

Once-Beaten Pack Could Be Champs With Clemson Win

by Carlyle Gravely
Sports Editor

This is it. All the chips are on the line. The conference title, a high ranking, a possible bowl bid, everything depends on the game Saturday with Clemson.

The trip to Clemson is the most important game that the Pack has had this year. A victory insures a title, a finish high in the rankings, and possibly a trip South over the Christmas holidays. A loss moves the title a fight between three teams and almost kills the Pack's chances for a good finish in the polls and a bowl bid.

If one looks at the statistics of State and Clemson, the game would be a toss-up, but if one looks at the records, State will be favored. Both the Pack and the Tigers have beaten their four common opponents, Wake Forest, Maryland, Duke, and Carolina.

Statistics show the Pack leading Clemson in five departments while the Tigers are on top in the other three. Total defense, rushing defense, scoring offense and defense, and rushing offense are areas where the Pack leads. Clemson leads in total offense, pass offense, and pass defense.

Jimmy Abrams has caught 24 passes for 262 yards, while Phil Rodgers has 22 catches for 352 yards and one score.

On the other side of the line, Tony Barchuk leads the rushers with 538 yards in 164 carries. Jim Donnan leads in passing with 915 yards in 139 attempts, and Harry Martell leads the receivers with 24 catches for 373 yards and six touchdowns.

In the all important area of scoring, the Pack has scored 192 points for a 21.3 average while the Tigers have 129 for a 16.1 average. On defense the Pack also leads, giving up 73 points for 8.1 average while the Tigers have surrendered 110 for an average of 13.7 per game.

Controversial Message Adorns Tunnel Wall

A source of contention has been the recently painted tunnel near the Supply Store. Many students have taken issue with some of the messages that appear there, particularly those containing "vulgarity" and "profanity." As a result, Student Government's Campus Welfare committee has released a set of rules covering the paint project. For details, see Tuesday's Technician.

Roy Props Runs Away With Run-Off

Roy Props Jr. (UP) came back from a poor primary performance to defeat Tom Dimmock (SP) for freshman class president in Wednesday's runoff elections.

Although Dimmock gathered 501 votes to Props' 298 one in last week's primaries, three independent candidates received enough votes to force a runoff election.

With intense campaigning, including personal visits to potential voters, Props earned 502 votes to Dimmock's 322.

In the other runoff race, Ronald L. Matthews won the seat of Freshman Textiles senator. Nineteen voters chose Matthews as compared to 18 for Robert Gooch and eight for Phill Ryalls. All three are independents.

Ed Chambers, elections board chairman, indicated he was pleased that 39 per cent of the freshman class voted. "The voter turnout in the primaries (48 per cent) and in the runoffs shows an increasing interest by students in campus politics," he said.

"I think this is a trend that will continue in the future and I hope the freshman will retain their interest in the years to come," Chambers added.

This Way!

The largest crowd to ever see two ACC teams play will probably fill Clemson Stadium tomorrow afternoon. The crowd is expected to number 48,000 for the game that will decide the ACC conference title.

South Carolina Highway Patrol Captain L. O. Wiggins has asked that all fans be in the Clemson area by 1 p.m. so that they won't miss the kickoff. There will be patrolmen at every major intersection between Greenville and the stadium, 90 miles away, along I-85 and other highways leading to the stadium.

Individual Leaders

The Tigers have explosive Buddy Gore running from the fullback post. Gore, who led the ACC in rushing last year with 750 yards, had already gained 700 yards and has two games left to play.

Jimmy 'Needle' Addison, Clemson's most prolific passer in many years, has tossed the ball 153 times for 70 completions and 10 interceptions. He has gained 778 yards on his passes.

Student Government sponsored buses will not be going to Clemson tomorrow.

The nine students who bought tickets to take the SG buses will be refunded $10 at the Union information desk upon presentation of their ticket. SG will also help obtain rides for the nine. They are requested to call 834-1150 for further information after 5 p.m. today.

If for some reason the rides fall through, SG will pay the difference between the charter bus price and that of taking a commercial bus if the students wish to take the commercial bus. According to SG President Wes McClure, this difference would be paid out of the president's discretionary fund if necessary.

If all attempts to get the students to the game fail, McClure stated that SG would reimburse the nine $5 each for their game ticket.

The Student Body President expressed great disappointment in the whole project, stating that the only blame lies with the students who didn't take advantage of it.

"Students were aware that the buses would be available," McClure said. "They just got more rides than anyone had thought." He expressed further disappointment in the "misdirected efforts of the executive officers of SG" who in McClure's opinion "wasted their time."

"This will be the last time we'll try something like this," McClure stated. "I think in the future it will be left to other groups."

The question of the buses to Clemson came up on the floor of the Legislature Wednesday evening when Wells Hall (Sop-Ag) introduced a resolution reading the bill entitled "Publicity Funds for Clemson Caravan" which he amended to read as follows: Now therefore be it resolved that the Student Government Legislature of NCSU at Raleigh appropriate twenty-five dollars ($25.00) to help pay for the bus to the N. C. State-Clemson football game.

At this point, Rannie King (Sr-AG) Chairman of the Investigation Committee, who was presiding in the absence of Vice-President Shipley, gave the floor to McClure.

McClure stated that students would pay $90 (at $10 per ticket) and the choice of section canceling this last bus too (10 others had already been canceled) or leaving the whole thing open until Saturday with SG paying the difference between what the students paid and the total price of the bus.

Alternate Ivan Mothershead asked if $25 would cover the difference. Paul Smith made the motion that if the bill was to come in later, then the motion should be tabled until the bill for the buses came in.

Frosh Engineering Head Hanson Passes

Karl P. Hanson, director of the Freshman Engineering Division at State, died unexpectedly Wednesday while on a trip to Pittsburgh.

He was a member of State's faculty for the past 20 years.

Though a full Professor of Mechanical Engineering, Hanson was best known to all engineering students through the "Orientation to Engineering" freshman course which he directed.

Hanson served as a counselor to all engineering freshmen. The Freshman Division which he headed seeks to aid those entering the discipline in selecting their specialty in engineering.

The University of Wisconsin was Hanson's alma mater; he was a native of that state. After receiving his B. S. in M.E. at Wisconsin, he went on to The University of Michigan for his master's.

Hanson and his wife Eleanor lived in Raleigh since his joining the State Faculty. Surviving in addition to Mrs. Hanson are a daughter and a brother. Funeral arrangements were incomplete at press time.

Six Hour Leeway

SSS Percentage Rule Modified

by George Pantou

Selective Service regulations governing draft deferments have been liberalized temporarily for undergraduates who were not forewarned of recent changes in the deferment system.

To qualify, a student must complete 25 per cent of the hours necessary for graduation by the end of his freshman year, 50 per cent by the end of his sophomore year, 75 per cent by the end of his junior year and must graduate after four years.

"Some of our curricula do not require a student to pass 25 per cent or 50 per cent of his hours by the end of the freshman or sophomore years, noted Charles P. Greyer, assistant registrar. "Take engineering, which requires 136 hours to graduate. It requires 34 hours at the end of the freshman year; however by the end of the sophomore year, only 66 hours are required, which is two hours less than what Selective Service asks. A boy could have passed everything and not be entitled to a deferment," he said.

The state headquarters, after a number of complaints, said since the law was not passed until June 30, 1967, the students were not familiar with the changes and it was too late to go to summer school," explained Greyer.

"For those students who were already enrolled in a college or university as of July 1, 1967," he said, "they would ease the requirements."

An excerpt from a letter sent from State Selective Service Headquarters follows: "Local boards should consider for Class II-S any registrant who requests same in writing or on SSS Form 104 who is a satisfactory full-time undergraduate college student and not yet 24 years of age; provided four years have not elapsed since he initially entered college, if he is pursuing a 4-year course; or five years have not elapsed, if he is pursuing a 5-year course; and he meets one of the following: (a) He is not more than 6 semester hours, or 9 quarter hours, short of the percentage required under the new criteria. A smaller number of hours may be accepted, if the institution certifies that, because of its own restrictions, a smaller number of hours were taken and passed. (b) He qualified under last year's criteria. (The local boards have the college qualification test scores on those registrants who took and in some instances they have the class standings.) (c) If the school certifies that he has progressed to the next higher class."

British Pageantry Exites Enthusiastic FOC Audience

All the pomp, splendor and ceremony that is Great Britain thrilled a Friends of the College audience Wednesday night as Her Majesty's Welsh and Scots Guards performed.

Not since the appearance of the Royal Marine Tattoo two years ago has the Coliseum seen such a spectacle. The performance will be repeated tonight at 8 p.m. The 80 members of the Welsh Guards were attired in bright red coats with gold and silver trimmings.

There were 40 members of the Pipes and Drums of the Scots Guards attired in kilts. In addition there were 16 Scottish dancers and a 25 man Drill Squad of the Prince of Wales Company 1st Battalion.

The brilliant reds, golds and blacks of the uniforms and the instruments were highlighted by the excellent lighting.

The spectacle had an unusual sound when the Pipes and Drums were combined with the Band. It was surprising how well the shrill sounds of a bagpipe combined with the brass of the band.

spotlight on a lone sentry guarding the Tower of London. The announcer explained that the ceremony has been carried out nightly for over 300 years.

At 10 o'clock the Chief Warden came out dressed in befeater costume. This style of costume has been worn by the Chief Warden since the days of Elizabeth I. He proceeds to lock the tower and is challenged by the guard.

"Who goes there?"
"The keys."
"Whose keys," the guard asks.
"Queen Elizabeth's keys," replies the Chief Warden.
"Pass Queen Elizabeth's Keys," says the guard.

The ceremony ends as the clock strikes ten. As the chimes are tolling the hour, taps are played and the ceremony is ended.

The grand finale had the band in concert formation playing Tchaikovsky's "1812 Overture." When the score called for cannon, a cannon was fired in the Coliseum to the surprise of most of the audience.

The performance ended with the lowering of the American and British flags as taps was played.

Pack Cagers Give Sneak Peek Nov. 20

A sneak preview of the 1967-68 State basketball teams will be offered Nov. 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the Coliseum as the varsity and freshmen divide for the annual Red and White game.

The two teams will be led by the only two seniors on the varsity, Eddie Bienenback and Bill Kretzer. Assistant coach Charlie Bryant will direct Kretzer's White team. Esposito will head Bienenback's Red team.

Kretzer picked varsity men Dick Braucher, forward; Joe Serdich, forward; Jack Douglass, guard, along with sophomores Nelson Isley, Dale Abernethy, and Tommy Smith. Freshmen on the White team are Joe Dunning, Pat Biber, Mike Turner, Terre Haute, William Cooper, and Richard Anheuser.

Coach Norm Sloan will be sitting in the stands watching his players perform so he can gain an idea of what his team can do.

This game is a deviation from the traditional Thanksgiving Night game when the freshmen usually meet the varsity.

"This will offer our fans a better game," said head coach Sloan.

The game will be free to all State students while all others will be charged a dollar admission.

Biedenbach, 7 Lettermen Return Sloan, Pack/Cagers Open Drills

by Steve Barksdale
Because football spirit has soared so high around campus within the last few weeks, many State students haven't noticed that the sport that brought the Wolfpack into national prominence, basketball, will begin early next month. Coach Norm Sloan's boys will be back this year: with determination to improve last year's 7-19 and 2-12 conference record.

The Pack loses only three lettermen and finds eight returning. Sloan was forced to start as many as four sophomores at one time in the lineup last year. He points out that three factors will influence State's team this year: They are the experience gained by last year's team, the addition of several fine prospects from last year's freshman team, and the return of guard Eddie Biedenbach.

As a junior two years ago, Biedenbach was the Pack's leading scorer with a 16.2 average. He also was the leading scorer in the ACC tournament and was selected on the all-Tournament and all-Conference teams. Eddie missed the 1966-67 season because of a back operation, but has shown signs of full recovery and should lead State again.

Joining Biedenbach in the backcourt will be last year's playmaker, Nick Trifunovich, a 5-9 junior and 10.8 scorer. Trifunovich will be pressed by top sophomore Nelson Isley, a left-hander who should be one of the ACC's best.

The pivot is expected to be filled by 6-7 Bill Kretzer. The late season play of Kretzer last year as a forward and center, indicates that he will be a strong frontline performer. Manning the forward positions will be two 6-4 juniors, Joe Serdich and Dick Braucher. If 6-8 Bob McLean can perform capably, the height problem will be eased slightly by inserting him at center and moving Kretzer to forward.

Depth will be provided by an early season starter last year, Bill Mavredes, and upcoming sophomores Vann Wilford, Dale Abernathy, and Tommy Smith.

Last year the Pack lacked a consistent high scorer, but Biedenbach is expected to fill this need. The conference is expected to be stronger overall, but Coach Sloan said it was too early to predict the Wolfpack's chances. He chose an appropriate word when he summed his team to be "hopeful."

The annual intra-squad game including the varsity and freshmen has been moved to Monday, November 20th. The reason for this is so more students can see the previously annual Thanksgiving battle.

T D Jinx?

The Wolfpack seems to have a ninth-game touchdown jinx. During the last three seasons, the only points that the Pack has scored during the ninth game have come on field goals. The Pack has won one of the games and lost two.

Two years ago, the Pack won the last game played in Riddick Stadium on a field goal by Harold Deters. The losing team was Florida State and the score was 3-0.

Last year, Deters kicked two field goals but came up one point short as the Pack lost to Southern Miss, 7-6.

This year, as you well know, the Pack failed to push across a touchdown losing to Penn State, 13-8. Gerald Warren kicked two field goals.

In the past two years, the Pack has come back to score 28 and 23 points in the final game.

Miracles Concert Is A Terrific Success

Linda Stuart
Assoc. Features Editor

An enthusiastic audience of about 2000 was treated to a concert by The Cavaliers, Bohannon and the Motown Sound, the Monitors, and Smokey Robinson and the Miracles Friday night in the Coliseum.

The concert began with a performance by Gene Barbour and the Cavaliers from Dunn, who were introduced by Russ Spooner of WKIX. The drummer and saxophone player were particularly enjoyable to listen to.

Their eight numbers, including "It's All Right" and "Crazy About My Baby", were well received by the audience. There was even some dancing in the aisles.

All "the men of music from KIX" were there to participate in the fun between performances. Tommy Walker led the audience in a cheer for State while the others just generally kidded around during a few delays in the concert.

After a rendition of "Up Tight" by Bohannon, the monitors from Detroit went into their excellent act. The highlight of their performance was their own idea of "Frankie and Johnny". They also did a great job on an old song, "I Only Have Eyes for You" and added their own words to "I Need You"—Uncle Sam wants you.

After some more joking by the guys from KIX, Smokey Robinson and the Miracles made their appearance and promptly received a standing ovation. The crowd added to each of their twelve songs with a great deal of clapping and singing.

Their numbers included "Tracks of My Tears," "Walk On By," and "Yesterday." After another standing ovation they did two encores: "Sweet Loving" and "Baby, Baby." By the end of the concert the audience had really gone wild and gave the Miracles their third standing ovation.

The audience could not have hoped for a better performance by any of the groups; however, much was left desired in the behavior of the audience. The sometimes menacing audience really did seem to enjoy the concert, so much so that they were at times quite out of hand.

The two and a half hour concert was fascinating, living up as the evening progressed. The audience reluctantly left the Coliseum after a really entertaining evening.

INTRODUCING AN ASTONISHING LITTLE FM RADIO.
The new KLH Model Twenty-One.

The Model Twenty-One looks pretty much like a little FM radio. But looks can be deceiving. Turn it on and it will flood your room with music.

Turn it on and this incredible little radio produces an amount and quality of sound out of all proportion to its size and price.

The fact is, the Twenty-One is a complete FM receiving system. Besides its own self-contained speaker, it has outlets for external speakers (including a special KLH auxiliary speaker!), for making tape recordings or for use as a tuner in a separate sound system.

You can turn off the internal speaker when you want the tuning dial at hand and the sound from an external speaker across the room. Or you can play an extension speaker simultaneously in another room.

The Twenty-One isn't stereo. And it doesn't play records. It's just the best FM radio you ever heard.

We invite you to come in for a demonstration of the Twenty-One. We guarantee you'll be astonished by what you hear. And by the price. $89

Violations Cited By Honor Code Board

Editor's note: The above article, submitted for publication by the Clerk of the Honor Code Board, in no way represents the view of the Technician. It has been printed in Miss Weathers' original words.

Mary Ann Weathers
Clerk, Honor Code Board
In the few short weeks that have passed since the beginning of the semester, the number of cases which have come up before the Honor Code Board have made two points increasingly evident.

The first is that here at State there is an obvious disrespect and concern for the Honor System; the second point is that there exists a complete lack of communication and cooperation between the Honor Code Board and the student body. Exerting jurisdiction over cases of lying, cheating, and stealing, the Board has tried an unusually large number of cases involving the charge of telephone calls to University phones and the selling of misplaced textbooks.

Whether the phone used is on a Watts line or not, a student may not use University phones for his own personal calls; to do so is considered stealing under the Honor System. Confronted in the music offices of the King Religious Center, a student lied to a faculty member concerning his use of the Watts line for a personal call.

A sophomore in Electrical Engineering was tried and found guilty of stealing; specifically, selling misplaced textbooks to the Student Supply Store. The student said he had found the books lying on a bench and had thought they must have been thrown away. He was given three semesters probation.

Another young man, a junior in Industrial Engineering, was asked by a friend to sell some books for him at the Student Supply Store. This was last spring. Now it has been discovered that the books were stolen and, of course, the friend is long gone; the student selling the books must be held responsible, nevertheless. He was found guilty and given a reprimand.

The most recent case in the unbelievably tremendous rash of selling misplaced (i.e., stolen) textbooks involved a freshman in Liberal Arts. Contending throughout the trial that he had found the books on the hood of his car, the student finally admitted that he and a friend had stolen them downstairs in the Erdahl-Cloyd Union and had sold them at Keeler's Book Store as their own. The freshman was suspended from school until January of 1968 when he may apply for re-entry.

Perhaps the most serious case this semester was one involving a senior in Textile Chemistry. The young man, a foreign student who had been told how liberal educational policies in the United States are, did not realize that he could not use his personal notes during a quiz, unless his professor had so instructed him. He was found guilty of cheating.

The problems are obvious. These cases point out the immaturity of a large segment of our student body and its failure to accept the responsibility as individuals so necessary to the strength of a community, in this case, our academic community here at State. Part of the blame, no doubt, rests with the failure of the Honor Code Board to enforce the Honor System as severely as it should be; but the majority of the blame rests with each individual student.

It is time for a change in the attitude of our student body toward the Honor System. If you have any suggestions or questions, address them to the Honor Code Board, P. O. Box 5522. The Honor Code Board is out to get you—to do your part.

Union Sets Eric & Errol

Eric & Errol, a song and comedy duo in the "Smother's Brothers" tradition, will appear at the Erdahl-Cloyd Union Ballroom for the second "Quarter Note" nightclub of this year. Shows will be nightly at eight and nine o'clock, November 27-December 2. Admission is fifty cents per person, and refreshments will be available.

This newly-formed team have a vast list of credits. Eric, for example, has had two years with the "New Christy Minstrels" and has an impressive TV appearance list including the Bell Telephone Hour, Mike Douglas Show, The Tonight Show and "An Evening with the New Christy Minstrels" Special.

As an actor, he appeared in the Broadway production of "Under the Yum Yum Tree," and "The Man Who Came To Dinner." He was an undergraduate of the University of Corpus Christi, Texas (where he was a pre-med student), plays ten instruments and is an accomplished song writer. He is twenty-three years old.

Errol Sober is a Madison Avenue dropout. After he left Catonsville Community College, he was determined to make it as a song writer. He supported himself during those lean years as a copy writer for an advertising agency. When he met Eric, he decided that show-business was for him, and quit his impressive job to form the team known as "Eric & Errol." He has been writing songs since he was seventeen years old, and now has been discovered by many recording artists, therefore in the near future, there should be some Errol Sober tunes in the "Top 100" charts. Errol also plays the piano and guitar.

There isn't a doubt in anyone's mind who has witnessed their performance that this duo will make it, because they are too special, too talented, and too funny. Come to the Ballroom the week after Thanksgiving and enjoy yourself.

How would you fit into Du Pont's Project X?

You are the only person who can answer that question.

To do it, you should know as much as possible about the 150 new plant units Du Pont has built since the end of World War II. You'd then choose from one of the many lively fields of interest at Du Pont: design, construction, production, marketing, research and process improvement (to name just a few).

Involvement starts the day you join. There is no training period. You go into responsible work right away. Your professional development is stimulated by real problems and by opportunities to continue your academic studies under a tuition refund program.

You work in small groups where individual contributions are quickly noted and appreciated. The work is significant, and of benefit to society. You're part of the most exciting technical environment available today and tomorrow, and facilities and associates are the best.

How could you fit in? Why not sign up for a chat with a Du Pont interviewer and find out? The coupon will also bring you more information about us.

Finally, what is Project X? We don't know yet. Could be we're waiting for you to tell us.

At the end of three weeks of play in the regular season of resident hall volleyball, the five sections are starting to take shape.

In Section 1, Lee No. 2 has a perfect 3-0 record with Art Drewyer setting the individual pace. Welch-Gold follows with a 2-1 record with Lee No. 1 (1-2) and Bragaw No. 2 (0-3) rounding out the section.

Syme, led by the strong spiking of Paul Lineberger, leads Section 2 with a 3-0 record. Bragaw No. 1 has a strong hold on second place with 2 wins and a loss. Bagwell (1-2) and Lee No. 3 (0-3) finish out the four team section.

Owen No. 2, with a 3-0 record, leads Sullivan No. 1 (2-1), Sullivan No. 2 (1-2), and Bragaw S No. 1 (0-3) in Section 3. Sidney Johnson and Dalton Edge have carried much of the load for Owen No. 2.

Section 4 has become the present property of Tucker No. 2 with a 3-0 record. Strong spiking and general play of Halls Aikis has been featured so far by the Tucker team. Turlington (2-1) holds second place with Bragaw S No. 2 (1-2) and Tucker No. 1 (0-2) trailing the leaders.

Jim McCaskill and Sullivan No. 3 (3-0) are pacing section 5. Owen No. 1 (2-1) occupies the second spot with Becton (1-2) and Berry (0-3) completing the slate.

The remainder of the season will be completed before the Christmas break with a ten team play-off to determine the championship.

Sports Predictions Has Several Upsets Slated

by Ed Hewitt

Last week's predictions came out fairly well but I was wrong saying the polls would not change because they did change, in a big way. State and Southern Cal, both previously undefeated, were beaten leaving only Indiana and Wyoming undefeated in the major college ranks.

This week's predictions are a little less conservative. If they are all true there will be a big change in the polls and in the bowl pictures of several of the schools.

Here are the predictions:

STATE vs. CLEMSON: State will win this game very easily although Clemson coach Frank Howard has said his team would defeat the Wolf-pack. The Byrd defense will hold Clemson's offense in check all afternoon while the "Donnan" offense will walk over the Tiger defense.

SOUTHERN CAL vs. UC-

LA: Southern Cal will come bouncing back from last week's defeat at the hands of Oregon State to defeat the Trojans of UCLA. O. J. Simpson will be back in top form for this game as Southern Cal finishes its season with a 9-1 record, defeating the No. 1 team in both polls and regaining the spot themselves.

TENNESSEE vs. MISSISSIPPI: The Rebs of Old Miss will make it nine in a row over the Vols of Tennessee. Dewey Warren and Richmond Flowers will not be able to stop Old Miss.

PURDUE vs. MICHIGAN STATE: The Bollermakers of Purdue with Brady Keyes leading the way will walk all over the Spartans of Michigan State and give the Spartans a 2-7 record and their worst season in four years.

INDIANA vs. MINNESOTA: This Big Ten battle will decide who will represent the conference in the Rose Bowl. Minnesota will come back from its loss last week to Purdue to defeat previously unbeaten Indiana. Minnesota's win will make next week's game between Purdue and Indiana more important than just the Traditional Old Oaken Bucket contest.

WYOMING vs. UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT EL PASO: The Miners with their nations number one passing attack will pull the second major upset of the day as they defeat the undefeated Cowboys.

OKLAHOMA vs. KANSAS: The Sooners will continue their winning ways as they dispose of Kansas with ease. The Sooner defense will be too much for Kansas to score on since they led the nation in fewest points allowed.

OREGON STATE vs. OREGON: Oregon State will continue its winning ways this week after two great weeks in tying UCLA and beating USC.

NOTRA DAME vs. GEORGIA TECH: Tech will beat the Irish in one of the major games of the South. Hanratty and Seymour will not be able to out score King and Snow in a tough battle.

CAROLINA vs. DUKE: Bill Dooley's Tar Heels will even last year's record of 2-8 with their win over the Blue Devils of Duke in their annual season finale. Bomar will outpass Woodall for the victory.
