Goldston And Shanker Make Election Promises

HERB GOLDSTON

Plans to have Student Government dedicate its efforts toward aiding N. C. State in attaining the ranks of a "true" university highlights the platform of SG presidential candidate Herb Goldston.

In order for State to reach these heights, Goldston wants Student Government to organize a Permanent Curriculum and Course Evaluation Program to examine courses being taught and those needed to be taught.

Goldston, who is currently SG treasurer, wants to set up seminars of discussions in the various schools so that students in the process of selecting their majors can learn more about the different curriculums.

He said Student Government should take "firm stands on controversial issues that affect the students and the institution."

Another plank in Goldston's platform is for the SG to aid and assist in initiating cultural programs, debate societies, and speakers.

He also suggests that reorganization of the SG legislature be reorganized on the basis of housing rather than schools.

In addition, Goldston wants to create a Campus Communications Board composed of representatives from a diversity of organizations "to compare ideas, avoid duplication and misunderstanding and to insure the overall effectiveness of each organization."

The presidential hopeful is a rising senior in applied math with a 3.8 average. He is running against Steve Johnston, John Atkins, and Joe Peoples.

MARK SHANKER

Mark Shanker, who is campaigning for treasurer of Student Government, intends to put the students' fund "to more effective use."

"I believe that a revision of present budget making procedures is vitally needed," Shanker said in his platform.

He suggests altering the long range commitments placed on the treasury.

"As is too often the case, our student body never quite reaps any direct benefits from the Student Government budget. It is my belief that the funds in the treasury should be used for activities or projects that benefit our student body as a collective whole," Shanker said.

NCS Delegates Get Best Bill As SSL Condemns Gag Law

By Allen Lennon

The State Student Legislature meeting last weekend in the Capitol considered fourteen bills and passed seven of them, including measures to repeal the speaker ban law, and affirm the rights of faculty members as citizens in the total community.

The State delegation, led, by John Carr, received the Best Bill Award for its presentation of a bill to require that all candidates for coroner be licensed physicians. The bill passed both houses unamended.

The bill to repeal the gag law was introduced at the opening joint session of the model General Assembly and was passed unanimously.

The bill concerning the rights of faculty members was passed at the final joint session under a suspension of the rules and drew only one negative vote. The measure was prompted by news that members of the General Assembly were engaged in trying to have a State faculty member fired, supposedly because of his activities in the civil rights field.

A bill to ban the flying of the Confederate flag from public buildings was slated but did not receive consideration under suspension of the rules.

Other bills which received the approval of both houses included a bill which contained a public accommodations clause to protect civil rights in North Carolina, a bill to provide for popular election of members of county boards of education, a bill providing state income tax exemptions for expenditures for rooms and tuition at approved institutions of higher education, and a resolution asking for permission for the State Student Legislature to meet in the new State House in the future.

The SSL was denied use of the new facility this year as a result of a negative vote of the State House committee.

Elections

Mike Lawler, student body president at UNC at Chapel Hill, was elected Speaker of the House for the session. He was opposed by Lynn Spruill of State, who was named Speaker Pro Tempore. Bob Eyerman of East Carolina served as President of the Senate. Ron Bowers of State served as sergeant-at-arms.

Officers for next year's SSL were elected at the closing session. Bob Spearman of UNCCH was named president, Bill Persley (Duke) vice president, Jane Sutton (Wake Forest) recording secretary, and Mary King (UNCCH) corresponding secretary.

Awards

In addition to the best bill award, which was won by the State delegation, awards were given for best speakers in the House and Senate. George Archibald of Chowan won the House award, while Charles Winberry of Wake Forest copped the Senate prize.

Mattox Wants New Survey To Rectify "Kiosk Chaos"

If there are 100 design students, then there are 102 different opinions about everything.

Art Mattox, vice-president of the senior class said last night that he would like to have the opinion of someone whose reputation is already established regarding the proposed information kiosk to be placed between Harrelson Hall and the Erdahl-Cloyd Union.

Foundations Head Takes Over Post Recently Vacated

Robert Shoffner officially took over his duties as the new director of Foundations and Development here today.

Shoffner succeeds L. L. Ray who headed the multi-million dollar fund raising and development activities for 14 years.

He was assistant to the dean of the School of Agriculture and Life Sciences prior to taking his new post. He is a veteran of more than 30 years in ag extension and fund raising work here. He was graduated from State in 1929.

The Foundations and Development Program, now in its twenty-first year, raised a record-breaking $1,226,902.15 from private sources in 1963.

Mattox mentioned Richard Bell, landscape architect; McCree Smith, director of the State Physical Plant; and dean of the School of Design, Henry L. Kamphoefner, as possible personalities whose opinions would have merit.

Mattox said that he was disturbed by the headline in The Technician February 27, which read "Chaos Has Struck Proposed Project." He said that there may be some disagreement in the School of Design and that he would like to hear from other students on campus regarding the project.

Mattox said, "This is a project of the senior class officers. We thought that we would do something on a larger scale than what has been done in the past. We put one hell of a lot of work into this and I would hate to see it go down the drain because of five or six design students."

Senior-Graduation

All students receiving degrees at the end of the spring semester, May 30, are reminded that orders for graduation announcements must be turned into the Students Supply Store immediately. Deadline for accepting orders is March 4. This deadline is necessary to insure delivery of the announcements on May 1st.

The final decision will come from a vote by the student body March 12 on the project. Mattox added he would like to have a better cross section of opinion from students although students of the School of Design are well qualified to offer architectural opinions. He stated he would like to hear some comment on the project itself rather than just criticism of the architectural merit.

State Student Body President Appointed To Assist Preyer

State Student body president John Bynum has been appointed state co-chairman of the "Students for Preyer" campaign.

Part of the campaign will be to inform students of their eligibility to vote in the November election even if they are not old enough to vote in the primary. Bynum will serve the "Students for Preyer campaign" along with Charles Shaffer of UNCCH and Kitty Bernhardt of Wake Forest College.

The "Students for Preyer" group will be working closely with "Young Adults for Preyer." The adult group is headed by Art Weiner of Greensboro. Weiner is a former football end at UNCCH.

Scott Knocks Speaker Ban; Lauds Sanford

By Allen Lennon

State Senator Ralph H. Scott unleashed one of the most sweeping condemnations yet to be heard on the Speaker Ban law and praised Governor Sanford and his anti-poverty programs Friday night on the State campus.

Speaking in the Erdahl-Cloyd Union to the annual banquet of the State Student Legislature, Senator Scott described the speaker ban law as "... the way of the coward, the fearful, the hysterical, not the way of the strong in heart and in spirit and mind."

Scott praised students for their efforts to get the law repealed and encouraged them to continue their efforts "... to see that law struck from the books in the next session of the General Assembly."

Commenting on the controversial law and its passage, Scott said:

"Alabama took a copy of the North Carolina bill—with the backing of Governor Wallace—and the Legislature refused to pass it. Mississippi turned it down. It was introduced in the Georgia Legislature and then it

Elections Are Looking Up

The amount of interest being expressed in the coming election deserves more than passing comment. If anything, it is indicative of the success Student Government has enjoyed this year.

It is very apparent that the strength and actions of Student Government in asking for the election of NSA delegates and cheerleaders has indicated a strong belief in the elective process. This has paid off as more candidates than ever before have signed up for all of the positions available on the ballot.

In this first election, there are four (count 'em) candidates running for the now-significant post of Student Government president. This trend is reflected all the way down the line, as positions heretofore unchallenged are being fought for by a number of candidates.

We cannot help but view this election with a great amount of interest, for, in our opinion, competition of this type cannot help but produce leaders more aware and more interested in this campus. This may be a case in which the losers will gain as much as the winners.

—GB

A Little Bit Better

Seeing all its faults and drawbacks makes it hard to brag about N. C. State of the unadulterated name, but occasionally the excellence of the school is driven home.

At State Student Legislature this weekend, State had candidates running for most of the top elective positions (unfortunately, Carolina walked off with them). A State-sponsored bill to require coroners to be licensed physicians was judged the best bill of the session.

Moreover discussion with Alpha Phi Omega members this weekend revealed that we probably have the strongest chapter in this region. Certainly the administration leans heavily on them for many service projects.

The list of conferences and meetings in which State has made a strong showing could go on and on. Of course, there have been and still are areas in which State is weak, but the point is clear.

In many fields of extracurricular endeavor, State's top men, when compared to those from other schools, have been very impressive. This would indicate that our student body as compared to their student bodies is "just a little bit better."

APO Hosts Sectional Meet

State's Alpha Phi Omega hosted 13 chapters from as many schools Friday and Saturday.

The chapters met in the annual Section 22 Conference. Over 125 delegates were present. Lou Grimes, program chairman, termed the conclave "A great success."

After finishing with registration Friday and Saturday morning, the members divided into workshops for the remainder of the day. Discussion groups covered chapter administration, fraternity problems, and service projects. The conference met for lunch at the campus cafeteria and a smorgasbord at Ballentine's that night.

Miss Lydia Fish, a folksinger, entertained at both of the dinner meetings, followed by a short talk at the supper meeting by Homer Eagers. Dr. T. T. Galt, national APO vice president, also made some comments.

Schools represented included, UNC, Wake Forest, East Carolina, Duke, Campbell, Davidson, Clemson, South Carolina, Citadel, University of Virginia, and two colleges petitioning for membership: Greensboro College and Pfeiffer College.

Pack Record Is Lowest For Case

By Martin White
For the first time since Everett Case came to State College in 1946, during the Southern Conference era, the Wolfpack has finished last in the final standings with an 8-15 record. The official standing for the 1963-64 season puts the Pack in a tie for seventh place with Virginia, both with 4-10 records. The tie resulted from State's loss to Wake Forest, 74-55, and Clemson's 90-73 win over Virginia Saturday night. As far as the standings for pairings in the ACC Tournament go, State is last and will meet the Duke Blue Devils in Thursday's opening round. This placement was decided Sunday morning by lady luck, or rather unluck, in a toss of the coin. In the eighteen years that Coach Case has directed the Pack there has never been a worse season's record. Only four teams have lost more than nine games in one season, this being 10 in 1952, 11 in 1957 and 1963, and 15 in 1960. This is the first time that a Case coached State team has failed to win at least 10 games. The lowest being 10 in 1963, and 11 in 1960 and 1962. Only by winning the 1964 ACC Tournament could the Wolfpack equal its previous worst record of 11-15, established in 1960.

Gavaghan Is Triple Winner In ACC Swim

Pat Gavaghan, State's sophomore butterfly and distance freestyle artist was one of three triple winners in the Atlantic Coast Conference swimming meet at Chapel Hill last week end. State placed third in the meet with 76 points. Gavaghan took first in the 200 yd. butterfly, the 500 yd. freestyle and the 1650 yd. freestyle, setting new conference records in the latter two. The 500 yd. butterfly record already belongs to Gavaghan as he rewrote the books several times this season in the event. His time of 18:23.4 in the 1650 freestyle bettered the old record of 18:35.5 while the new time of 5:08.6 bettered by a minute the old record in the 500 freestyle. It was the first time that Gavaghan had entered any of these two events officially.

On Campus with Max Shuman

THE SLOW RUSH

Illustrated below is the membership pin of a brand-new national fraternity called Signa Phi Nothing. To join Signa Phi Nothing and get this hideous membership pin absolutely free, simply take a pair of scissors, cut out the illustration, and paste it on your chest.

Let me hasten to state that I do not recommend your joining Signa Phi Nothing. The only thing I recommend in this column is Marlboro Cigarettes, as any honest man would who likes good tobacco and a good filter, whose heart is quickened by a choice of soft pack or Flip-Top Box, and who gets paid every week for writing this column.

I am frankly hard put to think of any reason why you should join Signa Phi Nothing. Some people, of course, are joiners by nature; if you are one such, I am bound to tell you there are any number of better organizations for you to join—the Cosa Nostra, for example, or the Society for the Placing of Water Troughs in Front of Equestrian Statues.

cut it out and paste it on your chest

But if you insist on joining Signa Phi Nothing, let me give you several warnings. First off, it is the only fraternity which admits girls. Second, there is no pledge period; each new member immediately goes active. Perhaps "inactive" is a more accurate word: there are no meetings, no drives, no campaigns, no sports, no games, no dues, no grip, and no house.

The only thing Signa Phi Nothing has in common with other fraternities is a fraternity hymn. In fact, two hymns were submitted to a recent meeting of the national board of directors (none of whom attended). The first hymn goes:

*Signa Phi Nothing,
Shining star,
How we wonder If you are.*

The second hymn, rather more poetic in content, is to be sung to the tune of Also Sprach Zarathustra:

*A Guernsey's a cow,
A road is a lane,
When you're eating chow,
Remember the mein.*

Pending the next meeting of the national board of directors (which will never be held) members are authorized to sing either hymn. Or, for that matter, Frenesi.

Perhaps you are wondering why there should be such a fraternity as Signa Phi Nothing. I can give you an answer—an answer with which you cannot possibly disagree: Signa Phi Nothing fills a well-needed gap.

Are you suffering from mental health? Is logic distorting your thinking? Is ambition encroaching on your native sloth? Is your long-cherished misinformation retreating before a sea of facts? In short, has education caught up with you?

If so, congratulations. But spring is upon us and the sap is rising, and the mind looks back with poignant longing to the days when it was a puddle of unreason.

If—just for a moment—you want to recapture those care-less vaporings, that warm, squishy confusion, then join Signa Phi Nothing and renew your acquaintance with fecklessness. We promise nothing, and, by George, we deliver it!

© 1964 Max Shuman

was withdrawn. Florida killed a similar bill in committee. In Virginia so far the supporters have not even been able to get such a bill introduced. Ohio, the state whose bill ours was copied from, refused to pass the bill we eventually got. If our gag law bill had ever seen the light of day, we wouldn't have had it either."

Scott praised Governor Sanford as a man who "... stands for all the personal qualities, political ideals, and courageous leadership which you as young people and students naturally admire."

Scott went on to praise the Governor's programs to improve North Carolina education and to penetrate the state's "hard core of poverty."

Tom Thomsen wanted challenging work

He found it at Western Electric

T. R. Thomsen, B.S.M.E., University of Nebraska, '58, came to Western Electric for several reasons. Important to him was the fact that our young engineers play vital roles right from the start, working on exciting engineering projects in communications including: electronic switching, thin film circuitry, microwave systems and optical masers.

Western Electric's wide variety of challenging assignments appealed to Tom, as did the idea of advanced study through full-time graduate engineering training, numerous management courses and a company-paid Tuition Refund Plan.

Tom knows, too, that we'll need thousands of experienced engineers for supervisory positions within the next few years. And he's getting the solid experience necessary to qualify. Right now, Tom is developing new and improved inspection and process control techniques to reduce manufacturing costs of telephone switching equipment. Tom is sure that Western Electric is the right place for him. What about you?

If you set the highest standards for yourself, enjoy a challenge, and have the qualifications we're looking for—we want to talk to you! Opportunities for fast-moving careers exist now for electrical, mechanical and industrial engineers, and also for physical science, liberal arts and business majors. For more detailed information, get your copy of the Western Electric Career Opportunities booklet from your Placement Officer. Or write: Western Electric Company, Room 6405, 222 Broadway, New York 38, N. Y. And be sure to arrange for a personal interview when the Bell System recruiting team visits your campus.
