Alpha Phi Chapter—Slated For Closure

This is the Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity house which was the scene of a disturbance on September 16. This action by its members prompted the Student Activities Office to render a final decision on its closing.

PEP House To Close

By Mike Lea

State College is losing one of its eighteen fraternities. The State College Alpha Phi Chapter of Phi Epsilon Pi Fraternity is being closed October 1, according to the Director of Student Activities Banks Talley.

Final action on the closing was taken yesterday by the Student Activities Office.

Talley Comments

Commenting on the Student Activities action, Talley said, "There were three factors involved in the decision. Phi Epsilon Phi was put on probation for having less than twenty-five active members last fall when they had only seven or eight. This probation required PEP to have twenty-five members by last spring. The chapter almost fulfilled this goal, and the Student Activities Office decided that their progress was good enough to warrant an extension of the probation period for another year with the understanding that the chapter would progress in membership and scholarship, and keep their social conduct good.

Social Conduct

"In June of 1962, standards of social conduct were violated and the chapter was placed on indefinite probation as far as having parties, dates in the house, and the closing of an annex to their house. At the end of the summer, because the chapter needed the income, they were allowed to reopen the annex; and they were allowed to have parties and dates in their house again. On the early morning of September 16, only the first week they were off probation, the chapter again seriously violated acceptable social standards so we reluctantly made the decision to close the house. This decision was made after consultation with the fraternity president, vice-president, faculty advisor, national office, and presidents of the Interfraternity Council and Student Body.

"Eddie Allen, Phi Epsilon Phi Fraternity has worked hard to make the chapter a success and we regret that the conduct of other members has made this move necessary. We regret that this move is necessary, but felt that the probationary status of the fraternity coupled with the warning during the summer was more than adequate warning, and we saw no other alternative."

Allen Speaks

Phi Epsilon Phi President Eddie Allen commented to The Technician that "Everything Mr. Talley says is true, but we feel that if the house was to have been closed, it should have been done last fall instead of now when everything is clicking. We told Student Activities that we would do anything and take any kind of probation if they would let us remain on campus."

Not By Brothers

On the actions of the house during Rush Week, Allen said that "the major part of the disturbance was not caused by the brothers or pledges of Phi Epsilon Phi. Every house has a few members who do not always behave themselves, but there are too many good boys here who do not deserve to be penalized."

Interfraternity Council President Bill Watson commenting on the action said that "it has been a reoccurring problem in the eyes of the IFC and the administration. Even though it is a harsh penalty it will be for the betterment of the fraternity system as a whole."

Phi Epsilon Phi has been on campus for twelve years.

McCall Warns Against Parades

"Any student parade in the streets of Raleigh this weekend will be in violation of a city ordinance," Student Government President Floyd McCall told The Technician today.

McCall commended the group which turned out for the pep rally and ensuing parade last Friday night but emphasized that no parade permit is available for this weekend.

"One of our toughest games of the year football season is this week, and we students can provide the spirit and encouragement for a State victory. I therefore urge all students to attend the pep rally Friday night and cheer our men to victory Saturday afternoon," McCall declared.

"However," he further warned, "students who leave the campus in groups of more than twenty-five will probably be arrested and fined under the city ordinance which prohibits parades without a permit."

The Sigma Kappa sorority held pledge ceremonies on Monday, September 24 at the campus Y. M. C. A.

Pledge training for the new girls will start next Monday night at 7:30. Their pledge trainer is Sara Norman.

Members of the faculty desiring to suggest items for inclusion in the annual report of the Senate to the Visiting Committee of the Board of Trustees are invited to send them to the chairman of the Communications Committee, Dr. C. H. Boston, 348 Gardner Hall.

Air Force ROTC qualification tests will be administered on Saturday, October 13, from 7:30 a.m. until 5:00 p.m.

The AIChE (American Institute of Chemical Engineers) will have a meeting on October 2, 1962 in Riddick 242 at 7:30 p.m. The program will be given by Mr. Robert Needham of Delco Products Division, G. M. C., Dayton, Ohio. Members of other professional societies on campus are invited to attend.

The first meeting of the Institute of Aerospace Sciences will be held Tuesday, October 2, 1962 at 7:00 p.m. in Broughton 216. The guest speaker for the meeting will be Dr. Truitt, head of the Mechanical Engineering department.

The Animal Science Club will meet Tuesday, October 2, at 7:00 p.m. in room 110 Polk Hall.

State College will sponsor an educational exhibit at the State Fair on October 15 to 20. Four boys will be needed to man the exhibit every day. Applications may be submitted at 202 Holladay Hall.

Blazers will be fitted in the College Union, room 230, from 10:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. starting Monday, October 1.

YRC To Sponsor 'Vote-Raising' Rally In Winston-Salem

The Young Republicans' Club made plans Tuesday night for a "voter-arousing" rally to be held in Winston-Salem October 26.

Delegates from all North Carolina collegiate Republican Clubs will attend the meeting. The members will be trained in the proper techniques to be used in getting voters to the polls in November.

The highlight of the rally will be a banquet and dance featuring the music of Charlotte's Catalinas. Headquarters for the rally will be the Robert E. Lee Hotel.

The club also disclosed plans for a joint meeting of its members, the Peace College Young Republicans and the Wake County Young Republicans' Club on October 3.

"Gee whiz, lady, I don't know if my mother will need 24 copies of my picture or not." This is the standard response of students as they listened to the salesmanship of the portrait salesladies. The salestable is set up in the basement of the CU.

Major Changes Occur In Campus Policy

Honor Code Rules

Three major changes have been made in the Honor Code, according to John Cameron, chairman of the Honor Code Board.

Cameron stated that a policy concerning mob violence had been added to the Honor Code. This policy states that students on the scene of mob violence will be considered guilty of participating in the violence unless evidence indicates otherwise.

"This addition was made because past experiences of students marching to the capitol have been both expensive and embarrassing to the college. The city of Raleigh has asked that students submit a permit for such marches five days in advance of a march. If a march is made without the permit, it is a direct violation of the Honor System," Cameron explained.

Another addition interprets

"hoarding or attempts to sell misplaced property" as stealing. Violators will be subject to Honor Code action. Textbook thefts had become a real problem and boys were actually being suspended from school for such thefts. There was no specific policy on such thefts until this one was made," Cameron commented.

"I think it is really stupid for a student to take textbooks that do not belong to him. If he sells the book at the Supply Store, he must sign his name which makes it quite easy for the store to trace the theft if the book is ever identified by the real owner. I think that if students were aware of this, they would not feel so free to steal," he added.

The third change is a ruling made by a petition following the spring elections. The Honor Code ruled that "the elections

Election Rules

By Grant Blair

The Student Government Rules Committee has formulated two major election rule changes.

The new recommendations, to be voted upon by the SG legislature tonight, are expected to be used for the first time in the freshman elections and election run-offs. The two events are tentatively scheduled for Nov. 6 and 20, respectively.

The new changes in election rules were created by the SG Rules Committee in a special session Tuesday night. They were the result of two events last year which resulted in considerable consternation in the Student Government, according to Bill Isler, chairman of the Rules Committee.

According to Isler, the committee recommended that the top four officers in all campus general elections must sign a statement which states that the officer will not leave school for any reason during his term of office. If he violates his agreement, a statement to this effect will be placed in the student's school record. Exceptions to this rule, such as forced drop-outs due to unforeseen circumstances, stated Isler, may be decided upon by the Student Government Legislature. A situation similar to this was encountered last year, when the secretary of SG graduated in the middle of his term of office.

Expense rules for campus elections were also changed, said Isler. Under the new rules, the top four officers can spend a maximum of $35 in campaign expenses. Other officers are allowed a maximum expense of $25. A statement of campaign expenses must be submitted within forty-eight hours after the final election of any given office by every candidate, re-

Engineers Slate Dorsey Orchestra

The Tommy Dorsey Orchestra is the feature attraction of this year's Engineers' Ball.

The ball, the first big formal dance of the school year, will be at 8 p.m. on October 13. Decorations will follow a Hawaiian theme.

All engineering students may pick up bids for the dance in their departmental offices any time between now and the dance.

Music for the dance is being provided for the second year in a row by a big name band. This year it is the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra featuring Sam Donahue.

Planning for the dance was under the direction of John Earnhart, Engineers' Council vice president. Committee chairmen are Edward Dembo, refreshments; Norman Payne, invitations; Dave Cartledge, decoration; Gary Clontz, floor; and Anthony Collins, Banquet.

The dance is costing about $3500. Non-engineering students will be admitted on receipt of a five dollar door fee.

Textilers To Attend Machinery Showing

Sixty students and sixteen faculty members from the School of Textiles will attend a showing of new textile machinery at the Textile Hall in Greenville, South Carolina.

The showing includes the very latest in textile machinery. Some of it is being shown to the public for the first time.

The group will leave Monday, October 15 and return Wednesday October 17. They will stay in the Holiday Inn Motel in Gastonia, North Carolina.

Any students interested in going may sign up with Dr. J. E. Pardue in 142 Nelson.

Belated Statement

The student newspaper like the student community is a very fluid organization. While commercial newspapers have editorial policies which have been set from the time of their inception, the college newspaper changes policies with the changes of editors every year. For this reason, we would like to take a step which should have been taken earlier and explain what The Technician will try to accomplish this semester.

First, in the field of Student Government we will try to promote more student participation and more legislative activity. The Student Governments of recent years have not assumed the responsibilities they should, and if this one follows the same path, it can expect much comment from this column. Another facet of Student Government we will explore is the representative system. The present system makes it impossible for many students to be in contact with their senators and leaves the Legislature in the position of representing only parts of the campus.

Second, there are facets of the Honor System we would like to explore. Our first and foremost goal will be to have names of convicted students published. A man who is convicted of an Honor Code violation has betrayed a trust and broken the rules of the school, and we see no point in protecting him.

Third, we would like to see student-faculty relations bettered. A possible way this might be achieved is to have a Student Government representative observe Faculty Senate meetings and vice-versa. These two bodies should function much as the American House and Senate in subjects of mutual interest. Instead, the leaders now meet at the maximum once a month at liaison meetings and have little discussion on legislation.

Fourth, we would like to study the different organizations on campus to see what they are doing and what they are not. In our opinion, many do not justify their existence on campus because their duties consist of little more than planning a dance, electing officers, and having their picture in the Agromeck. Along these lines, we would like to see less administration control of student organizations. This, however, cannot be realized until student bodies become more self-regulatory and more active.

Fifth, on national and state affairs we will try to remain unbiased, but because of political beliefs, there may be a tendency towards the conservative side of questions. However, on the topic of integration, we will take an unqualified stand. We are for integration and will support it in all the ways possible.

Now, after declaring war on the rest of the campus, we would like to qualify our statements. Above all we will try to be fair to all segments of the college. If there is something wrong we will try to correct it, but if there is something we think commendable, we will recognize it.

Are You Unemployed, Sir? - Go See Miss Louise Wooten

Nearly 100 students with talents ranging from yard work to bar tending made a worthwhile trip to 202 Holladay Hall this month.

All were job-hunters, and Miss Louise Wooten, head of student employment, listened to their tales and then sent them to prospective employers.

Miss Wooten

"I have had requests from all over Raleigh for student help," Miss Wooten explained. "My busiest day was September 19, the day classes started. I had calls from 19 different people who needed part-time help."

One man wanted an accordionist to play in his restaurant.

"This was a rather unusual request," she commented, "so I called Mr. Watson (director of music) and he gave me a list of boys to contact."

Most of the people who call the employment office want students to work in some form of food service.

"Sometimes a student will come in, and even though there are several potential jobs on hand, these jobs are not what the student wants," Miss Wooten commented. She then explained that in such cases she keeps two files on the student—one according to his skills and one for his personal data—and notifies him as soon as a job is found for him.

"I have requests for waiters, waitresses, banquet and counter attendants, and car hops constantly," she noted, "but the jobs as a whole cover a wide range of employment including office work, sales work, drafting, painting, TV repair work, tutors, and babysitting."

The wages are usually between $1 and $1.25 an hour. Tutoring, repair work, and drafting generally get more, according to Miss Wooten.

Miss Wooten keeps a list of current jobs on the bulletin board just outside her office. "If I could train students to read the list before they come in, my work would run smoother," she commented with a wry smile. "Sometimes students fail to report back to me when they are sent to an employer. I need to know which jobs are filled and which are open. Student cooperation is essential along this line."

Miss Wooten added that she would like to help as many students as possible, but then, not every body plays an accordion.

Textile Show

Also four textile students will attend the W. F. Faircourt Memorial Seminar in Greensboro, N. C. on October fourth and fifth. At this meeting, they will attend discussions of various fields of the textile industry.

The names of the students attending the seminar have not yet been announced.

committee cannot expect any candidate to include or not include donations of all types since an interpretation of the term 'campaign funds' could easily be left to the individual." Also, the Honor Code ruled that disqualification on the pretext that a candidate who has no campaign expenses should report this information to the Honor Code Board is not justified.

Cameron pointed out that this ruling resulted from the fact that the election rules were not specific last spring. "There was some doubt in the people's minds as to what the rules actually meant," he said. "This phase of the rules will probably undergo some revision this year."

Cameron predicts that additional changes will be made in the Honor Code this year. "We would like for students to keep watch for future changes. These changes will be made for their good and we want them to be aware of this. A lot of time and effort is being put in making the improvements."

Election Rules

regardless of whether he wins or loses.

Any candidate failing to submit this report will not be allowed to run for office in the next general campus election.

Isler stated that the rule change was a result of last Spring's general election, in which a majority of the candidates were disqualified temporarily for failing to submit financial reports.

Isler stated that the objectives followed by the committee were: "If a rule is worth enforcing we put teeth into it so that it would be enforced." He pointed out that this was also achieved by a change in the statement concerning the purpose of the rules. One word of this statement was changed from can to will, so that the statement now reads, "Any violation of these rules will cause a candidate to be disqualified."

The committee also passed new attendance rules for Student Government representatives, said Isler.

The old rule of 3 unexcused absences making the representative eligible for recall still holds, according to Isler, but the absences now apply to committee meetings. The Rules Committee will rule on whether or not these absences are valid, as before.

A representative may now appoint an alternate from his own class and school to attend meetings, and the alternate will have voting power. An alternate from any other class or school, however, will not have voting power and will count as a half absence for the delegate.

New Arts

About 2600 tickets to the New Arts, Inc. shows had been sold as of Tuesday evening, according to College Union sources.

Twenty-four hundred of these were sold to students. Tuesday morning, about 1500 of the tickets for the five shows were left.

Rule Changes

The rules changes to be submitted to the Student Government for consideration tonight move in some directions which will cut out much of the confusion present during the last general election.

The first we would like to explore is the graduation of the campaign expense limits placed on candidates for different offices. The new rules state that expenses for the top four campus positions (i.e. Student Government officers) will be limited to thirty-five dollars and all other campus offices will be limited to twenty-five. This is the right approach because it is evident that a campus-wide campaign should be allowed more money than a campaign for minor offices. It seems as if there should be more graduation, however. Candidates for major offices in the last elections felt that the thirty-five dollar limit did not give them enough to carry on an effective campaign.

In the light of the Honor Code changes story page 1), there is an addition to the rules that would also be helpful. This would be to include donations in the "campaign expenses." Although we feel that there was no attempt to "slip by" rules last year when the question of donations was raised, it is certain that the Honor Code Board's interpretation leaves this area wide open. What is there in the election rules to prevent a candidate from slipping ten dollars under the table to a supporter and then to ostensibly accept it as a donation?

If these rules are accepted as they now stand, it will be an improvement over last year, but it seems they would be even more improved by the changes outlined above.

Dorms Play Despite Drizzle Off Campus Intramurals Began

By Carlos Williams

This year the Intramural Department has initiated an off campus team in the inter-dormitory intramural competition. According to Art Hoch of the Physical Education Department, "It is felt that this program will grow into a major section of the intramural program within the next few years." Hoch explained that State's present intramural program involves well over 50% of our total enrollment and includes participation in thirteen sports.

"Off campus students have always participated on a limited basis on dormitory and fraternity teams and in the various open leagues," said Hoch.

Recreation major, Younger Snead, has been appointed supervisor of the off campus participation and will be responsible to the dormitory division to field teams in all of the 13 intramural sports. Off campus students interested in participating in the program may contact Snead or Art Hoch at the Intramural Office at the gym.

Hoch announced today that qualifications for the open golf tournament will end Friday. The tournament is open to both students and faculty and will be held at Wildwood.

Dormitory football competition began yesterday in high spirits and bad weather. Defending Champs, Becton, proved to have similar intentions for this year by defeating Bagwell 14-6. Other games played were:

Syme 12-Berry 6
Tucker #1 12-Bragaw S. 10
Watauga 12-Turlington 0
Alexander 25-WG4S 13
Tucker #2 7-Bragaw N. 6
Owen #1 13-Owen #2 6
Next week's schedule will see the following teams meet.
Fraternity Division Monday
Sigma Nu vs. PKP

SAM vs. Kappa Sig
SPE vs. PKA
Sigma Pi vs. TKE
SAE vs. AGR
Theta Chi vs. Farm House
DSP vs. LCA
PKT vs. KA
Sigma Chi (not scheduled)

Dormitory Division Wednesday
Becton vs. Watauga
Turlington vs. Bagwell
Bragaw N. vs. Tucker #1
Bragaw S. vs. Tucker #2
Berry vs. Off Campus
Syme vs. Student Housing
Alexander vs. Owen #1
Owen #2 vs. WG4S
Competition will begin in volleyball tomorrow and in pitch and putt next week. The schedule for Pitch and Putt is as follows:

Dormitory Division Monday
5:00 Bragaw N., Berry, Syme, Student Housing
5:30 Owen #2, Becton, Alexander, Off Campus
7:00 Tucker #2, Turlington, Owen #1, Tucker #1

7:30 Bragaw S., Watauga, WG4S, Bagwell
Fraternity Division Wednesday
5:00 SPE, DSP, Farm House, Theta Chi
5:30 KA, AGR, PKP, Sigma Nu
7:00 Kap Sig, PKA, PKT, Sig Chi
7:30 LCA, TKE, SAE, Sig Pi, SAM
