Phi Kappa Phi Taps 40 Members

Forty State students have been elected to membership in Phi Kappa Phi honorary fraternity. This is the highest academic honor which can be earned on this campus, and is similar to Phi Beta Kappa in liberal arts colleges.

In Agriculture, the students are: Henry C. Newton, John M. Nordan, Bobby C. Maske, and Charles G. Warren.

In Education, David L. Larimore, Gene B. Mercer, Napoleon J. Owens and Susan M. Weber were honored.

In Civil Engineering, the students are: James A. Aberson, James L. Zimmerman, David S. Seawright, and John C. Brantley.

In Chemical Engineering, are Robert H. Crutchfield, Joseph V. Smith, and Allen K. Tothill.

Eugene A. Frekko, Robert W. Downing, Eugene J. Sabaitis, Robert G. Howell, Robert N. Griswold, Sandy D. Brooks, and Willard G. Preussel are outstanding in Electrical Engineering.

Also earning membership in Phi Kappa Phi were Electrical Engineering students, James D. Terrell, Jerry R. Briggs, Philip R. Epley, James E. Paul, and James R. Simon.

In Mechanical Engineering, the students honored are: Ralph N. McGill, Hilton B. Perry, and John W. Cannon. The two new members in Nuclear Engineering are Charles L. Kling and William R. Sharp.

John S. Culbertson, Herbert J. Goldston, Mitchell Moore, William G. Rhodes, and Charles H. Winton are new members from the Applied Mathematics department.

Richard H. Brant, in Chemistry, Mrs. Sophronia I. Ward, in Experimental Statistics, and Henry W. Somers, in Textile Chemistry, have also been elected.

The election of members was held last Friday.

Elections Polls Open 8 Until 6 Thursday At Ten Campus Sites

Students may vote at any of these ten polling places this Thursday between the hours of 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.:

Ground floor of the Erdahl-Cloyd Union, Harrelson Hall, in front of Mann Hall, Leazer Cafeteria, Becton-Berry-Bagwell quadrangle, the Student Supply Store, Carmichael Gymnasium, Bragaw Dormitory, New Cafeteria, and the Textile Building.

The ballot boxes will be manned by brothers of Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity. Votes will be counted Thursday night by SG senators.

Two Candidates Close For SG Prexy Spot

By Charles Wood

John Atkins holds a slight edge over Steve Johnston and Herb Goldston for the top student government office according to a poll taken by The Technician Tuesday evening.

The three were so close that "the winner will probably be decided by the 16.2 per cent undecided vote," as one observer put it.

In the other three positions Terry Lowder and King Bostrom were leading Bob Downing and Jim Miller for Vice-President and Treasurer. Jackie Mitchell is an unopposed candidate for secretary.

The poll was taken among over 200 students in four dormitories and four fraternity houses. The dorms polled were Owen, Bragaw, Syme and Bagwell, while the fraternities polled were Sigma Alpha Mu, Phi Kappa Tau, Pi Kappa Phi and Kappa Sigma.

The dorms were selected to get an accurate cross section of student housing and the four fraternities were selected because they did not have a candidate in the running.

A good number of the students interviewed knew nothing of the candidates and did not want to give an opinion one way or the other. It is this group who most probably make the difference in the election, according to the poll results.

Coed Makes Jump With Sky-Divers

By Bill Fishburne

Emancipation is here! Clarice Mason, has become the first coed at State to make a parachute jump. Formerly a man's sport, Clarice has launched an invasion that will no doubt go down in State's history as a monumental move for equal rights.

Clarice said she first heard about jumping from her father, who is a pilot. After listening to another student talk about his first jump she mentioned it to John Theys, and they decided to have at it. Willard Garrison agreed to train them and act as jump-master. After two weeks of training they went to Selma airstrip and Willard put them out.

"I wasn't scared," Clarice said, "just tense."

"We went up to 2500 feet and Willard said, 'put your foot on the step.' I did, but the wind blew it back in, so Willard put it out for me, and told me to get out on the wing strut. As soon as I got out he said 'go, and then I went."

"After the chute opened I turned the canopy and started to look for the target. Finally I looked down and there it was between my boots. I turned the chute and headed for the target. The rest of the way down I practiced guiding the chute and bucking the wind. A little way above the ground I put my feet together and took the 'prepare to land' attitude. The next thing I knew I was on the ground. It was as easy as jumping off a two foot step."

Governor Terry Sanford receives an honorary membership from Alpha Phi Omega president Jim Sanders.

The governor spoke to the APO club concerning education and poverty stricken areas, following the presentation. He described the State's efforts in providing educational facilities to the areas of the state which are depressed.

Sanders also announced that this semester's APO pledge class would be named the Terry Sanford pledge class.

Projects Underway For Fair In April

By Jim Kear

The machinery has begun to work toward grinding out the 1964 edition of the N. C. State Engineer's Fair.

The annual fair will take place this year on Friday and Saturday, April 17 and 18, according to Stokes White, president of the Engineers Council. As always, the first event will be the opening exercises at noon on Friday and the fair will culminate on Saturday at six o'clock.

White said that this year's fair organizers will be emphasizing student participation over commercial exhibits which have begun to dominate fairs in recent years. Any student in engineering may submit an exhibit or help with constructing the fair by simply notifying the departmental fair chairman for his curriculum.

As Stokes commented when queried about entrance requirements: "Build it, set it up, and you're in!"

Prizes will be awarded to the various departments by the Engineer's Council for first, second, and third place winners. Awards to individuals for their exhibits will come from technical so-

FBI Report Is Nothing Special

There was nothing special about the FBI report Governor Terry Sanford cited as proving there were no communists on state-supported universities, Sanford revealed in a brief interview last night.

Said former FBI agent Sanford, "The FBI maintains a constant surveillance on communist and subversive activities anywhere in the country." Sanford explained that no special report was submitted or requested, but that information of this sort, "is always readily available."

AEC Chairman Speaks

State will be host to Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the United States Atomic Energy Commission, as speaker in the third annual Harrelson Lecture tonight.

The topic of the lecture, which will be held in the Union at 8 p.m., is "Science and the General Welfare in a Democracy."

The Harrelson Lecture began as a result of a bequest from the late Colonel John W. Harrelson, a former chancellor of State. It provides for the purchase of books and works of art as well as a continuing series of lectures by distinguished scholars and world leaders.

Dr. Seaborg, Nobel prize winner in chemistry, is a member of both national and international professional societies, and has been honored by his colleagues with many honorary degrees.

The lecture is open to the public.

Peace Pilgrim Travels To Discourage All War

By Grant Blair

Miss (or Mrs.) "Peace Pilgrim" arrived on campus Monday in her one-woman effort to promote world-wide peace.

The grey-haired woman, gives no name but calls herself "Peace Pilgrim," gives no background about her life, and, typically, will not reveal her age. The only thing not mysterious about her is her purpose, or as she says, "I shall remain a wanderer until mankind has learned the way of peace, walking until I am given shelter and fasting until I am given food." She has hiked 23,600 miles, covering 48 states, all eleven Canadian provinces, and Mexico in her travels. She has been marching since 1951.

While on campus, she spoke to two classes and consented to an interview with WKNC and The Technician.

Why does she do it? "To make people think, to rouse them from lethargy and apathy. People don't realize they are making a choice by doing nothing," Peace Pilgrim continued, "my work has to do with inner awakening." When this inner awakening is achieved, she stated, people will achieve inner harmony. "I expect to see world peace and world disarmament within my lifetime, even though my hair has turned to silver."

How does she live? "I have never starved or not received shelter when it was available. In fact, I have some difficulty remaining a penniless pilgrim." She explained that although she asks for no contributions, people often send her contributions through the mail at her mailing address in Cologne, New Jersey.

Peace Pilgrim outlined her steps to world peace. Three of her steps have been initiated, she stated. People-to-people contact for peace, research into

Elections Debate Site Changed

The location of tonight's debate between SG election candidates has been changed from the Erdahl-Cloyd Union Ballroom to WKNC's broadcasting studio. The time of the debate is still set for 8 p.m., as previously announced.

The candidates for the offices of president, vice-president, and treasurer will participate in the broadcast.

Questions may be submitted by telephone or by coming to the studio in the basement of King Religious Center, according to Wayne Hayes, technical director of WKNC.

Crew Cited Real Reasons For Changing Speaker Ban

State Democratic Chairman W. Lunsford Crew preached a powerful sermon to all the people of North Carolina in a recent speech to the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Jaycees. He talked about the speech-gag law, and he talked in reason and in decency, and what he said is well worth a hearing by all citizens.

Among his comments were:

"I am convinced that the 1965 legislators and educators thinking and reasoning together will amend or repeal this law . . . Repeal of this law will not be as simple as some might think. It is a difficult matter to explain academic freedom and freedom of the mind to many people throughout North Carolina . . . I know those people who introduced this bill in the General Assembly; they are men of good faith and they believe in higher education, but they and other members of the General Assembly were living in a world of fear. I hasten to say that it is my firm belief, that if this bill had been given the proper consideration with the usual committee meetings, it would never have passed the General Assembly. I was the first member of the Senate to oppose this bill, and I must admit I arose with some reluctance. I realized that the public in general would feel that any person who opposed the bill would be labelled as friendly to communism. . . .

"I do not fear communism nearly so much as I fear the ultimate consequences of tyranny of man's mind, and shackles that might be placed upon the voices and minds of Americans . . . As long as men are free to have new ideas, to discuss these ideas, to experiment, to ask questions, to see answers, this country will continue to grow and be in keeping with the changing times. If I were the chancellor or president of a college campus, I would be most reluctant to invite a known Communist to the campus, but I believe that our chancellors and presidents are far better equipped and experienced in coping with the changing problems of students than legislators and laymen. I am fearful that if we eliminate Communists we might next eliminate Baptists, Methodists, or Canadians, or even Democrats (if the Republicans ever get control of the Legislature)."

"A University or a state that does not allow free thought will not continue to produce such men as Dr. Frank Graham, Paul Green, Fred Koch, Dr. Phillips Russel, Dr. Horace Williams, Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges, Governor Terry Sanford, Dr. Aycock and Dr. Friday. These men may not always be popular in their time, but they will be great men for all time."

"The law is not as bad for what it is, as for what it may bring in years to come."

Crew has stated eloquently the real reasons against the speech-gag law, stated them calmly and reasonably. No one can legitimately quarrel with what he said, and it would be hard for any one to argue with his conclusions.

It is to be hoped that reason and calm will bring about repeal of this law during the 1965 legislature, or at least amendment which will give back to the trustees of the University and our other campuses their rightful power to run the institutions.

There was no chance for reason and calm in the passage of this law. It was sneaked through during the last hours of the session without a hearing, without any opportunity for opponents to be heard.

There must be full opportunity for all to be heard on it during the 1965 legislature. All citizens are entitled to be heard on all public matters—and this includes those who sneaked this law through the 1963 legislature without giving others an opportunity to be heard.

Kiosk, Lowder, Slater Food Blasted

To the Editors:

Several days ago, while riding the city bus back to the campus from downtown, I sat down beside a boy from UNCCH. I asked him if he wasn't from Carolina. "Yes," he said, "how did you know?" "I could tell by your healthy looks, rosy cheeks, etc.," I told him. "Aren't you from State?" he asked. "Yes," I said, "how could you tell?" "I could smell Slater food on your breath," he replied.

Seriously, I just finished a "hearty" meal at the new cafeteria. I ordered fish-sticks. I was given three (3) dried-up, leathery, fish-sticks and charged 35 cents for them. This is almost 12 cents a stick . . . only three cents less than a hot dog at many places.

Practically everyone I know complains about the food service at N. C. State, but no one will take the time to write The Technician to voice his opinion. I honestly believe an amateur could manage our University food services better.

I am not trying to "plug" the Capital Restaurant, but I would like to use it as an example of good service as compared to Slater Food Service. For 85 cents at the Capital Restaurant you can buy:

- 1) Two vegetables (with twice as much of each vegetable as Slater gives you.)
- 2) A piece of meat from a wide choice (that in some cases would cost you as much as 90 cents at Slater.)
- 3) All the tea you want.
- 4) All the rolls you want (SOFT ROLLS).
- 5) Dessert.

And most important of all . . . it is well prepared.

The Capital Restaurant is a small restaurant and is operated on a small scale. It is designed for the general public.

Slater Food Services on the N. C. State Campus is operated on a tremendous scale (they should be in the position to operate at less expense). Their service should be designed for students, i.e., at lower prices.

The new cafeteria also receives free labor from students who remove their soiled dishes to the collection area.

My cousin came over from East Carolina College to visit the N. C. State campus several weeks ago. I took him to the new cafeteria for lunch. He felt like stomping my— for taking him there. He said it was ridiculous. He is a heavy eater but rarely pays more than 60 cents for dinner at ECC.

I have just received a card from Leroy Hite, who is running for Junior Class President. The card reads, in part, "I will pursue a policy of forcing Slater food service to improve drastically or be replaced."

He has won my vote.

Mike Culver

To the Editors:

This letter is in regards to the proposed several thousand dollar error to be erected on State's campus. So far most complaints have been about the design of the new kiosk. Maybe some people enjoy a soggy newspaper now and then. Personally, I think it's a fine way to bring the students on campus closer together—all six thousand of them—at one time. I've been dying to meeting Don Montgomery, and I can think of no better way (to die) than for the two of us to try to enter this swastika-shaped traffic jam at the same time.

Furthermore, I think the location is inappropriate. The open expanse between Harrelson and the College Union is one of the few nice areas left on campus. To erect a kiosk there would be like building a hot dog stand in the middle of the Washington mall. It appears that a newspaper publisher may have suggested the site to promote newspaper sales. Unless you want to take a three-mile hike (to get around the crowd waiting to enter the kiosk) to get to Harrelson from the Union, then you have to join the crowd and be funneled through the newsstand. Maybe if paperboys circulated around the kiosk, it would alleviate the congestion within.

Has anyone thought about the Freshman and Sophomore classes? They will feel like has-beens by the time they are seniors. It would probably cost twenty-four hundred dollars alone for the bronze plaque that says, "Presented by the Senior classes of 1964-'65-'66-'67."

The money would be well spent perhaps if someone thought of adapting the columns under Harrelson to serve as bulletin boards. They would be excellent if they were covered with some soft material to serve as tack-boards. It would put the columns to some practical use.

All they're doing now is supporting the math department. There are even a few notices placed on the present bulletin boards that are important enough (such as "No drill today," "Christmas vacation extended two weeks," "State 21-Duke 7," etc.) to be protected from inclement weather. There is the same problem here as there is with the newspapers. Who wants to read wet, soggy notices on a wet, soggy bulletin board on a wet, soggy day? A wet, soggy person.

The backers of this proposed idea will attempt to find out how popular their idea is when they put it to a vote Tuesday.

I would like to urge all State students to vote against the proposed kiosk. It is important to the campus now and to class policy in the future.

Randy Ellis

To the Editors:

During the current campus election campaign I have noticed two things which have disturbed me. One of these is the over aggressive platform of vice presidential candidate Terry Lowder, the Student Government senator with the worst legislative program put forward this year.

Across The State And Beyond GAG LAW MAY BE REPEALED

The Speaker Ban Law will be repealed or amended next year although it will be no easy task, Democratic Party Chairman W. Lunsford Crew predicted at Chapel Hill last week.

He made the statement at a meeting of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Crew said he was speaking on his own and not in his capacity as State Democratic Chairman.

He said, "I know those people who introduced this bill (the gag law) in the General Assembly; they are men of good faith and they believe in higher education, but they and other members of the General Assembly were living in a world of fear."

"I hasten to say that it is my firm belief that, if this bill had been given the proper consideration with the usual committee meetings, it would never have passed the General Assembly. I was the first member of the Senate to oppose this bill, and I must admit I arose with some reluctance."

ARCHITECTURE STUDENTS MOURN LOSS OF PRIVILEGES

Architecture students are mourning the loss of one of their most valuable privileges—the use of Fayerweather Hall after classes.

Fayerweather Hall is the center for project work for architecture students.

The building will be locked every evening at 6 p.m. and will be closed on weekends due to defacement and damage to the facilities.

One anguished student said, "The school is just about paralyzed by the ruling."

CONSTITUTION CHANGES

The Erdahl-Cloyd Union isn't the only one with constitutional problems.

The College Union at Wake Forest College will present three proposed additions to its constitution for ratification by the student body this week.

The proposals would provide for the addition of one class representative each from the rising sophomore, junior and senior classes to the executive committee.

Outcasts Cop Open League As Neutrons Win Wildcard

Don Ledford scored a driving lay up in a sudden death overtime Tuesday night to give the Outcasts a 43-41 victory over the Cardinals in the championship game of the Open League Intramural Basketball Tournament.

At the end of the regular game, the Outcasts had a one point lead on Pink's free throw with 13 seconds remaining. Gooden of the Cardinals hit one of two charity tosses to tie the game and send it into a three minute overtime.

Off-setting baskets by Farmer of the Outcasts and Lee of the Cardinals tied the overtime score at 41-41.

Pete Falzarano had 18 points for the victory while Warren Williams sparked them on defense. Ed Moneyhan was high man for the losers with 18 points.

In the Wildcard League championship contest, the Neutrons stretched a six point third quarter lead to 12 points at the final gun to down the Raiders, 49-37. The winners bounced to a 15-7 first quarter lead and pushed it to 26-14 at half-time before the Raiders rallied in the third to cut the lead to six.

Mayto with 16 points was high for the Neutrons, Hirons added 12 and Blackshaw hit 10. Other members of the new championship team are Gregory, Venerus, Kuehn, Hemmler, and Banks.

Ping Pong and Handball Tournaments Near End

Fraternity

Sigma Phi Epsilon lost in the final rounds of the winner's bracket in the table tennis and handball tournaments Tuesday night to drop to the finals of the loser's bracket.

Delta Sigma Phi copped the table tennis winner's bracket crown while Sigma Alpha Mu is the only undefeated team left in the handball tournament.

In the table tennis tournament, Phi Kappa Tau, Sigma Alpha Mu, Sigma Nu, Sigma Pi, and Lambda Chi Alpha will all fight it out to see who plays the Sig Eps for the loser's bracket crown and a chance to meet the Delta Sigs for the grand championship.

In the handball play-offs, PKT will meet LCA for the right to challenge SPE to meet SAM in the finals.

Dormitory

In dormitory table tennis action this week, Alexander downed Bragaw North #1 for the winner's bracket championship. The North #1 team will meet the winner of a play-off between Tucker #1, Bragaw South #1, and Tucker #1 for the loser's bracket crown.

In handball action, Bragaw North #2 downed Watauga for the winner's bracket championship, while Bragaw North #1 beat Owen #2 for the right to play Watauga for the loser's bracket crown.

Letter To The Editor

In the Legislature (although he became a senator only four weeks ago), he has introduced a successful condemnation of the chairman of the Campus Chest Drive, and unsuccessful condemnations of Alpha Phi Omega and the American Legion.

With this evidence of his legislative ability he has promised to improve Slater Food Service (which some senators do not plan to wait for next year to attempt), alter the grading system (which has already been altered), obtain discounts for students at stores in the Raleigh area (this will not even be done at the Student Supply Store; much less any privately owned business), and obtain equal rights for all State students (this would be a good thing if he means what I think he does—although his only activity with CORE has been attending a few meetings).

This platform promises far more than any of the presidential candidates have offered. But less of Lowder's promises are possibilities.

Also, I have found the failure of a number of the candidates for NSA delegate to publish platforms stating their views on the National Issues on which they seek to represent the students of this campus.

I and several other students worked hard to get open elections of these delegates, and all of us who worked for this did so in the hope that at least this one election could be based on issues. Yet only I and the "conservative" slate of candidates have published any real statement of our views, my own tending to be slightly more conservative than those of the "conservative" slate.

The rest of the candidates apparently did not have the nerve to reveal their views to the student body.

I would hope that the students will be intelligent enough to defeat these other candidates for not revealing their views.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES SALUTE: JERRY SANDERS

Data transmission is one of the most valuable tools of modern communications. And Southern Bell's Jerry Sanders (B.S.E.E., 1959) sees to it that Mississippi businessmen fully benefit from the service. Jerry is Sales Supervisor in charge of data sales and coordination for the entire state of Mississippi.

Outstanding performance on earlier assignments earned Jerry his key promotion. On one job, he engineered cable and microwave facilities. On another, he planned the complex conversion job needed to make Dial Teletypewriter Exchange Service available in his area.

Then came an opportunity to attend the Bell System Data School in Cooperstown, New York, a necessary preparation for his latest promotion.

Jerry Sanders, like many young engineers, is impatient to make things happen for his company and himself. There are few places where such restlessness is more welcomed or rewarded than in the fast-growing telephone business.
