Questions SSS Profits

McCall Lists Final Points

Floyd McCall, candidate for Student Government president, has released the last three planks of his eight point platform.

This first point was,

To appoint a special committee to investigate fully the conditions of pricing which exist within our Student Supply Stores and to introduce such changes as may be possible to lower the student's educational expenses until 60% of the present SSS profits can be returned to the students by the fulfillment of point 3, which covers the new stadium.

McCall's third point called for student support for the construction of a new stadium which would make the Athletic Department self-supporting. Presently much of the money going for athletic scholarships comes from Student Supply Store profits.

He also stressed the need for an increased percentage to be paid on used books resold to the Student Supply Stores.

A second plank was to alter the present structure of our Honor Code Board to: (1) extinguish this board's power to dismiss students from State permanently, and (2) require students desiring to run for a position on the board to be approved by a board of review.

The third idea was to completely study the structure of Student Government representation and to introduce such alterations as are necessary to maximize the Student Government's effectiveness in representing the student body in the areas which will benefit students most.

In connection with this point, McCall said, "Special consideration

The occasion will be the annual Alumni Weekend. Classes dating back to 1893 have scheduled reunions for the two-day event. Other events to be held include a series of luncheons, campus tours, alumni seminars, and other special activities.

Class reunions will be held Friday night. The Class of 1912, headed by Archie J. Robertson of Goldsboro, will celebrate its golden anniversary. The Class

Voting Places Named

Polls Open Thurs.

"Vote for . . ." is the phrase that's been heard throughout the campus for the past month. Tomorrow many of the posters and many of the candidates will come down in defeat as students cast their ballots.

Nine polling places scattered throughout the campus will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. to receive the votes of the students as they choose their class and S.G. officers for the coming year. They are placed as follows: Harrelson Hall, Nelson Hall, beside Riddick, the College Union, Bragaw dorm, Winston Hall, Student Supply Store, YMCA and the Berry, Becton, Bagwell quadrangle.

When asked to comment on the coming elections, Norris Tolson, SG president, said, "I feel that it is the responsibility of every student on this campus to get out and elect their officers for the next year. Therefore, I urge every student to vote."

Students running for the major SG and class offices are as follows:

SG President: Jack Jordan, James Jones, Floyd McCall.

SG Vice President: Woodrow Taylor, Joseph Hollowell, Jr., Dillard DeHart, Jr.

SG Secretary: John Carr, Alfred Lindsey, Peggy McConnell.

Golden Chain Nominations Due

Golden Chain nominations are now being accepted in Room 206 Holladay Hall this week. Golden Chain selects each year the twelve outstanding rising seniors. The officers request that anyone nominating a rising senior include the nominee's academic and co-curricular record and a wallet size photograph.

Frosh-Soph Dance

Freshmen and Sophomores who have not yet obtained their bids for the Freshman-Sophomore Dance may pick up one from either Gene Eagle (room 25 Becton Dormitory) or Ronald Bowers (room 5 Becton).

New Director Slated For CU Drama Work

By Allen Lennon

Rom Linney, clad in sport shirt, khakis and sneakers, was sitting in Henry Bowers' office talking about drama.

He had good reason for this, because he is the young man who will lead the College Union's attempt to bring student drama and creative writing to the campus.

This brand new dash of liberal arts seasoning on campus is mainly the idea of CU Director Bowers, and Linney has high hopes for its success.

Linney described the new program, to begin next fall, as "an excellent opportunity for those who know practically nothing about drama and the theater to branch out and discover something about this field and perhaps something about themselves.

The program is designed to give State College students extra-curricular experience in drama by participating in workshops with an emphasis on individual scenes from many plays rather than on complete works. Non-actors will be given opportunity to learn about lighting, set-decoration, and stage management. Linney indicated that full-length productions are also planned for next year.

Creative writing will also be an integral part of the experiment. "Evening workshops in writing will be started this fall with the main emphasis on pure fiction," said Linney. If enough interest is shown, a literary magazine containing student works will be published.

Linney is here for about two weeks with his stage-designer friend Phil Eck looking over the campus facilities which may be used for workshop and full-scale productions.

Rom is a new-comer to the State campus, although he is of Tar Heel parentage. He is currently living in New Cork. Linney received his undergraduate degree from Oberlin and a Masters in Fine Arts from the Yale University Drama School. He has also attended the novel workshop at the New School in New York.

He is returning to New York this month for the release of his new novel, Heathen Valley, a fictional work based on the settlement of a mission in the mountains of North Carolina.

The drama and writing workshop will be officially launched in the fall of this year and is scheduled to run for two semesters.

Of Prexy Opponents

Jones Blasts Platforms

Presidential candidate Jim Jones disagreed with the platforms of his two opponents for the top campus position in a statement yesterday.

Jones stated that he must "disagree with the statement that Mr. Jordan released last night in which he said that we were throwing away almost one thousand dollars on the National Student Association . . . each year and that the NSA has acted in such manner as to discourage checking the activities of the communist in America. First of all, I challenge Mr. Jordan's knowledge of just what the activities of NSA are, and what they have to offer us at State College. Such services as films, speakers, publications, book cooperatives, and entertainment discounts are just a few. In addition to this there are many programs offered to member schools that have not been taken advantage of here at State. NSA was the group that went to bat and got the half fare plane tickets for students to utilize for travel purposes. Through use of NSA programs here at State we can save as much as several thousand dollars each year on entertainment contracts alone and the savings that are obtained can go to these organizations that Mr. Jordan proposes to give the money to. . . ."

Jones also noted that in the fight against communism? When we charge that an organization that has membership of the largest and greatest universities and colleges in the United States, is pro-communist, we are making a great accusation and should be careful.

"I would like to, if elected, utilize the money we are spending on NSA and get to all of the students the benefits for which they are paying. This has not been done in the past."

Traveling Poet Derides Verse During CU Talk

By Hoot Bryan
"Ninety percent of English poetry is bad."

X. J. Kennedy, in his lecture at the College Union last night, went on to say, "I am a strict believer in bad poetry because it enables one to recognize really good poetry when it appears."

Mr. Kennedy also noted that poetry tends to degenerate when removed from music. "Today popular music is left to the producers of the 'top ten rock-and-roll hits' and not included in poetry as was the case in the past."

Kennedy was the second of two lecturers to speak here this year during a tour of the North Carolina Poetry Circuit, a route similar to the ones traveled by circuit preachers of old times. His lecture was

Forestry Junior Elected YMCA Area President

A State College student will head an organization of 18,000 students from 68 colleges and universities in the coming year.

Carlyle Franklin, a junior in Forestry, has won election to the presidency of the Southern Area Student Council of YMCA's. He will serve in this post for approximately eighteen months.

The Council is the administrative and programming agency for student YMCA's in the south, and the office of president is "one of the most important offices a southern college student can attain," according to Tom Johnston, assistant coordinator of religious affairs.

On the charge of NSA being soft on communism, Jones said, "Would such persons as President Kennedy, President Eisenhower, and vice-president Nixon praise this organization as one of the greatest student groups

Technician Questions Answered

Jack Jordan

Jim Jones

Floyd McCall

Editors Note: The Technician asked the three candidates for Student Government President identical questions under identical conditions. Following are the answers to the questions.

1. How can Student Government at State College more effectively represent the ideas and feelings of the student body?

I feel that to more effectively represent the ideas and opinions of the student body, the representatives to the legislature should inquire as to the students' feelings on certain issues and in turn, students should not hesitate to express their feelings to their representatives.

I also feel that all bills and resolutions should be mimeographed one week in advance and given to the representatives to study and consider.

2. What place should student opinion occupy at an educational institution?

I believe the way in which student opinion carries in an educational institution would all depend on the issues at hand. I think generally that if student opinion is about an issue concerning students, very definitely it should carry great weight in the final decisions of that issue.

3. What is the one quality a Student Government president must possess?

Integrity.

4. What is the most important problem facing the students of North Carolina State College?

I would say it would be getting the proper education to meet the demands and needs of our time.

5. What is the function of the Student Government?

The function of Student Government is to represent the ideas and feelings of the student body and to express these feelings. Another function is to govern the students in the same manner any government governs its people. The Student Government also functions as a go-between or coordinator between the administration and the students.

1. How can Student Government at State College more effectively represent the ideas and feelings of the student body?

Here at State College we have a very definite democratic structure in Student Government in which students elect their own representatives from their respective schools. It is a responsibility of these elected senators along with the leadership of the members of the executive department to render the opinions and ideas and needs of the students they represent by bringing these ideas and needs before the legislature and the president and vice-president of the Student Government and not by acting according to their own feelings but according to their constituents that they may serve the students who elected them.

This means that those people elected were not elected merely for the sake of having a title tacked on to their name but they must do the work they were elected to do.

2. What place should student opinion occupy at an educational institution?

Student opinion should apply to all phases of the activities and functions of the educational institution. While the administration is legally responsible for the actions of the students, I feel that in a democratic society as we live in, it is up to the administration to hear these opinions and act accordingly. Students should at all times be allowed to present their opinions and actions taken after these opinions have been heard and not before.

3. What is the one quality a Student Government president must possess?

To The Editor:

I would like to bring to your attention a most worthy candidate for the position of President of the 1962-63 Student Government. The person of whom I speak is Jack Jordan, Jr. in Wood Technology. I personally endorse Jack as the best qualified man on campus to assume the many responsibilities inherent in the position of President of our student body.

My most intimate contact with Jack has come through Alpha Zeta, National Professional Fraternity. In Alpha Zeta Jack has shown the ability to lead when the situation merited it and also to follow the constructive suggestion of someone better informed than he. It seems to me that both these qualities are desirable in any position of leadership, but especially so in the case of the representative and spokesman of all of State College.

Space limits any further discussion of Jack's qualifications. Suffice it to say that by electing Jack Jordan to the position of Stu. Govt. President, you will be doing your part in assuring State College the type of leadership it must have to remain in the forefront as a vital institution.

C. Scott Bentley
President, State College YMCA

To The Editor:

The students at State College are indeed fortunate in having three such worthy candidates

I can't say that one quality will cover it. The Student Government president must exert tactful and logical action at all times. I feel that he must be experienced, know the job before him in all capacities, and never tire when there's a job and work to be done as required by the office he is elected to.

4. What is the most important problem facing the students of North Carolina State College?

The biggest problem facing the student at State College today outside their personal affairs is the lack of wholehearted effort by the persons to whom the student looks for leadership and educational opportunity. Furthermore, there is a definite void due to the lack of communication and association it is possible on the campus of North Carolina State.

These problems can be conquered by effective leadership and continued efforts of those persons elected to lead and represent the student body of North Carolina State College.

5. What is the function of the Student Government?

The function of Student Government is to in an unceasing manner, utilizing all efforts, possible sources of information, student opinion, and all talents to represent the students in whatever the case might be. To bring to the students through a better means of communication than we have utilized up to now the actions and plans of Student Government, the administration, the faculty and the community around State College, and further, in every possible manner to meet the needs and desires of the students it represents.

1. How can Student Government at State College more effectively represent the ideas and feelings of the student body?

The key word to my answer is unity. With a united student body resulting in a strongly united Student Government, the ideas and feelings of the students will be readily known. As in my point to furnish the support needed for a new football stadium and in the point to maximize the number of summer job opportunities available, Student Government will need the backing of every student in order to realize fully the benefits these will bring.

The additional representation of the ideas and feelings can best be obtained by three methods:

1. increased unity.
2. more active program of transfer of information between Student Government and the student body and between the students, the administration, and people outside the college.
3. the election of a Student Government with imagination and initiative.

2. What place should student opinion occupy at an educational institution?

Student opinion should control largely the activities and functions of the student community. By this I mean the matters of extra-curricular activities and other non-academic functions should be governed largely by student opinion. Upon such matters as instruction, course content, and methods of teaching, student opinion should influence administration and faculty decisions but not necessarily have control over them.

3. What is the only quality a Student Government president must possess?

Initiative. The job of Student Government president is a job of public relations. He serves as a liaison man between the students and administration and people outside the college. His success in this position is directly proportional to the amount of initiative and realistic imagination he displays.

4. What is the most important problem facing the students of North Carolina State College?

There are two answers to this question—a short-range one and a long-range one.

The short-range problem is elevating the position of the students within the structure of this institution. With this elevation will come the solution of the majority of the problems the students face on campus. Among these would be holiday scheduling, class and examination planning, and more mature regulations for our student body.

The long-range problem is the rising cost of a college education. Academic supplies are a necessary part of the student's college expenses. With the platform we have presented, this cost would be decreased considerably during the next three years and would remain at a record low for institutions this size and quality.

5. What is the function of the Student Government?

This function greatly exceeds the functions defined in the Student Government constitution. In addition to these, its function is to act in the interests of the students at large and exercise in the most effective manner the power it has to cope with the problems of North Carolina State. It has the responsibility of elevating the student position and of actively working to benefit the student body in the school as a whole.

Our Election Stand

The Technician has declined to take a stand on campus elections in recent years. Times have changed.

Three men are campaigning for the office of president of the Student Government. All three are at least fairly competent, having various degrees of association with the work of SG. The ability and attitudes of these men can in a measure be seen from a careful reading of the interview articles printed on this page.

The president of Student Government is the figurehead of the organization; if there is one person who represents the students in dealings with the faculty, administration, and the outside community, it is he. His job is primarily as a coordinator and as the voice of the students; his work is not primarily concerned with the minute details of the legislature.

Look at the statements made by these candidates and judge them for articulation and positive thinking; the winner of this race needs both qualities. In presenting their answers to our questions, our job in that area is done.

A very close contest in Student Government is the race for secretary; the candidates are John Carr, Fred Lindsey, and Peggy McConnell, in alphabetical order. Carr is a rising junior in Applied Math from Asheville, N. C., Lindsey is a rising junior in Pulp and Paper Technology from Haddon Heights, N. J., and McConnell is a rising senior in Civil Engineering from Elmhurst, N. J.

Carr and Lindsey have been mainstays in SG work this year, and both are well qualified for the office. Carr has stated that the secretary's job can be used as a publicity and information channel for the legislature; this is indeed a needed suggestion. The only way SG can truly represent the students is if there is a close communication link between the two groups. This, then, is a valuable idea which lies within the scope of the secretary's job.

Lindsey has advanced a number of ideas—a sort of platform—in his campaign. This would be pertinent for the presidential candidates, but is a little out of place in his case. He seems to be looking for the president's job next year, rather than being secretary this year.

Miss McConnell has failed to show a great deal of interest in her campaign; she, too, has served as a SG senator. No plans or suggestions from her campaign have reached us, however.

There can be little doubt in the vice-president and treasurer balloting. Woodrow Taylor is a highly experienced legislator with a wide and deep background of student activity. His knowledge of both Student Government and other student endeavors will be invaluable to the legislature next year.

John Bynum is the only candidate who has exhibited much interest in the job of SG treasurer. A hard-working senator this year, he has been closely affiliated with the financial appropriations to other student groups from the legislature. He will do the job well.

Student Government candidates have been discussed in this column because the men who are elected speak for our student body.

running for President of our Student Government. As students, we can all look forward to an interesting and hard-fought election.

Not being one of the students on campus to sit sedately in any controversy, I would like to actively support one of these candidates which I feel would be the best qualified for President of our Student Government. This student, who has proven himself in so many ways in all phases of campus activity is Floyd McCall. Floyd entered school here in 1959, and was immediately elected Vice-President of his Freshman Class. The next year he was President of the Sophomore Class. Currently, he is capably fulfilling the job of President of the Junior Class.

Just to name a few of the projects Floyd has "ramrodded" through Holladay Hall for the benefit of us at North Carolina State College are: (1) He instituted and designed the present system of school blazers at North Carolina State. (2) This dedicated worker is the person all the students have to thank for the group seating arrangements at last fall's football games. (3) Next, all students will benefit from the results of Floyd's work upon reaching the Junior Class level. This project manifests itself in the new and beautifully designed Class rings. This is the first change made in this school's ring design in twenty-three years.

As a fellow classmate and friend of such a dynamic person, I would like to actively support Floyd McCall for next

Carr Cites Information As Work Of Secretary

John Carr, candidate for secretary of Student Government, cited the responsibilities of the secretary and pledged to expand the duties of the office in an interview with The Technician last night.

Carr pointed out in his statement that one of the weaknesses in the system of student government is the fact that the students often are not aware of what the Student Government is doing. Expanding this point, Carr said:

"The secretary should supply The Technician with an accurate account of the proceedings of every Student Government meeting as well as details of matters of importance which will be presented in future sessions."

Carr was recently tapped into the Order of Thirty and Three and was elected president of the organization. He has served as a member of the Honor Code Board and as a senator in the legislature for two years, holding the position of Chairman of the Promotions Committee. A rising junior in Applied Mathematics, his home is Asheville, N. C.

Carr further stated, "The duties of secretary can be very demanding if he wishes to make them so. Any other activities in which he may desire to participate or any proposals which he may care to sponsor should not be made at the expense of the normal duties of the office."

Carr's platform also promised printed minutes of legislative meetings at the next meeting, accurate records of attendance, and cooperation with the chairman of the Rules Committee in the matter of recall of irresponsible members of Student Government.

Taylor's Experience In SG Legislature Said Valuable

Woodrow Taylor has announced his candidacy for Student Government vice-president.

In a statement released to The Technician by campaign manager Bill Lucas, Taylor's record of experience as the current treasurer of Student Government and two previous years service as a senator from the School of Agriculture was quoted.

In addition, Lucas stated, "Woodrow is a rising senior with a secure academic background. He has been honored by selection into the Order of 30 and 3, sophomore leadership fraternity of which he served as Secretary-Treasurer, Blue Key, junior leadership fraternity, and Alpha Zeta, honorary professional fraternity. He has given continued service in freshman orientation, Y.M.C.A., and other campus agencies. His background of experience is varied, and in each activity, he has shown that he is qualified and capable for student leadership."

"Woodrow is the most capable, the most experienced, and the strongest personality running for Vice President. He is prepared for the position, and he will handle it with efficiency and competence. It is my, and many others, personal feeling that Woodrow Taylor deserves, and is needed for the office of Vice President of the Student Government," Lucas said.

Taylor is a rising senior in Agricultural Business Economics. His home is Deep Run, N. C.

Vacation Complaint And Traffic Gates Listed By Hollowell

Joe Hollowell has announced his candidacy for Student Government vice president.

In a prepared statement, he said that the gates behind Alexander and Tucker are a hazard as they stand now and should either be put up permanently or removed.

Concerning the scheduling of vacations, he said, "The administration seems to forget its obligation to the students," giving the short Christmas and Easter holidays and the long semester break as examples.

In conclusion, he said, "The Student Government needs to take the initiative on controversial matters, and it is this initiative that I hope to instigate if elected."

Party System Advanced As Needed By Lindsey

In announcing his candidacy for Student Government secretary, Fred Lindsey, a rising junior from Haddon Heights, New Jersey, proposed a party system for elections.

Despite running for the secretarial job, Lindsey quoted a platform, which included a promise to "launch a full scale investigation into the merits and faults of the party systems at other universities." He stated the results of the survey would be presented to the legislature with a party plan for approval.

Lindsey stated that he felt the senior exemption issued was not dead, despite the recent administrative decision. "In the eyes of many," he said, "the question has been arbitrarily settled, but there is still hope for a reversal of this decision." Other ideas mentioned were voting booths and a study of the seating arrangement at the Carolina-State football game.

Lindsey has served two years as a senator in the Student Government and was named chairman of the Academic Affairs Committee this year. He was recently inducted into The Order of Thirty and Three. Lindsey's curriculum is Pulp and Paper Technology.

Circle K Elects Guy and Smith From N. C. State

Two State College students were elected to Circle K district offices at the club's district convention yesterday.

Buford Guy was elected secretary and Bob Smith, treasurer. Both of these students are from State College.

The convention meetings were held in Harrelson Hall on Saturday and Sunday. Delegates stayed in the Raleigh YMCA, where they held their banquet Saturday night.

The Carolina's District of Circle K, which includes State College, was organized last October. This convention was their first.

The State College Circle K Club was also formed last semester.

Progress continues on the new The Technician offices in the basement of the YMCA building. The space formerly allotted to the Student Supply Store will be converted to house The Agromeck, radio station WKNC, and the newspaper. It is anticipated that the move will be made during the summer months. (Photo by Kugler)

John Earnhardt, campaigning for President of the Senior Class, cited two years previous experience as a class officer in a publicity statement.

Girl watching is not strenuous

LESSON 9- Advantages over bird watching

Although girl watching will inevitably be compared with bird watching, it enjoys many obvious advantages. For one thing, it is less strenuous.

The bird watcher usually has to hike out into the woods where there is often a great deal of climbing over rocks and fallen trees and, occasionally, some swimming across rushing streams. Girl watching sites, however, are generally accessible to the watcher's home, school or place of business and can usually be reached without great effort. Perhaps no other hobby is so easy to enjoy. (Pall Mall is easy to enjoy, too. That's because Pall Mall's natural mildness is so good to your taste!)

In section #2 Tucker #1 has clinched at least a tie for first place with a 5-0 record. In second place is Bragaw North with a 4-1 record. The two teams played in a crucial game yesterday.

Becton has clinched second place in Section #1 with a 4-1 record, while third place is up for grabs between Bagwell, Owen #2, and Alexander, all with 2-3 records. Owen #1 has clinched third place in Section #2 with a 3-2 record. The top three teams in each section will enter championship playoffs next week.

In the two games played on Tuesday, April 17, Berry edged Syme 13-12 in 9 innings and Owen #1 disposed of Bragaw South 12-9 in a game called after 6 innings due to darkness.

In games played last Wednesday, Alexander defeated Bagwell 17-11, Burlington trounced Tucker #2 19-6 in 6 innings, Owen #2 trampled Welch-Gold-Fourth 13-4, Bragaw South upset Bragaw North 4-3, Watauga edged Berry 10-9, and Tucker #1 overwhelmed Owen #1 20-10.

As action continued last Thursday, Bragaw South beat Watauga 19-6 in 6 innings, Tucker #1 edged Syme 5-4, Bagwell edged Tucker #2 6-5, Burlington took Welch-Gold-Fourth 15-3 in 4 innings, Becton defeated Alexander 7-4, and Bragaw North swamped Owen #1 26-9 in 4 innings.

In Berry's April 17th win over Syme, a double by Mike DeAngelis followed by two infield errors allowed DeAngelis to score the winning run in the 9th inning after Syme had tied the game with a four run 7th inning featured by a long 3 run homer by Buster Glosson.

Darrell Spry hit his second home run of the day to help Owen #1 to a 7 run fourth inning which helped them to their victory over Bragaw South. Ken McNeil and Phil Shoulers led South with 3 hits apiece.

Bagwell jumped off to a quick lead with 7 runs in the first inning but lost the lead as Alexander scored 5 runs in their first inning led by Mike Barnhill's 2 run homer and 5 more in the 5th sparked by Bill Cartwright's 2 run round tripper as Alexander took the game 17-11. Bill Williams led Bagwell hitters with a home run and a triple.

Turlington scored 9 runs in the second inning with the help of eight straight hits and 7 runs in the sixth inning featured by a two run homer by Owenby giving them their easy win over Tucker #2. Ed Hoover, Larry McBride, and Mike DePriest all had three hits while Thomas Sink had a home run and a single for Tucker.

Hayward led off the sixth inning with a home run to get Owen #2 started to a six run inning as they defeated Welch-Gold-Fourth. Harrison and Ingram also had home runs for Owen while Tate had three hits for Welch.

Ron Gossell led off the seventh inning with a triple and later scored on an infield out giving Bragaw South its upset win over previously undefeated Bragaw North. Harold Cook hit an earlier home run for South and Mattocks had two round trippers for North.

Charlie Tanner hit a two run home run in the seventh inning to give Watauga their win over Berry. Pete Falzarano was the hitting leader for Berry with two doubles and a single while Ronald McClamrock had two triples and a single for Watauga.

Home runs by Bill Hight and Gerald Oehler sparked a 6-run 7th inning that ended Tucker #1's twenty run outburst in their win over Owen #1. It was Hight's second home run of the day. Terry Kethner led Owen's hitting with two doubles and a homer.

A bases loaded home run by Orson McCotter highlighted an eight run 2nd inning in Bragaw South's 19-6 victory over Watauga. South added 6 more in the sixth and final inning led by Fred Willis' two run round tripper. McCotter had three homers in three official trips.

Tucker #1 scored 3 runs in the second on Eddie Murchison's two-run double and a single by James Hucheson in the second inning and then added two in the fourth on an error and back to back doubles by Murchison and Hucheson, and held on to win a close one over Syme. Jim Olsen and Billy Burroughs led Syme hitters with two hits apiece.

Owen #2 and Bragaw North advance into the winners bracket finals in the double elimination horseshoe tournament. Tucker #1, Berry, Turlington, Alexander are left in the losers bracket.

Rod And Gun Ends Meet

The State Rod and Gun Meet finished its competition on Monday with three of the four events being completed while the archery event was rained out.

The winners will receive trophies at the annual Awards Day. They also will represent State at the Big Four Rod and Gun Meet at Wake Forest today.

Bob Gray won the skeet event for the second straight year with a perfect score of 25 out of 25. John Hatcher was runner-up in the event with 23 pigeons. Bill Watson and J. H. Gurkin tied for third place.

A three way tie resulted in the accuracy skish contest with Jack Ragan, Neal Palmer, and Sam Nash each recording a score of 70 out of a possible 100.

Zobel Morris took the target rifle championship, firing a 179 out of 200 from the prone and standing positions. Second place went to R. B. Henderson with a score of 157. A. O. McCarley finished third.

The rainy and windy weather caused the postponement of the archery event. This event will be held at a later date.

Deacons Dump State

Wake Forest got good pitching and timely hitting to beat State 6-2 Monday and knocked State from the picture in the ACC standings.

The loss left the Wolf-pack with a 4-4 record against conference teams, two games behind league leading Wake.

State swings to the North for a two day road trip this weekend. They clash with Virginia on Friday and meet Maryland on Saturday. Both teams lost to the Pack here earlier. State needs both of these games to have any hopes of staying in the race.

The Deacons got to starter George Allen for a run in the first and sent him to the showers with three more in the second.

State closed the margin with two runs in the seventh, the only inning they were able to touch sophomore Bobby Biddix.

George Hayworth led off the seventh with a single. Don Montgomery followed with a double to left. Hayworth tagged up to score on Jerry Cordell's sacrifice fly, and Montgomery scored on Jimmy Kirkman's infield out.

Wake got their final two runs in the last of the seventh when Roger Coon blasted a two run homer off reliever John Boughton.

Bobby Conner finished up the last two innings on the mound for State, retiring the side in order both times. He increased his hold on the conference lead in the earned run department.

NSA Controversy Started

year's President of our Student Government.

Ernie Freeland, President Inter Dormitory Council

To The Editor:

Having been in Raleigh this weekend, I have had the opportunity of reading the last issue of The Technician. I of course noticed the article on the National Student Association. The services of NSA should be used by State. They are extensive. There is information and publications on all phases of student government, regular conferences dealing with student government problems, and services which include films, speakers, book cooperative, health insurance, and wide travel benefits. The entertainment discounts that are available through NSA should also be used if they are not now.

However, I am not concerned here with stating a case for NSA. I don't think this should be necessary. I merely want to answer the irresponsible statement of Jack Jordan in your last issue. He has stated as a reason for withdrawal of membership that "this organization has passed bills which seem to discourage the checking of the Communist movement and the fact that it has received praise from pro-Communist organizations." Mr. Jordan indicated by this statement that he knows practically nothing about NSA. He would be wiser if he knew more before making such a serious charge. The National Student Association has been praised by many public figures including President Eisenhower, President Kennedy and former vice-president Nixon for fighting communism. Among the many comments that have been made along these lines let me merely quote the statement that was approved by the three major deans organizations in the United States: "The United States National Student Association has spearheaded and led the mobilization of the unions of students of the free world in combating the propaganda and distortion of truth fostered by the Communist International Union of Students. NSA more than any other group symbolizes the youth of the free world to the students of those areas where the battle of ideas has not yet been resolved." This is what the deans have said. NSA is unalterably opposed to communism and the totalitarian perversion that it represents. Naturally we don't like this kind of charge anymore than Mr. Jordan would like to be charged with such an offense.

Although I am unaware of any praise of NSA by pro-Communist press, it is good to know that Mr. Jordan follows the Communist Worker. I don't. However, NSA has been viciously attacked again and again by communist publications, and I would wonder whether Mr. Jordan has come to the defense of NSA on these many occasions. The logic of Mr. Jordan's statement is apparent: "Communist favors NSA thus NSA favors Communist." I would suggest that this is a pretty serious implication. Let me remind Mr. Jordan, however, that one of the favorite Communist tricks for discrediting an organization which is dangerous to their purposes is to praise that organization and then let the panic thinking of certain people do their work for them. Hopefully Mr. Jordan will not let himself be used in this way. I hope that after further study of NSA, Mr. Jordan will change his mind on this matter.

I hope Mr. Jordan doesn't take this matter personally, but anyone would be offended by what he has implied.

Tim Zagat, Harvard College
Vice-president USNSA

To The Editor:
I'm sure that an attempt to crucify Jack Jordan will be made by other interests. Jack had talked to me previously about this matter and I told him to wait until after the elections before making a statement about NSA. But knowing (See NSA, page 6)

For Study In Germany

Two Win Grants

Two State College students have received scholarships to study in Germany next year.

Marvin Samuel Margolis and Truxton King Mann, the students selected, are being sent to Technical University of Hanover under an exchange student program. In return, two German students are being sent to State College.

This arrangement continues a program which was initiated last year. The students were selected by a special faculty committee composed of Dr. Walter G. Peterson, dean of the Graduate School, Dr. R. G. Carson, director of instruction of the School of Engineering, Dr. C. G. Munford, assistant to the dean of the School of Physical Science and Applied Mathematics, and Professor N. W. Conner, head of the Department of Engineering Research.

NSA

the chance he was taking, Jack clearly made his stand. This is the type of person Jack Jordan is. He does not hesitate to express his viewpoint even if powerful forces are against him. This is the type of man needed in the Student Government—a man who speaks exactly as he feels without shirking and hiding.

About the NSA—Some people have called the organization "pink", but in my opinion it's blood red. Any organization that supports the Japanese student demonstrations which kept the President of the United States from visiting, praises Castro for his "university" reforms, supports the admission of Red China to the United Nations, advocates the abolishment of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, receives praise from Daniel Rubin, youth director of the communist party USA, and opposes the loyalty oath provisions of the NDEA Act is no organization that represents the typical American student. I believe we students can make better use of the $1000 (note $1000) paid by the Student Government to the NSA annually.

Bill Liles

Mr. Margolis will receive a B. S. in applied mathematics this June. He is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary scholastic fraternity and Pi Mu Epsilon, honorary mathematics fraternity, and comes from St. Pauls, North Carolina.

Mr. Mann, who comes from New Bern, North Carolina, is now working toward his masters degree in engineering mechanics. He is a member of Pi Tau Sigma and Tau Beta Pi, national engineering honorary fraternities.

State College's representative at the University of Hanover this year is Mr. Lawrence Carlton Moore of Atlanta, Georgia. His German counterpart is Mr. Hans-Martin Suckow, who is studying civil engineering this year.

Jones

Continuing his comment on campaign issues, Jones stated he "had met with Mr. Clogston and discussed the possibilities of a new stadium." Because of the Bond Issue defeat in the fall, Jones stated that "all involved decided that it would be best to wait a little longer on this for a large part of the money needed was to come from the state funds." He went on to say that "we have not filed the idea forever."

Jones also stated that "there is already a proposal before the Building and Grounds Committee and the Chancellor for a better and more beautiful type of fence if any have to be replaced."

If some students spent as much time studying for a quiz as they do devising ways to cheat on it, they'd probably make an A. On second thought, they'd probably flunk out anyway.

On the Ghost Writing bill lobby proposed by Floyd McCall, Jones stated that he could see no "reason to get students involved in State law making. This is the responsibility of the administration."

Jones also said that "I am in favor of carrying forth the projects we have already begun this year in Student Government."

He also pledged to "give the students a report of what Student Government is doing each week or at least every other week."

Band

At this week's concert the band will play "Tzar's Bride," "Pride of the Illini," "Cuban Holiday," "Fairest of the Fair," "West Side Story," and "Study in Lavender."

Each of the outdoor presentations will be open to the public as well as the school without charge.

McCall

ation should be given to the possibility of having representation by housing areas rather than by schools."

In his first five points, McCall proposed an addition to the orientation program, a strengthened summer employment program, a new stadium, the illegalization of ghost-writing themes, and the creation of a special publication to publish a student directory.

perpetual motion?

No! But scientists and engineers at Ford's research and scientific labs do deal in 'perpetual notions'—and they have more than a few about what might be commonplace in the future, some of them just as startling.

Studies at Ford involving new energy sources and improved materials may help bring jet-propelled cars with gyro stabilizers... automatic driving controls... flying automobiles and wheel-less vehicles that glide on a cushion of air... vehicles propelled by atomic energy... plastics with the strength of conventional metals... adhesives that replace welding... radar and other electronic controls to assist or replace the driver in many situations.

Basic studies in these and other fields are just part of a continuing program of progress aimed at reinforcing Ford's leadership through scientific research and engineering.
