Bowl Foe Picked, Edwards Honored

Edwards, Hickey Share 'Coach Of Year' Award

By Dick Paschall
"I consider the ACC Coach-of-the-Year Award a fine honor for the entire coaching staff; leaving me out, I know it was well-deserved," commented a very modest Earle Edwards, head coach of the bowl-bound Wolfpack, on his selection for the honor which is shared with UNC's head coach Jim Hickey.

The ACC Coach of the Year Award is made annually by the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association. Edwards and Hickey were tied in the voting with 39 votes apiece, necessitating the duplicate awards. Eighty-five sportswriters cast votes; the other seven votes were cast for Bill Murray of Duke and Frank Howard of Clemson.

Edwards first received the award in 1957 when his Wolfpack squad took first place in the conference.

The 32-52-6 won-lost record accumulated in Edward's ten years as State's head football coach is not at all representative of the fine teams he has produced. The majority of the games have been played outside Riddick Stadium. In the past six seasons only three games each year have been played before home crowds. The 1960 Wolfpack squad missed first place by half a game.

Before joining the State coaching staff in 1954, Edwards coached at Penn State for 13 years, and at Michigan State from 1949 to 1954. This season marks his 28th year in collegiate coaching.

The half-time show at the Liberty Bowl will feature the N. C. State Marching Band in its premier bowl game.

This 170-man-and-one-girl organization was invited by the Athletic Department to give the estimated 30-40 million T.V. viewers a sample of the showmanship of the largest band in the three-state Atlantic Coast Conference and one of the largest in the South.

The band will leave for Philadelphia on Friday afternoon, December 20, after two half days of practice. In Philadelphia, the band will stay in the Warwick Hotel.

"The halftime show, entitled 'Meet the Band,' will feature various sections of the band in formation and music," said J. Perry Watson, Director of Music at State.

The band, which grew from an initial membership of 25 to the present strength in eight years, made only two excursions this year, to Chapel Hill and to Norfolk for the game with the University of Virginia.

6-2-2 Mississippi State Named To Oppose Pack

By Jim Kear
Mississippi State, an SEC powerhouse, will meet the Wolfpack in the Liberty Bowl in Philadelphia on December 21.

Talking with The Technician last night, Bulldog Sports Publicist Bob Hartley said Mississippi State is looking forward to meeting State in their first bowl game in 21 years. Mississippi State played in the Orange Bowl in 1941. "The team has a 6-2-2 record that we are quite proud of down here," said Hartley.

Under Coach Paul Davis, Southeastern Conference "Coach of the Year" for 1963, the Bulldogs compiled an impressive list of ties and victories with only two defeats said Hartley.

Mississippi State 1963 Record	Opponent	Miss. St. Opp.
Howard College	43	0
Tennessee	7	0
Tulane	31	10
Houston	20	0
Auburn	13	10
L.S.U.	7	6

Mississippi	10	10
Florida	9	9
Memphis State	10	17
Alabama	19	20

Mississippi State, ranked 11th in the nation, played four bowl-bound teams in all. They defeated two of them—Auburn, headlined for the Orange Bowl, and L.S.U. on their way to the Bluebonnet Bowl—and tied Mississippi, the opponent for Alabama in the Sugar Bowl. The Bulldogs' second defeat came at the hands of Memphis State, undefeated in season play.

According to spokesmen for the Bulldogs, State's Mafia backfield will have a rugged time meeting 208 pound guard and linebacker Pat Watson and 216 pound tackle Tom Neville, both of whom made All-SEC this year. Other boys to watch in the Liberty Bowl for MSU will be fullback Ode Burrell, fullback Hoyle Granger and quarterback Sonny Fisher, said the sources.

Design Auction Grosses $2,300 For Art Works

Raleigh residents and out-of-town buyers came to State with cold cash and a lust for art, to judge from the returns of the Annual Design Art Auction.

According to the Design School publication co-editor, Reyham Tansal, the Auction held November 25 grossed about $2,300, the second highest in the Auction's 11 year history.

Tansal said that the 120 items including pastels, drawings, paintings, sculptures and other works of art drew "quite a number" of out-of-town visitors. An oil on paper by Joe Cox pulled down the highest price at $85.

A number of the works were done in informal drawing sessions in which live models were furnished, sponsored by the Student Publication of the School of Design.

Schoenborn Voted To Fill AIChE Post

The first chemical engineer from the Southeastern United States to be elected a director of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers is Dr. Edward M. Schoenborn, head of the Department of Chemical Engineering at the University.

Schoenborn was installed in his post as a director of the AIChE on Tuesday, Dec. 3rd, at the awards banquet of the annual three-day meeting of the society in Houston, Texas.

Schoenborn will serve as a director of the 23,000-member organization for a term of three years. He is one of twelve directors, four of whom are elected each year.

One of 16 nominees for the four positions available this year, he was nominated by a petition of his associates in the organization.

Schoenborn received his three degrees from Ohio State University, earning his Ph. D. in 1941. Before coming to State in 1945 to assume duties as head of the chemical engineering department, he was an associate professor at the University of Delaware. He is a member of Sigma Xi, Phi Kappa Phi, and Tau Beta Pi.

Mixed Emotion

There will be mixed emotions at the Liberty Bowl game in Philadelphia.

The conflicts arise between the heads of the participating institutions. Chancellor John Caldwell graduated from Mississippi State in 1932. President Colvard of Mississippi State was Dean of the NCS School of Agriculture several years ago.

Chancellor Caldwell said last night that he would definitely be at the game "pulling for State". Upon further questioning he specified North Carolina State in preference to Mississippi State.

Design Music

Design School professors Stuart, Cox and Shoegren will be the musical hosts in a performance Monday night at 8:00 in the school auditorium.

In an announcement to The Technician, Design School Student Publications co-editor Keller Smith said that the group humbly regards itself as highly amateur, but have been playing together for several years and are quite entertaining. A harpsichord will be one of the instruments featured.

CCUN Delegates Being Appointed

Applications for persons desiring to participate in the Sixth Annual Middle South United Nations Model General Assembly are now available in the Erdahl-Cloyd Union Program Office on the second floor of the Union building.

The 1964 assembly will convene on February 12 at Duke University in Durham and adjourn the afternoon of February 15 (Wednesday through Saturday), according to Steve Johnston, campus CCUN (co-ordinator). Registration, room, and board expenses are paid by the Erdahl-Cloyd Union. Registration is open to all N. C. State students; official college approved excuses to miss classes during the four day period will be issued to students participating in the assembly, Johnston said.

Through the General Assembly plenaries, the Security Council, and the permanent committee meetings, the UNMGA tries to present a realistic mock picture of the United Nations. Five persons comprise a delegation (four delegates and one alternate), and these persons are charged with the task of representing a particular United Nations country at the sessions. So far, N. C. State has secured three delegations, although the countries these delegates will represent has not been released at the date of this publication, Johnston noted.

The UNMGA is sponsored by the Collegiate Council for the

A Challenge For All

Good news and congratulations have abounded this week in the Athletic Department with the announcement that the Wolfpack will play in the Liberty Bowl in Philadelphia on December 21 and the selection of Earle Edwards to share ACC Coach of the Year honors with Carolina's Jim Hickey.

Coach Edwards and the team have both done outstanding jobs this year in racking up an 8-2 record, and both recognitions are well-deserved.

It was also gratifying to learn that the Liberty Bowl officials have finally found a team willing to face us in the Frozen North at a time when most teams have visions of warm Christmas holidays.

State's opponent is Mississippi State which surprised several people this fall including Ole Miss which was tied by them last weekend. The Bulldogs were anxious to go to any bowl, and will eagerly bring a 6-2-2 record to Philadelphia. Examination of Mississippi State's fall activities reveal that the Bulldogs met no less than four teams which will participate in post season games. MSU beat two of these teams, tied one, and lost to the other. In short, Edwards and company will have their hands full in Philly.

However, the football team will not be the only representatives of the university in Philadelphia Stadium. The State Marching Band of whom the university is so justly proud, the cheerleaders, and hopefully a large student contingent will be on hand. The game will be State's first bowl trip since 1946, and since the occurrence next such event is not predictable, that fact in itself is ample excuse for a trip north. Moreover, the game provides an excellent excuse to run on up to New York for a few days.

The band can be counted on to give its usual capital performance before the national television audience, but it would be sad indeed for NCS to be outcheered by the Mississippians who can be expected to turn out in force to exhibit their independence from the rest of the country.

It is hoped that the cheerleaders will be able to squeeze a considerable amount of practice into the coming weeks. A few well-organized pep rallies of the window shattering variety are also in order.

The expenses of student bowl attendance will not be beyond reason if mass transportation and lodging planning are utilized. Here is a ready-made student government or service organization project if there ever was one.

The football fans in attendance at the Liberty Bowl and the national television audience will both get a view of this institution this month. Such opportunities do not occur often, and full advantage should be taken of them. The view of State which will be projected there will not be the most relevant one, for the classroom hours, myriad research projects, and alumni achievements will be missing. However the image projected there will be a lasting and important one for many people.

The players, bandmen, cheerleaders, and students should take steps appropriate to insure that the impression made will be one indicative of the quality of this institution.

Letter To Editors:

JFK-World Cheated

To the Editors:

When John F. Kennedy was slain the world was ruthlessly cheated. Cheated of an energy that would have someday proved to be an overwhelming power in free man's fight for justice and peace. In the short time that he was President, whether we agreed with his policies or not, we realized that this vigorous, young man had a unique talent to offer free men everywhere. In his less than three years as President, this youngest President of the United States had accomplished more of his plans for us, had established more precedents, had opened more peoples' eyes to the despicable injustices existing both in the world and in our own society, than anyone had ever dreamed. Anyone, that is, except John F. Kennedy. He knew where he was taking us. He needed only time to fulfill his ambitious plans for this country and the world. He was denied that time by an assassin's bullet.

This is what makes our late President's death so bewildering to all of us: the fact that one man or small group of men can so effectively disrupt the hopes of a nation. In our time when Communism has advanced to within ninety miles of our borders, when so many people are held in bondage by so few tyrants, when our own President can be struck down by the whims of a twisted mind, it is time we opened our eyes to the true nature of the forces of evil and insurrection that would bury us. So let his death not be in vain. Let us see more clearly than ever before the true aims of the communists, and not be lull-ed into a submissive disregard of the events that happen thousands of miles from our shores. For that is exactly what the events of November 22 proved to all of us; that the fight for liberty goes on everywhere there is a free man who will not submit to enslavement by any tyrant.

Football Comments

By Coach Earle Edwards

The Wake Forest game turned out to be our best offensive performance. Combined with a consistent defense and good kicking, we enjoyed the happy experience of scoring early and often. It was a good finale for our sixteen seniors.

The season had its disappointments but there were many fine moments. We were particularly proud of the men who played under the handicap of injury. The squad had a wonderful determination from the very beginning of practice. The added experience on our squad made up hopeful of a good season, and it continued to be the main factor in our success as the season wore on.

We were very much aware of an increased interest on the part of the student body. This is usually reflected in the performance of any sports team, and we were grateful for it.

This squad will hold a special place in the memory of the coaches.

We have accepted an invitation to take part in the Liberty Bowl on Sat., December 21, against Mississippi State. The Bulldogs are a very good team and may provide the severest test of the season for the Wolfpack. It will be for us a rare appearance on television with a national audience. We will be anxious to represent North Carolina State in the best possible manner. Plans are being laid to have our fine band take part. I hope the students who have supported us so well this year will be able to find some way to make one more trip. We appreciate the support.

Football Honors Come To Wolfpack

Football honors begin to fall on the players and coach of the Atlantic Coast Conference co-champions following the end of the regular season.

The entire squad and coaching staff was honored with an invitation to play in the Liberty Bowl on December 21, in Philadelphia.

Individual honors came to a number of players, first with the selection of the Greensboro Daily News all-star team. State placed seven players on this 22 man honor squad, more than any other team. Those honored were Joe Scarpati, Jim Rossi, Burt Wilder, Bill Sullivan, Oscar Overcash, Don Montgomery and Ray Barlow.

The four most recent honors came to head coach Earle Edwards, team captain Joe Scarpati, end Bill Hall, and tackle Bert Wilder.

Coach Edwards was picked along with Carolina coach Jim Hickey as Atlantic Coast Conference co-coaches of the year.

Joe Scarpati and Bill Hall were named to the All-ACC academic team. Scarpati holds a B average as a senior in Math Education. This is his third year on the academic squad and thus is the first player in ACC history to make the team every year during his varsity career. Hall, a junior in Applied Math, holds a B plus average.

In an election held by the 29 lettermen on the squad, Bert Wilder was chosen the most valuable player and thus will receive the Governor's Trophy. In Look magazine's all-American poll, Wilder was one of the last tackles to be eliminated from the honored squad.

Coach Edwards also had praise for the opposition last night. In talking with reporters, Edwards described the Bulldogs as being State's most ambitious undertaking this year and he guarantees spectators a game well worth watching. Edwards announced also that Bert Wilder and Joe Scarpati plan to participate in the Blue-Gray All-Star game the weekend following the bowl game. Chuck Wachtel, who also received an invitation to the game, had to decline because of an injured back.

Three more State players have had to decline invitations to the North-South All-Star Game which is being played the same day as the Liberty Bowl. The three are Dave Houtz, Don Montgomery, and Bill Sullivan.

DECK THE HALLS

The time has come to think of Christmas shopping, for the Yuletide will be upon us quicker than you can say Jack Robinson. (Have you ever wondered, incidentally, about the origin of this interesting phrase "Quicker than you can say Jack Robinson"? Well sir, the original saying was French—"Plus vite que de dire Jacques Robespierre." Jack Robinson is, as everyone knows, an Anglicization of Jacques Robespierre who was, as everyone knows, the famous figure from the French Revolution who, as everyone knows, got murdered in his bath by Danton, Murat, Caligula, and Al Capone.

(The reason people started saying "Quicker than you can say Jacques Robespierre"—or Jack Robinson, as he is called in English-speaking countries like England, the U.S., and Cleveland—is quite an interesting little story. It seems that Robespierre's wife, Georges Sand, got word of the plot to murder her husband in his bath. All she had to do to save his life was call his name and warn him. But, alas, quicker than she could say Jacques Robespierre, she received a telegram from her old friend Frederic Chopin who was down in Majorca setting lyrics all she had to do was call his name to his immortal "Warsaw Concerto." Chopin said he needed Georges Sand's help desperately because he could not find a rhyme for "Warsaw." Naturally, Georges could not refuse such an urgent request.

(Well sir, off to Majorca went Georges, but before she left, she told her little daughter Walter that some bad men were coming to murder Daddy in his bath. She instructed Walter to shout Robespierre's name the moment the bad men arrived. But Walter, alas, had been sea-bathing that morning on the Riviera, and she had come home with a big bag of salt water taffy, and when the bad men arrived to murder Robespierre, Walter, alas, was chewing a wad of taffy and could not get her mouth unstuck in time to shout a warning. Robespierre, alas, was murdered quicker than you could say Jacques Robespierre—or Jack Robinson, as he is called in English-speaking countries.

(There is, I am pleased to report, one small note of cheer in this grisly tale. When Georges Sand got to Majorca, she did succeed in helping Chopin find a rhyme for "Warsaw" as everyone knows who has heard those haunting lyrics:

*In the fair town of Warsaw,
Which Napoleon's horse saw,
Singing cockles and mussels, alive alive o!*

But I digress.

We were speaking of Christmas gifts. What we all try to find at Christmas is, of course, unusual and distinctive gifts for our friends. May I suggest then a carton of Marlboro Cigarettes?

What? You are astonished? You had not thought of Marlboros as unusual? You had regarded them as familiar, reliable smokes whose excellence varied not one jot nor tittle from year to year?

True. All true. But all the same, Marlboros are unusual because every time you try one, it's like the first time. The flavor never palls, the filter never gets hackneyed, the soft pack is ever a new delight, and so is the Flip Top box. Each Marlboro is a fresh and pristine pleasure, and if you want all your friends to clap their hands and cry, "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus!" you will see that their stockings are filled with Marlboros on Christmas morn.
