Record Enrollment Seen For Summer

A record-breaking participation in this summer's Summer School session is expected.

Dr. Jack Suberman, director of the session, stated last night that he expected more than 4,500 students to take part in Summer School this year. "This is about 500 more than last year's record breaking 4,000," he said.

Students planning to attend the Summer Sessions should pre-register at Pullen Hall during the week of April 30 through May 6. According to Dr.

Two Freshmen Honored For

Top Math Work

Two freshmen have won awards for outstanding performances in the Mathematics Department's Superior Student Program.

Herbert J. Goldston, Jr., of Sanford, and Charles Winton, of Raleigh, each received a book of standard mathematical tables inscribed with his name. Goldston is in chemical engineering; Winton, in applied mathematics.

Presiding at the award presentation was Dr. James B. Wilson, professor of mathematics who instructs one of the three superior student classes. The event was attended by all students in the superior student program and math department faculty members.

Dr. Wilson said that this year two awards were made because the scholastic records of both boys were so close. He further stated that "the awards are recognition and respect for a job well-done and one which, it is trusted, will be well carried out."

Presenting the book to Goldston was his instructor, Dr. Leroy B. Martin, Jr.; to Winton, instructor Jason L. Sox.

Design Students To Air Views

Have you ever wondered what State College design students would change in the city of Raleigh if they had a chance?

At 7:30 p.m. Friday, WUNC-TV will broadcast a design critique in which students of the School of Design will explain the ways in which they think the city of Raleigh could be improved, illustrated with models and design renderings. These ideas will then be criticized by the other members of the class.

This will be the first in a series of seven such programs.

Nash Lectures For Men Only Coming Soon

NASH IS COMING.

That's what the signs say. But who, or what, is Nash? Nash is Mrs. Ethel Nash, and she will be here April 30-May 4, lecturing to State students on love, marriage, and sex. These lectures have been very well attended in the past.

There will be two lectures on each of the four nights she is here. The topic for Monday, April 30, is "When is Love Enough?"; for Tuesday, May 1, "Sexual Preparation for Marriage"; for Wednesday, May 2, the topic is "Engagement—Bridge to Marital Happiness"; and for Thursday, May 3, "Adjustments in the First Year of Marriage." The lectures will be at 7 and 9 p.m. and are for men only.

CU Drops Job

Directory Nixed

The student directory at State College may not be published by the College Union next year.

At a budget approval meeting of the Board of Directors of the Union last night, no appropriation was listed for the directory project. The board, represented at the meeting by about twenty students and faculty members, decided in general discussion that it was impractical to continue printing the directory with Union facilities.

The directory this year was published by the Special Events Committee of the College Union. Chairman Herb Sanborne described long days of time consuming work the group was forced to spend on the project. Another factor mentioned was the tie up of other Union facilities necessary for the job.

No definite plans for the 1963 directory were made by the board; the omission of the project from CU funds would indicate that a student listing would have to come from some other source, a spokesman said.

Ideas were put forward as to supporting the directory project financially through outside advertising or directory sales. The estimated cost of printing a directory was given at $1200; the cost to the Union last year quoted by staff officials was $650, which covered only materials costs.

After discussion of other items, a budget of approximately $28,000 was approved by the Board of Directors. The major sources of income listed are student fees and food services at the Union building.

State College fences went up in flames last Sunday night as 200 students impatiently sought rooms in Bragaw dorm.

After tiring of waiting in the bitter cold, students suddenly decided that they were going to ward off the cold by starting some fires.

The sharp crack of splintering wood was heard in the 32 degree weather as fences from Syme dorm and elsewhere came down. Into the fires amid mutters of "To hell with M & O" went the wood, as the cold was broken momentarily.

The fires were started at approximately 4:45; at 6 the tiny "Lark 8" came gliding up to Leazar Hall. An M & O man stepped out

City Board Blocks AGR Rezoning Try

In the face of opposition from property owners and the college administration, Alpha Gamma Rho's rezoning petition met its final defeat from the City Planning Commission Monday.

The fraternity had submitted a request to build on to their present house because of their inability to participate in the Fraternity Row project.

The College had previously made a recommendation to the City not to approve the AGR petition. Dean Stewart, of the Student Affairs Office, explained that this was done because of the forthcoming availability of fraternity housing on the campus and in hopes that all State fraternities would soon be located there.

Vann Receives Regional Post In Association

State College Business Manager J. G. Vann has been elected president of the Southern Association of College and University Business Officers.

Vann was elected by approximately 400 association members from 14 southern states who attended the 34th annual meeting in Miami Beach last week. Vann was accompanied to the meeting by Mrs. Vann. They returned to Raleigh Monday.

A native of Winton, N. C., Vann joined the faculty of State College in 1939 and has been here since that time. He is an alumnus of both State College and Wake Forest College.

The neighborhood opposition was in the form of a petition presented by L. A. Smith and signed by property owners from Clark, Everette, Brooks, and Gardner. Mr. Smith said, "You can't really know about State College fraternities until one moves next door to you . . . I want to see this fraternity house located on the campus."

AGR President Woodrow Taylor stated that several of the neighbors had explained that they had signed the petition under a misapprehension. The petition had implied that the entire 2700 block of Clark Ave. might become filled with fraternities.

Taylor added that, of the signers, only two were neighbors. The others lived from two to four blocks away. "These," he said, "had attitudes against fraternities in general."

"Many of the signers were owners of apartments and duplexes," Taylor explained, "and not actually the residents themselves." He added, "I think this is verified by the number of neighbors who came to our Neighborhood Picnic."

Approximately fifty of the AGR neighbors attended the annual picnic Monday.

Dorm Elections Held Last Nite; Runoffs Slated

According to unofficial results, approximately 1429 students voted in last night's dormitory elections. This is about 45% of the total number of on campus students. Officers elected in the order president, vice president, and secretary were:

Alexander: No returns.
Bagwell: Jerry Cherry, (Pres.); Jerry Jenkins, (V.P.); Run off (for Sec.)—David Dillingham & Tom Peacock. Becton: S. P. Lucas; Paul Blount, Stancil Roberts. Berry: Carl Rust; Ron Phelps; Claude Greeson. Bragaw: run off—Rhonnie Smith; Joe Donald; Pete Leslie; Ellis Whitt. Fourth: Max Watts; runoff—Leon Potet, Roy Garrett; Glenn Owens. Gold: K. R. Walker; E. B. Mathe-son; S. E. McCauley. Owen:

Junior class rings may be picked up tomorrow from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. at the CU. Ring orders will also be taken.

Peace Corps Placement Tests will be given in Raleigh on April 21, at 8:30 a.m. in room 314 of the Main Post Office Building. These tests do not in any way obligate students to the Peace Corps. Tests will also be offered in Asheville, Charlotte, Durham, Fayetteville, Goldsboro, Greensboro, Wilmington, Winston-Salem, and Rocky Mount. For additional information, contact Mr. Lee McDonald, Assistant Social Director of the CU.

Night Stand Staged For Dorm Space

State College fences went up in flames last Sunday night as 200 students impatiently sought rooms in Bragaw dorm.

After tiring of waiting in the bitter cold, students suddenly decided that they were going to ward off the cold by starting some fires.

The sharp crack of splintering wood was heard in the 32 degree weather as fences from Syme dorm and elsewhere came down. Into the fires amid mutters of "To hell with M & O" went the wood, as the cold was broken momentarily.

The fires were started at approximately 4:45; at 6 the tiny "Lark 8" came gliding up to Leazar Hall. An M & O man stepped out and said "All right boys, let's put out the fires." He was met by the deadpan, stolid look of students who made no attempt to extinguish the blazes. The M & O man left, not to return until 8 in an attempt to ticket student cars parked in staff parking spaces. Failure again!

Students had begun arriving at 12:30 a.m. Sunday fully prepared to spend the night in an effort to obtain rooms in Bragaw. After the students had been waiting several hours, Slater Food Service made a room available for the students to spend the night in.

At 4 a.m. the students straggled outside into the freezing weather and huddled in blankets; standing, walking, and lying, they tried to keep warm. Then, at 4:45, the first match was set to a fence.

At 7:30 a.m. a boy arrived, confidently smiling, to apply for a room in Bragaw. He took one look and left.

Look like the Boston Pops? No, this is only the impromptu combo which was formed by students waiting to apply for rooms in Bragaw dorm. It disturbed more poker games than you could go broke in a week.

A Backward Step

The college is considering dropping physical education credit from the engineering curriculum. In order to lessen the hourly load, policymakers have urged that only the PE requirement be retained. We feel that this recommendation was based on mistaken assumptions.

Under the competitive grading system, students generally center their efforts in a course toward the grade. The knowledge and skills tend to be obtained largely as a by-product of sweating out a decent mark. In this well-established climate of learning, physical education without credit would be out of place and ineffective.

Few students would learn any math if work in mathematics courses were not graded and counted in the all-important quality point average. The grade incentive must also be present in physical education courses for the student to put forth the effort necessary to benefit from the course.

It is unrealistic to assume that the less athletic student, who stands to benefit the most from PE courses, would put forth the "extra effort" that is so important in acquiring athletic proficiency.

Extensive research has revealed the close dependence of mental health upon physical health. Authorities agree that a student's mental sharpness will suffer if he does not balance his long hours of study with regular exercise.

The poor physical shape of American youth is obvious. Only two out of seven young men are mentally and physically acceptable to be a United States soldier. President Kennedy has strongly urged that "We must increase our facilities and the time devoted to physical activity. We must invigorate our curricula and give high priority to a crusade for excellence in health and fitness."

The excellent intramural program at State College provides a recreational outlet for a large number of students. But a strong instructional program is also necessary to build athletic skills and interest in those who do not voluntarily participate in sports. The learning of new sports is a sound investment for the future.

Removing only the quality points from physical education would not lighten the student's actual load, but it would deprive him of a good instructional program. State College offers the student the finest facility for physical education in the South. It would be foolish at this point of advancement to take such a backward step.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"NO MATTER HOW LOUDLY HER SPEECHES—YOU'LL HAVE TO ADMIT SHE ALWAYS HOLDS THEIR ATTENTION."

Love Affair In "Rome" Seen Drab

By J. W. Williams

Take an old, time-worn plot, add an old, time-worn script, direct and produce it with an old, time-worn attitude, and you might possibly end up with a movie comparable to Rome Adventure.

The plot: A New England librarian decides to include a book containing words and situations of questionable nature in the library. Her superiors are shocked. "Even the title, Lovers Must Learn, suggests..." They don't finish, but you can guess what their moral little minds have decided. The librarian leaves her home and journeys to Rome, where, as she says, "They know what real love is."

And whom does she meet in Rome? That's right. A suave, sophisticated Roman and a not so suave, not so sophisticated American boy. The romantic Roman (Rossano Brazzi) has the pleasure of reciting lines such as "The Colosseum is called that because it is so large," and of laughing pleasantly when the librarian (Susanne Pleshett), informs him that "Mama always said that I would hear bells when I fell in love." Oh, well, he does have a pleasant accent.

The American boy (Troy Donahue) comes out a little better. Perhaps this is because he has less to do and say in the movie than either Miss Pleshett or Mr. Brazzi.

Delmar Daves made a good movie from a poor novel (A Summer Place), and a poor movie from a good novel (Parish). With Rome Adventure he makes a poor movie from poor material. He doesn't even leave any suspense as to who is to win the fair maiden. Tall, young, handsome Troy walks onto the set and that's that.

There is one consolation. Anyone who has never seen Rome will love the scenery. But there is more to a movie than nice settings.

Lampe Loans For Seniors Ready Now At Aid Office

Graduating seniors who need money to help get settled will be able to obtain a loan from the Dean J. H. Lampe Loan Fund.

The Engineers' Council appropriated $2,500 for the fund, which was announced at the opening exercises of the Engineers' Fair. The Financial Aid Office in Holladay Hall will accept applications from seniors until the first of May.

This fund is being set up both to fill the need for such a fund and to honor Dean Lampe, who retires in June. It will be made available to all qualified seniors.

Burke Ellis, president of the Engineers' Council, said, "We are trying this fund on an experimental basis in an attempt to fill a definite need of the college. If it fails to work out satisfactory, it will be revised or terminated next year."

To qualify for a loan from this fund, students must expect to graduate, have a definite job offer, and a proven need, and a good credit standing with the college.

Loans will be made from the fund to cover moving and subsistence expenses between graduation and the

Christian Athletes Hear State Agent At Dinner Meeting

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes had S. B. I. Agent Walter Anderson as their guest speaker at their monthly dinner meeting last night.

Mr. Anderson, who began his law career in 1927, spoke of the many ways that his Christian beliefs had helped him in his work and challenged the group of athletes to make the best of their influence on campus.

The recently formed fellowship has no membership, according to Bill Sullivan, vice president, but is "open to any State College athlete who wants to come." Sullivan explained that the group meets each Tuesday night at 7 p.m. in the Y.M.C.A. for a brief program.

Skip Matthews, new captain of the football squad, is the president of F.C.A. Silas Snow is the secretary-treasurer. The faculty advisor is Coach John Clements.

Tar Heels Win 1-0 On Unearned Run

An unearned run in the sixth inning-gave Carolina a 1-0 victory over State in an ACC contest played yesterday.

Bobby Conner pitched his best game of the season in suffering his third defeat. He struck out nine, walked one, and gave up five hits.

State could not get the hits with men on base as they left runners on in six different innings. Although they collected seven hits, none of them produced a run to give Conner the support he needed.

The loss gave State a 1-2 record in conference play and a 4-4 mark for the season. Carolina is also 1-2 in the conference. State will be at home for two games

Wayne Edwards, veteran shortstop from Red Springs, leads all State batters with a .448 batting average.

The Tar Heels got their lone score in the sixth inning when Conner walked his only man of the day, Buddy Tilden. A sacrifice bunt by Paul Swing was fielded by Conner who threw to first but no one was covering the base. Tilden moved to third on the play.

After Larry Neal struck out, Haywood Hull lifted a fly ball to Ron Erb in center field that scored Tilden after a tag up at third.

Carolina's Jack Rees, in his first start of the season, pitched his way out of several jams in shutting out the Pack. He whiffed seven State batters, twice in the clutch.

State almost rallied in the ninth when Wayne Edwards walked and George Hayworth got an infield single. An infield out advanced Edwards to third before Rees got the side out. Edwards got two hits for State to boost his average to .448 for the season.

Bragaw South Repeats Dorm Badminton Title

Bragaw South successfully defended its dormitory badminton championship by defeating Bragaw North 2-1 for the championship last Tuesday night. Mustaq Saigal and Ronald Goldstein supplied South with the necessary two points by winning their singles matches. The doubles team of Burks and Denise won the doubles match for Bragaw North.

The field narrowed to 8 teams in the double elimination tennis tournament in action last Tuesday and Monday. Bragaw South is still undefeated, winning 2-1 over Bragaw North last Tuesday and 2-1 over defending champion Bagwell Monday. Also undefeated is Alexander, winning 3-0 over Tucker #2 last Tuesday and 2-1 over Beeton Monday.

Rain last week cancelled the scheduled start of dormitory horseshoes, but action began Monday with Owen #2 jumping off to a quick lead by beating Tucker #1 2-1 and defending champion Syme 3-0. Bragaw North also won two matches, defeating Bragaw South 2-1 and Beeton 2-1. In other matches played Monday, Turlington beat Berry 2-1, Alexander defeated Tucker #2 2-1, Welch-Gold-Fourth won by forfeit, Owen #1 defeated Bagwell 2-1.

Rain also cancelled all scheduled softball games last week. In the lone game played Monday, Tucker #1 moved into a first place tie with Bragaw North in section #2 by defeating Watauga 12-7. Home runs by Albert Mauro and Arthur Golmont highlighted a 5 run 7th inning Watauga rally.

The ten-member AFROTC rifle team shown here has won 31 of its 38 matches to date. Under the direction of M/Sgt. David Lake the team has been successful against teams from Bradley, Alabama, Wisconsin, Purdue, as well as local teams.

VOLVO announces... new engineering advances with new B-18 power series

Volvo continues to make changes and improvements where they really count.

Take the new B-18 power series, for instance. Under the hood of the popular two-door and four-door models, Volvo has added five more horsepower, plus greater efficiency and as much as 10% more economy.

Add to this other new engineering advances: new fade-resistant braking system, 12-volt electrical system, new interior appointments, five main bearing crankshaft for longer engine life. Blend in the same fine Swedish quality for which Volvo has been known—solid Swedish steel, complete rust-proofing and under-sealing, numerous coats of paint, standard extras that others call optional—and you have the quality yardstick you'll measure the other cars by.

Test drive one of the new B-18 power series. You'll see for yourself. And if you're planning a trip to Europe, be sure to ask about picking up a new Volvo while you're there.

Nash Lectures Slated Soon

Mrs. Nash has left Friday, May 4, open for consultations with students.

In an effort to anticipate the size of the audience, tickets to the lectures will be distributed. They may be reserved without cost at the YMCA or at the CU Main Desk before Monday, April 30, and tickets may be obtained at the Monday evening lecture. Anyone wishing to attend the lectures after April 30, who does not have a ticket, may get a ticket to the remaining three lectures for $1.

Mrs. Nash, who is an author, lecturer, and counselor, is employed in the Department of Preventive Medicine of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine. Originally from England, she has a private marriage counseling service in Chapel Hill.

The Nash lecture series is being sponsored by the State College YMCA.
