces.

by fascists and counterrevolutionists, although one of the main characteristics of the revolt was that no one planned or organized it.

Young people who were educated by the Communists simply compared Communist theory with Communist practices and came to a conclusion. Workers and students initiated the ferment and two days later they had united the whole nation.

By November 10 most of the fighting had ended. A few strong resistance points held out for several days more. The Hungarians did not surrender. Their freedom revolution did not suffer a total defeat, although Hungary was forced to fight alone.

The fighting goes on but by other means: by passive resistance, pressures, and defiance. The Hungarian people say, "Our victory has only been postponed, not lost."

Fraternity Flashes

Another "Greek Week" event, "Field Day" was held Friday. During the day legitimate sports competitions plus such activities as wheelbarrow races, and car-push took place.

Saturday afternoon an open-air concert was held on the spacious lawn of the Kidd Brewer country home. Featured concert attractions were Larry Elgart and his orchestra and vocalist Joni James.

Miss James, and the Elgart Orchestra were joined by The Drifters in providing music for the annual "Spring Greeks" formal dance Saturday night in the College Union Building.

FEELING

Other shoes may look like Keds, but only U. S. Keds® can give you "that great feeling." Because Keds have a patented shockproofed arch cushion and cushioned inner sole. And because Keds are built over tested, scientific lasts, to fit all feet perfectly, even narrow ones. Keds are right for class, gym, tennis court or dorm. Machine-washable (and they even look good clean). His: Keds "Court King." Hers: Keds "Champion." Get your U. S. Keds at good shoe or department stores.

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS:

DEAR DR. FROOD:

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: A little learning can be a dangerous thing—especially in a multiple-choice exam.

DEAR DR. FROOD: I have calculated that if the population explosion continues at its present rate, there will be a person for every square foot of earth by the year 2088. What do you think of that?

Statistics Major

DEAR STATISTICS: Well, one thing's sure, that will finish off the hula-hoopers—once and for all.

DEAR DR. FROOD: You can tell your readers for me that college is a waste of time. My friends who didn't go to college are making good money now. And me, with my new diploma? I'm making peanuts!

Angry Grad

DEAR ANGRY: Yes, but how many of your friends can do what you can do—instantly satisfy that overpowering craving for a peanut.

DEAR DR. FROOD: Could you give a word of advice to a poor girl who, after four years at college, has failed to get herself invited on a single date?

Miss Miserable

DEAR MISS: Mask?

THE RECRUITERS ARE COMING! THE RECRUITERS ARE COMING! And here's Frood to tell you just how to handle them: These representatives of big business are, on the whole, alert fellows. They may be aware that college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular. Let them know that you know what's up—offer them a Lucky, then tap your cranium knowingly. Remember—today's Lucky smoker could be tomorrow's Chairman of the Board.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!
