Contest Offers Passes To CARavan Of Music

The skinnier the better—That's the good word from students recruiting teams for The Technician's "Stuff-A-Car" Contest Wednesday at 6 p.m. in the Erdahl-Cloyd Union parking lot.

The winning team will be the one with the most students stuffed into a 1954 Ford car now parked in front of the Union. Some "experts" on the art of car stuffing predict that at least 30 students can be crammed in the car, but one "crackpot" returning from the Azalea Festival Sunday night said "surty-shree."

A spokesman for WRAL-TV said the television station plans to film part of the contest to be run on their Wednesday night news. TV cameramen were to come to campus today to film pictures of the car for the station's 6 o'clock news tonight.

A group called "The Winners" from Becton Dorm has declared itself a candidate for first place.

An unnamed group of skinny fellows from Bragaw is also expected to show up and a group from Turlington, who tentatively call themselves the "Turlington Tar-Tuffers" is also being organized.

Students who wish to participate but are not part of a group are encouraged to show up at the contest anyway, particularly if they weigh under 150 pounds. There is a chance that a team could stuff another batch of bones in.

The car-stuffers must have at least 50 per cent of their body in the car and the doors

Curfew Hours Announced For Coed Dormitory

If you are walking home next year and see a young woman climbing up the side of Watagua Dorm on a bed sheet don't worry about it. She will have missed the proposed midnight curfew.

Mrs. H. G. Miller, womens advisor for State said last night that a curfew of midnight on week nights and 2 a.m. on Friday and Saturday is under consideration. Mrs. Miller said that she hoped that the girls would be able to set up their own rules after the dorm has been occupied next year. The suggested curfew is merely a guide proposed by the Womens Campus Code Board to help next year's occupants.

UCLA has a similar curfew for girls under 21 but recently lifted the curfew restrictions for older girls. Since most of the girls in the girls' dorm will probably be freshmen, some curfew restrictions would not be out of line even with the liberal point of view expressed by UCLA.

Mrs. Miller said that some research has been done regarding the curfew. The southern and southeastern schools seem to be more rigid in restricting women.

must be closed, but the windows will be down. The decision of the judges will be final.

All contestants must be either State or Meredith students.

Everybody in the car for the winning team will receive free tickets to the Ford CARavan show Friday night. The CARavan features Herbie Mann, Ron Eliran, The Moonshiners, and The Rooftop Singers.

Buddy Martin, from Turlington Dorm, is putting the finishing touches on the Sanders Ford which will be stuffed Wednesday. (Photo by McCallister)

Lake Denies Poverty Problem As Gubernatorial Candidates Air Opinions

By Ernie McCrary

An estimated crowd of 900 jammed the Ballroom of the Erdahl-Cloyd Union yesterday to witness the first meeting of the three major Democratic gubernatorial candidates.

Dr. I. Beverly Lake, Dan K. Moore, and L. Richardson Preyer each made short speeches and then fielded questions from the audience for more than an hour.

The speeches amounted to mere preliminary remarks and offered no surprises to anyone. Virtually all topics covered by the opening comments received attention in the question and answer session.

Dr. Lake created the greatest stir of the evening when he flatly denied the existence of a poverty problem in North Carolina. He said, "As I have traveled from the coast up to the mountains, I have been looking in recent weeks for this poverty we've been talking about, and I just can't find it." He mentioned the reasonably well-dressed children, the running water and electricity in homes, the televisions in almost every living room, and the automobiles in nearly every driveway throughout the state. He concluded, "This is a great state—it is not poverty-ridden."

Candidates Preyer and Moore emphatically admitted the presence of a poverty problem and proposed to attack it by education and increased industrial development.

Concerning the gag law, Moore and Preyer agreed that some modifications should be made in it to allow non-political speeches by communists on the campuses of state-supported colleges, but Dr. Lake made no concessions. He contended that all communists are members of a conspiracy against freedom and should not be allowed to speak for any reason.

The three were asked what they planned to do about developing job opportunities for Negroes if elected. Preyer said he wanted more jobs for everyone, but since the proportion of unemployed Negroes is so high he said he would work closely with the Good Neighbor Council to solve the problem.

Moore said he believed in equality of job opportunity but said the individual must help himself by being as well prepared as possible.

Dr. Lake declared he would not develop job opportunities, as such, for either Negroes or whites. By working for in-

NASA Makes Space-Grant To Graduate Program

State has received a $147,000 grant to implement a three-year graduate training program in space-related sciences.

The graduate students who are to receive training in this program are to be selected from throughout the United States this spring.

Phillips Asks For Social Dates From Organizations

Dave Phillips, assistant coordinator of Social and Cultural Affairs, has announced that all the organizations planning social programs for the 1964-65 school year must have their dates and programs in to him on or before April 23, 1963.

Phillips added that it is becoming extremely difficult to schedule social events without conflict, and it would be to the organization's advantage to select dates and establish programs as soon as possible.

Designers Host Annual IDEA Convention

The Ninth Annual Industrial Designers Education Association annual meeting was held at the School of Design this weekend.

Opening lectures were given by professor Duncan Stuart of the School of Design, and by Dr. E. E. Bernard of the Psychology Department. Friday afternoon was occupied by a panel discussion concerning "Areas of Attack for the IDEA". After the panel discussion a dinner was held at Ballentine's restaurant and at 8 p.m. Professor William Katavalos, head of Industrial Design at Parsons School of Design, gave a lecture titled "Design Organics".

Student work from seven schools in the U. S. and from four foreign schools was presented on film and slides Saturday morning. State was represented by the student display currently in the jury room in Brooks Hall. Product Design department head Victor J. Papanek said, "Everyone felt the student exhibition was unusually fine. The student publication of the School of Design was also well received; the guests bought over $300 worth of back and current issues."

The discussions prompted by the lectures given generally centered around the thought that computers may replace designers in the future. Jay Doblin, head of the Institute of Design at Illinois Institute of Technology, presented work done by a computer at IIT this year. Doblin indicated the computer, even when expertly programmed by designers, engineers and mathematicians, could not replace the designer at present. Next year's convention will be held at the Philadelphia Museum College of Art.

Voluntary ROTC Being Considered By Committee

The Student Government Academic Affairs Committee is now investigating the possibility of non-mandatory ROTC at State.

A bill, introduced by Bill Howle last Thursday, mandated the committee to do the investigation.

These are some quotes from the mandate: "Whereas, the Morrill Land Grant Act of 1862 made funds available to all state colleges and universities that would offer, but not necessarily make compulsory a ROTC program, and whereas, both the Department of Defense and the Department of Army have endorsed voluntary programs, but continue to leave the choice . . . up to the institutions, and whereas, ROTC is of questionable academic value . . ."

The committee will report back on its findings within six weeks.

A second bill, entitled "A Resolution Affirming the Rights of a Faculty Member as a Citizen of the Total Community," also was passed by the legislature.

Parts of the bill read: "This Body strongly affirms the right of the faculty member to act on his beliefs in the civic community . . . it is both contrary to public interest and a violation of recognized rights accrued to every citizen alike for such external pressures to be brought to bear on the officers of a school in order to curtail the lawful social action of a faculty member." The bill referred to the "external pressures" of the state government.

Curtiss Moore, not a legislative member, was given the floor by the body and introduced the bill.

U.S. Hero Dies After Death Battle

The death of Senator General Douglas MacArthur Sunday has brought sorrow to the nation.

Dr. Harry Kelly, dean of the faculty, who was the 84-year-old war hero's scientific advisor in Japan from 1946 until 1950, said, "I have deep respect for General MacArthur. Our job in Japan was to help the Japanese get on their feet economically and culturally. As far as the general was concerned, every action was directed toward that end."

"MacArthur always encouraged us to look to the future and consider what Japan's relations with us might be twenty years from then. As far as science is concerned, his policy has proved to be a wise one."

MacArthur died in Walter Reed Army Medical Center following a series of internal ailments. His body will lie in state at the Seventh Regimental Armory Tuesday. The body will then be returned to Washington by train and, following a procession, will lie on view in the great rotunda of the capitol building for a day.

The already-immortalized soldier will then lie in state at the General Douglas MacArthur Memorial at Norfolk, Va. The funeral Saturday will follow services at St. Paul's Church in Norfolk, with burial in the MacArthur Memorial.

and health, government, military, teaching, telephone and electric utilities, accounting, printing, banking, journalism, and advertising.

High school students will be allowed to visit the project during the day and in the evening sessions the general public is invited.

State Students Have Invitation To Career Week

The Raleigh Junior Chamber of Commerce has invited all interested State students to Raleigh's first "Career Week" to be held in Memorial Auditorium, April 6-8. The project is primarily for high school students, but any interested college students are welcome.

"Career Week" will present some forty employers, from different vocations, in booths. These booths will have displays, literature, and audio-visual aids to help students explore vocational opportunities.

Some of the vocational areas to be represented are: medical

Applications For Orientation Leaders Available

Applications for orientation leader or assistant for fall semester are now available at the main desk of the Union. These applications must be turned in to the Student Government Office or the main desk by April 18.

Twenty-five leaders and 25 assistants are needed to participate in this program for men. An indefinite number of girls will be needed. Girls wishing to apply may turn in their applications to Alice Herter or the Union Main desk.

The participants must be at State by September 8. During orientation week, meals will be furnished for all involved.

The Commission urges all conscientious students to take this opportunity to serve their school and, at the same time, to learn more about the institution which they attend.

FOURTH DORM

EDITOR'S NOTE:

This column is the first in a series of weekly commentaries.

Progress is not the university's most important product but it is one of the most dangerous. The application of the word progress to the destruction of Fourth Dorm has all but brought the building down.

During the summer of 1964, Fourth Dorm will be destroyed to make way for another addition to the School of Design. Listed in the government loan agreements as the worst in condition and the least serviceable in terms of capacity, the destruction of the dorm has caused only passing comment.

Fourth Dorm was once known as "Bloody Fourth" because of all the fights and pranks, the hazing and the hell raising. Things have settled down quite a bit since the days when students set off bombs that went through the entire building, first floor to the roof, but the pranks are not what make Fourth what it is.

Fourth is a well proportioned, handsomely executed building representing a period of American architecture that was warm and human in many ways. Fourth also is representative of the early idea of a college way of life. It is rich in tradition, and beautiful, in its age and manner.

It seems so foolish to destroy such a handsome old building in the name of progress. It seems so much more so since it will be destroyed to make way for a new addition to the School of Design. All the objections to the destruction of historically and architecturally valuable buildings seem to vanish when the objections come home to roost. Next they will be razing Holladay Hall so that State can have a new administration building that is as new and shiny as the one that someone has somewhere else.

Women's Assoc. Picks Officers

Betty VanDyke was elected president of the Women's Association.

Adele Jones has been named vice president and Carol Chacto has become the new secretary. Martha Neal was elected treasurer.

The association, which was organized last year, is open to all coeds. Luncheon meetings are held each Wednesday at noon in the Erdahl-Cloyd Union.

On April 8, N. B. Watts, director of Student Housing, will speak to the coeds on the coed dorm to be ready next fall.

Professor Al Lowenstein will be the guest speaker April 15.

Owen To Speak In Charlotte

Dr. Guy Owen, associate professor of English at State, has been selected as the principal speaker for the Danforth Southeastern Regional Conference meeting in Charlotte May 6, 7, and 8.

Dr. Owen will deliver three lectures on "Religious Values in Contemporary Literature."

The group is made up of college teachers and their wives who are associates of the Danforth Foundation in the tri-state area of Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina.

In Letter President-elect Thanks Sophomores

To the Editor: In the recent campus elections, I was chosen to be the Junior Class president for next year in what must have been one of the closest class elections ever held.

I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation and sincere thanks to the members of the present Sophomore Class who placed me in this position.

Through an honest effort on the part of everyone, the Junior Class presidency can next year be a meaningful office to all in our class. I hope that members of our class will, at any time, express to me their personal opinion on issues affecting the class. Each student should have a real voice in class affairs.

Orchids To The Presbyterians

The Presbyterian Westminster Fellowship of State, Carolina, and Duke are to be congratulated for the program which they brought to this campus yesterday.

The forum, which brought together for the first time during the campaign on a single platform the three principal gubernatorial candidates, was a rare opportunity for students of this university and a fine example of the kind of service which similar student groups can provide for the university community.

It was unfortunate that the large crowd of more than 900 persons did not permit spontaneous questions from the audience, or else the afternoon might have been livelier than it was.

Unrealistic Look By Lake

"As I traveled from the coast on up to the mountains, I have been looking in recent weeks for this poverty we've been talking about, and I just can't find it."

This statement by gubernatorial candidate I. Beverly Lake in yesterday's dialogue in among the three major candidates in the Erdahl-Cloyd Union drew the most unfavorable reaction of the afternoon.

It is not known on which highways the candidate traveled or on which side of the road he looked, but it might be a good idea for Dr. Lake to buy a pair of sunglasses of a less rosy hue and take that trip again if he wants to be governor.

A Reminder

It has recently been brought to our attention that some of the students as well as the faculty members have been shocked and embarrassed by the behavior of dating couples in the grove. Everyone understands that students park in this area to say goodnight; however, there is a difference between saying goodnight and spending three hours in a parked car to date—in public.

There is a place for everything, and considering visitors on the campus, faculty members coming to meetings at night, and seniors parking their cars in this area, the grove is not the place for lengthy "making out." While on the subject, there are also girls who cannot seem to refrain from unnecessary affection in the day time. With new students and their parents visiting the campus almost daily, it is only courteous that we present a good appearance. Meredith has a very good reputation now, but it only takes one black mark to blot a large white page.

Pack Is 4-5 After Two Weeks Of Play

State's Wolfpack ended a two week, nine game home stand Saturday afternoon by storming Ohio University 8-3. The Pack had been beaten twice by the Bobcats in Thursday and Friday games, 3-2 and 6-4.

The win gives State a 4-5 record, all games being non-conference. This afternoon, the Pack traveled to Greenville to meet the East Carolina Pirates before starting Atlantic Coast Conference competition Friday with the Tar Heels in Chapel Hill.

State started its 1964 diamond schedule March 23, against Dartmouth which the visitors won 2-0. It was the first of three straight losses for the Pack as Kent State and Michigan State took 5-3 and 9-2 victories.

On March 27, State took its first win of the season by stopping Connecticut 6-5 in the ninth inning. Larry Clary put the Pack ahead in the first frame with a three run home run, the lead held until the U-conns rallied for five runs in the fifth inning; the Pack scored once in its half of the inning to trail, 5-4.

Ron Erb started the ninth with a triple and scored on a wild pitch to tie the game, 5-5. With two outs away and runners on first and third, Vic Sorrell, Jr. singled in the winning run. Buck Johnson was the winning pitcher, his record was then 1-1.

In its next two outings, State evened the overall record at 3-3 with victories over Yale, 3-0, and Delaware, 4-3. State sophomore Bobby Hicks shut out the Yale team on four hits for his first win of the season against one loss. The Pack scored once in the sixth and twice in the seventh as Sorrell, Erb, and Young crossed the plate.

State used nine walks and four errors to down Delaware 4-3. The winning run came in the seventh frame with the score tied 3-3. Clary doubled to start the inning and went to third on a single before scoring on a wild throw. Kent Montgomery picked up the win for a 1-0 record.

After State had lost twice to Ohio in two days, Buck Johnson picked up his second win of the season against one loss by stopping the Bobcats on five hits. State was behind, 2-0, going into the home half of the sixth frame, but scored eight times in the next three at-bats for the fourth win of the year. Lineberger paced the Pack with three hits in five trips to the plate, Johnson and Dean were two for four.

The game today with East Carolina will be the last non-conference game of the season. Starting with Carolina this Friday, the next 14 contests will be in the ACC.

Netters Drop Four, Then Win 2 Of 3

State's varsity netters started off their 1964 schedule with five non-conference matches before beginning ACC competition in South Carolina this past week-end, for an overall 2-5 record.

The five non-conference meets resulted in a 1-4 record, as the lone victory came after losing the first four. The Pack managed to win only three points out of a possible 35 in the four contests, two of which were 9-0 shut-outs and another was 8-1. The losses were to Amherst, Toledo, Ohio Wesleyan, and Washington & Lee. Jimmy Emmons, playing the number one position, figured in all three of State's points by winning two singles matches and, with Tilley Smith, one doubles.

The first win of the season came against Ohio University by a 7-2 score. Winning singles matches for the Pack were Jimmy Emmons, Tilley Smith, Benito Artinano, Pete Hooks and Jon Logue. Emmons and Smith teamed up to win a doubles match as did Logue and Artinano.

Clemson ruined the Pack's ACC debut with a 9-0 shutout Friday afternoon. On Saturday State made its conference record 1-1 by stopping the University of South Carolina (winless in 25 matches) by a 5-4 score. Jimmy Emmons, Benito Artinano, and Johnny Owens took singles victories while the teams of Emmons and Smith, and Owens and Mike Kokoska won two doubles matches.

On Wednesday and Friday of this week, State is home against Virginia and Maryland.

Increased industrialization more jobs will automatically become available, he said, and he suggested a system of trade schools to prepare people to be qualified for the new jobs.

In regard to the civil rights bill now before Congress, Moore stated, "It is wrong. Equality cannot be legislated." He made no commitment on what action might be taken on the state level, saying it would depend on what happens in Congress.

Preyer said his greatest objection is to the public accommodations section of the bill. He thinks "we're going the right way now" on the state level.

Dr. Lake implied that he would not enforce the bill if it is passed. He declared it is unconstitutional, then said he would not support an unconstitutional law if elected since it would be his job to uphold the constitution. "Enforcement of Federal law is not the responsibility of the governor of North Carolina," he said.

Moderator of the panel discussion was Dr. Donald Shriver, campus pastor of West Raleigh Presbyterian Church. As a final question, he asked the candidates if they favor lowering the minimum voting age from 21 to
