Chain Letters May Violate Lottery Law

By Ernie McCrary
Chain letter sellers, beware. John Kanipe, assistant director of housing, says that the State Attorney General's office advises him that the current rash of chain letters on campus could be classified as a lottery, and as such are in violation of North Carolina lottery laws.

Further complications arise if the mail is used in connection with the letters. Kanipe indicates that is in violation of postal statutes and is a criminal offense.

"There are no University regulations against this sort of thing, but we caution students about the possible consequences of becoming involved in this type of thing," he said.

"I'm sure that these letters will be investigated by the proper authorities. A few years ago we had a similar situation where postal money orders were involved. The FBI made an investigation then."

Kanipe said he is not sure just how the letter started, but he has heard it came from Tulane and Duke.

The buyer of one of the letters pays $10 for it, then makes two copies which he sells for $10 apiece. With each copy, however, he must send a $5 check to the person whose name is at the head of a list on the original letter. His own name is put at the bottom of the list, the top name is marked off, and as the chain progresses his name will work its way to the top. Mathematically, he could receive a maximum of $320—if the chain is not broken.

200 Buy Liberty Tickets; Pack Special Has Only 35 Only Way To Travel

Miss. Sells 400 On Initial Day

Two hundred tickets.

That is the approximate number of Liberty Bowl tickets sold here as of yesterday morning, according to the ticket office. As far as The Technician has been able to determine, 35 reservations for the Wolfpack Special train have been made. There are at least 450 seats available on the train. Reports received here indicate that more than 400 tickets were sold in the first day of sales at Mississippi State.

The $39 round trip price includes hotel accommodations and transportation to the hotel, to the game, and back to the train.

The special train will make stops in Fayetteville, Selma, Wilson, and Rocky Mount at 8:30, 9:20, 9:40, and 10:00 respectively on the morning of December 20 to pick up passengers—if there are any.

There will also be a special jet flight from Raleigh-Durham Airport on December 21. The plane will leave at 8:25 a.m. and arrive in Philadelphia at 9:26 a.m. Cost of the round trip flight will be between $50 and $60, depending on the class of ticket bought. Call the Wolfpack Club at TE 4-2241 or Eastern Air Lines at TE 4-6211 for more information.

NSA Material Now Available To All Groups

All campus activities may soon be connected with NSA.

Material furnished by the National Student Association Information Service will be available "for any interested group," it was announced yesterday by Terry Lowder, NSA campus coordinator.

In making the announcement, Lowder stated that "The NSA committee of N. C. State has decided to expand its services to all recognized campus organizations in an effort to fulfill its obligations to the campus community and in particular to respond to needs of various groups for information."

Lowder described services available as including material on a loan basis from the Student Government Information Service or permanent copies of the information "for a nominal fee." This material can be used in organizing clubs, drafting constitutions, or planning seminars. Lowder also pointed out that his office can offer "direct contact with NSA committees and Student Governments throughout the Virginias-Carolinas Region and perhaps beyond."

Lowder stated that the letters are being sent out informing all clubs and organizations of the service. He added that any group interested in the service should contact him at the Student Government Office in the Erdahl-Cloyd Union between the hours of 1 and 5 p.m. Wednesdays.

Order 200,000 Bricks; Double Area Walks, Dairy Center Top PP List

Soft Bricks Replaced By New, Harder Ones

Charges $15,000 For Construction Work

By Jim Rea

The PP finds that bricks make cheaper walks than asphalt or concrete.

When the M&O first contemplated building brick walks about five years ago, it found the price per square yard was about $5 while the price of asphalt was $2.70 and concrete was $3. Because of this high price for brick, asphalt and concrete were used, but there was still a desire to have brick walks. Using its own labor the M&O decided to attempt making brick walks again. The price per square yard was reduced, but such problems as heaving due to frost and crumbling of the bricks occurred. As experience was gained and a harder type of brick was developed the brick walks became more permanent and numerous on State's campus.

Now brick walks are the least expensive of the three building materials, according to J. McCree Smith, head of the PP. Brick costs about $2.60 per square yard while asphalt and concrete are $2.80 and $3.25 respectively. Because of this relatively low price and because of the beauty of brick it is being used to replace concrete and asphalt as needed, but an extensive replacing with brick has not begun yet because the campus is undergoing a landscaping project which is due to begin in the next few years. Until then it would be useless to put brick walks where they might be taken out again.

During the summer the PP ordered 200,000 new bricks at the price of $1600. These bricks are not delivered to State until they are needed for repairing or replacing walks. They will last about a year, said Smith.

Most of the first experimental walks built by the M&O have to be replaced because the bricks are too soft, but these old bricks are not wasted. Smith said the old bricks are kept to be used in building manholes, retaining walls, and drains. This is the process which appears to the onlooker as a taking up and putting down of bricks in a slightly different place. Actually the old bricks are being replaced by new ones.

Oasis Banquet

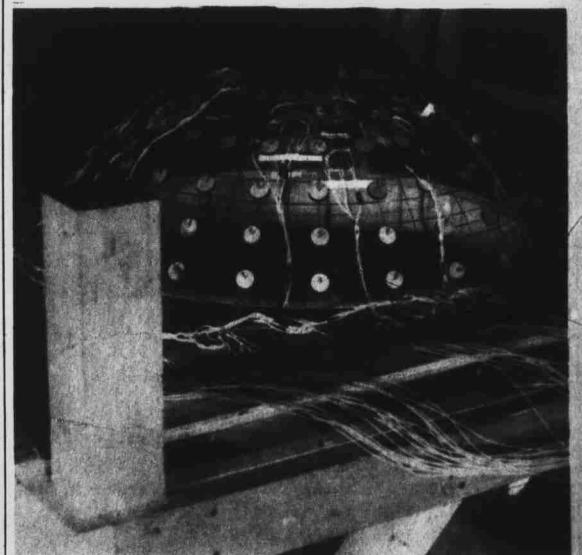

Meredith and Rex Hospital School students will join members of the Oasis Society of State's YMCA at a banquet this Friday night.

The banquet will be held in the Erdahl-Cloyd Union from 6:30 to 10:30 p.m.

On December 10 the PP started to work on doubling the area of the Dairy Records Processing Center in the Basement of Leazar Hall.

For $15,000 the PP is doing the general construction, plumbing, and electrical work on expanding the Center to twice its present size. The air conditioning will be done by a contractor for $8,000. The work which started Monday is scheduled to be finished in time for occupation of the new space by January 15.

The addition to the present space in the Center will make room for the vast volume of information kept by this office. Dairy men in eleven southern states and Puerto Rico belong to the Dairy Herd Improvement Association, and each cow owned by these men have two IBM cards containing information about them. In the near future the Dairy Records Processing Center plans to keep records of farmers' incomes and assist them in their accounting. As more farmers enter this proposed program the volume of records will be greatly increased.

Want to know all the mathematics of dome design? This special dome is being used by the Civil Engineering Department to mathematically express many of the design features and develop a design procedure for a dome with large windows.

According to Oktay Ural, Turkish graduate student, the solution of the research he is conducting may enable future football and baseball fields to be covered without hindering the growth of grass.

The discs on the dome are strain rosettes.

Everybody Talks About It...

In a brief talk with Sherrill Brinkley at the Alumni Office the other day, we stumbled on the fact that there around 23,000 names on the alumni mailing list.

And in work around this office during the year, the fact that there are currently 7,500 students enrolled here has constantly been noted.

That's a few people.

As a matter of fact, that's 30,500 people.

In tonight's paper there is a story stating that 200 tickets for the Liberty Bowl game have been sold thus far. Two hundred out of 30,500.

We realize that Philadelphia is quite a distance from here and we realize that probably a good number of people have irrevocable commitments for the holidays.

But by the same token, we realize that by far the majority of the students and alumni of State are not in the situations mentioned above. They just don't care.

They are willing to raise a cry heard far and wide that we need a stadium to hold 40,000 spectators.

They are willing to scream bloody murder that the Dixie Classic, as corrupt as it was, needs to be revived.

They are willing to play the part of that "fool who struts and frets his hours upon the stage" and blare to all the world that collegiate athletics are necessary to the proper development of the student.

And they are willing to stand in front of hundreds of people and say NCS is the best.

But when a football team works its collective heart out on the field for this proud and mighty institution and earns the right to go to a bowl game they manage to have something better to do.

We once said in this column that students who walk on grass have no pride. Hence, we expect State students to walk on the grass.

Now we will carry the statement a bit farther and say that we don't expect the students (or past students for that matter) to go to the bowl game or show school spirit. They go to State.

All mouth and no show.

But what perhaps hurts our pride most is the fact that the mass exodus of Tar Heels to the Gator Bowl is putting the lemmings and their yearly jaunt to the sea to shame.

Why aren't the fraternities taking advantage of this opportunity to send buses or caravans of cars to Philly?

Why aren't dorms arranging for blocks of seats in the Liberty Bowl?

Why isn't Student Government pushing the whole affairs?

This is an opportunity for action to speak louder than words.

This is an opportunity to give a team something to fight for.

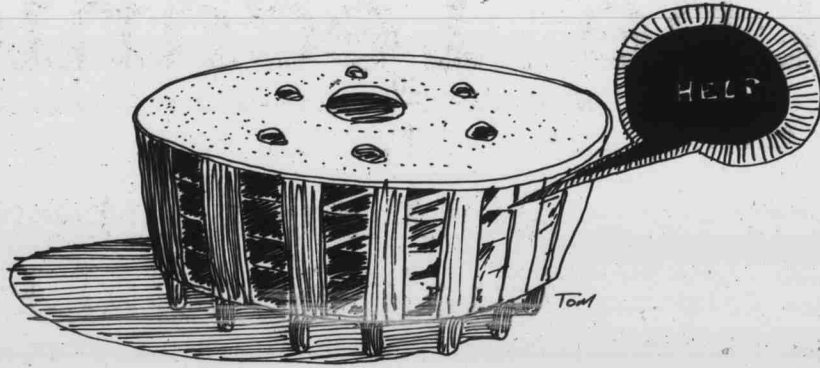

There are probably a hundred ways in which this opportunity could be utilized, but everybody seems to be in too big a hurry to get home for Christmas.

School spirit?

What's that?

Typical.

Action On NSA Might Be Taken By SG Tonight

Editors' note: With the feeling that the situation arising tomorrow night in Student Government is too complex to set down in the ordinary fashion, we are running an analysis written from the vantage point of the reporter. The information contained in the story was gathered through the writer's past experience and conversations with individuals intimately involved with the Legislature and NSA.

By Curtiss Moore

A two-month cease-fire on the question of the National Student Association will come to a close tonight as the Campus Welfare Committee delivers two resolutions to Student Government.

Two months ago James Smith (sr., Eng.) moved that NCS disaffiliate with NSA and in the process broke open what has been for the past two years a festering sore. He brought to a head the behind-the-scenes battles that had been taking place between students on both sides of the disaffiliation question. Smith's resolution was referred to the Campus Welfare Committee due to quick action of Dave Goddard (jr., PSAM), thus preventing the Legislature from taking an action of such significance with little or no thought.

After two months of research and deliberation, the committee is reporting out two bills, one of which is probably the best written of the year. The two-page report consists of four sections and numerous subsections which deal with the appointment of NSA committee members, the coordinator and delegates to the annual Congress in addition to defining the responsibilities of the committee. The third section of the bill sets down the procedure for disaffiliation with the national organization.

In all probability, the first and most lengthy of the two resolutions will either be tabled for further consideration by the individual senators or will be passed with minor changes. Many of the senators feel that the bill is too complex to be dealt with properly in one evening. In any case, when the question does come to a vote, the Legislature will probably approve it with little change, possibly with an amendment to the section on disaffiliation procedure.

Section 3 now allows State to break away from NSA either by a majority vote of the Student Legislature or through a campus referendum. However, a petition of 25% of the student body must be presented before a referendum can be called. Many of the senators feel that 25% is too high.

Even with much of the Legislature now willing to give NSA another chance under new rules, Dwight Minkler (so., PSAM) and Willard Preussel, both members of the Young Americans for Freedom, can be expected to stand firmly and loudly against NSA in any way, shape, or form.

Facing them on the other side of the fence will be Herb Goldston (SG Treasurer), Doug Lientz (jr. PSAM), Terry Lowder (NSA Coordinator) and Steve Johnston (jr. Eng.) Lynn Spruill, SG Vice-president can be expected to wield a heavy gavel in his job as presiding officer of the Legislature.

President John Bynum can be expected to play the role of "Silent Sam" and carefully say little publicly about the concepts involved in the resolution.

At any rate, the evening's session will be a lively one with the odds for differences being resolved by an eventual passage of the bill whether it is tabled tonight or not.

Flies in Becton earlier this year—now pigeons in Owen. The student who complains that dormitories aren't fit for animals to live in isn't going to have a leg to stand on.

If tickets to the Liberty Bowl were to be given away, they could probably get 200 more orders from State.

Help Wanted: Campus club wishes to hire lawyer to supervise placement of posters on campus.

At this date last year: Students Meet On UNCR In Nelson at 7 tonight.

Seen on campus: A student walking toward Hillsboro St. with a pair of skis under his arm. Optimist?

Slater foods announces that the problem of dirty silverware has been "licked". So that's how they get it clean now.

Frats Play St. Nick To Raleigh Orphans

THERE HE IS!

Each house entertained from 10-12 of the children in Christmas parties lasting from 7 till 9 p.m. The entertainment was interrupted as "Santa Claus" entered the house bearing personalized gifts. Following the exchange of gifts and refreshments, fraternity men and orphanage members spent the rest of the night caroling.

I'LL BET I KNOW...

And a confident boy tears open his gift... the one that's especially for him.

BLESSINGS ON THEE...

This "little man" tries to hold back a grin that's obviously going to be from ear to ear.

The Interfraternity Council purchased gifts for the children. The entertainment of these students has been a project of the IFC for a number of years, and the co-operation of the fraternities has aided in making the undertaking successful, according to IFC official Bob Stampley.

As one brother put it, "We all feel a little like Santa Claus."

Watauga Burns Down-In 1901

Many buildings on campus have unusual and interesting histories. Watauga dorm is one of them.

About 1893 construction began on a large dormitory, which was named for the Watauga Club, one of many forces leading to the establishing of this school. It was a large double-turreted building, providing dormitory space for fifty students in the front section, and a dining hall and kitchen in a one-story annex at the rear.

At midnight, on the weekend following Thanksgiving of 1901, Watauga was the scene of State's most destructive fire. It was completely destroyed along with the belongings of most of its residents. Miraculously, all of the sleeping occupants were aroused in time to save their lives.

Wide acclaim was given to the heroism and sacrifice of those who raced up and down the halls giving the alarm while their own possessions were going up in flames, and then manned the hose to prevent the spread of the flames to Holladay Hall and the Infirmary, toward which a brisk wind was blowing the fire. In heat so intense that an unprotected person could hardly bear it closer than Hills-

Freshman Laggers Host Baby Heels Friday Night

Coach Lou Pucillo's freshman team, averaging 6' 3 1/2" per player, will take on the baby Tar Heels of Carolina Friday night in an inter-school battle.

Carolina will bring two high school All-Americans into the game in 6' 3" Bob Lewis of Washington, D. C. and 6' 4" Ian Morrison of St. Petersburg, Fla. The Heels have a 2-1 record, having lost to Clemson.

The contest will begin at 8:00 p.m. and will be played in Carmichael Gym. There will be no charge for the game.

The Wolflets will be led by 6' guard Eddie Biedenback of Pittsburg, averaging 20.7 points per contest; 6' 11" center Paul Hudson of Reidsville, averaging 11.7 points and 11.3 rebounds per game; and 6' 7" forward Jerry Moore of Moline, Ill., averaging 11.3 points and 14.3 rebounds per game. The other two probable starters are forward John Sellers of Lilesville and guard Merv Gutshall of Elkins, W. Va.

The Pack also brings a 2-1 record into the contest, having defeated Norfolk Navy, 83-50, and Edwards Military Institute, 103-74. The one loss was to the baby Deacons, 56-54.

Prior to the varsity game with Mercer Saturday night, the freshmen will play Seymour Johnson Air Force Base, beginning at 6:15.

Wolfpack Drills For Bowl Tilt

After closing its most successful season in many years, the Wolfpack football team begin work on its second 1963 season this week.

This "second" season will consist of only one game to be played December 21, against Mississippi State in the annual Liberty Bowl in Philadelphia.

Drills began Tuesday with the team in better shape than it was before the Wake Forest game. Halfbacks Mike Clark and Tony Koszarsky were reported in top shape after ending the season with injuries. Koszarsky missed the Wake game while Clark, heavily taped, scored one touchdown and led the Pack with 133 yards rushing.

As in regular practices, the reserve unit ran Mississippi State plays to give the regulars a glimpse of its future opponent. Quarterback Jim Rossi did most of the throwing as the squad worked on passing.

Winter Sports Schedule

The following is a schedule of the winter sports for the State varsity teams and the freshman basketball team.

Home swimming meets will be at 3:00 p.m., Freshman basketball games will begin at 6:15 p.m. except for the Carolina game which will be at 8:00 p.m. Wrestling matches will be at 4:00 p.m. and varsity basketball games will begin at 8:15 p.m.

Pack Meets Mercer In Last Home Tilt

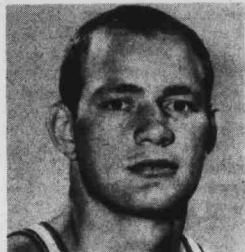

State's varsity will put its undefeated home record on the line against Mercer Saturday night in the last home game before the holiday break.

Mercer becomes the 86th team to play a Case coached squad in this, the first meeting between the basketball teams of the two schools.

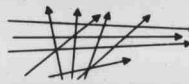

The Mercer squad broke even last season with a 12-12 record. The two top returning lettermen are James Hearn, who averaged 13.5 points per game last year, and Bob Reeves, who held a 13.0 average.

State is expected to go with the starters in its last three games—Pete Auksel and Ray Hodgson at forwards, Billy Moffit and Tommy Matlocks at guard and Larry Lakins, center. Others expected to see action are forward Hal Blondeau and guard Les Robinson.

Lettermen Larry Lakins (left) and Pete Auksel lead State's sophomore packed squad in four games with 132 points; Lakins is averaging 18.2 and Auksel, 14.7.

EXCITING THINGS HAPPEN AT FORD MOTOR COMPANY!

THE 100,000-MILE ENGINEERING TEST THAT SET OVER 100 NEW WORLD RECORDS

It began September 21 in Florida, when a team of four 1964 Comets, specially equipped and prepared for high-speed driving, set out to do the equivalent of four earth orbits at Daytona International Speedway—100,000 miles at speeds well over 100 miles an hour, round the clock for 40 days, through weather fair and foul.

They did it, all four of them, and they made history! They did it in the full glare of publicity. In semi-tropical heat. In the teeth of torrential squalls that fringed two hurricanes. Including time out for refueling and maintenance, the lead car averaged over 108 miles an hour, topping over 100 national and world records!*

For all practical purposes this was an engineering trial—the most grueling test of staying power and durability ever demanded of a new car. Only near perfection could stand the punishment dished out to parts and components hour after hour, mile after mile. Brakes, engines, transmissions, ignition systems—every single part a pawn in a grim game of truth or consequence, with total product quality the stake. And they all came through hands down!

Now that it's over and in the record books, what does it mean? New proof of Ford-built stamina and durability! New evidence that Ford-built means better built! Yes—and more, it is a direct reflection of the confidence and creative know-how, the spirit and spunk of Ford Motor Company's engineering, styling and manufacturing team—men who find rewarding adventure in technical breakthroughs.

More proof of the exciting things that happen at Ford Motor Company to bring brighter ideas and better-built cars to the American Road.

Watauga Burns In 1901 - Many Students Sent Home

boro Street, the students doused themselves with water from the hose and kept the adjacent buildings wetted down. The campus water supply, a full half-mile from the city limits, proved adequate for the emergency, during which the town's horse-drawn fire engine and the local firemen could do little more than stand by.

Within less than a week after the destruction of the dormitory, the trustees and administration were authorized to borrow $20,000 from state funds to be added to the $6,000 insurance on Watauga, and thus not only to rebuild the dormitory itself, but also to construct a separate building for kitchen and dining facilities. The fact that the fire had originated in the Kitchen of Watauga brought disquieting implications.

Many of the students had to return to their homes for lack of living quarters. For others, emergency dining space was arranged in the basement, north end of Holladay Hall, from which a few pieces of textile equipment were quickly removed to the partially completed Tompkins Hall.

Old Watauga's brick walls, at first thought to be usable, were found to be beyond repair and they were knocked down.

Much of the original foundation was retained, however. A few weeks behind in schedule came Pullen Hall, with its basement containing a large dining area, its first floor a spacious library, and its top floor an auditorium able to seat the entire staff and student body.

NoDoz TABLETS

THE SAFE WAY to stay alert without harmful stimulants

NoDoz keeps you mentally alert with the same safe re-fresher found in coffee and tea. Yet NoDoz is faster, handier, more reliable. Absolutely not habit-forming.

Next time monotony makes you feel drowsy while driving, working or studying, do as millions do... perk up with safe, effective NoDoz tablets.

Another fine product of Grove Laboratories.
