NCS Alumni Ask For Liberal Arts

It was announced today that the Board of Directors of the State College Alumni Association that they have unanimously adopted a resolution calling for a change in the college's name and the granting of a liberal arts degree here.

In calling for a liberal arts degree at State College, the Board points out in the resolution, that the College is already teaching the courses necessary for the degree, and that the degree "would serve many additional students at no additional cost to the State, and at less cost to all commuting students."

Military Groups Name Colonels For 62-63 Year

The ROTC unit commanders for this year have been announced.

The appointment of Fred L. Beyer as cadet colonel and wing commander was announced Monday by Colonel J. D. Howder, professor of air science.

The AFROTC staff includes Thomas McConnell, deputy wing commander; Omar R. Wiseman, operations officer; Jerry L. Garner, personnel officer; Leonard W. Thompson, material officer; Sammy G. Blackburn, inspector general; Thomas R. Smith, administrative officer; Leon J. Poteet, information officer; and George B. Williams, comptroller.

Richard Hill's appointment as cadet colonel and commander of the ROTC Brigade was announced by Colonel L. W. Merriam, professor of military science.

His staff is made up of Jack P. Jordan, executive officer; Vello A. Kuuskrea, S-1; William A. Brantley, S-2; Barre R. Mitchell, S-3; John C. Hill, S-4; and H. Hugh Shelton, PIO.

The Board also states the granting of the degree "would be in step with developments at other outstanding Land-Grant institutions."

Reasons for the desirability of a change in name, according to the Board's resolution, are that State College has already reached university status and has a national and international prominence in many fields.

The resolution reports that "North Carolina State College is one of only six of the 52 principal Land-Grant institutions of the Nation that do not carry the designation of State University or its equivalent."

The directors add that 13 Land-Grant institutions have acquired University designation in the past five years, and that 44 of the 52 institutions grant a liberal arts degree.

The new name "would more accurately describe the services now being rendered, and would add to the prestige of the institution, its faculty and research scientists, its student body and alumni," the directors state in the resolution.

The resolution also includes a statement on State College growth in the 75 years since its founding, in 1889, pointing out that State College "has an enrollment of nearly 8,000, upwards of 1,000 graduate students, more than 300 foreign students from 50 foreign countries, master's degree programs in 35 fields, doctoral programs in 22 fields, and has acquired an international reputation among citizens, statesmen, and scholars."

In announcing the Board of Directors' action, the alumni officials said:

"The growth and development of State College in the past decade has been remarkable, and is only a sample of what the institution can become in terms of being an asset to the future of the State and to its youth."

Talley Nixes House Renting By Phi Epsilon Pi Members

The Student Activities Office announced yesterday that it has denied the ex-members of Phi Epsilon Pi the right to live together on an informal basis and said that it viewed the move as an attempt to "by-pass the closing of the chapter."

Members of PEP had announced earlier that they had rented a new house and planned to live together on an informal basis. The new house is at 1501 Courtland Ave.

However, Student Activities Director Banks Talley asserted that his office "views this move as an effort to by-pass the closing of the chapter, and has instructed the membership that they must vacate their Courtland Avenue house at the end of their thirty-day rental period. The membership has been advised that it may not live as a group but must live singly or in groups of two or three. Furnishings belonging to the National Phi Epsilon Pi Fraternity are to be returned to the owner."

The move resulted from a misunderstanding of statements made by Banks Talley at recent meetings with the officers of Phi Epsilon Pi which he cleared up at a meeting Monday evening.

A representative from the national office and a local legal counsel were present along with the membership and Talley. At this meeting, Talley apologized for not making his statements clear. He said that all money that was in the account of the fraternity as of the beginning of the fall semester must be given to the national organization. He expressed hopes to have Phi Epsilon Pi re-opened within about two years. "But, that depends upon the co-operation of the membership," he said. "The decision we (the Activities Office) reached was final. We meant this in fact as well as in spirit."

Hank Greenstone, the representative from the national office, said that with the co-operation of the membership and under ideal conditions the house may be re-opened next fall. The national organization plans to sell the old house on 130 Hawthorne Road.

Three Engines Called For Fire In Leazar

By Curtiss Moore
Fire broke out Monday morning in Leazar cafeteria and brought three fire engines from the Raleigh Fire Department screaming through the State College campus to extinguish the blaze.

According to Fred Coleman, General Manager of the cafeteria, the fire apparently arose from a gas leak in one of the stoves. Coleman stated that the blaze broke out at approximately 11:35 a.m. and attracted the attention of one of the employees. The employee then reported the fire to Coleman, who in turn summoned the Fire Department.

Within three to four minutes, the department had come to the rescue with three trucks and the fire chief's car. Clad in their water repellent hats and jackets, the men came rushing through the lunchroom into the kitchen and quickly located the blaze. After extinguishing the fire, which had been going for some ten minutes, the men poured through the lunchroom again, this time headed in the opposite direction.

According to the fire captain present at the scene, the flames were extinguished with both dry chemicals and CO₂, neither of which would harm the kitchen appliances. Coleman stated that the incident would not cause any changes in the functioning of the kitchen other than perhaps a menu revision.

On Middle East

Correspondent Lectures

By Roy Colquitt
"There are places in the Middle East where a man shoots his wife if she breaks her leg. This is the kind thing to do if he loves her."

Thus began Robert St. John at his lecture entitled "Crisis in the Middle East," held last night in the CU Ballroom. The noted author and lecturer has written many books on the Middle East and its leaders. Mr. St. John is the biographer of David Ben-Gurion, Prime Minister of Israel and President Nasser of Egypt. He has three books being published at the present time on the situation in the Middle East.

Continuing, Mr. St. John told of King Saud of Saudi-Arabia who bought a 10,000-piece set of china inlaid with gold from a factory in Germany. This king makes an annual salary of $10 a second or $365,000,000 a year. Yet in this same country the life expectancy of a peasant farmer is 21 years. There are not enough doctors to serve a population of one-tenth the size. This is the plight of the Middle East, "extreme riches and extreme poverty." And St. John emphasized, "We are a supporter of King Saud. We give him foreign aid." Continuing, he quoted Saud as saying that he would sacrifice 10,000,000 Arabs to wipe out Israel, a nation which he helped to get its start.

Mr. St. John then shifted into a comparison of the two major powers of the Middle East, the United Arab Republic and Israel. He illustrated this comparison by contrasting the two leaders of the countries.

"One way in which the quality of a man is judged is his linguistic ability. Nasser can speak two languages; Ben-Gurion can speak eight." Mr. St. John went on to describe the natures of the two men. Nasser, on the one hand, is charming and has a great ability to use "small-talk." On the other hand, Ben-Gurion

Weavers To Sing Thursday Night

"Folk Songs Around the World" will be the program for The Weavers this Thursday night at eight.

This program is the first of five musical exhibitions sponsored by the New Arts, Inc., an organization formed by the co-operation of the College Union and the IFC. The four remaining exhibitions will be those of Josh White on October 20, Ferrante and Teicher on February 10, Ray de la Torre on March 6, and Herbie Mann Sextet on April 26.

The Weavers will appear on Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum. Student season memberships will be available at the door at three dollars for the entire season. Only season memberships will be sold. Approximately 1100 of the 4100 tickets remain to be sold.

The all-student Board of Directors of New Arts, Inc., has asked that these artists be given the courteous attention which has become the mark of State College audiences. In consideration of the artists, the audience has been requested not to smoke during the performance.

A spokesman for New Arts, Inc., said, "When The Weavers first started out, they were confused with a vaudeville group that called themselves The Weaver Brothers. However, their individuality soon began to spread, and disc jockeys began to use phrases such as "Weaver-type songs." The Weavers are such celebrities today that they enjoy Carl Sandburg's tribute in which he states, "When I hear America singing, The Weavers are there."

New Rifle Range Is Being Built In Thompson Gym.

North Carolina State College is perhaps the only school in the world with a rifle range built over a swimming pool.

The new rifle range, now under construction, is forming over the old swimming pool in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium. The M & O has worked closely with the rifle team coaches to construct a platform over the pool at a cost of less than $1600.

Since the old rifle range was located in the clothing storage room, it could not be used in the summer time. Major Robert Wickham, rifle team coach, said that the old rifle range was only

Live And Let Live

The Student Activities Office's action to dissolve Phi Epsilon Pi Fraternity had our approval. Although we felt action of this sort should be handled by students, we realized the Interfraternity Council was not assuming their responsibilities and that Student Activities had no other choice.

The latest move by Student Activities against the ex-members of PEP cannot be explained easily, however, and cannot be condoned (see story page 1). This decree stated that the members of the dissolved fraternity could not rent a house and live together. In fact, it even limited the members to living in groups of three or less.

Student Activities is basing its action on the idea that since Phi Epsilon Pi has been dissolved, the individual men have no right to conduct themselves in any way like a fraternity. To us, this is false. PEP has been denied the privileges of a fraternity. It cannot belong to the IFC, it cannot take part in intramurals, it cannot pledge men, or give them pins. By the very action of being dissolved it has lost very much. Its prestige in the eyes of the campus has gone down enough so that it is doubtful that new people could be found to affiliate with the fraternity, and it is almost certain that an association of this sort could not be held together more than a couple of years.

The worry that misbehavior by the members would be harder to enforce in their new house also entered into the decision. This too, does not seem to be a valid basis on which to make the decision.

The campus Code under which all students are supposedly living could be applied to violations of decent conduct in the new house. In fact we would suggest that the house be closely watched for possible Campus Code violations.

While these are valid criticisms of the Student Affairs' decision, there is one point which is much more important. That is what authority or right has the Student Affairs Office to tell individuals where they may live? If twenty friends decide to rent a house and live together, it seems that this should be permissible. In fact, there are groups of students doing just that on campus.

When the Student Affairs Office dissolved PEP, they relinquished the right to treat them as a body; but that is exactly what it is doing.

The office would not tell individual students where to live, and they should not do the same to these men who have already received enough punishment.

Letter To The Editor

Talley's PEP Decision Criticized

To the Editor;

Everyone on campus is talking about the Phi Epsilon Pi Fraternity. Everyone knows that the college administration revoked the charter of that fraternity and told the brothers to be out within a week. You have already been told why this occurred, so the reasons do not need further discussion.

The brothers are sorry that the incident took place. And the men that worked so hard to bring the house up to the level of the other fraternities are especially sorry. The incident last summer was the fault of three or four men who were living in the house at the time. The blame, however fell on everyone. The members of the fraternity did not like it, but they went along with the decision to close the house. They decided that since many of them could not afford to live in separate rooms, they would stay together and rent another house. This would have been the most economical way to live.

So, they rented another house at 1501 Courtland Avenue in Raleigh. This house had been vacant for over two years and was an eyesore in the community. The grass was over three feet high in spots in the front yard and the trees and shrubs were in need of trimming.

Last Saturday, thirty-four men started working at the new house. They cut down the grass and weeds, trimmed the trees and shrubs, rebuilt the stone walls that had fallen, and cleaned up anything else that needed it. Some of the boys painted the interior of the entire first floor of the house.

On Sunday, they rented a truck and moved all of the furniture from the old house to the new one. Through a misunderstanding, they thought that the furniture belonged to them. Actually, it belongs to the national organization. They are planning to return the furniture when the old house is cleaned up.

On Monday afternoon and at a meeting of the brothers and pledges that night, Dean Talley told the men some more bad news. When he told the brothers to move out, he meant to tell them that they could not live in groups of more than three. He also told them that they had to be out by the end of the month of October. The only reason that they got that length of time is because they had already paid a month's rent. The fact that the boys had worked so hard and painted the downstairs of the house and even bought a new stove seemed to make no difference at all.

Why does the college administration have the right to say who can live with whom off campus? Some of the other students who are living off campus had better watch out. The Administration may strike again!

College Lends Paintings To Dormitory Residents

By Allen Lennon

These days you can prop your feet on your desk, open your textbook, take out your pen, and gaze directly at your own private Van Gogh, or Cezanne, or Picasso, or Renoir, or Utrillo, or Da Vinci, or Botticelli.

It may not help you pass the quiz but it will help the state of your soul.

The Division of Student Affairs has purchased 92 reproductions of famous paintings for use by students in their dorm rooms according to John Kanipe, supervisor of dormitory counselors. The paintings are presently distributed to occupants of Bragaw, Becton, and Bagwell dorms.

The paintings may be checked out to students for a period of one semester for use in their rooms. "They are available at the beginning of each semester on a first-come first-served basis," Kanipe said.

Kanipe has outlined several policies which apply to the use of these paintings. Only one painting can be displayed per room, and the same painting may not be checked out to the same student for two consecutive semesters. Occupants who receive the paintings assume full responsibility for any damages or loss. A service charge of twenty-five cents per semester is charged to those receiving the canvases. Kanipe stated that no damage to any of the collection has been incurred since the program was begun.

The art lending program was set up with a purchase of 48 paintings in the fall of 1960 by Henry Bowers then assistant director of student activities. The present collection of 92 reproductions is the property of the Division of Student Affairs and is valued at approximately $3500.

Zorowski Named ASME Advisor; Picnic Planned

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers held a meeting last night and elected a new faculty advisor. He is Dr. C. F. Zorowski who came to State College this fall from the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

The Institute of Aerospace Sciences also held a meeting last night and elected a new publicity chairman, Ed Hinson.

Dr. R. W. Truitt, head of the ME department, spoke before the IAS and emphasized the importance of the technical society to the student. He also discussed the new aerospace curriculum which was introduced to State College this year.

At a group meeting of the ASME and the IAS later in the evening, October 23 was selected as the date for a picnic in Pullen Park. The picnic is primarily to acquaint the new freshmen into the two societies.

In this book, we supply you with the "know-how," you supply the practice. Within 5 days you should be able to do the tricks mentioned above, and tear a full deck of playing cards in half, lift a girl overhead with one hand, break a nail with your teeth, and many other tricks! They are so easy you'll be amazed! This book is included at no extra charge with each order.

Frat Football

By Vello Kuskras

The fraternity football teams began to settle down and really start playing when they met Monday afternoon.

In League 1 play, the Sigma Nu's rebounded from last week's upset to soundly defeat PKP by a margin of 28-0. Broch was responsible for two of Sigma Nu's touchdowns. Broch, the Sigma Nu quarterback twice connected with touchdown passes as he first hit Henderson and then Ridge. Ridge also scored another touchdown with a 65-yard scamper.

Kappa Sigma routed SAM 30-0 in the other League 1 game. The Kappa Sig's scored in every period, while SAM could not break through the Kappa Sig defense. Joe Ivey connected on passes to Barefoot and Seawright for two of the Kappa Sig scores, while McClellan and McCall accounted for the other tallies.

Predictions Off

League 2 provided the big upset of the day when PKA beat the Sig Ep's by a bare 13-12. The margin of victory proved to be a nullified extra point by the Sig Ep's. PKA scored on two well run pass plays, while SPE tallied twice with the combination of Norton to Wagener.

TKE came from behind to defeat a strong Sigma Pi team by a score of 12-6 in the second League 2 game. Sigma Pi scored first on a Carawan to Hyatt pass, but TKE came back strong and a Moore to Hill pass provided the winning TD.

PKT laid a strong claim to League 3 laurels as they bumped aside a strong KA squad with a score of 7-0. The game was very evenly played with the only score of the game coming in the second quarter on a pass play.

The Delta Sigs, a perennial title contender, tasted its second straight defeat in League 3 play. LCA dumped the Delta Sigs by a score of 12-6 in a hard fought game. If DSP hopes to match last years third place finish it is going to have to make a recovery very soon.

SAE again crushed their League 4 opponent by a wide margin. This time they rolled over AGR by an easy 27-7 score. The combination of Shatton and Brown was responsible for all four of SAE's touchdowns. Shatton passed for two of the TDs, one to Brown and one to Penning, and Brown was the man that tallied twice more to bring the total to 27.

In the other League 4 game Theta Chi avenged last week's loss by defeating the Farmhouse 19-0. Riggins was the outstanding player on the Theta Chi team, while Lattermore proved to be a stand out even though his Farmhouse team lost.

The picture just above is most certainly not of any fraternity game, although some of the games might seem this rough. This picture was snapped by Technician photographer Jerry Jackson in Saturday's game with Clemson. Two State defenders have just spilled the Tiger ball carrier (arrow) close to the goal line. State players that can be identified in the picture are Merrick Barnes, 12, Tony Koszarsky, 40, and Dave Houtz, 30.

Wolfpack Successful against Belmont Abbey

By Carlos Williams
State's soccer squad ended their first game Monday by defeating Belmont Abbey here 5-1. Although the State "kickers" lost a scrimmage to Camp Lejeune last week, Monday's non-conference contest marked the first event of this year's season.

The 19-man roster this year includes five lettermen, all from North Carolina, and ten sophomores from last year's freshman squad. Coaching the group is Nelvin Cooper. Asked about the Belmont encounter, Coach Cooper commented, "We looked fairly good for us. We usually play teams much better than us." Cooper went on to explain that the strength of the competing teams is often proportional to the financial support allotted.

Scoring in Monday's conflict began as Ergin Uskep gained control of the ball and scored in the first thirty seconds of the game. Uskep again scored in the third quarter. Other points were made by John Wofford in the first quarter, and by Warren Way and Pedro Lozada in the second quarter. Ants Koppel and Edward Snipes were outstanding in defensive play.

The soccer club will meet Davidson here tomorrow. Coach Cooper said, "We expect a close game with Davidson." He expressed little optimism that the "booters" would better last year's record of two wins, one tie, and seven losses in conference competition.

The first conference game will be with Virginia on Monday. From there State goes on to face Maryland, Carolina, and Duke. In commenting on post season conference standings, Coach Cooper said, "Maryland has won the championship every year since the ACC was founded some eight or nine years ago. I think that Duke will come close to beating Maryland out this year." He went on to say, "Maryland is very strong in all the minor sports. They presently hold the key title in both soccer and wrestling."

WHAT TO WEAR TILL THE DOCTOR COMES

Now that you have enrolled and paid your fees and bought your books and found your way around campus and learned to hate your roommate, it is time to turn to the most important aspect of college life. I refer, of course, to clothes.

What does Dame Fashion decree for the coming school year? (Incidentally, Dame Fashion is not, as many people believe, a fictitious character. She was a real Englishwoman who lived in Elizabethan times and, indeed, England is forever in her debt. During the invasion of the Spanish Armada, Dame Fashion—not yet a Dame but a mere, unlettered country lass named Moll Flanders—during the invasion, I say, of the Spanish Armada, this dauntless girl stood on the white cliffs of Dover and turned the tide of battle by rallying the drooping morale of the British fleet with this stirring poem of her own composition:

*Don't be gutless,
Men of Britain.
Swing your cutlass,
We ain't quittin'.

Smash the Spanish,
Sink their boats,
Make 'em vanish,
Like a horse makes oats.

For Good Queen Bess,
Dear sirs, you gotta
Make a mess
Of that Armada.

You won't fail!
Knock 'em flat!
Then we'll drink ale
And stuff like that.*

In 1589 she invented the laying here

As a reward for these inspirational verses Queen Elizabeth dubbed her a Dame, made her Poet Laureate, and gave her the Western Hemisphere except Duluth. But this was not the extent of Dame Fashion's service to Queen and country. In 1589 she invented the laying hen, and she was awarded a lifetime pass to Chavez Ravine. But she was not to end her days in glory. In 1591, alas, she was arrested for overtime jousting and imprisoned for thirty years in a butt of malmsey. This later became known as Guy Fawkes Day.)

But I digress. Let us get back to campus fashions. Certain to be the rage again this year is the cardigan (which, curiously enough, was named after Lord Cardigan, who commanded the English fleet against the Spanish Armada. The sweater is only one product of this remarkable Briton's imagination. He also invented the glottal stop, the gerund, and the eyelid, without which winking, as we know it today, would not be possible).

But I digress. The cardigan, I say, will be back, which is, I believe, cause for rejoicing. Why? Because the cardigan has nice big pockets in which to carry your Marlboro Cigarettes—and that, good friends, is ample reason for celebration as all of you will agree who have enjoyed Marlboro's fine, comfortable, mellow flavor and Marlboro's filter. So why don't you slip into your cardigan and hie yourself to your tobaccoconist for some good Marlboros? They come in soft pack or flip-top box. Cardigans come in pink for girls and blue for boys. © 1962 Max Shulman

Cardigans or pullovers—it's a matter of taste . . . And so is Marlboro a matter of taste—the best taste that can possibly be achieved by experienced growers and blenders—by science, diligence, and tender loving care. Try a pack.

WORDS OF BAHU'LLAH
"The Revelation, which from time immemorial, hath been acclaimed as the purpose and Promise of all the Prophets of God . . . hath now, . . . been revealed unto men. The advent of such a Revelation hath been heralded in all the sacred Scriptures. Behold how, notwithstanding such an announcement, mankind hath strayed from its path and shut out itself from its glory."

Baha'u'llah repeatedly affirmed that His coming represented not only the SECOND COMING OF CHRIST but also the fulfillment of the "latter day" prophecies found in all the Holy Books . . . to the Jews, He was the "EVERLASTING FATHER." "The Lord of Hosts" To the Zoroastrians, He was the Promised SHAH-BAH-RAM; to the Buddhists, the 5th BUDDHA; to the HINDUS, the re-incarnation of KRISHNA and to the MOHAMMADANS, "The great ANNOUNCEMENT."

St. John Discusses Middle East

is frank and straight forward in manner and actions.

But the greatest difference in the two leaders, Mr. St. John stated was the motivation behind their leadership of their respective countries. Nasser stated his simply-power. Ben-Gurion's reason differed greatly—to create a new progressive Israel.

Returning to his original topic, St. John gave reasons for the present crisis in the Middle East. One was a great population in the countries of the Middle East, many of which are unable to feed and provide medical care for the existing population. Another was the wide fragmentation of the countries. One of the greatest reasons, however, was the great outpouring of foreign aid by western nations into the Middle East, especially in the way of military aid. Entitling it "big power immorality," St. John said, "No American congressman will ever vote against military appropriations to a foreign country.

Neither will any legislative body of any of the great Western powers place any restrictions on their foreign aid to an under-developed country."

He went on, "The U. S. should say to both Israel and the United Arab Republic: We will give you no more aid of any kind until you both sit down at a peace conference and settle your differences without resorting to warfare."

"The one solution to the position of the Western world in
