Student Says Clemson Quiet For Gantt

Letters from all over the country have been pouring into The Clemson Tiger office praising the students for their conduct in accepting Harvey Gantt, according to Dave Gumula, editor of Clemson's student newspaper.

In a telephone interview with The Technician last Sunday night, Gumula stated that there were no incidents and the students have been admirable in their conduct. Several students visited Gantt in the dining hall and in his room. Gumula stated also that Gantt has a graduate student living on one side of him and an undergraduate student living on the other side. Neither of them has shown any ill feeling.

Gumula mentioned that he had not heard of anyone moving out of the dorm because of Gantt. He made no mention of Gantt having a roommate.

When asked about student reaction to Gantt's registering early, he stated that transfer students normally register several days before the main student body, and the students accepted Gantt's registering as perfectly normal.

The newsmen, 160 of them, conducted themselves in a very mature manner, according to Gumula. There was no trouble from them or trouble directed at them by spectators or students. According to Gumula, all 160 newsmen did not interview Gantt at one time. A small, representative group interviewed him and then reported to the larger body.

Gumula commented that the success of the whole undertaking hinged in the conduct of the state and the administration. The general public and the administration officials accepted the integration gracefully and everyone involved at the college worked hard to see that everything ran smoothly and incidents did not start.

Ferrante & Teicher

Top Concert Duo Here Sunday

Leave those stereos for a live engagement Sunday night.

New Arts Incorporated will present Ferrante and Teicher on Sunday, February 10, at 8:00 p.m. in the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum.

"The Many Moods of Ferrante and Teicher," a two hour concert, will feature the popular favorites "Exodus," "Theme from the Apartment," and "Tonight." The program will range from show tunes and popular music to the "pop" classics.

Referred to by one critic as "the most exciting team of our time," Ferrante and Teicher have appeared throughout the United States and Canada before many sellout audiences. They travel by car, accompanied by their specially designed truck carrying their two concert grand pianos.

The duo has appeared on such television shows as the Dinah Shore Show, the Perry Como Show, the Ed Sullivan Show, and the Dick Clark Show. In two years they have sold over six million single records and two and one half million long playing albums. They are popular also as a result of numerous night club appearances and concert tours.

Ferrante and Teicher have been playing piano together since they were six; they first met as students in New York's Juilliard School of Music. After graduation from Juilliard, the two men soon returned as faculty members, teaching theory and composition. In 1947 they resigned from teaching in order to devote full time to concert work.

Hobbies of the pair include weight lifting and amateur photography. Ferrante special-

Fraternities Begin Spring Rush Tonight

By Dick Paschall

A crucial period in the schedules of State College's seventeen social fraternities begins tonight.

This year's spring rush will largely determine the manpower and financial position of many of the houses as they prepare to move into the new Fraternity Row facilities next fall, according to fraternity spokesmen.

Possibly there will be no fall rush at all, stated Benny Phillips, IFC rush chairman, because the twelve fraternities moving onto the Row will not be able to conduct rush periods until they are settled in the new houses.

"Due to the present situation concerning Fraternity Row, the fraternities are going all out to make this spring rush the most attractive and, we hope, the most successful rush in many years," stated Phillips.

"This spring, fraternities are conducting an open rush, meaning that boys can rush any time. But the fraternities are putting more emphasis on certain hours each day for the convenience of both the rushees and the fraternities," said Phillips.

According to Phillips, rush formally begins on Wednesday evening at seven o'clock, ending at ten. Thursday night the hours are from 7 to 10 p.m. Friday, rush begins at 12 noon and ends at 12 midnight. On Saturday, the fraternities will be open from 12 noon until 12:30 Sunday morning. Sunday concludes the formal spring rush with hours from 2 to 10 p.m.

Phillips stressed that this is a great opportunity for boys to learn the many stories behind the fraternities on campus. "Fraternity men are eager to inform each rushee about the ideals and principles of each individual fraternity. Every State College student who has ever had aspirations about pledging a fraternity should make use of this opportunity to learn the facts about all the fraternities," he said.

State Seeks Delegates For CCUN Conference

State College is seeking delegates to attend the Collegiate Council to the United Nations.

The C.C.U.N., an annual gathering of delegations from colleges across the nation representing actual U. N. General Assembly delegations, will be in session Feb. 20-23 at U.N.C.

State College has been selected to represent India, Panama, and Venezuela. Each delegation is comprised of five members; openings are available at present in all three delegations.

Any person desiring to attend should have some knowledge of the country he plans to represent, as well as a general knowledge of current affairs.

Meetings will be divided between various committee meetings and mass plannary sessions. Parties are scheduled at night.

Interested persons may contact Bill Maher, College Union Forum Committee president and coordinator of the three delegations, at TE 4-4885 or at his home at 303 Park Ave.

Theater Group To Present TV Program

"Let Man Live," a State College Theater Workshop production, will be rebroadcast Friday at 9:30 p.m. on Channel 4.

The play was written by Par Lagerkvist, author of Barabbas and Nobel Prize winner.

The production is directed by Rom Linney. The cast includes David Chappell as Richard, Garland Macadoo as Joe, Helen Crisp as Comptess de la Roche-Mountfaucon, Elliot Terman as the serf, Evelyn Aldridge as the witch, Charles Billings as Giordano Bruno, Pete Starr as the Inca Chief, Nan Ragan as Jeanne d'Arc, Charles Faust as Paolo Msletesta, Marsha Daniels as Francesca da Rimini, Paul Gold as the Christian martyr, Ken Teszler as Jesus, Jerry Pritchard as Judas Iscariot, and Jim Brown as Socrates.

Honor Board Convicts Two For Violations

Probation and suspension were recently handed out by the Honor Code Board.

One student was convicted of stealing after he was caught taking two dollars from a locker across from his own in Carmichael Gym. The student was suspended for three semesters after pleading guilty to the charge.

Trustees Propose NCS, UNCR Name

The Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina has decided what they want

State College to be called.

In a meeting held during the State College exam break, the Trustees unanimously approved the Pearsall Committee report recommending that the college be renamed "North Carolina State, the University of North Carolina at Raleigh."

The compromise name now appears to have the support of State College administration, student government, faculty and alumni officials; at least no strong objections have thus far been advanced.

Other proposals approved by the trustees include the measures which would:

—Authorize State College to award a degree in liberal arts.

—Enact a 100 word definition of the Consolidated University's role in the state's program of expanded higher education.

—Give the trustees authority to add other campuses to the university system.

—Permit the Woman's College at Greensboro to admit male undergraduate students.

—Permit UNC at Chapel Hill to enroll a limited number of freshman girls.

The 1963 General Assembly, which convened today in Raleigh, must approve all of these proposals, including the changes in name for State College and Woman's College, before they may be put into effect.

BSU To Rebuild Center

The Baptist Student Union lot on the corner of Hillsboro and Gardner streets will be excavated this summer for the construction of a completely new $190,000 student center.

According to LeRoy Richardson, chaplain for the BSU, the house in which the center is now located will be torn down this summer. Construction of the new building will begin in the fall and is expected to be completed in the summer of 1964, he said.

Richardson stated that the North Carolina Baptist Convention will pay for the building. He explained that the students that participate in the BSU activities do not bear any financial expenses. The Convention pays for program materials and the upkeep of the center, he said.

Richardson added that plans are now underway to acquire space in the King Religious Center for the BSU to meet during the 1963-64 academic year while the new building is under construction.

The center is being designed by the F. Carter Williams Architectural Firm of Raleigh. It will be built on pillars with parking space beneath it.

Richardson commented that members of the BSU are anxious to get the new building. "We have been needing one for a long time," he said.

About sixty State and Meredith students are active members of the BSU this year.

This is a preliminary sketch of the new Baptist Student Union. Designed by the F. Carter Williams Architectural Firm of Raleigh, the new building is expected to be completed by the end of the 1963-64 academic year. Excavation of the BSU lot will begin this summer.

Another Yorktown?

As a native of Guilford County, we have heard much about the Battle of Guilford Courthouse. In this battle of the Revolutionary War, the English general, Lord Cornwallis, held the ground at the end of the battle but he was so weakened that it was possible for the American forces to corner him at Yorktown and effectively win the American Revolution.

He won the battle, but he lost the war.

State students and alumni have also won a battle, but it is a hollow victory which like Cornwallis' may bode more ill than good for the school in a larger perspective.

The arguments have been hashed and rehashed on both sides of the name change question, and it would be superfluous to reiterate them to a public which has already wearied of them, but the effects of the recent Consolidated University Board of Trustees decision to name our college North Carolina State, University of North Carolina at Raleigh should be explored.

The first question is North Carolina State what? College? University?

This like the rest of the argument is purely semantics, but in this case we feel that semantics is very important. It is evident that a better definition of the status of the college is needed.

Also, we cannot see what anyone will gain if the proposed name change is accepted by the General Assembly State kept the "N. C. State," but it did not gain university status. The common-name proponents got their University of North Carolina at Raleigh, but only as a tacked-on phrase which will be largely ignored.

In short, this proposal was not the answer to the problem.

The committee of the Board of Trustees cannot be condemned, however. It was working under terrible conditions, and it is no wonder that the proposal mirrored these conditions.

But, the decision has been made and State will retain "State." The victory has been won, but it does not have to be as disastrous as Cornwallis, because we have the opportunity of the second chance which Cornwallis was denied. This issue will be debated again because a different solution is in the interest of the college and the state as a whole. If people will study the problem and discuss its merits and not its emotional appeal, State can gain the benefits which are inherent in a name other than the proposed one.

While there will be nothing as disastrous as Yorktown was for the British for State if the proposed name becomes official, neither will there be victory comparable to the one which the American colonists won on that Virginia peninsula.

Three programs remain in this year's "Friends of the College" series.

The next performance will be Thursday, February 14 when the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra will come to Reynolds Coliseum. The present conductor, Stanislaw Skrowaczewski, has created a strong impression since his American debut in 1958, according to critics. Byron Janis will be the featured pianist with the orchestra.

On April 1 and 2 A Leonard Bernstein Gala will be presented. "Fancy Free", "Trouble in Tahiti", and "West Side Story" will be featured, representing Bernstein's accomplishments in opera, ballet, and the Broadway musicals. Heading the program will be Claire Alexander, Robert Rounseville, and the Dancers of the American Ballet Theater.

The Hague Philharmonic will close out the season with an appearance here on April 22. The 102-piece orchestra is making its debut in America during the 1962-63 season. It is directed by the Willem van Otterloo and has been acclaimed throughout all Europe, according to College Union officials.

Board members of the "Friends" have described the program as "spectacularly successful." According to the directors, this program is unique in the United States and has one of the nation's largest audiences and the most reasonable membership and admission prices. State College students and their dates are admitted to performances free of charge upon presentation of their ID cards at the Coliseum.

The other day one of our reporters was sitting in a local restaurant listening to another student who was wearing a coat and tie and shoot pure bull. A waitress came up and said, "Stop the lecture, professor, it's exam time."

The prof. goofed when he added up the grades. I passed.

We have finally learned where the College Laundry gets its linen. A freshman design student found one of their towels with "Palm Beach Windsor Hotel" embroidered on it.

Overheard in The Technician Office; "What do you know about this? It is misspelled in the dictionary."

There is one student who spent the last part of last semester worrying about whether PE would flunk him out or not.

Did you notice that the only location which the M&O could find for the dumpster on the east side of Harrelson happens to be in the middle of the walk. And it blocks the only entrance to the building from that side!!

One kid has licked the problem by using his extra long slide rule to pole vault over the obstacle.

Obviously one of the telephone company's employees became drunk with the power of destruction while combatting the shrubs under the telephone lines near the railroad tracks in front of Bagwell-Becton-Berry. Several trees on the State side of the fence seem to be having some adverse effects from the spray. One forestry student remarked to me that the trees were just plain dead.

Wonder why the Student Supply Store has a market for Sterno? Cooking in the dorms is against the rules. Perhaps some guys get better mileage out of a can of Sterno than from a can of beer. Maybe the mass marketing of airplane glue will be next.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor

State College has a radio station known as WKNC. It is a well-known fact that this station has very few listeners. Obviously, the reason for this is the type of music programmed. Most State College students prefer Rock n' roll to any other type of music. However, WKNC does not play top 40 records. Last Thursday from 7-9:30 and again on Saturday several staff members violated station policy by playing Rock n' roll music. The increase in listeners at these two times was overwhelming. State College students want Rock n' roll programming on WKNC. Will something be done?

This letter expresses the views of many State students and at least five of the WKNC staff members.

Thomas D. Harrill

By Curtiss Moore

I went to the game. It wasn't really much of a game when you come right down to it, but it was something to do, something to kill time. And while I was sitting there, I started wondering just what it is about the school that would allow three cheerleaders out there on the floor. Not that there was anything wrong with that, it was fine that there were at least three people that really cared—it was the students.

Yeah the students, the guys that sat there and screamed at Case and Whitfield and all the rest of team. Yeah, it was the students, the guys that sat there and were willing to raise their voice about the name change but could only scream insults at the opposing team and its coach. The guys who were willing to shame the entire college by slandering the governor.

Sure, we've got the best of a lot of things, but by the same token, we've got the worst of a good number of things, too.

I can remember quite well the meeting between the Chancellor and some 400 student body members and the guy that climbed up on the stage and could do nothing but build us up and tear down Carolina. Build us up and tear down... Sanford... Friday... Caldwell... but I guess you've got the idea by this time.

And then I decided that maybe I'd better not mention my thoughts to anybody. So, I walked out with the rest of the disappointed students into the rain.

A Review

'Roman Candle'

By Doug Lientz

What happens when you combine a girl with extra sensory perception, a scientist, and the army?

"Roman Candle," the current Raleigh Little Theater play, provides a possible, humorous answer to this question. With Marion Penny (Max Baxter) as a scientist so new to army life that he does not know where his Colonel's eagles go, the play begins with a perfectly normal army plot to launch a missile from Alaska before the Navy and Air Force can build anything like it.

Then Baxter's new neighbor moves in any everything goes snafu. Baxter is unable to go to Alaska to supervise the launching and a Navy man (Bob Weems) has the pleasure of watching an Army missile fail.

But the missile failure blows over and with the dubious help of his new neighbor, played by Sara Meekins, Baxter works his way out of trouble until his only problem is a nearly proven charge that he has violated Army security. From this point on, things tend to get better for Baxter.

Ed Kiley give a notable performance as Sergeant Eddie Remick. His use of Sara Meekins' (Elizabeth Brown) extra sensory perception to predict horse races and similar are a highlight of the play.

Other good performances are given by Sara Meekins (Elizabeth Brown) and Bob Weems (Admiral Trenton).

Club To Host 1965 Conclave

A $3,000 pulpwood project is the Forestry Club's way of financing the Association of Southern Forestry Clubs' 1965 Conclave which will be held at State College.

The Club is cutting pulpwood on the Schenck Memorial Forest located behind the State Fairgrounds. The pulpwood operation is carried out as part of the management plan in a thinning regimen to improve the quality and growing space of trees which are left to grow to increased value.

The thinning project has been undertaken until spring of 1965 in order to raise $3000 needed by the Club. The money will be used to host the 1965 Conclave over a three-day period of competitive forestry events. It was in the 1962 Conclave at Arkansas A & M that State College placed second overall and won, among many event medals, a new McCulloch chain saw.

The Forestry Club has been aided in its project by Halifax Paper Company, which is purchasing the pulpwood, and by the Pioneer and McCulloch Chain Saw Companies, which each donated a new chain saw to the club.

One down, hundreds to go! Dick Bartelt, a junior in Forest Management piles another bolt while David Kugler, a junior in Wood Technology pauses after just finishing "bucking the bolt." But the show must go on, at least until 1965.

Charles Duckworth, a sophomore in Forest Management, is too busy carrying pulpwood bolts to be piled to notice the photographer. With $3,000 at stake, the boys work hard and make big plans.

Play-offs Set For Fraternity Bowlers

By George Setzer

Section #1 wound up its regular season play in time for exams, which is one week that bowlers don't mind scores in the 90's. SPE, Sigma Chi and LCA earned the right to represent their section in the play-offs, beginning in two weeks.

Section Champions of the regular season were the Sig Eps (24-4) who won a 3-1 victory over LCA (15-13). The LCA five averted a three-way tie for third by pulling out a three-pin victory in the final game and spoiled the hope of AGR and FH who finished with identical (14-14) records. LCA's leaders were Gray, 189-541, and Mays 182-506. The Sig Eps' pinfall was well divided among the starters as they completed the season with a 160 pins per man per game average.

Sigma Chi (22-6) suffered a mild scare as Kappa Sig (10-18) stormed to a first game win. The shock quickly wore off and Sigma Chi pulled the last three games out decisively. Griffith showed the way for Sigma Chi with 197-497. Farm House (14-14) lost their bid for a third place tie by losing the third game to Sigma Pi (9-19) as they beat Sigma Pi three games to one. FH's Fattimore rolled the second high series of the year in Section #1 with 193-550. Sigma Pi's Uptegrove led the third game victory and his team with 177-484 series.

AGR (14-14) had the same misfortune as FH as their bid for third place was spoiled in the third game by SAM (4-24). SAM's leader was Dwoze with 191-491. Jordan led AGR with 155-435.

Section #2 leader, Pi Kappa

Alpha (22-2), whipped the challenging PKT's (15½-8½) three games to one in a very close match which went to the last frame of game three before it was decided in PKA's favor. The victory tightened PKA's hold on first place and moved the PKT's into a distant third place. Morrison and Hall led PKA with 195-554 and 181-504 respectively. Searce and Phillips were tops for PKT with 204-515 and 181-502.

Delta Sigma Phi (19-5) took a surprisingly easy victory (4-0) over Theta Chi (11-13), which practically eliminated the Theta Chi's from playoff contention. Franklin led the Delta Sig five with 211-501. Caldwell contributed top score of 178-451 for the Theta Chi in a losing cause. Delta Sig goes against PKA this coming week in a long shot chance at the section championship.

TKE (13-15) thumped KA (9½-18½) 3-1 to move into fifth place in the standings. The TKE's season leader, Thing, was again high for his fraternity with 214-527. Lee kept the KA's in contention with 185-523.

SAE (6-18) was determined not to finish last as they defeated PKP (3-21) in a match for the bottom spot in league standings. Wooten rolled 189-503 for the SAE cause. Beck led PKP with a 166-452 effort.

Swimmers Meet UNC; Feb. 13

North Carolina State's swimming team has lost only five individual events while winning 59 times in sweeping to six straight dual meet victories this season.

The Wolfpack swimmers host North Carolina (Feb. 13) and Maryland (Feb. 23) in big meets that will determine the winner of the 1963 Atlantic Coast Conference dual meet schedule.

Baseball Team To Play Thirteen Games at Home

North Carolina State will play a 22-game 1963 baseball schedule, in Vic Sorrell's 18th season as coach of the Wolfpack.

State College will open March 21 at home against Southern Illinois and finish up on May 14 against Wake Forest in Winston-Salem.

Thirteen of the games will be at home, while the only non-Atlantic Coast Conference road games are scheduled at Camp Lejeune, April 15 and 16. Several of the home games in May will be played at night.

The Wolfpack will have nine lettermen back from the squad which finished one game out of first place in the ACC race last year. State was 11-10 overall and 8-6 in the ACC in 1962.

Sorrell, former nine-year pitching veteran of the Detroit Tigers, will start practice for his squad on February 5, weather permitting. Included among the infield candidates will be Vic Sorrell, Jr., a member of last year's freshman team.

The 1963 Schedule
March 21 SOUTHERN ILLINOIS; 22 KENT STATE; 23 KENT STATE; 25 DARTMOUTH; April 6 NORTH CAROLINA; 10 at Duke; 15 at Camp Lejeune; 16 at Camp Lejeune; 19 at Clemson; 20 at South Carolina; 22 WAKE FOREST; 24 FLORIDA STATE; 26 at Virginia; 27 at Maryland; 30 at North Carolina; May 3 VIRGINIA; 4 MARYLAND; 8 DUKE; 10 CLEMSON; 11 SOUTH CAROLINA; 14 at Wake Forest.

Few Tickets Left For NCAA Meet

Only 400 seats remain for the 40th annual National Collegiate (NCAA) Swimming and Diving Championships to be held at North Carolina State March 28-29-30, ticket manager Richard Farrell announced today.

Track Team Needs Men

The State College Indoor and Outdoor Track Team has begun practice for the spring semester. At this time there remain many positions on the team which are unfilled.

Anyone who would like to broaden their education through participation in Intercollegiate Track competition is invited to talk with Coaches Derr, Little, Murray, and Shea, or come to the upstairs corridor on the west side of the Coliseum any afternoon after 4:30 p.m.

State Takes Second Loss to Cavaliers

The smallest crowd ever to attend a varsity basketball game at State watched the Cavaliers of Virginia take their second ACC victory of the season as they downed the Wolfpack by 84-75.

Virginia's first conference win of the season came at Charlottesville on January 9 of this year when Coach Billy McCann's Cavaliers defeated the Pack 78-69.

The Cavaliers accomplished what no other Virginia basketball team has ever done. They defeated State in Reynolds Coliseum and won two games from the Wolfpack in basketball during the same season.

Virginia has scored only two victories this year in ACC competition, both against State. However, they have won only six of the 29 games played with State in the series which started in 1924.

In addition, the Wolfpack now has lost five straight games on the road, including last Wednesday's 79-70 loss to Wake Forest. The Pack led at the half in each of the last three defeats on the opposition's courts, making those losses hard to take.

Balanced scoring has been the feature of the Wolfpack attack this year having four players with double-figure averages. Guard Jon Speaks leads the way with a 14.6 average, followed by Pete Auksel at 13.5, John Key at 11.1, and Ken Rohloff at 10.2. Forward Larry Lakins has a 9.2 scoring average, while Jim Whitfield, the top sub at forward, has scored at 6.4.

Despite the 79 points scored by Wake Forest, the Wolfpack continues to lead the Atlantic Coast Conference in defense with a 67.6 mark.

If the ACC championship were determined by regular season play as are all but two of the major conferences, the hopes for a successful season might be just shy of hopeless. State now stands fourth in the ACC with a 4-6 conference record and

Sawhill Undefeated With "A" Season

Jim Sawhill of North Carolina State is one guy who wrestles with his college textbooks and comes out a winner every time.

And no wonder, for Jim, combines his academic and wrestling skills to perfection on the Wolfpack wrestling team. He is undefeated in seven State College wrestling matches, and has just compiled his third straight semester of straight "A" academic work.

While most students majoring in metallurgical engineering have to struggle to avoid getting pinned by the books, the Ruxton, Maryland, native has little trouble in the classroom and on the wrestling mat as well.

One semester of all A's is quite an achievement in an engineering curriculum, but Jim's wrestling record for North Carolina State is even more spectacular. The Wolfpack, of late, just hasn't been a world-beater on the mats, but before the current wrestling season started, State coach Al Crawford said that Sawhill would be one of the top wrestlers in the Atlantic Coast Conference and that the Wolfpack would be improved as a team.

Sawhill has scored three pins and four decisions in seven outings, and the Wolfpack has won six of seven matches with the only loss to perennial ACC champ Maryland.

Although his normal wrestling weight is 167 pounds, Sawhill was moved up to the 177-pound class by Crawford to face the Terps' Marshall Dauberman, the defending ACC champion at that weight.

Sawhill decisioned Dauberman, 7-4, for his second win of the season as State lost 23-13. However, his most recent match has been the most spectacular. Jim pinned his St. Andrews opponent in 58 seconds.

Jim's wrestling forte is his strength and ability on the mat. He is not as quick as some on his feet since he can't wear his glasses on the mat and is almost helpless without them.

"But he has good speed and agility, once he gets his opponent in focus," said Crawford. "He is one of the finest I have ever coached, both as an individual and as a wrestler."

He attended the Gilman School in Baltimore, and started wrestling as a 112-pounder for coach Redman Finney. He concluded his prep school wrestling by winning the Maryland Scholastic Association 145-pound championship in 1959 as captain of the Gilman team.

He lists that win at 145 pounds as his most memorable since he had to beat a boy who had previously beaten him 6-2.

Sawhill was ineligible to wrestle last year, when the Pack had a 2-7 record, since he had to sit out a year after transferring from Brevard Junior College.

Wolfpack fans are hoping that Jim will carry his perfect record into the ACC Championships, March 1 and 2, at Charlottesville, Virginia.

The Wolfpack wrestlers will meet Davidson here on Friday, February, 8 at Carmichael Gymnasium.

Wolfpack guard Jon Speaks leads the team's scoring this year with a 14.6 point average per game. Speaks was All-ACC in 1962.

CALPURNIA, HERE I COME

Now, as the college year approaches its mid-point, one fact emerges clearly: you are all going to flunk everything.

There are two things you can do about it. First, you can marry money. (I don't mean you marry the money itself; I mean you marry a person who has money. Weddings between people and currency have not been legal anywhere in the United States since the Smoot-Hawley Act. Marlboro Cigarettes, on the other hand, are legal everywhere and are, indeed, smoked with great pleasure and enthusiasm in all fifty states of the Union. I bring up Marlboro Cigarettes because this column is sponsored by the makers of Marlboro, and they are inclined to brood if I omit to mention their product.)

But I digress. I was saying you can marry money but, of course, you will not because you are a high-minded, clean-living, pure-hearted, freckle-faced American kid. Therefore, to keep from flunking, you must try the second method: you must learn how to take lecture notes.

According to a recent survey, 123.6% of American undergraduates do not know the proper way to take lecture notes. To illustrate this shocking statistic, let us suppose you are taking a course in history. Let us further suppose the lecturer is lecturing on the ruling houses of England. You listen intently. You write diligently in your notebook, making a topic outline as you have been taught. Like this:

- I. House of Plantagenet.
- II. House of Lancaster.
- III. House of York.

Then you stop. You put aside your pen. You blink back a tear, for you cannot go on. Oh, yes, you know very well that the next ruling house is the House of Tudor. The trouble is you don't know the Roman numeral that comes after III.

(It may, incidentally, be of some historical interest to point out that Americans are not the only people who don't know Roman numerals. The Romans didn't know them themselves. I suppose they could tell you how much V or X were or like that, but when it came to real cuties like LXI or MMC, they just flung away their styluses and went downtown to have a bath and take in a circus and maybe stab Caesar a few times.)

(You may wonder why Rome stuck with these ridiculous numerals when the Arabs had such a nice, simple system. Well sir, the fact is that the Emperor Vespasian tried like crazy to buy the Arabic numerals from Suleiman the Magnificent, but Suleiman wouldn't do business—not even when Vespasian raised his bid to 100,000 gold piastres, plus he offered to throw in the Colosseum, the Appian Way, and Charlton Heston.)

(So Rome stuck with Roman numerals—to its sorrow, as it turned out. One day in the Forum, Cicero and Pliny got to arguing about how much is CDL times MVIX. Well sir, pretty soon everyone in town came around to join the hassle. In all the excitement, nobody remembered to lock the north gate and—wham!—before you could say pecca fortiter, in rushed the Goths, the Visigoths, and the Green Bay Packers!)

Well sir, that's the way the empire crumbles, and I digress. Let's get back to lecture notes. Let's also say a word about Marlboro Cigarettes. The makers would be so pleased! And is it not fitting that we should please these honest tobacconists—these fine men, fond of square dancing, water sports, protein, and tattoos—these tireless perfectionists who spend all of their days trying to please us—searching everywhere for the best of all possible tobaccos, aging them with patience, blending them with tender, loving care? Marlboros are available in soft pack and flip top box. You will find XX cigarettes in each package.

Craft Shop Offers Instruction

Beginning shutterbugs may add another course in order to completely overload their schedules.

The College Union Craft Shop is sponsoring a Photographer's Beginner Course starting on Monday, February 11 at 7:00 p.m. in the Craft Shop.

The course covers the development of negatives, picture printing, and dark room technique. Completion of the requirements entitles one to candidacy for eligibility in the Photo Club and to receive a dark room pass.

The class will meet one hour each week for six weeks.

The Long Wet Line

Who would ever guess what happened last Friday? It seems someone let the information get out to the weatherman that 6500 students would be standing in line at State College that day for some occurrence known as registration. Needless to say, the weatherman responded as usual; but this time he outdid himself and gave us some snow. Anyone vote for preregistration? (Photo by Andrews)
