Academic Difficulties To Keep Corps Home

The Drum and Bugle Corps will not participate in the national competition to be held at the World's Fair in New York this weekend.

According to Col. Summers, the Corps will not compete due to the large number of key personnel who are on academic probation. The school has a policy that no one who is on probation is allowed to participate in extra curricular activities.

UNCG Passes Bill To Oppose Repeal Of Charter

The Student Government Association of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro has opposed a resolution abolishing a Negro university in Mississippi.

The NSA-sponsored bill was passed unanimously by Greensboro's Student Legislature Wednesday, April 22.

The bill passed by the University at Greensboro opposed bill 1672 of the Mississippi State Senate "as an obvious threat to the life of Tougaloo University."

Bill 1672 was presented to the Mississippi State Senate February 20, of this year, according to the resolution. The bill calls for the repeal of the charter of incorporation of Tougaloo University.

Bill 1672 has not yet been brought to the floor of the Senate, according to the resolution, but the Greensboro resolution urges the Senate to "bring Bill 1672 to the floor immediately and defeat it."

According to information received from NSA, students from Tougaloo College were active in voter registration projects last year.

Soils Professor Heads Committee Writing Dictionary

Adsorption complex, cation-exchange capacity, available water—these are three of the 1200 terms that will be defined in a new soil dictionary.

Dr. J. F. Lutz, professor of soil science, is chief dictionary maker. "Just in the last couple of months, I've spent over 100 hours on it," he revealed.

Lutz is chairman of the Committee on Terminology of the Soil Science Society of America. Under the direction of the Society, the Committee is writing the dictionary, he said.

The final draft will be submitted at the November convention of the Soil Science Society. If accepted, the manuscript will be published in an issue of the Society's periodical.

Commies May Dance; Just Can't Speak

Communist dancers may twist here.

The state attorney general's office has interpreted the Communist speaker ban law as not applying to performing artists such as dancers or singers.

Assistant attorney general Ralph Moody claimed that the performance of Communist dancers would not violate the law because "the performance of such a folk or ballet ensemble composed of Russian personnel is not an appearance on the campus . . . for speaking purposes." The law only affects Communists appearing on state-supported campuses for purposes of speaking, he declared.

Fraternity Accused Of Policy Violation

By Charles Wood

Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity has been placed on social probation for the remainder of the semester.

Informed sources indicated that the probation is a result attributed to the poor condition of their house and a party held early Sunday morning, which was not approved by the administration. The house had been warned previously on February 3 to improve the condition of their house by the Division of Student Affairs.

Joe McCall, president of the IFC, declined to comment, but indicated that the IFC was never contacted about this matter.

Tom Covington, assistant director of Student Activities, also declined comment in lieu of a more detailed discussion of the matter at a later time.

The brothers of the SAE Fraternity presented this statement to The Technician about their recent probation.

"We the brothers of N. C. Alpha of Sigma Alpha Epsilon have, with the news of the recent action taken upon our chapter in toto do readily accept, been thoroughly shocked and deeply taken back. We as a chapter in toto do readily acknowledge our mistakes in our attempts to fit into accordance with administration policies. We have taken it as a matter of course that the University administration would be inclined to take such infractions in at least a patient enough attitude so as to permit us under these new conditions to set ourselves in the proper manner. Three months have passed since we have moved into our new surroundings, and we are of the opinion that we have not had sufficient time to totally adjust ourselves in our actions to reconcile our past mistakes—certainly not enough time to justify such drastic punishment taken upon us today.

"We would like to believe that if we are intended to be made an example of what can happen if a fraternity fails to totally comply with a new and untried system of life, then at least we be treated fairly and be given latitude in such new and extenuating circumstances. We are aware that an atmosphere of confusion between the administration and the fraternities has existed in the past and

Grads To Return For Weekend

Friday and Saturday will host hundreds of alumni at the annual Alumni Weekend here at State.

Featuring celebrations of the silver and golden anniversaries of the classes of 1914 and 1939, the weekend also includes reunion dinners of the following classes: The Old Guard (1893-1913), 1919, 1924, 1929, 1934, 1944, 1949, 1954, and 1959.

Edmund Aycock, president of the N. C. State Alumni Association, announced luncheons, a reception, tours, and athletic events as other planned activities.

At a Friday luncheon Chancellor Caldwell will honor alumni and others known to have made bequests to the university.

At 10 a.m. Saturday Dr. Horace Hamilton, Reynolds professor of rural sociology, will speak in the Union on "Continuity and Change in Southern Migration."

Topping Saturday's activity is the Alumni Luncheon at which the association's annual awards are given. A new award, for the "outstanding young alumnus," will be presented for its first time this Saturday.

Committees Tie For Annual CU Award

The Lectures and Gallery Committees made a clean sweep of it when the awards were presented last night at the Erdahl-Cloyd Union's Intercommittee Reception.

Steve Johnston was honored as the year's outstanding Union committee chairman at the awards session reception.

Johnston, chairman of the Lectures Committee, was praised by Union President Dave Stewart for the programs presented this year, notably Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu's appearance here during her American speaking tour.

Janice Lee, of the Gallery Committee, was named outstanding committee member and the Second Annual Student Art Competition, still on display in the Union, was selected as the outstanding committee event.

The Outstanding Committee Award was declared a tie and awarded to both the Gallery Committee and the Lectures Committee. Gene Messick is chairman of the Gallery Committee and has served in the position for the past three years. Miss Lee will head the group next year.

New Arts Schedule Set For Next Year

The first performer in next fall's New Arts Series will be famous jazz musician Al Hirt.

A definite date for this first show of the series has not yet been set, according to Erdahl-Cloyd Union Program Director Dave Phillips, but will probably be scheduled for about October 1.

Other performers or groups who are already booked for next year are Peter Nero, the Brandywine Singers, and Josh White.

Two programs have not yet been decided. One will feature either the Four Freshmen or the Ramsey Lewis Trio. The other will be Beverly Wright with either Odetta or the Charlie Wright Trio.

Gamma Sigma Delta Has Awards Dinner

Gamma Sigma Delta initiated 27 seniors, 14 graduate students, five faculty members and two alumni last night at its annual banquet.

The agricultural science and education society also awarded the "senior certificate" to Donald Bruce Zobel for having the highest scholastic average of all seniors in the School of Forestry, the School of Agriculture and Life Sciences and the School of Physical Sciences.

Zobel has a grade point average of 3.94. He is majoring in forest management.

New officers installed at the banquet included Dr. J. E. Legates, professor of Animal Science, president; Dr. Ralph J. McCracken, head of the Department of Soil Science, vice president; and Dr. W. E. Splinter, professor of Agricultural engineering, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Gertrude Cox, director of the Statistics Research Division of the Research Triangle was the banquet speaker.

Senior initiates from the School of Forestry were Zobel, William Livingston Jr., Keith

What About The IFC?

The situation looks bad, but we're reserving judgment. The situation looks very poor for the administration. The Student Activities Office has placed the SAE fraternity on probation. They did this for what appears to be very good reasons, but they also acted without consulting or even notifying the Interfraternity Council. IFC is formulating social rules for the Fraternity Row. If the information given is correct, these rules have been violated. Why the investigations committee of IFC wasn't contacted is still an interesting question which we hope will be resolved by Student Activities. There must have been a good reason.

There certainly should be a good reason. Unilateral action by university officials without moving through the adopted form of self-government (the IFC) must be justified by special circumstances, or the system of self-government (the IFC) might as well admit that it's useless and retire.

We hope that Student Activities will give its reasons tomorrow. We sincerely hope that they're good.

Important Check

Veto power for the Student Government president will be considered tomorrow night.

A presidential veto has long been needed by Student Government. The inclusion of such power would give the body the beginnings of a true check-and-balance system.

The measure lessens the involvement of the president of Student government in the legislature.

In the past, the president has been in many ways, a figurehead for the body, exerting his influence only by speaking for or against a measure when he felt strongly about it, but having no means of going against a vote of the legislature.

In its most ludicrous form, this has resulted in a president of the student body going to the administration with a measure which he personally opposes. This is still possible, even with veto power, but only if the legislature feels strongly enough about the measure to override the veto by a two-thirds majority.

This should tend to strengthen the position of the president, since he will have the guarantee of not merely a simple majority, but, in effect, a two-thirds majority of the student body.

One other advantage of a presidential veto as this bill presents it is that it makes the student legislature a free agent, creating a true executive and legislative department in Student Government.

As the system stands now, the president can exert considerable pressure upon the legislature, simply by speaking for or against a measure. Howle stated the opinion that many of the lower senators; the freshmen and sophomores, would be reluctant to speak against the president.

There is no reason to suppose this is not true. A presidential veto, coupled with the requirement that any presidential inclusion in a debate would mean a forfeit of that veto, would prevent the president from using direct pressure upon the legislature.

The parallel to our own national government is obvious in this situation. The legislative, executive and judicial departments operate with a dependance upon each other. But at the same time they operate independently, with no direct way of exerting influence upon each other.

Veto power is one of the checks and balances which our national government uses to separate the executive and legislative department. If it works for the national government, there is good reason to suppose it might work for our own form of "local" government.

Major McLendon

Bobby Baker Foe To Speak Here

"When he gets you on the witness stand, you wish you weren't there. He extracts information from you whether you want to give it or not. But he is a man with a gentle manner."

Mr. L. P. McLendon, who was chosen by the Senate Rules Committee to conduct the Robert G. Baker investigation, will speak in the CU Ballroom, Friday, May 1st at 8 p.m. The lecture is co-sponsored by the Wake County Bar Association and the Erdahl Cloyd Union Lecture Committee.

Mr. McLendon is known as "Major" in Greensboro where he has been a top criminal lawyer for 30 years. He has also been active in educational circles in the state. He has served on the Board of Trustees of the Consolidated University, and as chairman of the State Board of Higher Education in 1963.

McLendon received his bachelor's degree from State and a law degree at Chapel Hill.

NCS Professor Answers Barnett

Ross Barnett spoke at Chapel Hill Monday night; last night Allard Lowenstein followed with a rebuttal.

Lowenstein, professor of social studies here at State, spoke at Chapel Hill last night in a rebuttal to the anti-Civil Rights Bill speech given on the night before by former Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett.

According to John Uifelder, chairman of the Carolina Forum, Barnett spoke on "States Rights and the Constitutionality of the Civil Rights Bill."

Lowenstein headed a Negro registration drive in Mississippi last summer.

Come Early To Hear Stone

Senator Clarence Stone will address members of the Baptist Student Union and other interested students on the gag law Friday in the YMCA North Parlor.

The address is scheduled to begin at 6:45 p.m.

Leroy Richardson, Baptist minister for State students, said he would like for students to come early if possible in order to get a good seat. He said he hoped students would feel free to ask the senator questions after his speech.

Stone is the former president of the North Carolina Senate. He is noted as a defender of the Speaker Ban Law which was introduced and passed just before the General Assembly adjourned last summer. The controversial law prohibits known Communists and people who have pleaded the Fifth Amendment from speaking on campuses of state supported institutions.

Prior to the senator's address, BSU members will have supper beginning at 5:30. The group meets weekly at the Y for supper and every other week, a guest is invited to speak at the BSU Forum.

Two weeks following Stone's address, the Forum will present Dr. Slater Newman, psychology professor here, and Armistead Maupin, a Raleigh attorney, in a debate on the gag law.

Heels Win Seventh, Top Wolfpack 14-5

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill won its seventh conference game of the season last night by getting to three Wolfpack pitchers for 14 runs on 18 hits, six Pack errors aided the Tar Heel cause.

The State nine took a 1-0 lead in the game after the first inning with Larry Clary scoring on a single by Warren Lineberger, Clary had doubled.

This lead held until the third frame when the Heels rallied for four runs on two hits, two walks, and an error. Things began to get worse in the fourth as the undefeated conference leaders added three more runs on three hits after two outs had been made.

The Pack followed with a single run in the inning as Pete Parham singled, reached second on an error and scored on a sacrifice fly. The score then read 7-2.

After being scoreless in the fifth and sixth, Carolina doubled its score in the last three frames, getting two in the seventh, one in the eighth and four in the ninth for a comfortable 14-2 lead.

State picked up three more runs in the last frame on a walk and three hits, one being a two run single by Vic Sorrell.

Ken Leonard, pitching his first game for the Tar Heels, was the winner and Buck Johnson, 4-3, suffered the loss for State.

The Wolfpack now has a 6-11 overall record and is 2-5 in Atlantic Coast Conference competition. State will try to break its four game losing streak when it takes on Virginia Friday night at 8 p.m. On Saturday, the Pack will play Maryland before the T.V. cameras at 1:30 p.m.

Alexander, Kappa Sigma Lead After Field Events

Fraternity and dormitory track stars filled the track field Tuesday night for the annual intramural track meet. The events of the meet included the finals in the six field events and the qualifying races for the running events.

Alexander, with first places in the broad jump and javelin; second places in the high jump, pole vault, and shot put; and third place in the high jump, led the field of dormitory teams with 21 points. Second to Alexander is Bragaw North #1 with 13 points on first place in the discus and shot put, third place in the pole vault, and fourth in the javelin. All 13 of Bragaw North #1 points were made by ex-Wolfpack football star, Dick Christy.

Dormitory Softballers Play "Double Hitters"

Because of the rainy weather and many postponed games, the dormitory softball league doubled up last week to complete two rounds of games. Each team in the league played two contests to make up for lost time.

Five of the 16 teams in the league were fortunate enough to win both of their games during the week, five teams lost twice and six were resolved to splits.

Tucker #1 had an easy time of downing Bragaw North #2, 23-7, but had a little difficulty in winning over Owen #2, 8-7. Tucker scored 10 runs in the first inning of the Bragaw game and coasted to an easy win. Synder, Gribble, and Lake homered for Tucker in the game.

Becton won its double header easily by downing Bragaw South #2, 17-9, and stomping Berry, 15-1. Ogburn, Tasker, Duncan, Roberts, and Alford hit home runs for Becton in the games; Satterwhite hit one for Bragaw.

Watauga easily won over Bragaw South #2 by a 19-2 score, but had to fight to edge out Welch-Gold-Fourth, 10-9. Watauga scored at least three times in each of the four frames with Bragaw and needed a five run second frame to top W-G-4. Anderson, and Whitman homered for Watauga while Swann had one for W-G-4.

Alexander outscored their opponents 34-2 by downing W-G-4, 11-1, and routing Bragaw South #1, 23-1. Breeden hit three home runs in the two games for Alexander, while Forbes and Mauro each had one.

The only other team to win both of its games was Bragaw North #1 by topping Owen #1, 12-10, and overpowering Tucker #2, 10-2. Taylor with two, Early and Self led the home run parade for Bragaw. Entrekin and Hughes had one for Owen #1.

In other contests, Syme scored three runs in the fourth to go ahead after being down 6-4 to win over Owen #1, 8-7. Beadburn, Collins, and Clotfelter homered for Syme while Baker had one for Owen.

Bagwell rallied for seven runs in the sixth inning to defeat Owen #2, 19-12. Cathey and Smith hit home runs for Bagwell, while Whitley with two and Highsmith and Green with one led Owen.

Bragaw North #2 scored 14 runs in the first two innings to down Bagwell 18-4. Nance and Barnes of Bragaw and Baber of Bagwell homered.

certainly does now, as regards exactly what our administration desires of us. Ostensible reasons of violation of a curfew and untidiness have been given us for our harsh punishment. We must have it known, however, that we cannot in truth hold ourselves absolutely guilty of such charges; and we have substantial evidence for our opinion.

"We, indeed, respect the final decision of the Office of Student Affairs, and we assure the school that we will carry out these directives given us with utmost exactitude. It is our intention to fully redeem ourselves in the administration's regard in the shortest length of time at all possible for us. Yet, we feel that these new existing differences are sufficient to force us to calling for an investigation into this affair so as to further clarify that we have done wrong. SAE has in the past and present shown herself to be a responsible organization as proven by her scholarship and her vast participation in varied campus activities. We have every intention of maintaining this reputation!"

Let's say for a minute, this is you.

Once you wear the gold bars of a second lieutenant in the United States Air Force, what's in store for you?

Well, you may fly an aircraft entrusted with a vital defense mission. Or you may lead a research team tackling problems on the frontier of knowledge. You'll be helping to run an organization that's essential to the safety of the free world.

Sounds like you'll be called on to shoulder a good deal of responsibility, doesn't it?

But when you come right down to it, that's what your college years have been preparing you for. You've got ability and a good education. Now's the time to put them to work!

You'll have every opportunity to prove your talents in the Air Force. By doing so, you can put yourself and your country ahead.

If you're not already enrolled in ROTC, you can earn your commission at Air Force Officer Training School—a three-month course that's open to both men and women college graduates. To apply, you must be within 210 days of graduation.
