NCS Integrationists Planning Next Moves

Integration was the subject at another State College meeting yesterday.

Eighteen students and faculty met Wednesday afternoon to discuss picketing possibilities. Representatives from Shaw University Student Government and Meredith College were also present.

The students and faculty met downstairs in the CU Snack Bar for lunch, then moved upstairs to one of the meeting rooms for discussion. Garland MacAdoo was elected chairman and Steve Johnston was elected secretary. Both men are State students.

A roster of possible picketers was drawn up, and the possibilities of picketing Hillsboro Street restaurants, downtown establishments, and Cameron Village restaurants were discussed.

Reception Planned For NCS Professor Allard Lowenstein

Allard K. Lowenstein, author of Brutal Mandate, will be honored at an autograph party and reception next Sunday.

Lowenstein, who has been a member of the State College faculty since September, is being given the reception in view of the fact that his book may get a second printing. The sponsors for the book party are Mike Lea, past editor of The Technician, John Bynum, Student Government president elect, and other residents of the Raleigh area.

The reception will be held in the Marcus Restaurant on Wilmington Street from 8 to 10 p.m.

Apologies Being Made For Snub Of Liberian

By Herb Allred

Official apologies are being issued for Tuesday's racial snub of Angie Brooks, a Liberian diplomat, and efforts are under way to open the doors of two Raleigh establishments to Negroes, according to an Associated Press announcement.

Pedro A. Sanjuan, director of special protocol services, said Secretary Dean Rusk has already sent apologies to the Liberian Ambassador for refusal of the Sir Walter Hotel coffee shop and the S&W Cafeteria to serve the Negro diplomat Tuesday.

Sanjuan also expects an expression of regret from Governor Terry Sanford.

In addition, Sanjuan said that efforts are under way to persuade the owners of the cafeteria and hotel chains involved to serve Negroes at their Raleigh establishments hereafter.

John Lineberger, manager of the local S&W, stated that, "My personal opinions and my business opinions concerning the incident are two different things."

Lineberger also said, "This is private property and we reserve the right to refuse service to anyone . . . we've never done it before (served Negroes), not since 1926, and that was when we opened."

Hotel Manager Arthur E. Buddenhagen had no further statement to the press.

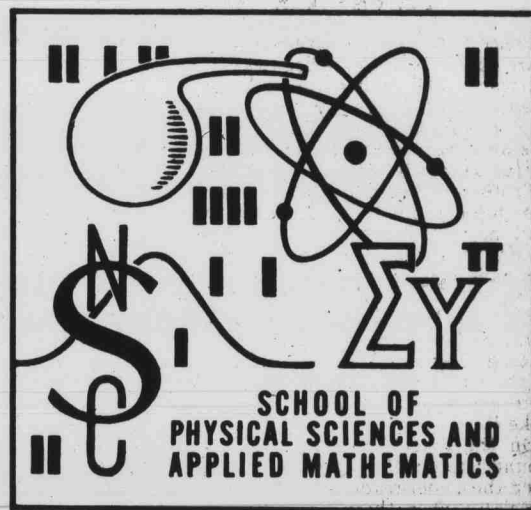

John Winters, the only Negro on the seven-member Raleigh City Council, expressed regret at the incident to The Raleigh Times. "It points up the need for community action to settle these issues, and to promote peace and tranquility among our people," he said.

According to Graham Jones, Governor Sanford's press secretary, during the past three years a committee has been working to extend Tarheel hospitality to citizens and diplomats of foreign countries. Formed in conjunction with the U. S. State Department, the committee has acted to avoid embarrassment (See APOLOGIES, page 4)

Newest School Gets Decal

After two years in operation, the School of Physical Sciences and Applied Mathematics has received a decal. It was released yesterday and is now on sale at the Student Supply Store. Lynn Spruill was chairman of the committee which designed the decal.

Shaw students offered their support to any picketing movement which the council decided upon. The group decided to hold

More Picketing Of State Theater Planned Friday

State College students will again be picketing the State Theater tomorrow night, according to Bob Hare.

Hare, the spokesman for the State College group picketing the theater, said that the group would meet in the North Parlor of the King Religious Center at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow before returning to the theater. He added that any interested students would be permitted to join the group at this time.

The group became the first from State College to use picketing in a segregation protest, Tuesday night, when it joined with students from Shaw University and St. Augustine College in picketing at the State Theater.

Six Chairmen Chosen, Two More Needed

Eight are called for but six are chosen as the College Union continues its quest for committee chairmen.

Under the new reorganizational proposal, the number of committees has been chopped from fourteen this past year to eight for next year; however, only six of the eight committees will have chairmen, according to present indications.

The Gallery and Recreation Committees will begin the new year without chairmen, unless chairmen applications, available in the CU Social Activities Office, are filled out soon, according to Alan Eckards, new CU President.

The six chairmen ready for service are listed as follows: Dave Weisiger, Club Coordinator; Gamai Zaalouk, International Committee; Mike Smith, Leadership Training Committee; Rosina Coburn, Social Activities; John Monroe, Performing Arts Committee; and Steve Johnston, Lectures Committee.

Pre-Vets Accepted

The North Carolina Veterinary Selection Committee has recommended fourteen graduating pre-vet students from State to attend veterinary schools at the University of Georgia and Oklahoma State University.

Since North Carolina does not have a veterinary school, the University of Georgia and Oklahoma State University accept students from North Carolina on a contract basis, with North Carolina paying the out-of-state tuition for the students. State has contracts with these two schools and recommends students on a competitive basis until the state's quota is filled.

This committee is composed of Commissioner of Agriculture L. Y. Ballentine, Dean H. Brooks James and Director E. W. Glazener of the School of Agriculture, Dr. W. R. Dobbs, president of the N. C. Veterinary Medical Association, Dr. N. B. Tyler, Federal Veterinarian, and Dr. E. G. Batte, Head of the Animal Disease Section at State.

The students recommended for admittance to Georgia were: John M. Booker, Cody Addison, Wade H. Ritchie, L. Dale Martin, Robert W. Sanford, Hallet M. Pakule, Robert L. Land, and William I. Shaw.

The following were recommended to continue their education at OSU: Stephen R. Cobb, R. Reynolds Cowles, Ben S. Turner, William J. Price, James W. Provo, and Charles Kirkland.

There were 19 applicants who had finished their pre-vet training and taken the veterinary aptitude test, but only fourteen could be selected.

NCS Groundwork For Summer Jobs Now Completed

Groundwork for the Student Government Summer Job Committee has been completed, according to Floyd McCall, president of Student Government.

The committee was set up this year to explore the possibilities of such a plan, and has been "well worth the effort put into it," according to McCall.

With the foundation that has been laid and the information that has been obtained, the committee should be able to begin work immediately after school starts next fall and have many summer jobs lined up for interested students by the following spring, according to McCall.

"The committee this year has had the difficult job of organization and has made much progress toward its development," said McCall.

The present chairman is George Ellinwood who is the third man to accept the position this year.

Encouraging News

We quote from two conflicting sources:
"This incident did nothing at all to strengthen the hands of Raleigh people who have been working to help find such a solution. If anything, it has weakened those hands."

(Editorial, The Raleigh Times)

"In addition, Sanjuan said, efforts are under way to persuade the owners of the cafeteria and the hotel chains involved to serve Negroes at their Raleigh establishment hereafter." (Associated Press Bulletin)

It appears to us that the cause of integration has been strengthened if the State Department is placing pressure on the owners of these establishments.

On the local scene, pickets are still forming. The crucial moment will come. Last year, the Student Government passed a resolution which backed equal privileges on Hillsboro Street for all State students.

Despite this resolution, there has been almost no change in the situation in a year's time and with the recent activity on campus, it is now the time for the Legislature to go a step further. We hope that the Student Legislature will decide tonight to support any legal and dignified action that might be taken to facilitate integration of the Hillsboro Street establishments.

Never On Sunday

Concern has been expressed about senior exams this year. The three-day period which has been given the seniors to take their exams has created many conflicts in scheduling. Professors and students have complained of having to discuss Sundays as possible exam periods and the administration has recommended reading day as an exam period.

Professors are under hardship to give quizzes, correct papers, and turn in grades within the three-day deadline. This has turned to a slight advantage for the seniors, however. One professor has complained that he's having to give an easier quiz because of this time limit.

The problem is, and always has been: Commencement. Sufficient time must be given for the college to check grades or you have families and relatives coming all the way from home, driving day and night, to see their son graduate, only to find that he didn't quite make it.

On the other hand, seniors resent having to wait around two or three days for a delayed commencement after the undergraduates have gone home from exams, especially when there's a job waiting for them.

We must compliment the administration on the exam schedule for this year in what it tried to do. By setting two separate exam schedules, in effect, it has kept the undergraduates from being hurt by the senior's trying exam schedule. However, undergraduates taking senior-level courses are still affected. Also, it can not be denied that the reading day has been nullified for many students.

Our feeling is that the possibility of a later commencement should be looked into. We're tenderhearted enough to appreciate the position of the parents, and we can't see how two or three days out of the life of a senior spent waiting for commencement can be that much of a waste.

Coliseum Exodus Caused By Prices

By Steve Johnston

The College Union may soon have to place a quota on the number of immigrant social activities that are leaving Reynolds Coliseum in a mass exodus.

A glance at the tally sheet reveals that only three dances were held in the coliseum this year; last year there were four. The Military Ball defected to the College Union, following the example of other activities in search of greener pastures at a more reasonable rate.

There is no charge for use of the College Union floor space for any college organization. The only fees are for such miscellaneous expenses as waiter service, page and maid service, food bills, and tablecloths and candles. Rental fees for the Coliseum total $460 for one evening. An additional charge is tacked on for labor expended, a total that has reached $400.

Miscellaneous expenses incurred in renting the Coliseum include an array of detailed charges, according to Jim Jones, former ROTC Brigade Commander.

When the amounts for decorations are compared, the cost of decorating the Coliseum averages $400 as against a figure ranging from $50 to $350 for decorating the College Union, according to Dave Phillips, CU Social Director.

Phillips listed the major annual dances as the Military Ball, the Cadet Hop, the Inter-dormitory Council Ball, the Engineers' Ball, the St. Patrick's Dance, the Spring Greeks, the Fall Greeks, the Freshman-Sophomore, and the Junior-Senior. All of these dances were at one time held in the Coliseum, he said. The Freshman-Sophomore precipitated the exodus when it was the first dance to make the change, Phillips reported.

There is a wind in the air that the IDC and the Engineers' Ball will make the move to the College Union soon. Gerald Robertson, President of IDC, indicated that there has been some

WKNC To Stay Off

WKNC will not sign on the air, Saturday because of the annual Student Publications Banquet. They will resume regular programming Sunday, at 6:00 p.m.

Also the WKNC staff has asked that the people considering next year come by the studios in the Publications Center for an interview and an application form.

Correction

The article on the Junior-Senior Dance which appeared in last night's issue of The Technician should have stated that all seniors and those juniors who have paid their dues could pick up their bids in the College Union Activities Office. Also, Juniors who have not paid class dues may do so at this time.

Exhibit To Open

An Exhibition by forty North Carolina artists will open in the CU Gallery Sunday.

These artists, under the auspices of the Associated Artists of North Carolina, will be present at a coffee hour from 3 to 5 p.m. The public is invited.

According to Gene Messick, chairman of the College Union Gallery Committee, these artists from all parts of the state will have sixty-five works of art on exhibit. These were chosen from two hundred submitted by Mr. Edward M. Bryant, associate curator of the Whitney Museum of American Art in New York.

CU Craftshop Moves

With only a small supply of collected tools to handicap its progress, the College Union is moving its Craftshop to the basement of the Frank Thompson Gymnasium. CU officials had hoped to move earlier, but have been delayed until now. Chaney Nicholson is helping to move some of the materials.

Lecture Tonight By South African

Leslie Rubin, the last speaker in the Colloquium On Developing Areas series, will appear at 8 p.m. in the College Union Theater tonight.

Rubin, a former senator in the South African Government, is presently in exile. His senatorial position, in which he represented native Africans, has since been abolished by the South African Government.

While in South Africa, Ruben was a leader in the Liberal Party; he was later appointed professor in the University College in Ghana. He is now serving as professor of African Affairs at Howard University.

The colloquium will close tonight, having presented the speakers Angie Brooks, assistant secretary of state of Liberia and Liberian Ambassador to the United Nations, and Chester Bowles, Undersecretary of State and Ambassador-designate to India, thus far in the series.

The Colloquium On Developing Areas is being sponsored by the College Union Forum Committee. Attendance is open to the public. A coffee hour will follow the program.

Gold And Silver Anniversaries To Spark Event

The North Carolina State College Alumni Association will hold its annual meeting on the campus May 3 and 4.

Highlighting the two-day event will be the Golden and Silver Anniversaries of the classes of 1913 and 1933. Herman Briggs of Raleigh will be in charge of the golden anniversary arrangements while N. B. Watts and J. B. Gaither, also of Raleigh, will be in charge of the silver anniversary.

The featured speaker of the School of Agriculture will be Dr. Walton C. Gregory. Dr. Gregory will discuss his experiences in developing the "atomic peanut." The School of Engineering will feature Dr. P. H. McDonald, engineering mechanics head, who will speak on "Contemporary Engineering Mechanics."

Saturday morning an open house will be held at the Alumni Memorial Building with the annual alumni luncheon at the Erdahl-Cloyd College Union at 12:30 p.m.

Two Hundred Tickets Left For Coming Nash Lectures

The tickets, being sold for the first time this year, are available for one dollar (covering all four lectures) in the office of the Associate Secretary of the YMCA, Room 102, in the E. S. King Religious Center (YMCA). Most of the 200 tickets left for the 9 p.m. lectures, according to Tom Bentley, YMCA secretary.

"Tickets are being sold to prevent breaking down of doors and climbing in by means of the fire escapes as has happened in the past, as well as to prevent overcrowding of the room," Bentley explained.

Mrs. Ethel Nash will present her annual series of lectures on courtship and marriage May 6-May 9 in Riddick 242. There will be two lectures each night, at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m., for each of the four nights; each of the two nightly lectures is exactly alike. Films are scheduled for the final three nights.

This year, contrary to past procedures, the lectures will be open to women as well as to men, according to Bentley. He added that Mrs. Nash will not be available for counseling as in the past.

SPE Hears Times Editor

On Monday, April 30, Herb O'Keef, editor of the Raleigh Times talked to the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity on relations between fraternities at N. C. State and the general public.

Mr. O'Keef said that the Raleigh Chief of Police thought the major problem was the location of the fraternity houses in residential sections. This means that any incidents tend to cause trouble among the neighbors.

He said that this problem should be resolved when the new fraternity row on campus is opened. In the meantime, Mr. O'Keef said what any one fraternity does tends to reflect on the fraternity system on a whole. He said that a fraternity has to do ten times as much good to clear up one bad incident in the eyes of the public. He said that when a fraternity does something good they should let the public know about it.

Dormitory Softball Standing Change In Wednesday's Action

A two way tie for first place in Section #1 of the dormitory softball division was broken up yesterday when Watauga defeated Bragaw North 10-8.

Prior to Wednesday's contest, both teams held identical 4-0 records. Watauga now holds undisputed first place in the section with a 5-0 record, followed by Bragaw North with a 4-1 slate.

Bragaw North took a 3-1 lead in the first frame of the contest. Watauga cut the lead by one run in the second inning by scoring four runs to three for Bragaw North. Watauga went into a 7-6 lead in the third inning, and followed with three more tallies in the fourth frame. Bragaw North added one more run in both the fourth and fifth innings.

Bagwell scored in all but one inning of their game with Welch-Gold-Fourth on the way to a 16-3 victory. The win placed Bagwell in a tie for third place in Section #1 with Berry who was idle this week. Both teams have 3-2 records.

In a third Section #1 contest, Becton defeated Tucker #1 18-1. Prior to the contest, these two teams were tied with 1-3 records for the number five spot in the section. Noggle hit two home runs for Becton while Marwitz, Roberts, and Kuhnmenn each hit one.

Turlington strengthened its hold on the number one position in Section #2 with a 16-2 victory over Owen #1. Turlington tallied twelve runs in the third inning to take a commanding lead over Owen #1. The contest, which lasted only four innings, was Turlington's fifth victory of the season with no defeats. The loss dropped Owen #1 from a two way tie for third place to a three way tie for fourth place with Bragaw South and Syme who did not play this week.

Owen #2 downed Tucker #2 by a one sided 30-7 score. The victory strengthened Owen #2's hold on second place in Section #2, giving them a 4-1 record. The victors collected 21 of their runs in the first and seventh frames. Honneycutt, Rowe, and Whitman hit homers for Owen #2 while Howell and May had one each for Tucker #2.

Does a man really take unfair advantage of women when he uses Mennen Skin Bracer?

All depends on why he uses it.

Most men simply think Menthol-Iced Skin Bracer is the best after-shave lotion around. Because it cools rather than burns. Because it helps heal shaving nicks and scrapes. Because it helps prevent blemishes.

So who can blame them if Bracer's crisp, long-lasting aroma just happens to affect women so remarkably?

Of course, some men may use Mennen Skin Bracer because of this effect.

Guidance Training Set

High school counselors will be going to school this summer. They have been for four years now, too.

State College will be conducting a six-week course in counseling for thirty high school counselors in connection with the National Defense Education Act of 1958. According to Dr. Charles G. Morehead, associate professor of Occupational Information and Guidance and director of the Counseling and Guidance Training Institute, the session this summer will be the fifth in the current contract with the Defense Education Act. The objective of the program is to train the school counselors to give special guidance to the more advanced students in conjunction with the stepped-up program of secondary school education for able students.

The Institute will consist of two graduate courses in education, ED 590 and ED 641. The school counselors participating will receive six hours graduate credit for the two courses.

The contract provides $36,000 for the six-week program. Approximately sixty percent of this will be used for stipends to the counselors. The remainder will be for the operation of the overall program.

The faculty will include six faculty members from other colleges and universities, two of whom are from Harvard University.

Ag Expert To Visit Japan

Prof. Fred S. Sloan, state program leader of agricultural extension at State, has announced

talk of moving the IDC Ball to the College Union. "Regardless," he says, "we can't afford to hold two dances in the Coliseum." As for the Engineers' Ball, Paul Humphries, president of the Engineers' Council, had this to say: "We have seriously considered having the Engineers' Ball in the College Union because of the following reasons: 1-the expense of renting the Coliseum, and 2-the expense of decorating the Coliseum."

Humphries aired some of the problems incurred in holding a dance in either the Coliseum or the College Union. "The sound distortion in the Coliseum is tremendous; the musicians themselves have griped before." "If a dance is held late in the fall in the Coliseum, then the basketball floor has to be removed." He cited the case of one organization waiting too late in the fall to hold their dance in the Coliseum, with the result that Coliseum authorities announced a week before the dance was scheduled to occur that "We can't get the floor up in time."

Problems peculiar to the College Union include, Humphries continued, are extent of decorations and parking. "There isn't much to decorating the College Union; there are too many restrictions," he explained. "When a large dance is held the College Union, there is no place close by to park," he added.

Humphries warned that, since a large dance requires that the College Union be closed to students that are not a member of the organization sponsoring the dance, "You may have the College Union closed down every Friday or Saturday night, if too many organizations hold large dances there; the facilities are limited to a certain group of people, which is bad."

The Coliseum can accommodate 2,000 people for a formal dance. The College Union, after making both the ground floor and the first floor available for dancing, can accommodate 1500 people for an informal or semi-formal dance and 1200 for a formal dance, Phillips estimated.

The new cafeteria, to open next year, may relieve the situation. According to J. J. Stewart, Dean of Student Affairs, "The administration is aware of the need for additional places for student organizations to have social events of all kinds, including dances. The administration is working out a plan which will permit students to use the new cafeteria for meetings and for social events."

Stewart emphasized he could promise nothing definite, because "The exact managerial arrangements for the new cafeteria have not yet been determined by the administration."

Outdoor Concert Coming On Friday

Music lovers! You are invited to unite and attend the second outdoor "pops" concert presented this Friday evening on the CU Terrace by the N. C. State Symphonic Band and Men's Glee Club, according to the Music Department.

The concert will begin at 7:00 P.M. and will permeate the spring evening air with light music. Everyone is invited.

These concerts are annual favorites of music lovers in the Raleigh area, according to Donald B. Adcock, acting band director. Said Adcock, "Many Raleigh people bring their families and sit on the lawn while enjoying the music."

The Glee Club has a new soloist, Robert Johnson, and the band will also have something different for this year's concert. The band will play "I Am the Nation", a patriotic piece, while Jerry Bennett will do a narration.

Two more concerts will follow in the series, on the next two Friday evenings.

both to the foreign citizens and diplomats, and to North Carolinians, he indicated.

Jones also said that the present state administration has probably done more for interracial relations than any other Southern state. He also noted that in 1958 a dinner was held by the former governor for the president of Ghana, who was visiting North Carolina at that time.

A press announcement released yesterday by the Governor's Office said that Judge H. L. Riddle and the committee have worked for three years to see that all diplomats are treated with courtesy. The committee has been highly successful in seeing that hospitality has been extended to diplomats and other citizens of other nations when the committee was advised or learned of the visits before they occurred.

The announcement continued, saying that the Governor's Office noted that numerous visitors from other nations, including African nations, have complimented the state of North Carolina and its citizens on the hospitality extended to visitors.

According to Sloan, he will be working with agricultural extension programs in Japan, mostly with their organization and methods of procedure.

Agricultural extension work mainly concerns educational programs for people not directly connected with the college. County agricultural agents are a part of the program.

A Japanese publishing company is financing Sloan's trip. The president of the company has visited North Carolina several times with groups of Japanese industrialists and farmers.

Sloan will leave about May 3 and will return soon after June 5. He will visit agricultural experiment stations, universities, farm machinery factories, and farms.
