1951 Editor Visits Technician Office

by Jim Kear
Technician Editor

A former editor of the Technician, dating back to 1951, is on campus this week representing the employees and spent a few enlightening moments in the newspaper office Monday.

Bill Haas, class of 1951, entered State in 1943, left for a few years with the Navy, returned in 1949 and graduated in Mechanical Engineering. While at State he worked on the staffs of the Agroneck, the Wafagan, and edited the Technician. He is also an alumnus of Scabard and Blade.

"I only worked as an engineer for about six months after I left here," he said. "I suppose my work with the publications had more effect on me than anything else." Haas followed a career of public relations, publications, and communications leading up to his present job with Pratt and Whitney.

Aircraft Co. of West Palm Beach, Fla. He is their supervisor of the Documentary Films Department.

He will be on campus today and tomorrow showing a promotional film concerning job opportunities in Florida at the Union. While visiting the office of the Technician, he forgot his business long enough to offer a few observations about State.

"I was impressed by the trend in buildings and landscaping towards a real college look," said Haas, "rather than the factory atmosphere which we had when I was here."

"The students I have met here have impressed me by the fact that they are not the punks that most people would have you believe." Haas suggested a note of humor in his observation that "campus parking is still as bad as ever."

We asked him if he had any advice for State students, since it is common knowledge that all Technician editors, past and present, have advice for everyone and every occasion. "I would say simply this," said Haas, "learn how to write. I spend nine hours a week teaching engineers how to communicate effectively. A common complaint throughout industry is that the engineer fails to communicate much of his knowledge and information. Take advantage of every opportunity—in speech classes, in public speaking courses, in business communications courses."

Haas spent a few moments reminiscing about the good old days when the Technician moved from the basement of the 1911 Building instead of the King Building. He was married and had two sons during his latter years at State and characterized himself at that time as "the star peanut salesman in the Coliseum."

"Dancer" Is Next RLT Play

There was once a girl named Lizzie who was sheltered from the world; one day someone showed her the world and invited her to "come out." And so, a conflict evolves, and a play is written.

Raleigh Little Theater's next performance will be the Rope Dancer, a drama woven around the love, laughter, tears, and fears of Lizzie.

The play takes place at the turn of the century and is concerned with a day in the lives of Lizzie Hyland and her parents.

Written by Morton Wishengrad, The Rope Dancer is the tale of a sheltered young girl "who was a quiet, clean princess in a castle," while living in the midst of a New York tenement.

Despite the mother's efforts to protect her child, Lizzie's life is touched and changed by her father, a neighbor, a doctor, and a policeman.

The play will star 13 year old Linda Wall as Lizzie, Margaret Burns, a former star of Raleigh Little Theater, will play the role of Lizzie's mother, and Tom Worthington will appear as her father.

The cast will be under the direction of Dick Snively. The drama will be presented beginning December 1.

Eddie Biedenbach

Biedenbach Out All Year Due To Back

by Bob Spann

Eddie Biedenbach, State's only returning letterman, will be unable to play basketball this season due to two ruptured disks in his back.

However, he will be able to play next season.

Biedenbach was bumped while driving for a lay-up in a recent practice. Head Basketball Coach Norm Sloan stated that one of the ruptured disks was the result of a previous injury.

A successful operation was performed on his back at Wake Memorial Hospital last Friday and Biedenbach will be released from the hospital this Friday.

"It will be eight weeks before the surgery is completely healed. When I leave the hospital I'm going to start to build myself up by doing a lot of walking and I intend to start lifting weights and running as soon as I'm able to," Biedenbach stated.

"The doctors have informed me that he (Biedenbach) should be as good as new next season and probably better due to the fact that his old injury was corrected also," according to Sloan.

The 6-1 guard who led last year's Pack cagers in scoring with an average of 16.2 points per game was expected to lead State's offense this year. Sloan said the starting guards will be either Sam Gealy (a 6-0 senior), Rich Braucher (a 6-5 sophomore) or Nick Trifunovich (a 5-10 sophomore).

"He (Biedenbach) is one of the finest men I've ever coached or talked to," said Sloan. "We are going to miss him. It's a shame from his standpoint, too. It's a big disappointment to him."

This is not the first injury Biedenbach has suffered during his basketball career at State. While a Sophomore his performance was handicapped by a torn ligament in his knee. However, he was still able to score 170 points in 20 games that season.

Biedenbach is from Pittsburg, Pennsylvania. He was an all-state guard at Pittsburg's Edgewood High School during his junior year. That same year his school won the conference championship. Biedenbach is an Education major at State.

Students To Preregister December 1 Through 15

by Pete Burkheimer
Technician News Editor

Preregistration for the spring 1967 semester will begin Thursday and last two weeks until December 15, according to Registrar Ronald C. Butler. The $10 fees for either preregistering late or registering late will be charged again this semester.

Schedule of courses booklets, which are necessary to the preregistration process, become available to students today. They will be distributed by the offices of the department in which the individual is enrolled.

Exceptions are freshman engineers who are enrolled in E 100, who will pick up their booklets in this class; those not in E 100 may get them at 239 Riddick. Students not associated with a particular department may pick up booklets at the Department of Registration and Records in Peele Hall.

The trial form in the booklet must be completed before the student sees his advisor.

Complete instructions for completing the preregistration process are found in the schedule of courses booklets, stated Butler. Students should first pick up one of the booklets.

After making up a workable schedule in the "trial schedule form" in the center of the booklet, the student then sees his advisor and fills out his Official Preregistration Schedule Request cards.

The appropriate card is then to be taken to the Registration Office, Room 3, Peele Hall.

Friday, January 27 will be a Special Registration Day for students who have preregistered but must make changes in their schedule.

Butler explained the late fee policy as follows:

1. Currently enrolled students who fail to preregister during the Official Preregistration Period (December 1-15) and preregister late will be charged a $10 late fee.
2. All students who preregister but subsequently fail to complete registration at the Coliseum on January 27, 28, or 29 and register late will be charged a $10 late fee.
3. Students who fail to preregister at all will be unable to complete normal registration. These students will be charged both the $10 fee for failing to preregister and a second $10 fee for registering late, or a total of $20.

The purpose of the late fees is to encourage students to preregister during the officially scheduled times," Butler explained. He emphasized that everyone concerned—the students, the departments, and the scheduling office—would benefit if all these activities were completed on time. Students would save time and receive workable schedules, departments would know what courses to teach, and the scheduling office would have a much greater chance of scheduling each student all the courses he requested, according to Butler.

Butler pointed to a list of 460 invalid course requests for this fall semester. "Each of these had to be investigated and changed individually," he explained, adding that the process of tracing down invalid requests was quite tedious.

Weltner Speaks Tonight, On Deep South Politics

Congressman Charles L. Weltner of Georgia will speak tonight at 8 p.m. in the Erdahl-Cloyd Union on "Political Issues Facing Southerners."

Weltner has been in the news recently because of his decision not to seek a third term in Congress. He had routinely signed the compulsory loyalty oath binding him to support the entire Democratic ticket. However, he could not support the oath when segregationist Lester Maddox was nominated as the Democratic candidate for governor.

When announcing his decision to withdraw from the congressional race, Weltner said, "And while I cannot violate my oath, neither can I violate my principles. I cannot support Lester Maddox. Therefore I am withdrawing as a Democratic nominee for the U. S. House of Representatives . . . I love the Congress. But I will give up my office before I give up my principles."

Weltner's own political career has been a vivid demonstration of the topic of his speech. As a liberal Democrat from Atlanta, he was the only Deep South Congressman to vote for the 1964 Civil Rights Act. Also he was the only Southern Congressman to denounce the September, 1963, bombing of a Birmingham church in which four Negro children were killed.

Weltner is also a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee. And he was an active leader in the investigation of the Ku Klux Klan before the committee. He is also a leading public battler of the Klan.

Though a liberal, Weltner has deep roots in the South. His great-grandfather was a Confederate general and wrote the constitution of the Confederate States of America.

One of the high points of his career was the publication of his book, Southerner. The book is a frank study of the South and an argument for the equality of races.

Prior to the 8 p.m. lecture, Weltner will meet for a dinner with a group of political and religious leaders who participate in one of the study-research groups of Experimental Study.

Following the lecture, to which the public is invited there will be a question and answer period.

Many of the errors can be traced to the code letters which appear with some courses, according to Butler. An incorrect letter or the omission of a letter will result in an invalid request. For example, putting "ED 699" or "ED 698" instead of "ED 699E" would frustrate the computer. "When such errors slip by the advisor, no one else will catch them before they enter the computer," Butler explained.

Ibsen's "Ghosts" Next At Thompson Theater

A person doesn't have to believe in ghosts to enjoy the next play at Frank Thompson Theater.

Henrik Ibsen's drama, Ghosts is the upcoming production of the theater. The play will run from December 2 through December 18 except for Monday and Tuesday nights.

Ghosts illustrates the influence of the past on the present. The play was quite radical when written, for Ibsen introduced new ideas such as divorce, rape addition, and incest.

The play will star David Lampton as Oswald. Lampton is a member of the permanent company of Thompson Theater. Barry Corbin, one of the five professional actors at the theater, will appear as Engstrand; Jean Vinson, the only full time theater actress who is native to Raleigh, will play Mrs. Alving.

The play will open Friday. All students and their dates will be admitted free, and reservations may be made at the Erdahl-Cloyd Union desk.

Turlington Smears Alexander In Ferocious Battle-royal

Shaving Cream Flies After Formal Challenge

by Tom Whitton

Technician Asst. News Editor

"S.C.F.I.T." erupted last Monday with unparalleled savagery as the hordes from Alexander and Turlington dorms creamed each other for over fifteen minutes.

"We, the residents of the best dormitory on campus, Turlington Dormitory, challenge the residents of the lowest dormitory on campus, Alexander Dormitory, to a shaving cream fight." Thus the lead mandate from Turlington was issued and the gauntlet was taken up by Turlington on the 16th of November.

"In reply to the challenge by the residents of Turlington we, the superior residents of Alexander Dormitory, willingly accept the challenge from the lowly Turlington residents to a shaving cream fight. . . ." Back and forth the slander, the mud and the curses were thrown via the U. S. mail, and the tone of the letters was consistent. . . .

Turlington: "From what I hear, you are pretty chicken—I also heard that you were lower than the lowest piece of whale—found in the deepest trench of the deepest ocean of the world." In reply: "Turlington has repeatedly proven itself to be a bunch of common, misguided and uneducated spastics, and we the residents of Alexander will prove ourselves superior by defeating the greasy, slimy, "mealy-mouthed" slobbering Turlington idiots."

With the battle lines drawn and the edict issued, the representatives met to draw up the rules of battle. Under a flag of truce, Herman Lenin, president of Turlington, and his battle officers, Ronald Baer, Charles Nixon and Thompson Lewis (who bore the distinguished title of Battle Committee Chairmen) met with the brass from Alexander—(Gary Salvaggio, Jim Breeden and David Johnson).

The battle was fought under a series of guidelines. To wit: A. Area of the fight is narrowed to the area inside of the Alexander-Turlington complex. B. Contestants cannot step on or outside of sidewalks.

C. Only 2 cans of shaving cream per participant.

D. Maximum of 20 participants at any one time per team. When participant has finished his shaving cream he must tag someone on sidelines and a new replacement will come in to fight.

E. No physical contact, no holding, no pushing, etc.

F. No squirting of cream in the eyes.

G. No carrying of fight outside fight area—nor continuation of fight at conclusion of battle.

H. Take shaving cream cans to garbage cans.

I. Use common sense.

Herald Monday, the day of the battle, under greying skies the warriors bedecked in dorm colors and armor, approached each other and, at a signal, attacked.

It was all over in less than fifteen minutes.

Dennis Byrd Named To Look All-America

by Harry Eagar
Technician Sports Editor

Dennis Byrd, State's big, bruising defensive tackle, has been named to the 1966 Look Magazine All-America football team.

The 22-man team (two players) was announced in the December 13 issue of Look, which goes on sale today.

Association of America. Byrd that he had not heard officially won the nomination at left that Byrd had made All-American, the only Atlantic Coast conference player to make the team.

Look said of Byrd, "At 6'4", Byrd must be double-teamed to be kept from a passer." Center Bill Carr of Florida pays his respects: "By the end of the game, everybody in our line was calling him Mr. Byrd."

Dennis has the unusual ability for a lineman of keeping the fans on their feet throughout a game with thrilling plays. Especially in this year's massacre of Duke, he brought the crowd to its feet cheering time and time again as he dumped Devil quarterback Al Woodall for huge losses time and again.

LOBO III AND FRIEND

Careful there, little Lobo, you're being followed by a big hound in a funny suit.

In case you were in Lobo III, State's mascot, you wouldn't be able to get to a game to check on his well-being, don't worry. The situation is well in hand.

As you can see, Lobo (the one with the smile), is doing fine. He isn't much of a football fan as yet, generally preferring to play on the grassy bank behind the south goal, but he occasionally makes an appearance before his adoring fans, Lobo, along with his big shadow. The human is Lloyd Rawls, assistant head cheerleader after school. (Photo by Hankins)

the 1,100 man Football Writers

Dennis is only a junior (one of three on the team) and is a homegrown product. He starred three years at Lincolnton High, where he won all-State honors and played in the Shrine Bowl and East-West All-Star games.

He had an outstanding year last season as a sophomore, and was named All-Conference, plus making the NEA third team All-America squad.

In addition to his great strength, Byrd is one of the fastest of State's generally slow linemen, able to run 40 yards in 5.2 seconds in full football equipment.

Clemson in the last game of the season, Byrd clinched the State win when, late in the game with the Tigers driving against a sum state lead, he twice dumped the Clemson quarterback for big losses.

Byrd is the eighth State football player to win All-America honors and the first since 1963, when end Don Montgomery made the team.

DEAR REB:

Sports hero loses girl to mild-mannered math major.

DEAR REB:

I'm a big football star, and I've found a girl who suits me to a T. But I've been blocked out of the play by a math major. He knows math from $A = \pi R^2$ to $E = MC^2$. Now she says he's found the formula for success with her. All he has to do is mutter "Coronet R/T," and I get thrown for a loss. Believe me, this is no equilateral triangle that I'm in. Outside of telling me to bench myself, have you any advice?

FALLEN STAR

DEAR FALLEN STAR:

Now's the time to plunge. Coronet R/T isn't his exclusive formula. Your nearby Dodge Dealer has it, too. And it comes almost as easily as the cube root of 27. Then how can the girl of your dreams resist two superstars... you and your Coronet R/T? From there on out, your math major will be the victim of diminishing returns. Huddle with your Dodge Dealer now, and get your signals straight.

Sincerely, Reb

And why not? Look what you'll have going for you in your Dodge Coronet R/T, convertible or two-door hardtop. All standard, too. 440-cubic-inch Magnum V8 engine. Dual exhausts. Heavy-duty brakes and suspension. High-performance Red Streak tires. And exclusive R/T grille and hood scoop design, full length paint stripes, and nameplates, front, rear and sides. So get with your Dodge Dealer, and your problem will solve itself.

Faculty Evaluation

of graduate students as teachers. The administration has impressed upon all of these students their importance as a reflection of this university and watches with interest their place in the evaluations.

The personal characteristics of the teacher, his appearance, his attitude, his "approachability," are important especially to the freshman and the sophomore. The teaching skill and interest in the subject are the topics of most interest to the junior and senior. The administration feels that all of these qualities are of importance in teaching. It is evident that, consistent with this reasoning, all of the categories in which the professor is evaluated are of equal importance.

The program has brought to light numerous problems which must be solved. If such a program as this is to succeed, the students must cooperate in a responsible way. Lack of interest on the part of the student leads to such thoughtless pranks as ratings of all one's (1's) across the card for a teacher on the basis of "I just don't like him," or similar irrationalities. Such irresponsible gestures may be disastrous for a teacher, especially in a small class where one such impulsive act can have a disproportionate effect on the legitimate ratings, and thus the accuracy of the evaluation will be weakened.

It is our hope that this explanation will impress upon the faculty and the students the importance of carrying out our faculty evaluation in the sincerest manner. Dean Kelly is "fighting to make the students' judgment reliable," but he cannot do this without an honest effort from the student body. He asserts that the evaluation "is a cooperative effort; and if the student does not take it seriously, it will fail." It is of extreme importance that the human relationship between the student and the professor be maintained.

The Student Government of North Carolina State University acknowledges the enthusiastic cooperation of both Dean Harry C. Kelly and the staff of the Technician.

of the international division and specialization of labor. For the same reasons (and following the French and German initiative) Great Britain, the United States, and Italy have expanded their economic contacts with the East. And now, even international organizations like the European Common Market talk of cooperating with the East and of future economic integration (which would solve the German problem).

Here ends our short survey. Then, to conclude, I reiterate that 1) The world economic perspective of the industrialized countries is nowadays a continuum rather than a two-block position; 2) interdependence and cooperation at a world level are taking the place of isolation, autarchy and nationalism; and that 3) Communist Russia is not an enemy anymore, but rather a partner in world development—and peace.

We set out to ruin some ball bearings and failed successfully

The Bell System has many small, automatic telephone offices around the country. The equipment in them could operate unattended for ten years or so, but for a problem.

Swock! This solid lubricant, used a certain way, actually increased the life expectancy of the ball bearings by a factor of ten! Now the motors can run for at least a decade without lubrication.

We've learned from our "failures." Our aim: investigate everything.

The only experiment that can really be said to "fail" is the one that is never tried.

The many electric motors in those offices needed lubrication at least once a year. Heat from the motors dried up the bearing oils, thus entailing costly annual maintenance.

To stamp out this problem, many tests were conducted at Bell Telephone Laboratories. Lubricant engineer George H. Kitchen decided to do a basic experiment that would provide a motor with the worst possible conditions. He deliberately set

Dennis Byrd Named To Look All-America

by Harry Eagar
Technician Sports Editor

Association of America. Byrd that he had not heard officially won the nomination at left that Byrd had made All-American, the only Atlantic Coast ica, but "I'm glad he did."

Dennis Byrd, State's big, crusing defensive tackle, has been named to the 1966 Look Magazine All-America football team.

The 22-man team (two players) was announced in the December 13 issue of Look, which goes on sale today.

The players were chosen by the 1,100 man Football Writers

Dennis Byrd

Look said of Byrd, "At 6'4", 240 pounds, Byrd must be double-teamed to be kept from a passer." Center Bill Carr of Florida pays his respects: "By the end of the game, everybody in our line was calling him Mr. Byrd."

Dennis is only a junior (one of three on the team) and is a homegrown product. He starred three years at Lincolnton High, where he won all-State honors, and played in the Shrine Bowl and East-West All-Star games.

He had an outstanding year last season as a sophomore, and was named All-Conference, plus making the NEA third team All-America squad.

In addition to his great strength, Byrd is one of the fastest of State's generally slow linemen, able to run 40 yards in 5.2 seconds in full football equipment.

Coach Earle Edwards said

Dennis has the unusual ability for a lineman of keeping the fans on their feet throughout a game with thrilling plays. Especially in this year's massacre of Duke, he brought the crowd to its feet cheering time and time again as he dumped Devil quarterback Al Woodall for three losses.

Against conference titleholder Clemson in the last game of the season, Byrd clinched the State win when, late in the game with the Tigers driving against a slim State lead, he twice dumped the Clemson quarterback for big losses.

Byrd is the eighth State football player to win All-America honors and the first since 1963, when end Don Montgomery made the team.

LOBO III AND FRIEND

Careful there, little Lobo, you're being followed by a big brute in a funny suit.

In case you are a stockholder in Lobo III, State's real timber wolf, and haven't been able to get to a game to check on his well-being, don't worry. The situation is well in hand.

As you can see, Lobo (the one with the smile), is doing fine. He isn't much of a football fan as yet, generally preferring to play on the grassy bank behind the south goal, but he occasionally makes an appearance before his adoring fans, Lobo.

When you care enough to send the very best

especially if you arrive early and your raincoat is on the bottom of a pile that's growing bigger by the guest.

Squashing, wrinkling and mashing isn't easy on an ordinary raincoat. But then a Gleneagles isn't ordinary.

When you put our pile-resistant, stain-resistant, mashed collar-resistant Gleneagles in a situation like this, it comes through looking smooth as ever. Since our 65% Dacron[®], 35% cotton shell is protected against rain and stain with DuPont ZE PEL[®] fabric fluoridizer, our raincoats have a built-in ability to ignore parties.

In fact, as far as we know, a Gleneagles is the only party-proof raincoat around.

DEAR REB:

Sports hero loses girl to mild-mannered math major.

DEAR REB:
I'm a big football star, and I've found a girl who suits me to a T. But I've been blocked out of the play by a math major. He knows math from $A = \pi R^2$ to $E = MC^2$. Now she says he's found the formula for success with her. All he has to do is mutter "Coronet R/T," and I get thrown for a loss. Believe me, this is no equilateral triangle that I'm in. Outside of telling me to bench myself, have you any advice?

FALLEN STAR
Now's the time to plunge. Coronet R/T isn't his exclusive formula. Your nearby Dodge Dealer has it, too. And it comes almost as easily as the cube root of 27. Then how can the girl of your dreams resist two superstars... you and your Coronet R/T? From there on out, your math major will be the victim of diminishing returns. Huddle with your Dodge Dealer now, and get your signals straight.

Sincerely, Reb

And why not? Look what you'll have going for you in your Dodge Coronet R/T, convertible or two-door hardtop. All standard, too. 440-cubic-inch Magnum V8 engine. Dual exhausts. Heavy-duty brakes and suspension. High-performance Red Streak tires. And exclusive R/T grille and hood scoop design, full length paint stripes, and nameplates, front, rear and sides. So get with your Dodge Dealer, and your problem will solve itself.
