Tapping Thursday

Golden Chain Sets

By Sandy Matthews

The 35th annual tapping of the Golden Chain Senior Honor Society will be held in Riddick Stadium, Thursday, May 11 at 12:00 Noon. The ceremony will commence promptly at 12:15 P.M. with the formation of a circle by all rising seniors around the Society's sundial which will be in the middle of the field.

The State College Band under the direction of Perry Watson will provide a musical introduction to the ceremony, and then all present will join the band in singing the Alma Mater. The Reverend Thomas M. Johnston will offer the invocation, and then the Arch-Regent of the 1960-1961 Golden Chain, Sandy Matthews, will introduce the present members and explain the origin and significance of Golden Chain.

After the introductory ritual, twelve members of the Class of 1962 will be tapped into membership, and several other individuals from the State College community will be tapped into honorary membership. These outstanding leaders on the State College campus will thus form the "Links" in the 1961-62 Golden Chain. The ceremony itself is symbolic in that it represents the linking together of outstanding men who are dedicated in their service to State College.

The Golden Chain recognizes no single attribute as the true capability of a leader, but it does recognize outstanding achievements in the fields of leadership, athletics, music, religious endeavors, scholarship, and all other cardinal phases of the academic life. It is, therefore, in all respects the highest honor that a senior can achieve at State College. The succession of links into Golden Chain is never to be broken, and in due course, the chain will extend to all parts of the world and serve to bind each individual closer to his Alma Mater.

Following the tapping on Thursday, there will be a large

Alumni Banquet held on Friday night, May 12th. All Golden Chain alumni since the origin of the society in 1926 have been invited, and the banquet should draw a large attendance and serve to create new bonds of friendship. Dave W. Morrah, of Greensboro, a noted humorist and alumnus of Golden Chain and State College will be the principal speaker of the event.

In case of inclement weather, the tapping on May 11 will be held in Reynolds Coliseum. All members of the student body are urged to attend this inspiring ceremony, and all Faculty and Staff members are also cordially invited to attend.

All students entering the contest should turn in their designs at the College Union Main Desk no later than 6:00 p.m. Friday, May 12.

The design should be in ink on white paper and at least 3" by 3" in size.

The winner will be announced Monday, May 15, and will be determined by a committee composed of the present and newly-elected freshman and sophomore officers.

Fitting date for the blazers is May 15. A five-dollar deposit will be required at the time of the fittings.

Academy Of Science To Honor Best Science Paper Writer

The John Bewly Derieux Award will be given tomorrow at 6:15 p.m. when the banquet of the 58th annual meeting of the North Carolina Academy of Science will be held in Leazar Dining Hall at State College.

The award will go to the North Carolina college student who presents the best science paper to the Collegiate Academy, a section of the North Carolina Academy.

The award, consisting of a gift of $50 and an engraved certificate, was established in 1950 by Mrs. Derieux as a memorial to her late husband who, for 28 years, was a member of the North Carolina Academy and who served as its president.

Dr. John B. Derieux was born in Thorne Grove, Tenn., in 1881 and attended the University of Tennessee, where he received the B.S. degree in electrical engineering and a master of arts degree.

He studied modern physics at the University of Chicago for three years, earning the Ph.D. degree in physics and mathematics in 1919. During his stay there he was selected to follow up a Nobel Prize winner's research to verify the atomic nature of electricity and measure the charge on the electron.

Dr. Derieux joined the North Carolina State College faculty in 1916. During the next 31 years he won world-wide acclaim as a professor of theoretical physics and as a research physicist.

He instituted and taught the modern physics course at State College for 15 years. For 21 years he served on the Committee for Graduate Studies.

Dr. Derieux authored three textbooks and 18 scientific articles. He completed and presented before scientific societies 24 research projects.

He was honored with Life Membership in the North Carolina Academy of Science in the year of his retirement, 1947.

He died March 18, 1948.

Freshman-Sophomore Slated Saturday

The Freshman-Sophomore Ball, utilizing the theme of the Ante-Bellum South, will hear the music of Jan Garber Saturday night.

The dance will be held in the College Union from 8:00 p.m. to 12:00 midnight. The Union will be suitably decorated as a Southern plantation in commemoration of the centennial of the Civil War.

The orchestra of Jan Garber will provide music upstairs in the ball room, and a "Rock and Roll" group will be situated downstairs in the Snack Bar.

Garber is a well-known entertainer on the West Coast and around the Chicago area. In 1959 the Ballroom and Nightclub operators of America voted his orchestra as the top dance band in the nation.

Dress for the ball will be formal.

"Last year this ball was one of the social highlights of the school year. This year it will be bigger and better than ever," said Floyd McCall, president of the Sophomore Class.

Jim Braddock, Freshman Class President, also said that "We have provided two top-flite musical organizations to appeal to every mood and taste."

Insurance Negotiations Requirements Reached

Banks C. Talley, Director of Student Activities, recently released the following statement to The Technician concerning the standards which are set up for contract negotiations with insurance companies. These negotiations are to determine which company and under what terms the student insurance next year will be handled.

"Students who participate in contract negotiations on behalf of the student body and the college assume a great responsibility to negotiate such contracts to the best advantage of those they represent. In order to do so it is important to avoid all commitments, implied and actual which might conceivably effect such negotiations. It is also important to avoid the appearance of placing one's self under obligations to anyone with whom contracts may be negotiated.

"Because acceptable standards are often difficult to define, particularly for those who have not before been involved in contract negotiations, the following standards are set forth for your guidance, and it is expected that all students concerned with contract negotiations will conduct themselves in accordance with them:

1. All bids must be made in writing and must be opened at a specified time after due notification has been made to all interested in presenting a bid.
2. No gifts, payments, dinners, trips or any other remuneration can be accepted which is not explicitly stated in the bid and subsequent contract.
3. Contracts between those negotiating contracts and potential suppliers of goods or services shall be limited to formally arranged presentation of bids and information. Specific information should be requested alike from all companies, preferably in writing.
4. Any improper offers made by a potential supplier of goods or services should be reported to the Office of Student Activities."

'Dark At Top Of Stairs' Slated

In the fifth and final play of its Silver Anniversary year, The Raleigh Little Theatre is presenting "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs". The play is by William Inge, who is also the author of such famous plays as: "Picnic", "Come Back Little Sheba", and "Bus Stop".

The plot is a very difficult to condense but basically it is a family comedy-drama. It centers around a family in Oklahoma in the 1920's. Each member of the family has a problem which has to be solved. This problem can be solved through human understanding.

The College Union Theatre Committee has arranged with the Raleigh Little Theatre to purchase a special performance of this play so that those who are interested in the theatre can go to see this play free of charge. This is the fourth play that the Theatre Committee has arranged to do this with this year and the sixth so far in two years.

Students may reserve free seats to this play for themselves, and a date if they wish, on Friday afternoon from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the College Union Main Lobby. The play will be this Sunday Evening, May 7. A small number of tickets will also be available on Sunday, the afternoon of the play, from 4 p.m. until 5 p.m. Students are urged, however, to come by as early as possible since the best seats always go fast.

Included in the cast of nine are five persons who have received "Oscars" from the Little Theatre including Barbara White, Mike Silver, and Mary Lyman. From reports of those who have seen the rehearsals thus far, the play promises to be a good one.

-Agromeck-

The 1961 Agromecks will be given out beginning Monday, May 8 from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. at the Freshman Book Room of the Students Supply Stores. Entrance south side of the basement. Be sure your activity fees are paid for both semesters. You will not be eligible for a year-book unless they are.

Does An Honor System Work?

There was an editorial in The Daily Tar Heel recently which questioned the validity of a college honor system. Does an honor system work, and are they worthwhile?

We have an honor system at State College, but it is not completely valid. There are always some individuals in an institution that are going to pay no attention to any type of honor system. If an honor system is not going to work, then why have one?

We would like to study an article that was written in one of America's leading magazines. This magazine stated that a large percentage of the today's college students admitted that they cheated in some way. Others did not want to commit themselves one way or another. A small percentage stated that they did not cheat at all.

At a technical school a student admitted that he cheated on a R.O.T.C. quiz because he did not have time to devote to the military phase of college life. The student stated that his technical courses required too much of his time to study for a course that he was not interested. He admitted that he received the quiz before he entered the classroom. This type of cheating takes place in many colleges today. Why isn't it stopped? The reason that it is not stopped is because innocent students do not want to meddle in any other student's business even though they are on their honor to report any violation of cheating that goes on. If they are not going to testify before a student council, then why should we have an honor system?

The Daily Tar Heel said that the honor system at Carolina was just a name. Is that true for State College also?

There are many ways that a judicial system made up of students entirely could improve. It is a shame that another student has to be responsible for another student's college career. It is true that most of the students that make up a judicial-board are usually serious minded, conscientious, and responsible. This might be so, but we ask again . . . how many students like to be responsible for booting another classmate out of school. There are not many that like this job. If they enjoy a job of this nature, they are cold blooded.

There are many ways to cheat as this magazine revealed. Students use crib notes, pencils, and any means that will aid them make a better grade. Why do students cheat? There are many reasons. However, it usually lies with the student's family life. Why is this so? It is so because a student does not want to let his parents and friends down. He wants to do his best, and the only way that he can do his best is cheat.

Cheating will continue in colleges. There will always be some of it going on, but how can any one individual stop it? There is no one individual that can stop it. It takes the whole student body.

Again we ask . . . is our honor system just a name as is Carolina's. We will not answer that question because it takes each one of you to answer it.

The Outstanding Senior award for this year is presented to Robert Bruce Redmon, Jr., of Asheville, N. C., a senior in Applied Mathematics. Redmon's record at State College is a very honorable one as illustrated by the awards presented him, such as: Sophomore Senator, Member of Phi Eta Sigma honorary fraternity, corresponding secretary of Thirty and Three, IFC representative, Vice President of his Junior Class, President of Blue Key Fraternity.

The second award presented is that of the Outstanding Chapter Member. The recipient of this award is Vance Alton Apple of Gibsonville, N. C., a senior in Mechanical Engineering. This award was presented to Vance Apple by his fraternity brothers in recognition of the outstanding part he has played in making the Delta Rho Chapter one of the leading fraternities in State College history. Vance has held the office of Historian and the office of Marshall along with various committee work on his part during his membership in the Theta Chi fraternity. He has also played an active part in this past weekend, the brothers, pledges, dates, and guests of the State College Sigma Nu Chapter journeyed down to Myrtle Beach, S. C. for their annual White Rose Beach Party. Of the more than forty couples that attended, it is safe to say that all forty had an enjoyable and entertaining stay. To The Editor Of The Technician:

As a candidate for the position of mayor of the Married Student Housing Development, I wish to take this opportunity to speak out, to express some of my views, and to permit all of you, including many whom I do not know personally to make a choice based on your own judgment. I do not feel that it is fair for a candidate to ask a group of people to make him their representative unless he has given them an opportunity to evaluate his record, which speaks for itself, and to determine if his concepts of the job to be done are the same as their own, and, further, if, as a representative, he will be receptive to suggestions made by the people whom he would represent.

A candidate is, in fact, asking the people for their support, and that reminds me of the girl who has just received a proposal, but didn't want to appear too eager to accept the young man.

"I've been asked to get married lots of times."

"Who asked you?" he replied.

"Mother and Father."

As you can see, sometimes more than one person is seeking the same objective, and for different purposes, too, I might add. Another story which I have in mind might show that the number of people who fill the bill or are willing to make the sacrifices which go along with responsibility is sometimes quite limited. An Irishman and a Jew were holding a debate as to the respective merits of their religion. The debate became fast and furious, when the Irishman delivered a crusher to the Jew in this form: "Answer me this, Abe, could one of your boys be Pope! No! Now what have ye to say to that?"

The Jew considered this thoughtfully. "I've a question for you, Pat. Could one of your boys be God?"

"Why, of course not!"

"Well", the Jew shrugged his shoulders, "one of our boys

While there are many points to be handled, problems to be solved, and issues to be discussed with proper authorities, I feel that there is no obstacle which we, as an organized group, cannot handle ourselves, through our representatives. We must deal in this way, if at all! I have found the College authorities to be mature, skillful businessmen who must be approached on their own ground. I do not hesitate to say that there are several ways in which we can achieve our aims. I am aware that most of us are primarily concerned with his economic situation. I am confident that there are certain steps which, if taken, will definitely produce results which will astound even the College officials. Other issues, which are not of such universal interest, will also be handled in the course of events, but I shall devote my unrelenting efforts to relieving the unsatisfactory economic conditions which exist among us. I will work and I will expect you to do the same!

In closing may I add just a few words about myself. I was born at Quenemo, Kansas, in December 1928, grew up in a rural community in Arkansas, and later moved back to Kansas where I attended High School. I am a Presbyterian. I was primarily interested in Hi-Y and Boy Scouts as outside activities, reaching the rank of Gold Palm. My High School grade point average was 3.78. My outside activities included managing a business which required 30 hours per week and grossed about $1,000.00 per month. After discharge from the U. S. Army with the rank of Sergeant, I attended Iowa State University, receiving a BS in 1952 and an MS in 1954. I am a member of Alpha Zeta, Gamma Sigma Delta, and Phi Kappa Phi. I was affiliated with the Ward System. I was representative to the Holst State Forest Advisory Committee, and served three years on the staff of our annual in the capacities of Sales Manager and Advertis-

Title Hopes Grow Dim With Loss

By Earl Mitchell
Sports Editor

An unearned run in the top of the tenth inning knocked State College just about out of the ACC baseball race. By losing to Wake Forest 5-4 Tuesday the Pack brought their conference record down to 6-4. Carolina lost their game to Duke on Tuesday, but still hold on to the first place spot with a 6-1 mark.

Joel Gibson was charged with the loss and it was his second setback of the current season. His record is now 5-2. Gibson came in the game in the fifth inning to put the fire out for Bob Conner, who started the game. Gibson came into the game with two outs and the bases loaded. He retired the side after walking one Deacon.

Bob Plemmons, the Deacons ace, chalked up his eighth win of the season against one loss. Plemmons got off to a very bad start when the Wolfpack plated four runs in the first frame. George Easterling, the Pack second sacker, lined the first Plemmons's offering of the game into rightfield for a single. Adgar Ray Perry kept the fire going with another single. Vernon Strickland went down on strikes and Wayne Edwards singled in Easterling. Don Montgomery walked to set the stage for sophomore Les Young, who started in centerfield in place of Roman Gabriel. Young promptly slashed out a single that scored all three men on base. The last run was scored on an error when the Deacons outfielder threw the ball back into the infield.

Wake Forest scored one run in the third inning to start their drive to come from behind. Don Nicholas doubled to leftfield and then Jerry Goodman did the same thing to score Nicholas.

Wake Forest's big inning was the fifth when they scored three tallies. Bob Worrell got things started with a bang when he ripped out a single. Pat Williams flew out to the shortstop and then pitcher Plemmons got a single. Nicholas popped out and Goodman singled to score Worrell. Jay Franklin walked and then Paul Wilner walked to force in Plemmons. At this point Pack coach Vic Sorrell called on his ace Gibson to pitch.

Gibson walked Roger Coon which forced in Goodman. It was Coon's 34th RBI of the season and this tied the ACC record. Frank McRae of Wake Forest got 34 in 1955 and Bub Spiers of Clemson had 34 in 1958.

State threatened to score in the seventh inning, but the rally died when Plemmons fanned Jerry Cordell.

Wake Forest got their run in the top of the tenth inning when Franklin reached first base on an error with one out. Wilner got a single and Coon was intentionally passed to load the bases. Bill Covington hit a sacrifice fly to centerfield to score Franklin from third with what turned out to be the winning run. In the bottom half of the tenth inning with one away, Gabriel pinch-hit for Cordell and drew a walk. The next two Pack batters went down on strikes, however.

With the exception of the first inning when he gave up four hits and four runs, Plem-mons had the Wolfpack under very good control. He gave up only five more hits in the last nine innings, while he struck out eight and walked six. All four of State's runs were earned. Conner, who started the game, was going well until the fifth inning when the Deacs got to him. Conner allowed five hits and four earned runs. He struck out five Deacons and walked three. Gibson gave up only two hits, while striking out eight and walking two.

Going into the Wake Forest game Conner was sporting a 0.87 earned run average, but the Deacons fixed that. Conner's ERA is now 2.16. Conner had walked one man all season, but he gave up three free passes to the Deacons.

Goodman and Worrell were the hitting stars for the Deacons as each picked up two hits in five trips to the plate. Perry led the State hitting with three hits in five trips. Easterling had two hits.

State Linksmen Drop Two

North Carolina State's recent golf trips to South Carolina and Clemson resulted in defeat for the Wolfpack on both occasions. On Monday South Carolina stopped State 19-8 and then on Tuesday Clemson trimmed them 16-11.

Tom Coffey and Dave McCombs were the only linksmen to win their matches against the Gamecocks. The medal score for the Pack in that match was a 74 shot by Bob Smith. The low score for the match was shot by Norman Flynn and it was a one-under par 71.

In the Tuesday match with the Tigers, both John Isenhour and Bob Smith were on the short end of 3-0 decisions.

The next match for the Pack golfers will be Friday afternoon with Davidson. The match is slated for Charlotte, N. C.

Net Season Ends Saturday

The State netters got the short end of the stick in Chapel Hill on Tuesday when North Carolina defeated them 7-2 in an Atlantic Coast Conference match. The win boosted Carolina's season mark to 7-2, while the loss left State with an 11-4 mark.

Skidmore Wins
Jim Skidmore was the only

State man to win a singles match and Skidmore teamed with Cecil Caison to win the number two doubles match. Skidmore downed George Zimmerman in the number six singles match 6-3, 6-3. Skidmore and Caison beat Pete Morrow and Tommy Ricks 4-6, 6-4, 6-3 for the doubles win.

The Wolfpack put up good fighter in several of the singles matches. Kirby Jones of UNC had to go three sets before downing stubborn Jim Hart. James Spence gave Tar Heel Dave Morgan a good first set before falling. Bruce Sylvia gained revenge over Mustaq Saigal by downing the State ace 6-1, 6-4. Saigal was the only player to beat Sylvia last year.

One More Match

State has one more match before the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament which comes on next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of next week. On Saturday afternoon State will play host to the Duke Blue Devils in the final regular season match of the year. The match is slated to get underway at 2:00.

Near Goal

In last year's ACC net tournament, the doubles team of Hart and Saigal made a fine showing. The team advanced to the semi-finals before being defeated 6-1, 6-1 by Ben Keyes and Sylvia of North Carolina. The team of Sylvia and Keys went on to win the ACC double championship. Last year, Hubert Ellison was the only State player to get past the second round of play in the singles action. He was defeated by Sylvia in the third round and Sylvia went on to win the individual crown from Bill Cullen.

In an early season interview, State Coach John Kenfield said that he felt the team could post a 12-4 record for the season. In order to fulfill this prediction the Pack must win the Duke battle Saturday. State is currently having its best season since Kenfield took over as head coach.

Is The Search Over

Coach Vic Sorrell's season-long search for a second sacker may be over. In the twilight of the season, Sorrell has called on George Easterling to fill the spot that has been a sore spot in the Wolfpack infield all season. The original plan was to move Vernon Strickland from third base to second base, but this plan folded when the Pack infield defense bobbled too many easy ones.

In the second plan, Strickland went back to third and Sorrell installed Ray Russell at second base. This appeared to be a very good move at first, but this plan also failed to produce satisfactory results. Russell was a fine defensive player, but his bat was a little light.

Sorrell started out on plan number three this past Friday and so far it looks like it will be very successful. Sorrell called on Easterling to fill the gap at second. Easterling started against South Carolina and in his second game, which was against Clemson, he was the star. In the bottom of the seventh inning, he lashed out a single that plated the winning run.

Going into the Wake Forest game, the Hamlet sophomore was hitting .273 which was the fourth or fifth best average on the State team. In the Wake Forest game he got two hits in five trips to the plate which will push his average up to .312. The 155 pounder made a few errors, but his hitting has been a real help to the Pack.

If Easterling keeps on at the rate he is going, he could become one of the better State second basemen. Despite his size, Easterling pounds the ball with the authority of a big man. He has hit several long balls to the rightfield fence on the State diamond and almost cleared the fence with one against Wake Forest.

Coach Sorrell classes him as one of the better hitters in the Pack camp and he has certainly lived up to this so far this year. In the four games that he has played this season, the opposition pitching has failed to fan him.

At the first of the season, Easterling was mentioned as a possible candidate for the third base job, Les Young started the first five or six games at the position. When Strickland was moved back to third from second, Easterling was just about lost in the shuffle. But Friday, Sorrell went hunting for an infielder and came up with George.

The filling of the second base slot was not an easy one for Coach Sorrell. The empty slot was left by All-ACC Jim Cox, who had a .369 batting average last year. Cox, who was fifth in the voting for the all-conference team, sparked the Wolfpack to a third place finish. From this it can be seen what a big job Sorrell had when this season started. It isn't easy to fill the shoes of an all-conference performer like Cox, but Coach Sorrell appears to have a good replacement in Easterling.

Art's Work Does It Again

The hard work that Art Hoch has done in the State intramural program during the last six years again was brought to light Monday when the State intramural team copped the Big Four Sports Day championship for 1961. With the win State retired the big trophy.

Last year Hoch was presented with a cup for his fine work with intramurals here at State. The intramural program here at State is one of the best in the country and its successful operation has been under the expert leadership of Hoch.

Hoch, who is an associate professor in the physical education department, has charge of the intramural activity in 13 sports in both the dormitory and fraternity divisions.

We wish to extend our appreciation to Art Hoch for his fine work in the intramural program. Also, we wish to extend the congratulations of the TECHNICIAN and the students of State College for such a fine showing the Big Four Sports Day.

A ROBE BY ANY OTHER NAME

As Commencement Day draws near, the question on everyone's lips is: "How did the different disciplines come to be marked by academic robes with hoods of different colors?" Everybody—but everybody—is asking it. I mean I haven't been able to walk ten feet on any campus in America without somebody grabs my elbow and says, "How did the different disciplines come to be marked by academic robes with hoods of different colors, hey?"

This, I must say, is not the usual question asked by collegians who grab my elbow. Usually they say, "Hey, Shorty, got a Marlboro?" And this is right and proper. After all, are they not collegians, and, therefore, the nation's leaders in intelligence and discernment? And do not intelligence and discernment demand the tastiest in tobacco flavor and smoking pleasure? And does not Marlboro deliver a flavor that is uniquely mellow, a selectate filter that is easy drawing, a pack that is soft, a box that is hard? You know it!

But I digress. Back to the colored hoods of academic robes. A doctor of philosophy wears blue, a doctor of medicine wears green, a master of arts wears white, a doctor of humanities wears crimson, a master of library science wears lemon yellow. Why? Why, for example, should a master of library science wear lemon yellow?

Well sir, to answer this vexing question, we must go back to March 29, 1844. On that date the first public library in the United States was established by Ulric Sigafos. All of Mr. Sigafos's neighbors were of course wildly grateful—all, that is, except Wrex Todhunter.

Mr. Todhunter had hated Mr. Sigafos since 1822 when both men had wooed the beautiful Melanie Zitt and Melanie had chosen Mr. Sigafos because she was mad for dancing and Mr. Sigafos knew all the latest steps, like the Missouri Compromise Mambo, the Shay's Rebellion Schottische, and the James K. Polk Polka, while Mr. Todhunter, alas, could not dance at all owing to a wound he had received at the Battle of New Orleans. (He was struck by a falling praline.)

Consumed with jealousy at the success of Mr. Sigafos's library, Mr. Todhunter resolved to open a competing library. This he did, but he lured not a single patron away from Mr. Sigafos. "What has Mr. Sigafos got that I haven't got?" Mr. Todhunter kept asking himself, and finally the answer came to him: books.

So Mr. Todhunter stocked his library with lots of dandy books and soon he was doing more business than his hated rival. But Mr. Sigafos struck back. To regain his clientele, he began serving tea free of charge at his library every afternoon. Thereupon, Mr. Todhunter, not to be outdone, began serving tea with sugar. Thereupon, Mr. Sigafos began serving tea with sugar and cream. Thereupon, Mr. Todhunter began serving tea with sugar and cream and lemon.

This, of course, clinched the victory for Mr. Todhunter because he had the only lemon tree in town—in fact, in the entire state of North Dakota—and since that day lemon yellow has of course been the color on the academic robes of library science.

(Incidentally, the defeated Mr. Sigafos packed up his library and moved to California where, alas, he failed once more. There were, to be sure, plenty of lemons to serve with his tea, but, alas, there was no cream because the cow was not introduced to California until 1931 by John Wayne.)

SSS Manager Key Figure Of College

A former president of the national association, Ivey presented the organization's "1961 Manager of the Year" award to Daniel E. Sullivan, manager of the Providence College Bookstore at Providence, R. I., at a luncheon meeting in the Deauville Hotel.

Ivey won the honor last year.

AIEE-IRE Spring Picnic Slated Saturday, May 21

The AIEE-IRE Joint Student Branch has planned its annual spring picnic for Sunday afternoon, May 21. The tickets are $5.00 for adults and $2.25 for children from six to twelve. The picnic is open to all EE students, faculty, staff and their guests.

The picnic will be held at Fincrest Lodge (about 15 minutes drive from the campus on Lake Wheeler Road, from 3:00 to 8:00 p.m.

Among the planned events are softball, horseshoes and volleyball. Also if one just wants to walk around in the fresh air, he will probably find the spacious grounds bordering the lake very attractive.

In order to make plans for buying the food, it is necessary to find out how many people plan to attend. Within a few days, EE students will be contacted in Class.

If a student has a local membership in the AIEE-IRE Joint Student Branch, the picnic is free. Students who plan to take dates, make arrangements now so that the number of people attending can be properly calculated.

Directions on how to get to Fincrest Lodge will appear on the bulletin board in Daniels Hall.

ing Manager. After graduation I became affiliated with a lumber company which has been recognized as the world's largest producer of hardwood lumber, with operations extending throughout the Appalachians and Southeastern United States. I resigned from the position of Chief Forester last summer to pursue other interests here at State College. The company was sold, yielding a substantial gain for its stock holders. I have contributed scientific and technical papers to both major journals in my field. One contribution of which I am particularly proud (a suggestion made to State Foresters at the Lake Mattamuskeet Fire Fighting Organization School) has been heralded as "the greatest advance in forest fire fighting on organic soils since the development of the fire plow."

So much for that. Now, in looking over the problems at hand, in light of my own experience, I feel that the problems are difficult, but not insurmountable. I realize that there will be setbacks and even failures, but I have met many of them. A failure is actually more challenging than a new problem with which we have no acquaintance. Sometimes a problem has to be abandoned, but more often than not a solution can be found. You show me a man who has never failed and I'll show you a man who has never done anything.
