Spruill Will Run For SSL Office

State Student Government Vice President Lynn Spruill will be a candidate for Speaker of the House at the State Student Legislature which convened this afternoon in the State Capitol.

John Carr, chairman of the State contingency, announced last night that the State delegation will support Spruill's bid for one of the two top posts in the legislative session.

"Spruill has more than adequate experience and skill in the legislative process, and we are confident of his success in the balloting for Speaker of the House," Carr declared.

According to Carr, State will have 13 delegates on the floor of the model general assembly throughout the weekend. State is allowed two senators and eleven representatives, making it one of the larger delegations.

The State senators and representatives will be rotated throughout the sessions, according to Carr, and will be chosen from the following students:

John Bynum, Lynn Spruill, Herb Goldston, Glenn Chappell, Curtiss Moore, Bill Howie, Beckton James.

Steve Johnston, Fred Millhiser, Hoyt Lowder, Rudy Partin, Chip Andrews, Rocky Thompson, Jack Watson.

Walter Richardson, Bob Thomas, Bryan Boulier, Celia Parsons, Martha McLaughlin, and Jeff Schneider, head page.

The State delegation will introduce a bill at the Friday morning session which would require an amendment to the state constitution to the effect that all candidates for county coroner must be qualified licensed physicians.

The delegation was briefed on the subject Tuesday night by James Harper, a specialist in medico-legal affairs at the Institute of Government at Chapel Hill.

Covington Blasts IFC

By Charles Wood

"There has been a serious breakdown in the Interfraternity Council here at State."

Tom Covington, the Student Activities fraternity director, made this statement last night in a speech to the bi-monthly IFC meeting. Covington urged the IFC to take definite action to combat the currently growing apathy of fraternity men toward the IFC. He pointed out that the chief criticism of fraternities is that fraternities have not changed to meet the growing need of the students.

"Fraternities reached an all-time low in scholarship this past semester. This was especially true for the pledges. There is a most definite need for a change in pledge training scholarship-wise," Covington continued.

In conclusion he noted that there are two roads that can be traveled—one of mediocrity and the other a road of change, a course that can best effect and promote the goals of fraternities and North Carolina State.

Fraternities Now Have Housemothers

By Charles Wood

"I wanted to get back to the job of raising a large family," said Mrs. Adele Ciani, housemother for Sigma Pi Fraternity. She is one of 17 housemothers now working with State fraternities.

A Technician reporter asked her why she, and others like her, took a job of managing 60 college boys.

"Like Mrs. Ciani, I find it very interesting and satisfying," added Mrs. Jane Lathrop, housemother for Sigma Chi. "Most of the housemothers are widows and need the companionship and receive a lot of joy out of seeing college boys grow up," she added.

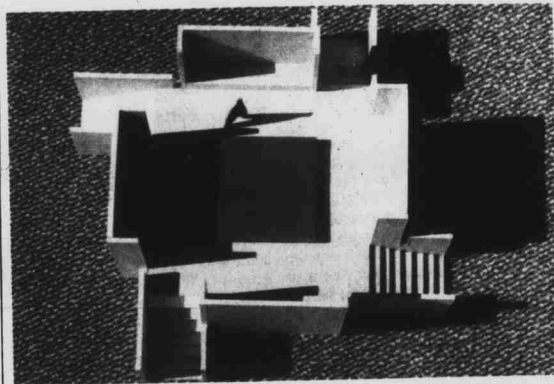

Mrs. Manila McNally, housemother for Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity, is the only one of the three interviewed who has done this type of work before. Mrs. McNally has been the housemother for Chi Phi Fraternity at Penn State for a number of years. Mrs. Ciani worked at Barry College For Girls in Miami, Florida, before she came to State, while Mrs. Lathrop, never having been in college work before, knew the Sigma Chis well because her son, Roy, was a Sigma Chi at State.

CONTROVERSIAL KIOSK

Chaos Has Struck Proposed Project

By Phil Gietzen

A chaos of controversy has struck the proposed information kiosk.

In a poll taken among the senior class students of the School of Design, opposition to the kiosk runs high. Although many of the students refused to comment for The Technician, several of the senior class designers expressed opinions.

Bill Brogden, fourth-year student, said, "If the idea is to get people to read bulletins and newspapers or whatever, I don't see how this is helped by putting the kiosk four feet off the ground and behind walls. In my opinion it's too pretentious for a news stand.

Gabe Krayn said, "I don't think about it. It would be nice in the rain, wouldn't it?"

David Carter, senior class designer, said, "Why would you want to go in? Where does it go? They should let a sculptor do it."

Sparky Thompson said, "Give the job to a sculptor. The present solution is not consistent with anything here now."

Ed Williams, fourth year student, said, "Why does everybody criticize the kiosk? I don't think anybody could do a better job than Earl Long. I think that criticism is good but not for its own sake."

Designer of the kiosk, Earl Long of the fifth-year class, was chosen by Dean Henry Kamp-hoefner because Long had the highest scholastic average in the fifth-year class. Long defended his solution by saying, "When I took the job I knew that there would be much criticism. I believe that it is healthy to voice critical opinion. My solution is an attempt to centralize the important information in a promi-

APO Seminar

The North Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia chapters of Alpha Phi Omega will be holding a seminar at the Erdahl-Cloyd Union Saturday.

The topics for discussion will be pledging and service projects. One of the speakers will be H. Roe Bartle, a former mayor of Kansas City and a former national president of APO.

Glee Clubs To Perform

State's three glee clubs have a busy schedule ahead.

Glee club number one, the N. C. State Varsity Men's Glee Club, begins Monday its annual concert tour through North Carolina.

The club will perform in Hillsboro, Monday; in Boone and Greensboro, Tuesday; Durham and Greensboro, Wednesday; and here in the Coliseum March 9.

The two other glee clubs, the Collegiate Men's Glee Club and the Women's Chorus of State, will feature, on Monday, at 8 p.m. selections from "Oklahoma." The performance, to be held in the Union, is the first joint concert of these two groups.

Under the directorship of Donald Adecock for the Women's Chorus and Milton Bliss for the Collegiate Glee Club, the groups will sing semi-popular and folk songs.

Running Election Is Busy Job

By Cora Kemp

Is it possible for a student to manage the entire campus elections and still find time to campaign for himself?

Jim Ferguson, chairman of the Student Government Elections Committee and candidate for senior Engineering senator and NSA delegate, is attempting to do just that.

"I simply want to get it over with without flunking out of school," he remarked good-naturedly.

With campaigning now in full swing, Ferguson is literally up to his neck in work. He is having 33 different ballots printed up at the Print Shop in quantities ranging from 7,500 for Student Government executives to 75 for professional Design School senators.

Student Government has given permission to two organizations to conduct a poll during elections, bringing the total number of ballots to 35. One of the special ballots is being sponsored by the Senior Class to determine whether succeeding senior classes want to pay for a kiosk, the proposed senior class gift for the next four years.

John Livingston, a political science enthusiast, is behind the other special ballot. He wants to find out each student's political preference.

The polls are another problem Ferguson must attend to. The ten booths will be manned by members of the Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity.

"I plan to finish lining up the schedules by tonight," Ferguson said hopefully. Some of the APO brothers will work all day at the polls; others will work in shifts. Ferguson's job is to be sure there is someone there at all times.

Ferguson, who is currently a junior Engineering senator in Student Government, believes elections are running exceptionally well this spring, but he has his own ideas about how they should be handled in the future.

The mechanical engineering major said he would like to have the Elections Committee separate from Student Government.

An independent board could be set up by the legislature or student body president to handle the elections procedures, he explained. The board should consist of students not involved in the legislature, he continued.

The committee is currently made up of SG senators, and for members like himself who are candidates, this only complicates matters at election time, Ferguson said.

He also wants to make some clarifications in the Student Government Constitution, particularly where the Elections Committee is concerned.

He said UNC at Chapel Hill has an election system similar to the one he is proposing.

16 Pledge Alpha Zeta

Bib overalls, a straw hat, and a red bandana are the symbols of the small farmer upon which the American economy was built.

The American farmer is what Alpha Zeta pledges are symbolic of. This week 16 upperclassmen from the Schools of Agriculture and Forestry are pledging one of State's oldest academic honorary leadership fraternities.

During this week these pledges, selected on academic and leadership qualifications, will wear the traditional farmer's garb on three days, meet the AZ alumni on campus, and learn more about the fraternities.

The following students are pledges this semester.

Fred Barkley, A. B. Blanton, Tom Ferrari, James Hunt, Fernan Irby, Tian Ben Lee, John Charles Lee, John Lilly, Calvin Newton.

Thomas Orr, Donald Parker, Michel Reed, Thomas Stroup, Marmion Thompson, Thomas Young, Roy Young.

Chancellors Gets $3,000 Pay Boost

The chancellors and president of the University have more to look forward to on pay day now.

Governor Sanford has given yearly increases of $3,000 to State chancellor John Caldwell, Chapel Hill chancellor William Aycock, and Greensboro chancellor Otis Singletary, bringing their annual salaries to $23,000.

President William Friday will receive $1,500 more a year, for a total of $24,000.

According to Sanford, the pay hikes are necessary to keep administration salaries on a level with those of similar positions at other institutions.

The funds for the raises will come from a special appropriation made to the governor to be used at his discretion by the Advisory Budget Committee.

Money Well Spent

The announcement of Chancellor Caldwell's salary raise of $3,000, to a total of $23,000 annually, probably raised quite a few eyebrows around the campus.

Many students will question the payment of a salary only $2,000 shy of that of the Governor himself to Consolidated University chancellors.

Such a doubt might be expected from a large student body as alienated from the administration as ours is, and of practical necessity, must be. For the great majority of this University's students who are not fortunate, yes, fortunate, enough to work closely with the administration in general, and Dr. Caldwell in particular, the justification of such a salary may be difficult to effect.

Few students fully realize the amount of work and responsibility which is the chancellor's, simply because they so seldom have the opportunity to witness it directly.

Too frequently do the daily student, faculty, and community pressures, myriad speaking engagements in locales near and far, executive planning and administrative duties, legislative strategy sessions, and general responsibilities associated with keeping a large university growing and successfully competing for top educators become lost from the student view of the chancellor.

Wednesday's Raleigh Times editorial page carried the comment that in most states, top educators are paid larger salaries than the Governor receives. The Times concludes that this is the way it should be in North Carolina also.

This column would agree with the Raleigh paper and predict the advent of the day when North Carolina will realize that a good university chancellor is worth his weight in new highway patrol cars.

Is Duke In Danger?

On Friday of this week Victor P. Karpov, first secretary of the Russian Embassy in Washington, will speak on the campus of Duke University. Such an official representative of Russian Communism could not speak on any campus of the Consolidated University. Neither, of course, could a real conference on "Soviet Impact on International Law" as that at which he will speak be held without such a speaker.

Without the protection of the gag law students at Duke will probably come safely through the experience of hearing Mr. Karpov. The American point of view on this question will be presented by such a non-Communist as Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges. Other experts on various aspects of Russian life will speak.

Obviously this is an important question in our world today. But under the gag law such a question could not even be legally considered by law students on the campus at Chapel Hill if the consideration included presentation of the Soviet side by a Soviet supporter. Thanks to this silly law they live and study behind an iron curtain imposed against the intelligent consideration of serious questions in our troubled world.

Letters To The Editors

Fees, Radio Justified

To the Editors:

I can quite easily disagree with Mr. Graham's idea on student athletic fees (expressed in The Technician, February 20). I feel, as does Mr. Bryant, that a student should be required to pay for the right to witness an athletic contest on this campus. After all, the money goes to the upkeep of a splendid team and facilities (with the exception of our dilapidated stadium).

I also feel that once the student has paid his fee at registration that he has the right to see the game in question which he desires to see. The box office regulates student seating by a reserved seat system at certain games. This leads to complications in procuring tickets. If a student is unable to get to the box office to pick up his reserved seat ticket by a certain time, he may find himself out of luck. This is unjust because it deprives him of a right which he paid for at the first of the semester.

A similar thing happened to me before the game with our esteemed brothers from the north on Saturday night. I felt, and still feel, that I was unjustly deprived of my rights as a student. Fortunately, all was not lost due to a friend from the better half of our University. I still feel that many students may have been unjustifiably denied rights.

"Listen Party" Is Scheduled At Meredith Saturday

A LISTEN party will be held in the Meredith Hut Saturday at 8 p.m.

According to Maurice C. Todd, BSU publicity director, the BSUs of Meredith and State have planned a "casual atmosphere" with students from State and Meredith attending.

Todd pointed out that the February 29 is Leap Year Day and the party will attempt to preserve a "leap-year" atmosphere. He suggested they wear Dogpatch-style costumes to qualify them for the Sadie-Hawkins mixing game.

The charge will be three dollars per couple and one dollar and a half stag, Todd said.

Ag School Juniors Win Scholarships

Two juniors from the School of Agriculture have been selected to receive scholarships this semester.

Henry Calvin Newton, who is in Plant Protection, was chosen for a Peele Scholarship on the basis of activity in extra-curricular activities in addition to academic qualifications.

Speight Seed farm of Winerville awarded William Joseph Allen, a student in Ag Engineering, a scholarship, also.

To the Editors:

As you know, WKNC is at present conducting a "Treasure Hunt" to build our listening audience. We also wish to build our staff. We have openings for announcers, salesmen, and engineers. WKNC is an extra-curricular activity, operating at no cost to the school, being entirely supported by student fees and advertising. We operate as a "Restricted Radiation Device" as covered by the FCC rules. No licenses or certificates are required to operate WKNC as an engineer or announcer.

There are many goals one can achieve by working at WKNC. Many of our former staff members have used the experience gained at WKNC to obtain jobs during the summer, and, on a strictly personal basis, I have paid for several semesters of school with part-time jobs gained through my announcing experience at WKNC. There are other assets to being a member of the WKNC staff . . . the enjoyment of fine music . . . the feeling of completion when you create a well knit, concrete program or cover a fast breaking news story . . . or, if you get a kick out of making money, WKNC pays a 15 per cent commission on all advertising sold by staff members. (Several of our former staff members have rather lucrative sales positions in industry gained as a result of sales experience at WKNC.)

I would like to invite all people who feel that they are above average in music appreciation, vocal ability, engineering skill, or sales ability to come to the WKNC studios any afternoon next week. I say above average, because we feel that all of our staff members are just a little better than the average run of student . . . after all, look at the fine organization they work for . . . people of such discriminating taste must be above average.

To all interested students, I extend an invitation to join the WKNC staff and become one of the students who care about N. C. State enough to advance creative projects on campus.

Remember, it pays to listen to WKNC, "Modern Radio for the Thinking Student."

Goldwater Attracts 100

Over 100 State students have picked up tickets to the Goldwater speech in Greensboro, according to Willard Preussell, vice chairman of the state-wide YAF.

The local YAF chapter is sponsoring a Goldwater CARAVAN which is scheduled to leave the west parking lot (toward the Student Supply Store) of the Coliseum at 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

Tickets to the Goldwater speech are almost gone, Preussell said. The free tickets are given out at the Erdahl-Cloyd Union main desk, 25 Becton, and 310 Mann.

Other entertainment at the Goldwater gathering includes Mamie Van Doren, a singing group, and three bands, Preussell commented.

Election Posters Might Get Axed

Woe unto ye clubs that put up posters in unauthorized places.

Thus Jim Miller, chairman of the SG Promotions Committee, made his warning. If posters continue to pop up in places other than authorized bulletin boards, Miller said, the Promotions Committee will ask PP to tear them down. He emphasized that a standing agreement existed among the SG, PP, and administration in the placement of posters, that is, no posters except on bulletin boards—except for election campaigns.

Tau Beta Pi Elects Heads

Tau Beta Pi, national engineering honorary fraternity, elected officers for the coming year Tuesday night.

They are president, Bob Downing; vice president, Richard Avent; recording secretary, Richard Gentry; corresponding secretary, Steve Johnston; cataloguer, Maurice Todd.

Election to Tau Beta Pi is one of the highest possible honors an engineering student can receive.

Concert Tonight

The Friends of the College will present the Houston Symphony tonight at the Coliseum.

The concert will begin at 8 p.m. It is open free to students and their dates.

Sir John Barbirolli will conduct the symphony and Leonard Rose will be featured as guest soloist.

23 Candidates Chosen For Alumni Athletic Trophy

Twenty-two candidates for the Alumni Athletic Trophy will appear on the spring general elections ballot.

Nominated for the Alumni Association award to the outstanding senior athlete are nine of State's 1963-64 ACC Co-champion football team. Five more athletes come from this year's soccer team, two each from the wrestling, swimming and track squads, while golf and basketball each placed one on the list.

To be eligible for the nomination each player must be a senior with 97 semester hours of credit and at least a 2.0 average overall.

The list was compiled by the athletic department at the request of H. W. "Pop" Taylor, director of alumni affairs, ac-ording to Roy Clogston, State athletic director. The winning player will be decided by popular vote of the student body.

The trophy will be awarded to the winning senior by the Alumni later this semester during the Alumni Day festivities.

Final Games Next Week In Intramural Cage Tournaments

After this week's action in the fraternity and dormitory intramural basketball tournament, only the championship games remain to be played. The four final games will be in the overall championship and consolation championship in each league.

Kappa Alpha and Phi Kappa Tau will be fighting it out for the fraternity championship while Sigma Phi Epsilon and Theta Chi will meet for the consolation crown.

The KA's reached the finals by defeating Sigma Alpha Epsilon in the quarter finals while PKT was topping Phi Kappa Phi. In Tuesday night's semi-final round, KA edged Sigma Nu, 47-46. Thompson paced the winners with 15 markers while Brackett added 14. Huntsman and Hendricks netted 13 each for the losers.

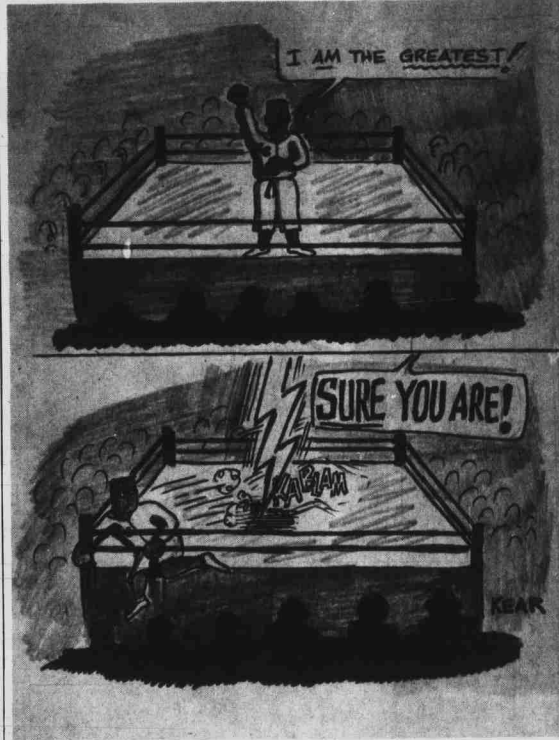

In the consolation tournament, Theta Chi and Sigma Phi Epsilon won over Lambda Chi Alpha and Tau Kappa Epsilon to reach the semi-final round.

Tuesday night in semi-final action, Theta Chi edged Pi Kappa Alpha, 38-33, for its finals berth. Donaldson led the victors with 11 points while Swain and Davis each added nine. Prescott with 12 and Wilson with 10 paced PKA. Sigma Phi Epsilon reached the finals by racing past Alpha Gamma Rho in the closing minutes, 37-30. Logue paced the winners with 10 points while Faircloth had 10 for AGR.

In the dormitory tournaments, Turlington and Bragaw North #2 will meet for the over-all championship while Owen #1 and Berry clash for the consolation crown.

Turlington won victories over Syme and Alexander while Bragaw North #2 defeated Bragaw South #2 and Owen #2 for the two final berths. Berry won opening round victories over Bragaw South #1 and Bagwell as Owen #1 topped Tucker #2 and Tucker #1 for a chance at the consolation championship.

This will be a familiar scene in Carmichael Gymnasium next week with final games in the dormitory and fraternity leagues as action continues in the Open league and Wildcard league.

Pack Visits Wake In Season's Final

State's fighting five will take an 8-9 overall record to Winston-Salem Saturday in hopes of making things even when tournament time rolls around.

The field of battle will be Wake's Memorial Coliseum, site of the biggest ACC upset in many moons. This being Duke's first loss in 29 conference contests. The Deacons will be out to avenge a loss to the Wolfpack in Raleigh by a 53-56 overtime score.

Coach Everett Case will probably start Pete Auksel, Larry Worsley, Ray Hodgson, Tommy Mattocks, and Billy Moffitt. Wake probables are Frank Christie, Butch Hassell, Richard Carmichael, Brad Brooks, and Ronnie Watts.

Prior to the varsity clash, the freshman teams of the two schools will play their last games of the season.

With exactly one week remaining in regular season competition, six ACC games remain to be played. These games could decide all but one place in the standings. Duke is assured of first place while Wake can only be sure of a tie for second, all other teams could move one place in either direction.

In out-of-conference action, the eight ACC teams have broken even with 36 wins in 72 games. Only Duke, 7-3; Carolina, 5-3; and State, 4-0; have bettered their record outside the conference, Wake is 5-5 out of conference.

SAM and SPE Undefeated In Intramural Handball Play-Offs

Sigma Phi Epsilon and Sigma Alpha Mu won semi-final round victories Wednesday night to gain the two finalist positions in the winner's bracket of intramural handball action.

The Sig Eps won in both singles matches to take a 2-1 victory over Tau Kappa Epsilon. The SAM team, last year's fraternity champions, won victories in the first singles match and the doubles match to win 2-1 over Theta Chi.

In next week's action, the two winning teams will meet for the winner's bracket championship. The last time the two teams met was in the finals last year.

Four games were played in the loser's bracket action, with Pi Kappa Alpha winning by forfeit over Kappa Sigma and Phi Kappa Tau, Sigma Nu, and Lambda Chi Alpha winning by 2-1 margins over Kappa Alpha, Sigma Pi, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Action in the dormitory league saw Owen #2 defeat Bragaw South #1 for the fourth position in the semi-final round of the winner's bracket. Tucker

#1, Becton, and Bragaw North #2 reached the semi-finals by downing Berry, Watauga, and Alexander in action last week. Next week, Tucker #1 meets Becton and Owen #2 plays Bragaw North #2 for the chance to meet in the championship round of the winner's bracket.

Band To Give Concert

The N. C. State Symphonic Band will present a concert Monday at 8 p.m. on the Erdahl-Cloyd Union terrace.

The program will be a presentation of the concert tour repertoire which the group is taking to the eastern half of North Carolina starting the day after the concert.

Featured in the concert will be the Glier "Horn Concerto" and another selection which will feature three of the band's virtuoso trumpeters with band accompaniment. The highlight of the evening will be "Symphony No. 5" by Shostakovich. Additional selections are "Allerselen," the "Valdres Overture," "Golden Cockerel," and others.

Following the tour, the band will record a select group of the musical selections which will be available on two high-quality disks for five dollars to those who place an order now in the Music Departmental office in Pullen Hall.

Election Head

"I think graduate SG senators should also be elected in the spring," Ferguson added. All graduate positions are currently voted on during the freshmen elections held each fall.

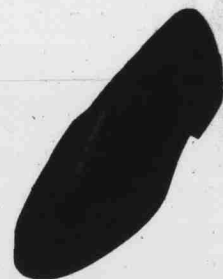

In regard to the election of the National Student Association delegates, Ferguson thinks the present method of selecting them by campus votes is satisfactory. The positions have been appointed by the SG president in the past.

Ferguson will be running helter-skelter for at least three more weeks. The primary elections are scheduled for March 12 with the run-offs a week later.

But a top job on the Elections Committee doesn't guarantee a candidate any special privileges.

Ferguson is number 10 on the ballot for Engineering senator. He has 13 opponents.

BETWEEN

AND THE DEEP SEA

THERE'S A WIDE RANGE OF OPPORTUNITY
IN THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES

To outer space and into the deep sea, we take the sum total of our scientific and managerial knowledge. A case in point is Telstar, which represents the first step toward a worldwide communications system. Another example, the new deep-sea amplifier that simultaneously transmits two-way messages. Both communications triumphs stem from Bell System planning, research and development.

Such trailblazing projects command the best of managerial and scientific talent. That's why you'll find, throughout the Bell System, men with college training as diverse as the responsibilities they shoulder. Their backgrounds run the gamut from liberal arts and business courses to science or specialized engineering majors.

Admittedly, the work is demanding. It requires that unusual caliber of man who finds a greater satisfaction in challenge than in ready solution . . . who is eager to see his education yield dividends . . . who wants an immediate opportunity for leadership.

Men with this kind of impatience will discover the stimulation, welcome and rewards they seek in the telephone business.
