Candidate Platforms Aired In Interview

By Grant Blair

Editor's note: The aspiring candidates for SG president were interviewed by The Technician to acquaint the students with some of their positions.

Q.—Now that a coed dormitory will be on campus, do you have any definite ideas on rules and regulations for coeds?

Johnston—"Quite frankly, I've considered the situation mainly through discussion with Cora Kemp, and I think any rules that are to be made affecting coeds when they begin residence on campus should come from suggestions from the Woman's Association."

Atkins—"I have already talked with members of the Women's Association concerning the dormitory. Their worry is that some of the girls who now have 'freedom' may have mixed feelings toward restrictions. I personally have no rules and regulations in mind, but I feel that the Woman's Campus Code Board is the body to make suggestions and in a case such as this, the administration and dormitory rental office will make the final rules and regulations."

Q.—What do you, as a candidate, intend to do about the Gag Law next year?

Atkins—"As president, I intend not to get myself personally involved on the Gag Law, but I do encourage the Student Legislature to take a stand, and to take a fair stand. I shouldn't try to influence the body, pro or con. The only request I would make of the Student Legislature is that the bill of recommendations they would come up with concerning the Gag Law be a well-written bill and show a good reflection upon the institution."

Johnston—"I am, of course, personally opposed to the implication of the Gag Law and the manner in which it was passed. There are two channels through which the students may best voice their protests, neither of them being from the Student Government president himself. One is the legislature, the other being a committee set up during Mr. Bynum's tenure of office this year establishing this university as the control center of protest from all schools. It would be my duty to encourage action on the part of both these channels and impress upon them the importance of due consideration of the best interests of the student body and a clear expression of the students' ideas."

Q.—The kiosk was defeated, not necessarily because it was an information area, but for other reasons. Poster placement has, in our opinion, been a very real problem this year. Do you have any comments concerning specific instances on the general problem of informing the student body?

Johnston—"To break the question down and be specific, I would like to comment on the kiosk as a building in its submitted design. I am glad that the kiosk was defeated. However, I heartily encourage the promotion of the idea of joint class participation in a bigger and better gift to the school. As for any comments I have on how to better inform the student body, as a whole, I am somewhat at a loss. We have numerous organs of communication at the present time, including The Technician, the activities newsletter, and the Erdahl-Cloyd Union main desk information center. I think that it will take a concerted effort on the part of each and every student to go out and obtain information on his own and to aid those organizations concerned with overcoming lack of communications and the problem of apathy in general."

Campus Leaders Endorse Candidates For SG Head

With run-off voting taking place tomorrow, several student leaders have made public statements of support for the candidates for SG president, John Atkins and Steve Johnston.

Herb Goldston, this year's SG treasurer and the candidate edged out of the race for president in the primary election last week, has endorsed Johnston.

Goldston called the choice between candidates a difficult one, but said, "I have concluded that I must sympathize with and wholeheartedly support the opinions of Steve Johnston. This decision was based on principles rather than personalities. Specifically, I endorse Steve's concern for the maturation of State toward the ideals of a true university—a maturation exemplified not by boisterous yelling at some athletic event, but by a spirit which pervades the intellectual inquiry of the students."

Ballots To Be Numbered To Aid Counters

On the run-off ballots tomorrow students may be baffled by some big, bold-faced numbers and some little tiny numbers.

"This is just an experiment to try to speed the ballot counting," revealed Jim Ferguson, chairman of the Elections Committee.

Bold-faced numbers will top each ballot and will be used to facilitate their sorting. The small number, one to the left of each candidate's name, will speed ballot counting, Ferguson speculated.

"If this proves successful, we hope to have it adopted for future elections," he concluded.

Committee Hears Cafeteria Protest

By Grant Blair

Monday's meeting of the Cafeteria Advisory Committee produced no direct recommendations from the committee.

The committee excluded Slater officials from the students' presentation of the petition. After hearing the presentation, the committee met in closed session and decided to pursue an investigation of its own.

The presentation consisted of the petition bearing 1,000 names, and a survey conducted in three floors of Bragaw with signed affidavits from students.

Ron Bowers and Gene Eagles presented the petition for the students. Bowers listed complaints which had been obtained in the affidavits and asked that the committee consider its proposals. Following the closed meeting of the committee, Frank B. Thomas, chairman of the Cafeteria Advisory Committee announced that the committee could make no recommendations concerning the report.

Thomas announced that the committee would conduct its own investigation, and stated, "I think the way this was precipitated and handled was completely out of order." Thomas admonished "all groups attempting to jump on the band wagon."

In discussion of the investigation, Slater officials recommended that suggestion boxes be placed in the cafeterias. Calvin Newton, student member of the committee stated that he felt the presentation had been "over presented," and that in discussions he had not met any student whose complaint "would not yield to argument."

Atkins, Johnston Reply To Letter

Presidential candidates Steve Johnston and John Atkins commented on Joe Peoples' letter on page two as follows:

Johnston stated: "Mr. Peoples has presented some very valid points in his letter. I am sure that many students harbor the same gripes that Mr. Peoples voices. I personally am encouraged to see Mr. Peoples take his time and energy to express his charges, however true or false they be. I agree with his statement that State Student Government should be for students although my methods for representing the student in the Student Government are a little more sophisticated."

Atkins said: "I am glad to see that Mr. Peoples is a well-mannered individual and a gracious loser during the recent primary election. I am also glad to hear that Mr. Peoples is a 'good American.' But I ask him when will he become an objective citizen of the North Carolina State campus community? If he feels his platform is so important to Student Government, then why did he not present it, face to face to his opposing candidates in the WKNC election debate—was he 'hiding behind his typewriter writing a letter to The Technician?' As I see it, my well-mannered opponent has but one qualification. It is being a critic of that which he knows nothing about."

'Go Fly A Kite' And Beat Carolina

War! Well, maybe not quite. Actually, it's a kite flying contest between State and UNC, sponsored by WKNC.

"A challenge has been issued to the students of UNCCH! We believe that the students here at State can out-design, out-build, and out-fly the students at UNCCH. Build, or buy your kite and be at the intramural fields behind the new gym at 1 p.m. this Saturday, March 21.

"Show those finks from Carolina that the students from a technical school can fly rings around students from a 'Country Club.'"

This challenge was issued to the editor of The Daily Tar Heel, "the infamous yellow sheet published at UNCCH," said Ray McCrary, projects director of WKNC.

Prizes will be awarded on the basis of originality of design and flying ability. (Editor's note: It seems that UNC is going through a kite flying craze. State students may have more competition than expected.)

Campus Crier

The written and practical test for a darkroom pass to the Photo Darkroom in the Union Craft Shop will be given tonight and March 24 at 7 p.m. This will be the last time the test will be administered this semester.

There will be a CORE meeting tonight at 7:30 in Harrelson 163.

The Forest Products Research Society will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Kilgore 159. The speaker will be P. J. Dyson who will take on "Sawmilling Problems." Attendance will be taken.

Students in PSAM wishing to be elected to the Science Council may sign up in department offices. To be eligible, a student must be an undergraduate with a minimum scholastic average of 2.0. Friday is the last day to sign up.

Crusader Speaks On Racial Problems

By Charles Wood

A little more than five months ago the combined efforts of the Civil Rights group in Mississippi undertook a massive and ambitious campaign to run Arron Henry, president of the Mississippi NAACP, as governor of the State. Chief organizer and fund-raiser of the massive effort was Al Lowenstein, a man long dedicated to freedom-fighting.

"The problem of Civil Rights is of a different order and it has to be handled differently," said Lowenstein to a group of students and faculty at the CU last night. "This is a grotesque problem and is headed in the wrong direction. There is no First Amendment in Mississippi!"

But for Lowenstein, his more regular occupation only sustains him between his projects for Civil Rights. Lowenstein, in 1958 and '59, was a trouble-shooter on a trip to South West Africa to record facts of Racial oppression for the UN. In the foreword of his book, Brutal Mandate, Eleanor Roosevelt said "he will always fight crusades because injustice fills him with a sense of rebellion."

"But as long as 95 per cent of the white populace and less than two per cent are allowed to vote throughout Mississippi, and the white population of the South is living a 'master race existence' I see a need to continue the fight," he continued.

As a native of Raleigh and graduate of UNCCH, Lowenstein feels a serious personal responsibility to improve the situation in the South and to convince people to stop seeking their side of the broadening racial chasm. People have encouraged Lowenstein to discontinue fighting for a lost cause, yet for him he must do 'something'. This 'something' can best be exemplified in a quote from the Harvard Crimson: "He provoked the interest, sometimes the anger, but always the respect, of those around him."

Board Elects Union Officers

The president and vice president of the Erdahl-Cloyd Union were elected last night by the Union Board of Directors, but the office of secretary remains unfilled.

Herb Sanborn was named president. He was unopposed. Mike Smith defeated Rosina Coburn for the position of vice president.

No one was named secretary because there were no applications for that position, according to Dave Stewart, outgoing president of the Union.

Anyone interested in the position should turn in an application at the Union program office before the next board meeting March 31, Stewart said.

The board will elect two students as members-at-large at the March 31 meeting. Members-at-large are voting members of the Board of Directors. They do not have to be connected with the Union, Stewart said. Interested students should see Stewart or Dave Phillips, social director of the Union.

Committee chairmen will also be named at the meeting.

Al K. Lowenstein speaks to a gathering of students and faculty. Lowenstein took a leave of absence from State last semester and became instrumental in Civil Rights in Mississippi.

Food Stink: Part Two

This paper would like to compliment Ron Bowers and Gene Eagles, the presentors of the petition calling for the removal of Slater from campus. Although we cannot agree in total with the proposals which they drew as a logical conclusion from these findings, it is so highly unusual to see a student group of any sort come to a meeting armed with facts, figures, articles, and affidavits and giving every evidence of having conducted a very thorough investigation, that we feel a compliment on their diligence is in order.

On the negative side, it might be pointed out that the Cafeteria Advisory Committee could have been contacted earlier, this being the logical liaison group.

The fact remains that the Cafeteria Advisory Committee is going to be hard-pressed to conduct a more thorough investigation than the student petitioners. The criticisms of the Advisory Committee center around the fact that the petition was not arbitrary, and was not representative. Frankly, we doubt that the committee can come up with a survey which is representative and arbitrary unless they are willing to expend the time and effort which these students obviously did.

Citizen Concern A Must!

There must be complete honesty, frankness and decency in all relations between all people, if there is to be any chance for good relations between those people.

For that reason alone, it is important that the Mayor's Committee on Community Relations move immediately to determine exactly and finally and honestly which public accommodation facilities in Raleigh are now open to all citizens. Apparently the committee has taken such action, and the sooner the survey is completed, the better for all concerned.

Raleigh had some uncomfortable and worse moments during our street demonstrations almost a year ago. Raleigh needed those demonstrations, for they did point up as no other action could have done the need for changing in local customs, and the rightness of such change.

However, Raleigh does not need any street demonstrations now, and it is up to Raleigh to conduct its affairs in such a way as to make sure that no demonstrations can ever be needed again.

Chancellor John T. Caldwell of N. C. State is a member of the Mayor's Committee on Human Relations. A news story on last night's meeting contained this paragraph:

"Dr. John T. Caldwell, N. C. State chancellor, said too few people have a 'conscience about race relations. I honestly don't think people in the community are adequately concerned about this respite . . . to take advantage and prevent the next demonstrations.'"

Dr. Caldwell summed up our situation well.

Letters To The Editor

Peoples' Platform; Support Asked

Because of space limitations, this letter has been cut. We have attempted to do this without altering the intent and meaning of the letter.

Also, because timing is obviously of such a critical nature in this particular instance, we have given the presidential aspirants access to the contents of this letter for rebuttal. Their comments appear on page one.
The Editors

To the Editors:

The reason I have not made any statements prior to this one is that I thought the other three candidates and The Technician would surely elect me as the next president of Student Government. Like all good Americans, I have just begun to enter the fight. I say like all good Americans because they usually do not really begin to fight until the odds are overwhelming and I guess the odds against me are overwhelming now, so I begin.

My record about parallels that of the two candidates I oppose—nothing. But while I was doing nothing I did not hide behind the offices or committees of Student Government.

I decided to run for Student Government President because I decided that it was time for a change. I have about 600 votes lined up and with the 150 I received in the so called primary election, I will have 750 sure votes. Also, let us remember that there are five thousand students who did not cast their votes in the primary election. It is these five thousand voters who will come to the polls on next Thursday to elect either me or another candidate by a write-in vote. I might as well expose the name of the candidate who will either win or be second on the ballot next Thursday—it is Fatty Foghorn. After the election if Fatty wins he will have to be approved by the Elections Committee. I urge all of you 5000 who cannot vote for me for some reason of your own choice to cast your vote for Fatty Foghorn—he can do no less than the two leading candidates—nothing.

Let's take John Atkins first since he is supposedly the next President of Student Government. His remarks upon learning of the election outcome follow: "I am naturally pleased with the turnout and take it as strong encouragement for my program of building stronger school spirit and enthusiasm. In continuing my campaign I will urge those who supported me this time to continue their support. I will not take a seat in the back because of the margin of votes in my favor because I know Johnston will be working hard. I will seek to add the backers of Herb Goldston to my supporters."

Here is my analysis of what our supposedly next president has said: If he does not plan to take a backseat why does he even mention the fact—is it only because Johnston will be working hard? In my opinion, this indicates that he doesn't plan to take a backseat until he wins the election—if he does. I don't know what his definition of school spirit is but I don't think one could find a student at N. C. State who does not love the school. Our school not only has the love of its students but most students I encounter are proud to be State students and respect the school as one would any champion. Our band is beyond a doubt the best one in this part of the country. Our cheerleaders might not be the best around because they aren't all girls and they carry the same burdens as the rest of us. However, they are always present giving 100 percent effort and Mr. Atkins, that is all that can be expected of anyone.

If Mr. Atkins wants to see enthusiasm he should have been at the Carolina vs State basketball game or he should have been at Bragaw the other night when the students rallied to help another student from the clutches of M&O. Both incidents were truly heart warming.

From the Technician March 9, 1964, "If elected to the Presidency, Atkins said, Student Government will have the interest of the students at heart." This would be damn nice of Student Government, wouldn't it, Voters? Getting back to his if elected statement, one can hardly tell which he wants to be elected Atkins or Student Government. Atkins says that the Student Government would have the interest of the students at heart. I wonder whose heart and which students, Goldston's 566 or the brave 5000. Well enough for the gallant Mr. Atkins.

We next take up the aspirations of Mr. Steve Johnston. Johnston said, "I wish to thank my supporters. I think they did a fine job and want to urge them to continue the campaign into the run off. I am sorry that I did not have the chance to visit all the students both on campus and in fraternities, but I certainly hope to accomplish this before the run off. Meeting the students I have found not to be a task, but a real pleasure. I wish to thank those students that I met for taking their time to discuss problems common to Student Government and the students with me." Mr. Johnston makes it a bit more difficult to criticize him because he did not say as much. However, he has been associated with Student Government in the past and therefore, is one of the do nothing boys. My analysis of his after election comments are as follows. Johnston says that he wishes to thank his supporters and that he thinks they did a fine job. Who is Mr. Johnston thanking—the people that solicited votes for him or the people that cast their vote for him—I surely don't know. He says that he is sorry that he did not have the chance to visit all the students. Now this would have been a good statement but he qualified it with both on campus and in fraternities. I wonder what this means—is there a difference in the two sets of students. The statement "all the students" would have been sufficient if he had not felt that there was a difference. I am going to have to visit one of these fraternities—maybe they have two navels or something.

I would like to leave with you some of my views—they are strictly my own ideas and viewpoints.

The Senior Class of 1964 will always be separate from other classes because this class will be the only one ever to attend the University branch at Raleigh. One of our more important people will shortly say that he was mistaken about the name change and our beloved school will be what it should have been before—North Carolina State University. I don't know if this will be an exchange for the gag law or not, but it too will probably vanish in 1965. These are the men that stormed the hedge rows of Normandy and landed on the beaches of the Pacific—why all of a sudden does Crew think they are afraid. I know one thing if I had worked hard to get the name of a school changed, I would not stand up before ten thousand people and use the old name over and over in the same speech. Some of you will know about this occasion, others will not dare say anything about the personality that did this—it was like pouring salt in a wound. I will be around to aid whoever wins the election in the way this article has aided the two leading candidates.

I want very much to win this election by a large write-in vote Thursday. I think that you will find it true that the other candidates believe in doing what they think is best for the student body regardless of what the student body believes is good for the student body. I believe in doing what the students want, no matter who thinks it is wrong. I promise to visit at least two dorms a week and talk to at least 25 boys in each dorm to find out what the students want and I will be Hell bent on giving you what you want. Please come out and vote on Thursday and you and I together will take back the Student Government which has been ours all along. My final statement is "The Students, The Students may they always be right but right or wrong, The Students."

Joe Peoples

To the Editors:

I am running for Junior Class secretary without a formal platform, simply a sincere desire to make N. C. State the University it is in the eyes of the student. Instead of talking about the needs of the students, I, with the support of my classmates, will work not only as the Junior Class secretary, but also as a class officer with my fellow officers.

The women's Campus Code Board as of the coming year will be taking a more important role in the lives of the single women students. Being one of these students most effected, I would like to serve my fellow women students as a member of the WCCB.

Gail Fitchett

To the Editors:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank those students who voted for me in last Thursday's election. Tomorrow the final choice will be made for vice-president of the Senior Class. I have been honored to serve as a class officer during the past year, and hope my fellow classmates will see fit to elect me as vice-president of next year's Senior Class. Thank you.

Fraternity Softball Begins With 7 Games

Fourteen fraternity teams got the intramural softball season off to a strong start Tuesday afternoon as 160 runs were scored in the seven games, 110 by the winners and 50 by the losers.

Theta Chi led the field in total runs with 23 in their victory over Farm House. The losers led 2-0 after three innings of play, but Theta Chi rallied for 13 runs in the fourth to take a 13-2 lead and go on to win, 23-8. DelloStritto had the only home run of the game for Theta Chi.

Alpha Gamma Rho tallied eleven times in the third inning of their game with Sigma Pi to take a 22-9 victory. Ten of the victors runs were four baggers with Skipper and Tysinger getting three each and McGirt, Krumanocker, Faircloth, and McKee each getting one. Eaton and Holden each hit one for the losers.

Sigma Phi Epsilon scored three times in the bottom of the first frame to take a 3-2 lead. The Sig Eps were never again headed on their way to an 18-9 win over Kappa Alpha. Robert Moser paced the winners with five runs on four hits and 1 base on an error for five trips to the plate. Monday scored four runs on three hits in four trips and a walk. Ashby homered for the losers.

Delta Sigma Phi tallied three in the opening frame to stay in front all the way and win 11-6 over Sigma Chi. Goodson of Delta Sig and Thompson of Sigma Chi homered in the contest. Errors played a big part in the contest as the losers committed 10 miscues that accounted for several of the Delta Sig runs.

Sigma Nu stayed in front all the way to take a 13-7 decision over Lambda Chi Alpha. Only one home run was hit by each team as Grubbs connected for LCA and Fountain hit one for Sigma Nu.

Pi Kappa Phi broke a three-all tie in the fourth inning and added seven more in the fifth and sixth to take an 11-5 win over Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Phillips allowed only one run through five innings as Phi Kappa Tau downed Sigma Alpha Mu 12-6. The PKT's scored four times in the first frame to go ahead and led 8-5 at the end of the sixth frame. Four runs in the final inning iced the victory.

Finals Next Week In Handball, Table Tennis

Bragaw North #1 and Bragaw North #2 will meet tonight to decide the dormitory championship in the intramural handball play-offs.

The North #1 team defeated Watauga for the loser's bracket championship and the right to meet the North #2 team, winner's bracket champion, for the crown.

In dormitory table tennis, Bragaw North #1 defeated Tucker #2 for the loser's bracket title and a chance at the grand title in a battle with Alexander, the undefeated winner's bracket champ. The championship game will be Monday, March 23.

Phi Kappa Tau downed Sigma

Phi Epsilon for the loser's bracket championship in fraternity handball and will meet undefeated Sigma Alpha Mu for the grand crown Monday night.

Delta Sigma Phi, winner's bracket champion in fraternity table tennis, is still waiting for a challenger from the loser's bracket. Phi Kappa Tau and Sigma Pi will play tonight to decide who will play Sigma Phi Epsilon for the loser's bracket championship. The winner of this game will meet the Delta Sig team for the table tennis crown.

Jim Swain Is Bowling Finalist

James Swain, a sophomore civil engineering major from Sanford, will be one of 55 finalists in the twelfth annual A.C.U. National Intercollegiate Bowling Championships in Oakland, Calif., on April 5th and 6th.

Swain, who is 19, has a season bowling average of 185. His highest game in league competition was 241 and his three game series high was 650.

Campus and regional competitions, rolled at accredited schools lead to the national championships, now in their twelfth year. Thirteen thousand students, representing 175 schools, bowled in the 1964 preliminary events, before the 55 finalists were chosen.

Playboys Lead In Open League Bowling

After five weeks of bowling in the Open League, the Playboys are out in front with a 19-1 record. The All-Stars are second at 17-3, while the Strikers are third with a 12-8 record.

Wiegand, Brame, Wilhelm, and Green are leading the bowlers in pursuit of the high average trophy. The top four averages are 195, 190, 185, and 184 respectively.

Green has high set with a 195-213-237-645 series and Wilhelm has the high game of the league at 255.

Candidate Platforms Aired

"Do not think that I am saying the solution lies totally in the hands of the students. Plans are before the administration at the present time for a new college union, part of which will be totally dedicated to providing a campus information center, and enlargement on the present ECU main desk facilities. Therefore, I believe this problem will be solved in a matter of time."

Atkins—"I don't see that the problem of informing the students is as grave a one as has been implied within the last two weeks. I feel that the Campus Crier, the News Activities Letter, and the ECU activities calendar are sound, basic means for informing the student who is seeking to be informed. These three items are distributed by one means or another to almost the entire student body. I feel that the problem now is in hand, and too many information mediums could cause confusion. Concerning poster placement on campus, Student Government has regument are supporting John Atkins.

IDC president Jim Poteat says that "after studying the platforms and qualifications of the candidates, I cannot help but feel that Atkins is the man for the job and that he will serve the interest of the Interdormitory Council."

SG secretary Jackie Mitchell stated that he also feels Atkins is the better qualified candidate for the presidency.

To the Editors:

lated candidates this year in the placement of their posters. This is a definite improvement to the attractiveness of our campus, and is a definite improvement over the mass clutter of posters we have seen in past elections."

Q.—Are there any other comments you wish to make concerning your platform or any other related subjects?

Atkins—"In my platform, I have stated the desire to help build a stronger school spirit. School spirit is not only the yelling and enjoyment of a victory in an athletic event, but it is a feeling within the student for his campus and for North Carolina State. School spirit and enthusiasm is not only attending athletic events on campus, but it is showing an interest in other activities of student concern on campus—it is showing an interest in Student Government. I would like to see the day when a student speaks to his fellow classmate on campus instead of lowering his head to the ground. I would like to see the day when we are unified as a student body and unified in our support of student feelings and ideas. Student Government's strongest power is only the power of recommendation. The power of recommendation is "powerless" without the support and backing of the students. I seek to build student enthusiasm and student spirit in order to build Student Government's power of recommendation. I urge the students to vote Thursday. I urge them to look into each candidate's record and to study his qualifications before making their decision. I ask you, my fellow students of North Carolina State to review my qualifications and I ask you for your support at the polls."

Johnston—"My platform has been distributed to many students, has been printed in part by The Technician, and has been discussed over WKNC. I will qualify my platform by simply stating that its intent is 'to put the student back in Student Government committees and activities will permit a greater influx of ideas in order to better define the nature of Student Government on the North Carolina Campus. It is my sincerest wish that each student have some positive realization of student Government next year. I urge each student to remember to vote in Thursday's election and simply urge also that they cast their ballot for the candidate that best expresses their own particular views."

Progress in the Bell System...

SWIMS...

ORBITS...

BEAMS...

FLASHES...

PUSHES...

BURROWS...

WINKS...

BLINKS...

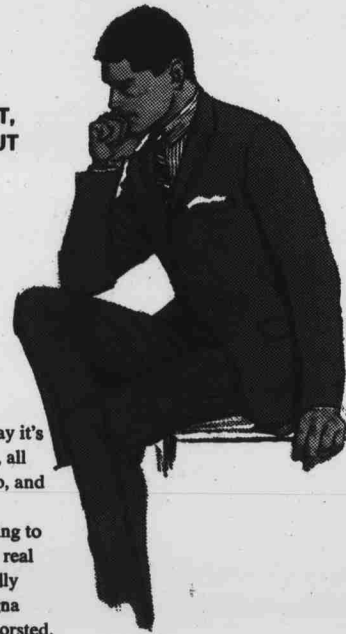

AND LIVES AND BREATHES...

Progress takes many shapes in the Bell System. And among the shapers are young men, not unlike yourself, impatient to make things happen for their companies and themselves. There are few places where such restlessness is more welcomed or rewarded than in the fast-growing phone business.

IF YOU'RE SMART, YOU'LL COME OUT OF THE DARK AND INTO CLAY OR PUTTY

Because that's the way it's going to be this year, all over. Fashion says so, and smart young men everywhere are turning to Cricketeer to get the real color story in naturally tailored suits of Magna 2 x 2 Dacron® and worsted. How smart can you be?
