Pre-registration To Be Here Next Fall

Students will no longer have to suffer with the long registration lines in the fall if they will comply with the pre-registration procedure.

The new system requires that every student who expects to return in the fall see his advisor during the pre-registration period of April 6-17.

During this period students will go over their plans with their advisor for summer school and other factors which will enable them to make the most accurate requests for courses next fall.

Graduation Date Set For May 29

Graduation exercises for the current school year will take place on Friday, May 29, instead of May 30, as previously stated.

In making the announcement, Chancellor Caldwell indicated that the change was made because of a conflict with state election primaries on May 30.

The schedule for final examinations is also affected, with all exams moved up one day. May 21 is now set as the first day of exams. The correct final exam schedule is printed on page two of this issue.

Cops "Thick As Flies" At Daytona During Break

By Jim Kear

Student reactions to experiences at Daytona Beach, Florida, this Easter vacation were varied, to say the least.

Responses to the question, "How did you like Daytona?" ranged from gleeful squeals and hearty exclamations of sheer joy, to disgruntled snarls and indifferent shrugs.

Richard Stein, a freshman from State, noted "Daytona was great, but the vacation was about a month too short. I could have sworn I left to come back before my eyes got used to the glare!"

Joy Tamblin and Nancy Rendrick from Old Dominion College in Norfolk giggled excitedly and promised "We're going back next week to use the second half of our bottle of suntan oil." When queried about how they would find the time next week, they replied they would simply have to miss a class or two!

A Carolina student named Bill Williams from nearby Chapel Hill remarked, "The organized concerts were great. The kids were unbelievable. But that place undoubtedly has the ugliest cops in the world."

Two more State students, who asked that their names be with-

The student who pre-registers will have the three months during the summer to make any changes in courses. The tuition bills will be sent out by August. Students who have paid their tuition and fees on time need not return to the campus until Sunday, September 13, the day before classes start.

Applications Are Open For Volunteer Program

The deadline for applying to join the North Carolina Volunteers is April 5.

Application forms are available at the Erdahl-Cloyd Union and Peele Hall or further information can be obtained by writing Jim Beatty at P. O. Box 687 in Durham. Beatty is director of the program.

Any student in a North Carolina college or university is eligible to apply. Its purpose is to provide competent volunteer student leadership to help fight poverty in North Carolina. The Volunteers will conduct tutorial programs, run day care centers, and assist with health services.

Each Volunteer will be paid $250 and given room and board for 11 weeks during the summer, beginning June 10. They will live in college dormitories or in homes in communities participating in the program.

held until they broke the news at home some year, spent the night last Saturday in Daytona's Municipal jail. They were accompanied by some of the other 130 or so young collegians arrested on the beach that day. Their reactions were somewhat different. They described the police as "efficient" and "thick as flies" and also in some other words which were quite unprintable.

The two students claimed that the police should have more to do than annoy fun-loving teenagers tossing girls around on blankets. "They should have been out arresting crooks and stopping speeders, not confiscating our refreshments," said one of the nose-peeling, brown-shouldered lads.

The other, a trifle more burned than browned, commented on the motel accommodations. "I was surprised at the prices in Daytona. My room cost me only four dollars a night. Of course I shared it with eleven other guys, but still, I was surprised to arrive back here with almost two dollars in my pocket instead of the fifty cents my folks predicted."

Student Staff Member Killed In Auto Mishap

Gerald Lee Gardner, Jr., counselor for the dean of men at State died as the result of an automobile accident March 25.

The candidate for masters degree in educational psychology was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon, Omicron Delta Kappa, Sigma Delta Chi, the Iron Arrow, and the Order of Omega.

Gardner, a Charlotte resident, was named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges in 1960 and 1961.

The 25-year-old student was born in Winston-Salem and educated in the Charlotte school system. In 1961, he graduated from the University of Miami with a degree in Business Administration.

Funeral services were held at 3 p.m. Friday at Hankins and Whittington Funeral Chapel in Charlotte. Burial was in Sharon Memorial Park following the services at which Friendship Lodge brothers, of which he was a member, were active pallbearers.

Technician Sponsors "Stuff-A-Car" Contest

The Technician has finally come up with something for State students to do in their spare time.

The paper is sponsoring a "Stuff-A-Car" contest next Wednesday at 6 p.m.

Meredith students are invited to join the fun. Groups may be composed of both males and females or all male and all female.

Members of the winning team will receive free passes to the Ford CARavan April 10 at the Coliseum.

The stuffing car will be a four-door 1954 Ford on loan from Sanders Motor Company. It will be brought to campus today and remain here until the contest is over.

Judging will be done on the basis of which team gets the most people in the car. Doors must be closed, but the windows will be down. At least 50 per cent of each person's body must be under the roof of the car. There will be no hiding in the trunk or under the hood and no removing steering wheels, gear sticks, and other apparatus in the car.

However, students may remove their shoes and as much other clothing as decency will permit.

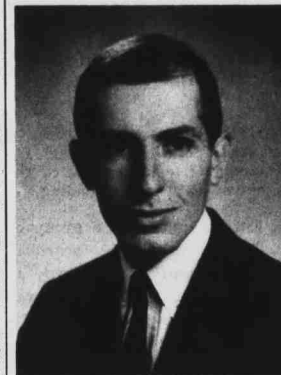

The site for the car stuffing was to be decided sometime today. It will be somewhere on campus. Posters will be put up around campus to announce the place.

Each team entering the contest must be composed of State or Meredith students. Each team may have an advisor to direct the stuffing. The advisor to the winning team will also receive a free ticket to the CARavan. He or she need not

Candidates To Take Part In Discussion

By Ernie McCrary

Gubernatorial candidates L. Richardson Preyer, Dan K. Moore, and I. Beverly Lake will participate in a panel discussion Sunday, April 5, at 3 p.m. in the Erdahl-Cloyd Union Ballroom.

Jerry Gardner

The three-way meeting is being sponsored by the Presbyterian Student Fellowships from State, Duke, and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

According to Dr. Donald W. Shriver, campus pastor of West Raleigh Presbyterian Church who will serve as moderator of the program, certain rules will be observed during the proceedings. Each candidate, in alphabetical order, will make an introductory statement which is not to be longer than 20 minutes. The other hour of the program will be used to answer questions from the audience. All questions will be written on cards furnished by the ushers.

No demonstrations aside from normal applause will be permitted during the discussion.

The program will not be carried on radio or television, but Dr. Shriver said a tape recording will be made. The recording, however, will not be released to the public.

Students will be given priority in seating in the Ballroom, Dr. Shriver said. They should arrive before 2:50 p.m. to obtain seats.

Intern To Aid GOP Congressman

Mike Scofield, a junior in political science, will be an aide to a Republican congressman this summer.

He will be paid a salary of $50 per week by the center.

He has been selected to receive one of the five political internships offered to college students in North Carolina.

The other interns are from Duke, Wake Forest College, Appalachian State Teachers College, and UNCCH. About 15 students entered the contest, Holtzman said.

The intern program is being sponsored by the North Carolina Center for Education and Politics for the first time this year.

The applicants had to submit a statement on why they wanted the job and to indicate his political background.

Scofield's boss will be named later by Professors Abraham Holtzman of State and Don Matthews of UNCCH; members of the center. He will work in Washington from the first of June until August 15 and will be looking forward to working and seeing the political process in operation. He is a Republican from New Jersey.

Each intern will be assigned to a congressman of their political preference.

- Campus Crier -

The Ag Ed Club will meet tonight at 7 p.m. in Tompkins Hall. Pictures will be taken of freshmen who went on the fall field trip.

There will be an American Institute of Physics meeting Monday at 7 p.m. in the Burlington Reactor Building. Elections will follow a speech by George Benton, professor and chairman of Department of Mechanics at Johns Hopkins.

Fadum Chosen As CE Speaker

Dr. Ralph Fadum, State's Dean of Engineering, will be the principle speaker for one of Indiana's most important civil engineering meetings of the year. He will be making the talk at Purdue University in Lafayette, Indiana.

A native of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and for many years a resident of Niagara Falls, New York, Dr. Fadum received his B.S. degree in Civil Engineering from the University of Illinois in 1935. He was awarded an M.S. and D. Sc. degree from Harvard University and last year was awarded the Honorary Doctor of Engineering degree from Purdue University.

The dean has been invited to address a joint banquet tonight of the Indiana Section of the American Society of Civil Engineers and the ASCE Student Chapters of Indiana's four engineering schools. These are located at Purdue, Rose Polytechnic Institute, the University of Notre Dame, and Valparaiso University.

Approximately 800 people are expected to attend the event. Dr. Fadum will address the joint gathering on "The Future of Civil Engineering."

Dr. Fadum is an authority in the field of soil mechanics and foundations. He served in a number of advisory capacities, being a member of the U. S. Army Scientific Advisory Panel, the N. C. Governor's Scientific Advisory Committee, the U. S. Army Mobility Command Advisory Group, and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads Research Advisory Committee.

Prior to his joining the State faculty, the dean held positions on the faculties of Purdue University, and Harvard University.

Thirty and Three will meet at noon Friday in the lounge of the Student Government office.

A black-rimmed pair of glasses with "St. John's Optician's, Tampa, Florida" on it. Finder is asked to contact W. T. White in 241 Tucker.

A five-dollar reward is offered for the return of a 1946 State class ring. The owner, Marvin Mason, may be reached at TE 4-0578 after 6 p.m.

The School of Education is sponsoring a lecture-demonstration by Dr. Ralph S. Ackers of the U. S. Army Engineers School at Fort Belvoir, Virginia. It will be in Riddick Auditorium from 12:30 to 2 p.m.

Step Right Up

State students will have probably their one and only opportunity to hear North Carolina gubernatorial candidates Richardson Preyer, I. Beverly Lake, and Dan K. Moore speak together in a panel discussion.

Students will be allowed to ask the candidates questions and should be able to formulate some opinion on the candidates when the meeting is over.

All of these candidates represent the democratic point of view, probably the only permissible view allowed by the state of North Carolina in gubernatorial races. But regardless of political preferences, whoever wins will be the head of a legislative body that determines to a great extent the prosperity of this campus. He will be the man whose influence carries a tremendous weight for State students when such issues as the gag law, the name change, and budget appropriations are considered.

Quite obviously, this man will use the spoils system to promote what he thinks is best... whether it is to give this institution some grosser, if it be possible, name or to deny the campus the new buildings it needs.

Not all of the 21 years and over students will be able to vote for a candidate because they are not residents of this state. But even they should have an interest in the gubernatorial race since they, too, are under the governor's jurisdiction.

Despite the fact that a large number of eligible students inevitably will not vote, the discussion among these candidates should prove to be highly enlightening. At least it will provide interested people with an opportunity to get a first hand view and earful of three anxious politicians.

Coliseum Gone, But . . . ?

We are holding our breath on the new pre-registration system. It will probably be a touchy subject for students and professors alike in the upcoming weeks when students begin making out their schedules for next fall.

The system has its merits. For one thing, students will not be required to undergo the usual registration battles at the Coliseum. They won't have to worry about standing in long lines for courses and getting turned down when they finally reach the end.

These problems will be wiped out, but only to make room for more, perhaps worse, problems. Now students can expect to be confronted with such inconveniences as the risk of getting Saturday classes, early morning and late afternoon classes, and even night classes.

But the real problem is the fact that probably only a small percentage of students are even interested in next fall's schedule, much less willing to volunteer a visit with their advisors in the middle of the semester.

So when the professors start yelling about spending their time running down students and the students start yelling about a trip to their advisors' offices, the pre-registration system will have undergone its greatest test.

Science Council Plans To Feed PSAM Students

The Science Council is sponsoring an eat-all-you-want barbeque supper April 10 for members of the School of Physical Sciences and Applied Math.

Students, both graduate and undergraduate, dates, and faculty members in the school may pick up tickets at the chemistry, physics, math, or statistics departmental offices before 6 p.m. April 8.

Each student will be charged 10 cents per ticket in order for the council to keep track of the number of people attending.

Entertainment by a group of folk singers will be provided. The meal will get underway at 6 p.m. and will probably be over by 8 p.m. The meal will consist of barbeque, potato salad, hush puppies, pie, and drinks.

Letter To The Editor

Bynum's Politics Defended

To the Editor:

On March 19, an editorial appeared in The Technician that I feel I must offer a differing opinion to. It was implied that the president of our student body did not have the right to participate in the activities of statewide politics, as long as he was president of Student Government.

Let me say first that since I am not a resident of the state of North Carolina, I have no personal connection with the Governor's race in this state other than a normal amount of curiosity.

Had Mr. Bynum used his position as our president to try and persuade his fellow students to vote for his candidate, I would have to be in complete agreement with the author of the editorial. However, this is not the case. The only work that he has done with the students has been an indirect connection with any students who happened to be at the recent basketball tournaments on this campus. I think that we will all agree that the great majority of the people who attended these games were not State students. Nothing else that Mr. Bynum has done has been even remotely connected with State students. The main job that he is trying to accomplish is to line up people on other campuses and our own to handle the campaigning for him. He is merely the statewide coordinator.

Another complaint that the students could have concerning these activities would be logical if Mr. Bynum had been neglecting his duties as our student body president. This, I can assure you, is not the case.

In all truth, the only thing that we have established here is a type of NCS "gag law." Mr. Bynum has been elected our president. Therefore, he can no longer say anything about off-campus affairs. This I think we can all say is not right.

When Mr. Bynum begins to use his title to try and influence our students, then let us gripe. But in the meantime why don't we all stop and congratulate at least one student on this campus who does something besides carry a slide rule. I believe that the acceptance of Mr. Bynum of this post is not a violation of the trust that our students have given him. Rather I feel that it is an honor to our campus to have one of our students selected for this high position.

Circle K To Help In Pancake Deal

This Tuesday the Capitol City Kiwanis Club, one of the sponsoring organizations of the N. C. State Circle K Club, is holding a pancake supper at the Catholic gymnasium on Western Boulevard.

Members of the State Circle K Club are helping serve, but the cooking will be done by "people who know how to please hungry men," according to Bob Hart, Circle K ticket salesman. Special rates are available if you can prove that you are a child, Hart said. Serving will be from 4:30 until 9 p.m.

For tickets or more information, contact any Circle K member or call Bob Hart at 834-8276 for free ticket delivery.

Greeks Hear Jenkins

Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, president of East Carolina College, was guest speaker at the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity Founder's Day Banquet at the North Hills Steak House Saturday night.

Dr. Jenkins, a Lambda Chi, is one of the outstanding educators of the South. His speech on the topic of "maximum citizenship" was one of the high spots of the banquet.

Preceding Dr. Jenkins' address, several awards were given to outstanding brothers. The awards section of the program was highlighted and concluded with the crowning of the 1964 Lambda Chi Alpha Crescent Girl, Miss Linda Goodwin, of Peace College.

Following the banquet the White Rose Ball was held in honor of the newly crowned Crescent Girl.

The banquet and ball were attended by more than 150 people.

Founder's Day is celebrated annually by the brothers of Lambda Chi Alpha in observance of the institution of the fraternity ritual and ideals on March 22, 1913.

Spring Intramural Golf Tourney Gets Underway

The first NCS Intramural Golf Tournament will be held at the Wildwood Golf Club now through May 15. The tournament is open to the students, faculty, and staff and will be match play.

Entrance fee is $5.00 and includes the 18 hole qualifying round and each match played. The fee is $1.00 for those participants who are members of the Wildwood Club. Due to the crowded conditions of the golf course on Saturdays and Sundays, play will be limited to Monday through Friday.

All participants must register at the Pro Shop at the Wildwood course before playing. Qualifying rounds will be held now through April 15. The first, second, and third rounds will be played from April 16 through May 8, with the finals being May 11-15.

Following the qualifying round, participants will be put in flights of 16 people. No handicap will be used. These flights will be posted at the Intramural Office on April 16.

Last Intramural Sports To Begin

With only two months remaining in the spring semester, softball, track, tennis, badminton, and horseshoes still remain on the intramural program. Although softball is the only sport now in progress, the others will begin in the near future.

Softball will resume in both the fraternity and dormitory leagues while the Open League began today. On April 6, action will start in dormitory horseshoes and tennis. These two sports will begin Tuesday, April 7, in the fraternity league.

Badminton competition will begin in both leagues during the following week.

Pack Golfers Win Dual Meet

Wolfpack golfers captured a dual victory Tuesday in non-conference regional action. State topped Davidson by a 14½ to 6½ score and downed Princeton by a 15 to 6 tally.

Medalist honors for the Pack went to Ed Barnes and Richard Godwin, both of whom finished the meet with three-over-par 75's to lead in the double victory.

Four charred girls from Duke in a sandy Corvaair, stuffed with straw handbags and sweatshirts from seven different schools, cried such idioms as "I'm never going home to dull old Miami again!" and "Ouch! If you touch my back again I'm going t o . . ." and "I have never seen so much skin in my whole life."

Chick Lamm from USC summed the vacation up briefly when he was asked about the swimming at Daytona last week. "Man, what swimming? I was too busy having the ball of my life to fret over things like swimming, sleeping, eating, or relaxing. Say do you happen to know what day it is? I think school must be just around the corner somewhere." The University of South Carolina resumes class today. Chick may have just made it, except that he left Raleigh traveling north.

Can you avoid living in "Jamsville"?

It won't be easy. By 1980 most Americans will live in 40 large metropolitan areas—each with more than a million population. To keep your community from becoming a "Jamsville" will take people with ideas—ideas that can help cities move more traffic swiftly, safely and economically.

Some of the ideas come from the men and women of General Electric who, in effect, form a "Progress Corps."

In major cities, they're helping to develop balanced transportation built around rapid rail-transit systems . . . and they're providing advanced equipment to power and control the trains. They're also developing a TV monitoring system that enables a single engineer to control miles of auto traffic . . . a jet engine that speeds commuters in a hydrofoil ship over the waves . . . and another jet engine to lift travelers over traffic via turbocopter at 150 mph.

Traffic is only one of many problems General Electric people are working on. Their numerous projects, in this country and around the world, demand a variety of talents: engineering, finance, marketing, law, physics and many others.

If you'd like to join the "Progress Corps" after graduation, talk to your placement director. He can help qualified young people begin their careers at General Electric.
